In 28 months, she pushed through new regulations at machine - gun rate against powerful opposition at times from motoring organizations, vehicle manufacturers, the oil industry, brewers, trade unions, the press and public.

Most concede now she was right to cut speed limits, crack down on drinking drivers and enforce a raft of regulations on car maintenance, tires, safety belts and noisy motors.

The opposition in her new job will be even tougher. She has been made responsible for pushing through a renewal of the government's program of enforced restraint in the growth of pay, prices and company dividends — a policy the government regards as a cornerstone of Britain's economic recovery.

EMO Talk Given at IODE Meet

The regular meeting of the Argyll Chapter IODE was held in the Officers' Mess in the Armouries on Wednesday. The Regent Mrs. F. R. Allan was in the chair.

The business meeting and reports by conveners followed as interesting talk by Col. Duffy. He outlined the proposed pattern for evacuation of schools in the event of a national emergency. As many members have children in school the question and answer period showed the interest in this important study by E.M.O.

Col. Duffy was introduced and thanked by Mrs. C. Bristol, convener of world affairs.

Mrs. A. S. McConnell reported that two parcels of pocket books had been sent to the troops overseas.

Mrs. A. Duffy read a thought provoking article from "Echoes" re Russia's stand in Vietnam. Mrs. K. D. H. Willcocks was honored in having her name placed by an IODE for representation on the provincial executive. She regretted she had to have her name withdrawn.

As there are a number of students from Bermuda in Belleville it was suggested the chapter invite them to a pot-luck supper in May. This will take the place of the June meeting. Any emergency business can be handled by the executive.

A rummage sale under the auspices of the two chapters will be held in the armouries towards the end of April. The members were asked to give support to the Arts Festival especially the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra sponsored by the St. Julien Chapter. The Bemersyde Chapter IODE Campbellford, has extended an invitation to attend the 50th anniversary tea, April 20.

Mrs. Allan and Mrs. H. Birkenshaw are delegates to the provincial conference to be held in Hamilton April 24-26.

Glass Splinter Removed

HALIFAX (CP)—Memories of the Halifax explosion of 1917 came flooding back to an 82-year-old great-grandmother recently when a glass splinter 1⅛ inches long by one-quarter of an inch thick was removed from her cheek.

Mrs. Russell Laurence believes the splinter was implanted in her cheek at the time of the explosion. For 50 years she had a swelling there that only pained when she pressed it. When her daughter finally persuaded her to see a doctor, he found the splinter.

Mrs. Laurence recalls that she had given birth to a daughter just six hours before the explosion sent a huge wave of sea water crashing through her bedroom window, drenching her.

Then the floor gave way and she spent half a day in her basement. Her baby and the housekeeper, who were in another room, were later dug out from a pile of rubble, unhurt.

SOCIALS

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Samis of Bowmanville, also Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spafford of Peterborough spent Saturday with Mrs. R. J. Paice, 19 King George Square.

Mrs. Florence Christopher of Oshawa attended the wedding of her nephew John Shepherd at Calvary Temple on Saturday. While here she visited Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Christopher and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Donaldson, Cloverleaf Drive. Also attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Christopher and children Paul and Ronald of Oshawa.

Reassurance Needed In Grandpa's Passing

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our seven-year-old daughter loved her grandpa very much. He was a kindly person who used to take Mary for walks and tell her fascinating stories. Grandpa passed away suddenly two weeks ago. The child was very unhappy about his passing away and it was hard for her to understand why a God who is good would take away her best friend.

ANN LANDERS

Last week Mary was sitting on her grandmother's lap. I heard her ask if God would allow grandpa to play poker in heaven. Her answer was, "Of course not. God does not allow card playing in heaven." (Grandma always hated playing card playing, and everyone knew it, especially grandpa.)

Mary was very sad about this and replied, "Oh grandma how too bad! That is what grandpa used to like to do best."

Later my wife and I were discussing the conversation. Do you think grandma was right to answer Mary as she did? — Q.Q.

DEAR Q.Q.: No. The child was searching for reassurance that her grandpa was happy in heaven. It was not necessary for grandma to give her a small lecture on the morals aspect of card playing. If the child should bring up the subject again tell her no one knows for sure what goes on in heaven — the very best a person can do is guess.

And your guess is that grandpa is up there with aces back to back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A great deal has been said to unwed mothers, but one seldom hears or reads anything directed to unwed fathers. Why? After all, it is the male who carries the seed of life. Does it not then seem logical that he be held accountable for his behavior?

I have three sons, two in their teens, and I have made it clear to all three boys that if they get a girl in trouble they are going to marry her — regardless. No red-eyed miss is going to come to this house with her father at her side demanding that my son do the right thing. I wish you'd discuss this in your column, Ann Landers. It's a subject that needs airing. — MOTHER OF THREE.

DEAR MOTHER: I agree — young men should be taught that they have a responsibility toward the girls they date. Most boys, unfortunately, think they are entitled to everything that is offered plus whatever they can talk a girl into.

On the other hand, I don't believe a forced marriage solves any problems. An unwilling groom makes a poor husband, and a worse father.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married less than a year to a man who has many fine qualities, but — he is an accomplished cheque dodger.

Whenever we are out with another couple, Norman manages to head for the men's room when he sees the waiter coming with the cheque. If his timing is poor and he is trapped at the table, he has a knack for finding the other way, or he is so slow about getting out his wallet that someone else pays. I hate for him to be a sponger and wonder why his friends let him get away with it. How can I put an end to it without hitting him head on? — EMBARRASSED WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Since Norman seems to have an impediment in his reach, take matters into your own hands. Keep track of whose turn it is to pay and when it is Norman's turn, take the cheque from the waiter and hand it to him.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

RYLSTONE WI

RYLSTONE — Mrs. Donald Stewart was hostess to Rylstone Women's Institute at the Institute Hall Wednesday.

Mrs. E. L. Anderson, president, was in charge of the annual meeting. Mrs. Donald Kerr, Mrs. Murray Meikle-John and Mrs. Stanley Kerr were appointed to plan the dinner for the North Hastings District annual meeting to be held at Zion United Church, Petherick's Corners, in May.

Mrs. Donald Kerr presented a travelling apron to be circulated around the community in aid of the Institute Hall. A bee will be held at the hall Wdnesday April 17 to clean and re-decorate the hall.

The five grandmothers present were given a basket of candy prepared by Mrs. Jim Milne.

New officers elected were: president, Mrs. E. L. Anderson; vice-presidents, Mrs. Ernest Rowe, Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, Mrs. Jack Watson, Mrs. Ernest Irwin; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Murray Meikle-John; assistant, Mrs. Ellis Jones; directors, Mrs. Donald Kerr, Mrs. Jack Watson and Mrs. Charles Stewart; district director, Mrs. Eldon Anderson; curators, Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Ellis Jones; sunshine committee, Mrs. Percy Reid, Mrs. Carl Reid and Mrs. Gerald Petherick.

Conveners are: home economics, Mrs. Frank Osborne; public relations, Mrs. Stanley Kerr; resolutions, Mrs. James Miller; citizenship and education, Mrs. Donald Stewart; historical research, Mrs. Hector Arnold; press reporter, Mrs. Ellis Jones.

A silent auction was held at the close of the meeting. All program items had to be laid over for another time owing to the full afternoon of business and the interruption when the Seymour fire truck raced by to a grass fire.

Cooking Lessons For Young Also Help Experienced

By MARY MOORE

At the beginning of each week in the first quarter of 1968 I have given a cooking lesson here for the benefit of teen-agers and young brides. I hope you have clipped and filed all of them.

(Incidentally it has pleased us mightily to hear from experienced cooks saying they appreciate these refresher courses.)

Now I feel that you young people can prepare a complete dinner. On some bright Saturday morning tell your family you want to do it all alone and then give yourself plenty of time (at least 2 hours) to prepare this menu for four people. All necessary groceries should be bought in advance.

BEGINNERS' TEST DINNER

Fried Chicken
(March 18)
Glazed Carrots
(March 19)
Apple Crisp
(April 1)
Chilled Vegetable Juice
Cream Gravy
(March 18)
Perfect Mashed Potatoes
(Jan. 15)
Pouring Cream
Tea

FIRST STEP: Make Apple Crisp and put it in oven. (NOTE: If it is in oven longer than 45 min. no harm is done.)

SECOND STEP: Prepare and fry chicken. After you have reduced heat and covered simmer proceed with —

THIRD STEP: Wash, pare and cook potatoes.

FOURTH STEP: Prepare Glazed Carrots.

FIFTH STEP: Make Chicken Cream Gravy.

IMPORTANT NOTE: While you are presiding over the preparation of dinner, ask your brother or sister (or new husband!) to set the table, pour the juice, make the tea and light the candles.

SIXTH STEP: Mash Potatoes.

SEVENTH STEP: Heat warming oven or under hot water. Arrange chicken on platter, tip vegetables into bowls, pour gravy into gravy bowl and carry all, including plates, to table, where your expectant family should be politely waiting.

EIGHTH STEP: Remove Apple Crisp from oven but keep it warm until dessert time.

Reversal Child Needs Assistance

Dear Doris: Our eight-year-old has problems with her learning. Many of the things she does are done backwards, such as calling "Mr." "Mrs.", and the other way around. She reads many words backwards, and when printing letters often turns them right around (as they would look in a mirror).

The advice of our family physician is, "Just forget it and at her own speed: there is nothing you can do about it." But do I let valuable time fly by to find out in a few years that I have not done things I could have?

Betty is a very happy child, loves school, adores her teachers, has no behavior problem. But when she is doing something it is so very backwards and painstakingly slow. Her whole attitude is "Oh, I'll get there in my own good time."

Another Anxious Mother

Dear Another: What you describe makes me think: reversal child; mirror child. My 20-cent leaflet "Children With Learning Disabilities" is on its way.

The doctor doubtless feared the effects of too much pressure on Betty. But if she is a reversal child, the earlier the diagnosis and the beginning of suitable treatment, the better.

Mind you, careful diagnosis, by someone thoroughly familiar with these off-beat phenomena, is first and foremost.

Dear Doris: One of the girls from our office is leaving. The custom has been to have a farewell dinner at a nice restaurant. Most of the girls have lost enthusiasm for this, mainly because there has been quite a turnover and this can be quite expensive.

At any rate, I thought perhaps I would have a get-together at my place and am wondering if you would have any suggestions for such a hen party. Do I need games to keep things going, or just leave it to conversation? — Sociable Sal.

Dear Sal: You're a sport. You'll probably discover that your homespun effort will far surpass a restaurant dinner for sheer fun.

Ice breakers help, with an office gang. I'm sending some sure-fire ones. But if your girls are particularly congenial, don't organize the whole blessed evening. Ladies prize some talk-time, in case you didn't know.

If colleagues offer to bring something, accept same gladly.

Confidential to Vietnam Nightmare: We surely need your warm sympathy in these distressing times. You are not being ridiculous to be anxious about this boy and his mother.

The thing is to channel your warmth to where it will do some good. Girls your age are helping out in hospitals, or visiting old people, or giving time to baby care. Your family agency or Canadian Red Cross can lead you to where you are most needed, right in your own home town.

Ask Doris for the information you need. If she doesn't know she'll find out from one of her consultants. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Friends Honor Mother-to-Be At Shower

A number of friends gathered recently at the home of Mrs. Peter Annis in honor Mrs. Jerry Tsialamatas with a baby shower.

During a time of fellowship and renewing acquaintances dainty bors d' oeuvres were served by the hostess. A number of games and contests were enjoyed.

The numerous shower gifts were displayed in an appropriately decorated rocking cradle and these were presented to the guest of honor for which she expressed sincere appreciation.

A tasty buffet luncheon prepared by Mrs. Annis consisting mainly of Greek dishes was served, with the hostess's mother Mrs. John R. Bush assisting.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "We'll go downtown Saturday and have lunch with Dad. Then we can all shop for spring outfits."

Family togetherness is fine — but a child also enjoys doing things with a parent alone.

Mother: "Dad and Jim are going to the library and you and I will look at all the pretty clothes."

Daughter: "Good! It will be fun to take our time and look at all the pretty clothes."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"She's got $1.19 left—what do you suggest?"

Trudeau's Economic Theory Matches Sharp's

OTTAWA (CP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau will bring the finely trained mind of a lawyer and an economist to the office of prime minister when he succeeds Lester B. Pearson, an historian and diplomat.

His approach to economic problems is similar to that of Finance Minister Sharp, and it was for that reason that Mr. Sharp swung his organization behind Mr. Trudeau in the Liberal leadership campaign when Mr. Sharp saw he could not win himself.

Both are graduates of the London School of Economics and are in sympathy with modern economic thought, Mr. Trudeau apparently more to the left than Mr. Sharp.

One group has been pressing for greater involvement of the federal government in costly social-welfare programs and state aid to various institutions. Another has been arguing for retrenchment, believing the government has already overextended itself.

Trying to find a path between the two has been Mr. Sharp's task, along with maintaining confidence in the Canadian dollar and helping to facilitate some kind of equilibrium in international monetary affairs.

In this, he has had the support of Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. Trudeau said during the leadership convention that Canadian capital should be encouraged to venture into new development, and that this is more important than trying to buy back foreign-owned interests.

As long ago as 1958, before Mr. Trudeau became actively involved in Liberal politics, he said:

"One way or another, Canadian capital should be induced to enter into the speculative sector where the yield is higher. Public bodies and private enterprise would thus be impelled to seek their debt capital rather than their equity capital on foreign markets."

As with Mr. Sharp, Mr. Trudeau would have new Canadian industry owned in Canada, but borrowing abroad.

Liberal economic policy will be reviewed when the party holds a general policy convention later this year, but Mr. Trudeau outlined a large part of his thinking when he spoke to one of the workshop sessions at the leadership meeting.

First off, he said: "On economic matters, I'm going to be as Sharp as I can." It reminded delegates of Mr. Sharp's support, and it won a cheer.

Mr. Trudeau said regional disparities are just as big a problem to be solved as linguistic difficulties in Canada. Every Canadian had an equal claim to "the good life."

The new leader believes that Canada should specialize, nationally and regionally, in the things it can do best.

Mr. Trudeau told the workshop he would work to remove regional disparities—not merely by the use of subsidies, but by helping regions discover the ways in which they could grow naturally.

He also indicated he is a strong centralizer in fiscal and monetary affairs. The federal government needs the ability to redistribute wealth, he said.

Food Was Scarce During Final Voting

OTTAWA (CP)—Ten women worked mightily to feed a hungry horde of 10,000 at the Liberal convention.

They faced an impossible task behind the five small snack counters that were opened.

Another ballot and candidates might have been starved into submission.

As it was, the fight for food was almost as desperate as the battle for votes.

"It's a mystery to us why they didn't open all the snack counters," Ian Howard, a convention official, said later.

When conventioneers got to the snack counters, they sometimes found that the supply of hot dogs, coffee or soft drinks had run out.

A cafeteria set up in the exhibition hall ran out of food and closed its doors at 6 p.m. Saturday, 2½ hours before the convention ended.

New PM Breaks Usual Mold

By ROGER WORTH
(Staff Reporter)

OTTAWA — The winner of the liberal leadership contest, Pierre Trudeau, is a swinger — in every sense of the word.

Speaking to about 3,000 supporters at a victory celebration at the Skyline Hotel he was, in the normal political sense, rudely interrupted by someone behind the stage who shouted, "Sock it to em' baby."

His supporters went wild when he turned, singled out the enthusiastic supporter, and went back to the microphone to shout, "We're going to sock it to the whole country."

Earlier in his acceptance speech at Ottawa's Civic Centre Trudeau told 10,000 people at the convention there would be "some action at the Skyline".

At least 5,000 people jammed the hotel lobby and nearby streets to await the arrival of the justice minister. Another 3,000 supporters packed the hotel ballroom where a bar had been set up and two bands were on hand to entertain guests.

But the high point of the evening obviously came when the justice minister arrived about 11:30. Cheering supporters screamed approval as he was escorted through the pressing crowds by police.

When he hit the stage the crowd broke into For He's A Jolly Good Fellow.

At another point in his speech a young supporter yelled "Open the bar." The liquor had stopped flowing at 11:30.

"We have certain laws and regulations in the country and we can't just go about changing them ... at least not yet," Trudeau said.

"Let's party tonight but remember that Monday the party is over," he added.

Johnson Sees Saigon Envoy

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States is in touch with North Vietnam about alternative sites which could be convenient to both sides for preliminary peace talks.

"We are in agreement with our allies," Johnson added, "and are prepared for ambassadorial contacts just as soon as arrangements can be completed."

Johnson spoke to reporters briefly after a breakfast conference with Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and other senior advisers at Camp David near this town of 3,000 persons.

Johnson disclosed Monday an official response from Hanoi to his bid for direct contacts to get talks going between the opposing sides in the Vietnam war.

The president reported today: "We have consulted with our allies about the (Hanoi) message that I referred to yesterday on alternative sites, and we are back in touch with Hanoi and discussing a number of alternative locations which could be convenient to both sides."

The United States originally proposed Geneva as the place for U.S. and North Vietnamese envoys to get together, while North Vietnam proposed Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia.

Johnson did not disclose alternative places the United States had suggested to Hanoi in the new U.S. exchange with North Vietnam. Nor did he say where the diplomatic message had been passed on to the North Vietnamese.

On a previous occasion the exchange was through Vientiane, the Laotian capital, where both countries have diplomatic missions.

Bunker, who arrived this morning at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., outside the U.S. capital, flew by helicopter to the camp. He was accompanied by State Secretary Dean Rusk, Defence Secretary Clark M. Clifford and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

In announcing the meeting Monday, Johnson disclosed the receipt of a formal reply from Hanoi to his willingness to undertake preliminary diplomatic contacts with North Vietnamese representatives.

"We shall be trying," he said. "to work out promptly a time and a place for talks."

Saigon Region Quiet

SAIGON (CP) — The U.S. command today announced the end of five operations in the provinces around Saigon and said 3,336 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed. Meanwhile, the war slipped into another of its periodic lulls amid peace manoeuvres by Washington and Hanoi.

Senior U.S. officers said they saw no signs the Communist command was de-escalating.

These officers said the termination of the five operations also did not necessarily mean a de-escalation by the allies.

"From time to time we close out and begin new operations," one senior officer on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff said. "We cannot announce the new ones immediately."

In the five operations, some of them begun last year and others launched as recently as a month ago, 183 Americans were killed and 1,358 wounded, the U.S. command said, while South Vietnamese, Australian and Thai troops suffered light casualties.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some 61,000 national guardsmen and army troops were deployed in trouble-wracked U.S. cities today to curb the spasms of violence that have shaken the urban centres since the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

An additional 1,900 federal troops dispatched to Baltimore Monday helped hold a steadily tightening grip on the city today. Fires and looting diminished but an outbreak of sniping added new worry.

In Cincinnati, a white college teacher was dragged from his car and stabbed to death Monday night at the height of rioting in several Negro sections of the city.

The death brought to 28 the number of known dead in five days of rioting in dozens of cities. All but four of the dead were Negroes. More than 1,600 have been injured and more than 10,000 arrested.

The death toll included 11 in Chicago, six in Washington, five in Baltimore, two in the Detroit area and one each in Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Memphis and Tallahassee, Fla.

Relative calm existed today in Chicago, Pittsburgh and Washington with heavy troop patrols enforcing the uneasy peace. Arrests for curfew violations soared in the U.S. capital.

The countrywide deployment of 61,000 troops was apparently the largest such force ever turned out for a civil emergency in the United States.

Baltimore police said they had confirmed five separate sniping incidents Monday night at locations around the heart of the city. No one was hit. It was the first outbreak since the start of burning and looting Sunday.

The additional troops raised to 10,000 the military force occupying the city and Lt.-Gen. Robert H. York, the force commander, ordered rigid enforcement of a 4 p.m.-to-7 a.m. curfew.

The number of arrests rose rapidly, passing 2,000 for the duration of the disturbances. Authorities contended the peak had been reached in the violence with Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro saying: "We're over the hump. I'm encouraged."

A state of emergency remained in effect in Wilmington, Del., today after a night of sniping, firebombing and looting in a Negro neighborhood. Twelve persons were injured.

City police controlled the situation but there were 50 state policemen and 1,200 national guardsmen standing by to aid them if needed.

In Youngstown, about 400 national guardsmen and police patrolled three sections after a brief flurry of gunfire and firebombings that left three men wounded, including two policemen.

The city was under a 7 p.m.-to-7 a.m. curfew. All bars in the county were ordered closed for 72 hours beginning at 7 p.m. Monday. Gas stations also were ordered closed.

Cincinnati police said the 2½ hours of rioting there occurred after a rumor spread that a white policeman had shot a Negro woman. Police said the woman was killed accidentally by her husband.

Trudeau Meets Pearson To Arrange Changeover

He flew to the capital from Montreal following an overnight visit to his hometown, to hold the first of a series of changeover meetings with Mr. Pearson, whom he will replace as prime minister later this month.

The two men met for more than two hours at 24 Sussex Drive, official residence for prime ministers which Mr. Trudeau will move into after the Pearsons leave.

Earlier, Mr. Pearson confirmed the official changeover will take place before the end of the month.

Mr. Pearson recalled it took him 10 days to two weeks to get straightened out on things when he took over as prime minister from John Diefenbaker in 1963.

He could not say whether Mr. Trudeau would be officially sworn in by the time the parliamentary recess ends April 23. Parliament was adjourned for the Liberal leadership convention, won Saturday by Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. Trudeau is currently living in a rented house after moving out of his usual Ottawa home, a room in a hotel.

His aides won't give the location of his temporary home. Nor can they seem to make up their minds what it is. They were saying Sunday it was an apartment.

Mr. Trudeau was expected to be at his office today working on the changeover. Cabinet-making and staff changes are some of the problems.

Legislature Rejects Proposal To Study Foreign Industries

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government voted down Monday an amendment which would require the proposed trade and development department to launch a study into foreign control of industry in the province.

The amendment, proposed by Hugh Peacock (NDP — Windsor East), would also require the department—now known as the department of economics and development—to set rules for firms planning to close down or severely curtain their operations.

Economics and Development Minister Stanley Randall, who will head the new department, said he felt provincial "guidelines" on foreign-controlled industry would be impossible until such time as the federal government agrees on similar guidelines for firms in other provinces.

The amendment was defeated 56 to 38 along party lines.

Mr. Peacock said the amendment concerning curtailment of operations would prevent economic dislocation from sudden decisions by industries to close or move operations.

Mr. Randall argued that the rules for firms planning to close should not be necessary since members of his department can already seek needed information from Ontario industries.

Opposition members also criticized a two-cent-a-gallon increase in Ontario gasoline tax.

Quinte Student

Award Winner

Good school grades are important but high grades alone do not make for a complete education.

Just ask David Roper, 19, Grade 12 student at Quinte Secondary School who goes all out for extra curricular activity — apparently with no bad results as far as grades are concerned.

This week the Quinte student was named winner of one of the "Olive E. Glaubitz" awards by the Home and School Association for outstanding leadership in school and in the community.

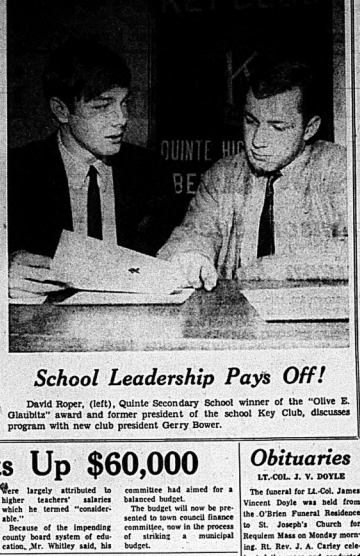
The award — $50 cash — was for "C" area, covering Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough. It is the first time that the award has been won by a Belleville student.

"We are very proud of David, he is an excellent student," stated Quinte principal John Hayman.

Qualifications for the award are steady academic work with at least 65 per cent in Grade 11 and Grade 12 Christmas exams, together with involvement in some community service or training program.

David is a member of the school student parliament, is the outgoing president of the Key Club, which he helped into a leading club at Quinte; and has been active in the "Road Angels" organized in co-operation with the Belleville Police Department for the development of car interest and safe driving habits.

In addition he finds time to work part time in his father's Canniffon Road gas station.



"I work Friday nights and all day Saturday," David says.

As a grade 12 student in Quinte's four year course, David wants to go on to higher education, possibly at Loyalist College or some other similar type of school.

Mrs. L. Jourard, communications chairman for the Belleville and District Council Home and School Association said that funds for the "Glaubitz" awards are contributed by Home and School Associations — members throughout Ontario.

"It is felt that young people demonstrate leadership potential by performing community services and Home and School Associations by means of these awards, commend and applaud their efforts," said Mrs. Jourard.

The awards are a memorial to Mrs. P. J. Glaubitz, past president and life member of The Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations who gave outstanding leadership and community service.

Education Costs Up $60,000

TRENTON — Local ratepayers will be asked to assume $60,000 more for town education costs.

The increase was revealed in the 1968 board of education budget handed down last night.

This year the town will be asked to pay in excess of $610,000 for public and high school education.

The 1968 high school budget will be $1,004,579—up $131,000 over last year's allotment.

Of this, Trenton taxpayers will be asked to bear some $229,000.

Public school costs for 1968 have been budgeted at $839,785 — an increase of $86,000 over last year.

The town will be asked to cover some $382,000 of the public school figures.

The board's finance committee chairman, W. Douglas Whitley, said the increases were largely attributed to higher teachers' salaries which he termed "considerable."

Because of the impending county board system of education, Mr. Whitley said, his committee had aimed for a balanced budget.

The budget will now be presented to town council finance committee, now in the process of striking a municipal budget.

Vagden Mills Workers Join Textile Union

The Ontario Labor Relations Board has approved the certification of the Textile Workers Union of America as bargaining agent for employees at Vagen Mills Ltd., Belleville.

John W. Denton, president of Vagden Mills Ltd., said this morning the union will be representing about 40 employees in the Belleville plant.

"The certification from the Ontario Labor Relations Board does not include employees working in the Trenton plant," he said.

The union claims about 100 employees are involved in the certification.

Vagden Mills will transfer about 50 employees to a new plant under construction in Trenton in May or June.

Mr. Denton said he didn't expect any immediate change in the Belleville operation.

A union spokesman claims negotiations toward a contract will begin once certification is presented to Vagden Mills Ltd.

Obituaries

The funeral for LL-Col. James Vincent Doyle was held from the O'Brien Funeral Residence to St. Joseph's Church for Requiem Mass on Monday morning. Rt. Rev. J. A. Carley celebrated the mass and conducted the graveside prayers in St. James' Cemetery.

The bearers were H. P. Wills, W. S. Wills, Courtland Miller, E. Guss Porter, Wilfred LaPorte and W. B. Cook.

MISS MABEL G. CLAZIE

The funeral service for Miss Mabel G. Clazie was held Monday in the Grant Funeral Home. Dr. H. M. Davis officiated. Interment was in the Belleville cemetery.

MISS JEAN MINGAY

Miss Jean Mingay of 190 Bridge Street East, retired Hospital Sister, died at the Green Acres Nursing Home on Monday evening. She was born in Brantford, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Mingay and had resided in this city for the past 13 years.

Miss Mingay was a graduate nurses from Niagara Falls Hospital. During the First and Second World War she served with the U.S. Medical Corps, principally at Tupper Lake, N.Y. and Dearborn, Michigan.

She was a member of Tabernacle United Church and is survived by one sister Miss Susan Mingay.

Resting at the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home for service on Wednesday at 3.00 p.m. Rev. Robert Crooks officiating. Interment in Union cemetery, Barrie on Thursday afternoon.

Junior Choir Performs

A program of vocal and instrumental music was presented Palm Sunday evening by the Junior Choir of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Belleville.

The events of Lent, Good Friday and Easter were retold in sacred song as the children presented selections from the Crucifixion by Stainer, A King in His Glory, and Christ is Risen, Alleluia. Vocal numbers included chorales and hymns of the season and were highlighted by instrumental selections on both accordion and organ.

Mrs. William Himmelman, Junior Choir director and organist, was assisted by Mrs. Roy Nurse in presenting the program.

Labor Council Opposed To Higher Park Fees

Belleville and District Labor Council last night voiced disapproval for higher provincial park fees.

A meeting at Point Anne endorsed the suggestion that the council seek co-operation from Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, in presenting civilian admission and camping permits.

Higher fees will cause hardship in the tourist industry and "local people who enjoy our parks for recreation," said council president Gerry Bradshaw.

The new fee structure proposed in the provincial budget also would divert tourists to other areas, warned Gerald Cunningham, a former council president.

The Belleville labor group also may merge with its Trenton-area counterpart, Mr. Bradshaw revealed.

Child Suffocates In Crib

A three-month-old infant, Harold Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reilly, suffocated in his bed some time during last night.

Constable Barry Thierson of the Belleville police department was on patrol this morning when he was stopped by Mrs. Reilly who was out of her apartment above Mark's Fish House on Front St. carrying the child.

She told the officer that she thought the child had suffocated when she found Constable Thierson applied mouth to mouth resuscitation.

The child was later removed to Belleville General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival by Stock. The coroner said the child died of natural causes and there will be no inquest.

Aldermen Volunteer Assistance

Belleville city councillors will take turns as deputy mayor when Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott is absent from the city.

On the same basis, councillors are volunteering to help the mayor with public appearances, Ald. Arthur Keegan said last night.

It is felt it is not the mayor which he's invited, the council. Scott told a meeting of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad, Transport and General Workers Hospital, Ald. Wilfred Scott, beloved wife of the late Mr. Lansing Scott.

Mrs. Scott is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home, 80 Victoria Ave., Church St.) Belleville from Wednesday afternoon. Interment will appear in Wednesday's issue.

Marmora Girl Critical

A 19-year-old Marmora girl was in critical condition in Belleville General Hospital after a 12-gauge shotgun discharged at her home last night.

Provincial police said the blast struck Margaret Bleecker in the stomach.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bleecker were en route home from the western United States today. They were receiving police reports informed them of the incident.

Provincial police said an older sister and two brothers were in the house at the time.

IN MEMORIAM

BRONSON — In loving memory of our loving husband and dad Bert Dalbert who passed away April 9, 1962.

He would not wish for sadness, Nor tears to fall for him,
Just live each day in kindness
And keep his memory dim.

Sadly missed by wife Kay and family.

GRAY — In fond and loving memory of our dear mother (Poppy) Prat who passed away April 9, 1962.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died 2 years ago.

Sadly missed by daughter and husband, Maurice and family.

STAPLEY — In loving memory of our dear mother Mrs. Mary Stapley who passed away on April 7, 1967.

One year had passed since that sad day,
When she we loved was called away,
God left him home — it was His will Within our hearts he lives still.

—Lovingly remembered by son Roy Stapley, daughters Mary McNally, Alma and Ruth Stapley and June McNally, Mrs. Mary Stapley and all the grandchildren, children and great grandchildren.

Woman, Alone in Car, Killed

NAPANEE — Mrs. Huguette McFadyen 37, of Willowdale, was fatally injured Sunday afternoon in a one-car accident on Highway 401 at the Odessa Road intersection, formerly known as the Wilton Road. She was removed to the Kingston General hospital, where she died about four hours later. The accident was reported at 4.30. It is not yet known whether an inquest will be held or not.

Mrs. McFadyen, who was alone in the car, was driving westward. The car was a total wreck. Officers of the Napanee detachment investigated, but no details are available until an official report has been made.

Mrs. McFadyen is survived by her husband, a stepson, and her mother, who lives in Ottawa.

No Slaughter House

Planning Board Recommends No Re-zoning for Industry

To the sound of applause from about 30 Park Dale ratepayers, Belleville and Sidney Planning Board last night refused to recommend re-zoning in the northwest area of the city to permit a slaughter house.

The board also recommended to city council that it pass a bylaw forbidding noxious industries within city limits.

And to make sure the issue never arises again, the board will instruct the industrial commission that the city has no suitable site for a slaughter house.

At the public hearing in City Hall council chambers four area ratepayers spoke against the application of L. Gorgenyi for re-zoning of a lot south of highway 401 and west of Sidney St. to permit building of a slaughter house.

Speaking on behalf of the ratepayers' association, William Rutherford objected to the proposed industry on the grounds of odor, vermin, its transportation of animals through residential streets, and consequent lowering of property values in the adjacent residential area.

Paul Wall, representing the Roman Catholic school board, told of plans for a new school on Tracey St. and his board's objection to a slaughter house in the immediate area.

Six letters and a petition bearing 622 signatures were also submitted to Planning Board opposing the move.

A letter from Hastings and Prince Edward County Health Unit stipulated that it could not agree to a slaughter house in an area containing houses within a 600-foot radius.

Mr. Gorgenyi, the applicant, did not appear to speak on his own behalf.

Following denial of the re-zoning recommendation, board member Ald. E. A. Orr commended north-east Belleville residents for "the fine community spirit" in the area.

After the hearing the board continued to sit to consider the advisability of slaughter houses within the city and the way this application was handled.

City Council last Monday night, on receiving routine notification of the public hearing, debated the issue as a re-zoning application and turned it down.

"It disturbs me to think people here tonight might get the impression Planning Board acts as council wishes it to," remarked chairman G. G. Bussey.

"Our obligation is to act according to our own wisdom, based on professional advice. It doesn't follow that this board will always concur with council," he added.

Planning director P. J. Beavis said in his opinion city council should have limited its comments to those of property owner in the area, and not have debated the issue as a re-zoning application.

"What Mr. Beavis is trying to say in his calm, contained, English way," offered Mr. Bussey, "is that if politicking didn't take place beforehand there wouldn't be so much bad publicity."

Mayor Russell Scott defended council's action on the grounds "it stopped a small riot and led to tonight's orderly meeting that cleared the air."

"I admit the applicant (Mr. Gorgenyi) was led up the garden path, but not by planning board," Mayor Scott said.

"After last week's council meeting he was going to withdraw his application, but we persuaded him against it so we could air the issue and get a ruling for future reference," added the mayor.

"It is distressing that the application gained such momentum," commented Mr. Bussey. "Had we said 'no' in the first place the applicant would not go away with a bad taste in his mouth."

Mr. Beavis asked the board to consider creating a zone suitable for this type of noxious industry, which requires full city water and sewer services but cannot be located within 600 feet of a residential area.

His request led Mayor Scott to comment that council must make a decision on providing water on a regional basis.

"Council must have a change of policy on water and sewer services," he said. "The policy now is 'no services without annexation' — with the exception of egg-laying plants' and colleges."

"Let's get rid of this can of worms right away," commented Mr. Bussey when the planning director said a building permit can be issued to any noxious industry such as a slaughter house, on receipt of a Board of Health certificate that refuse could be accommodated in existing sewers.

"Our obligation is to act according to our own wisdom, based on professional advice. It doesn't follow that this board will always concur with council," he added.

Al. Orr asked Thurlow members to scotch "rumors floating around that Thurlow is anxious to obtain this slaughter house."

Replied Thurlow reeve Carl Thompson: "We have a place for this industry, but for reasons I don't want to disclose, I am not interested in dealing further with this."

City Bus Drivers Honored

Do you really appreciate your bus driver?

A national labor organizer thinks you don't.

However, the Belleville Transit Commission has moved to offset the situation.

Last night it showed its appreciation by presenting safety awards to all its drivers with an accident-free record for the past year.

The ceremony came during a banquet by non-operating railroaders — members of local 126, Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad, Transport and General Workers.

The drivers, all union members, heard Brotherhood national president William T. Smith declare: "There's not a full appreciation for the work and services of bus drivers generally."

Magistrate Told by Crown Car Passenger Hit by Bullet

Gunplay was the end result of an incident on Front St. Jan. 30 when a car driven by Richard Henry LaRue of East Moira St. in Belleville was reported to have crowded another vehicle.

In police court today before Magistrate T. Y. Wills, LaRue was remanded for sentencing after pleading guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm to Bonnie Lee Murray.

After the LaRue car was said to have crowded a vehicle driven by Wayne Jamieson on Front St. last January Jamieson began to follow LaRue. Soon after another car driven by John Parkhurst also began pursuit of the LaRue car, Crown Attorney John Pringle read into the record.

All of the vehicles arrived at the LaRue residence and a passenger in LaRue's car went into the house. Before LaRue could get inside he was apprehended by Richard Hunter, a passenger in the Jamieson car.

According to the crown's evidence there were a few blows before LaRue was able to get into his home. Once in the house the court statement said LaRue noticed somebody approaching his car and he ran upstairs to get his gun.

By the time he had opened the upstairs window both cars were on their way from the LaRue home.

According to evidence three shots were fired (Crown Attorney Pringle told the court that LaRue purposely fired wide) which resulted in a bullet hole in each of the cars as well as personal injury to a passenger in the vehicle, Bonnie Murray.

Miss Murray, in her statement, read by the Crown, said she felt a pain and had a red spot at the back of her neck. Another passenger, John Richard Parkhurst had a bullet hole in the left shoulder of his coat.

"The matter could have been more serious," said Magistrate T. Y. Wills who asked for a pre-sentence report. LaRue was remanded to May 7 and allowed out on bail.

Lester Pearson

Some words of retiring Prime Minister Lester Pearson are worth remembering at this time of change and expectancy in Canada.

"As I get older, I refuse to feel older, or at times, my severest critic tells me, even act my age.

"I do not believe I have come to think 'old' just because I have grown older; nor on the other hand, do I believe I am more mature or wiser at 70 than I was at 50."

There were times in Mr. Pearson's distinguished career — particularly as prime minister — when he must have felt like giving up. The pressures of political life are great. Yet, the man of politics learns quickly that if he can survive this kind of life he can survive anything.

In any event Mr. Pearson is not the kind of man who gives up. He spoke recently of the "heartbreaking and even backbreaking" pressures that can be the lot of a prime minister, but he spoke also of the rewards.

In speaking of his "severest critic", Mr. Pearson doubtless was referring to his wife. He is likely not the first leader of men and of a great nation to have been told by his wife to "be your age".

In any event Lester Pearson is smiling and jaunty as ever. There are not many like him. At 70 he has the bearing of one considerably younger. It will be the task of his successor to preserve the overall image of a vigorous and youthful country. In Canada this is a time to move forward with hope and confidence in the future.

The "Also Rans"

One of the more poignant occurrences amid the drama of the Liberal party's leadership campaign was the eclipse and early withdrawal from the race of External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

Mr. Martin has devoted a lifetime to politics. Aside from retiring Prime Minister Pearson there is no one of greater experience in politics at home or in the diplomatic sphere abroad.

The external affairs minister for long had had his sights on the leadership. For one thing he has stood in for Mr. Pearson on occasions when the latter was absent from the Commons, or abroad. Alone among ministers he kept aloof from the partisanship and strife that erupted so frequently.

Yet this could have been his undoing. In part at least. In any event the votes were not with him in any great strength. Experience these days is not enough — not in a country of young people and ideas surging forward as Canada is today. Today's leaders must need a quality of mystique, allied with intelligence and practical ability. It may be too early yet to judge, but Prime Minister-designate Pierre Trudeau would seem to fulfill this image.

Of the three who took to the field in Ottawa in an exciting campaign the two who came closest were gallant in defeat. Robert Winters also has all the necessary qualities of a leader. His final support of Mr. Trudeau when the voting ended was generous and without reservation. John Turner, in the flight to the end, seconded Mr. Winters' motion to make the choice of Mr. Trudeau unanimous.

Now the campaign is over the party will have to set about healing whatever breaches remain. And there are some. If this is accomplished the Liberal party will continue to hold a formidable position in the counsels of the nation.

Girls and Hoopla

Was it a political rally to pick a leader and a prime minister or a fashion show?

Well, in political conventions these days they are very nearly stand and sell. Apart from improving the scenery generally the girls act as guides (bilingual at that), runners, pamphlet distributors and banner wavers. Their very presence moreover testifies to the increasing involvement of Canada's young people in national affairs.

It is an American idea, of course, and while political rallies here may not reach the fever pitch of the U.S. the Ottawa affair has not taken second place to any with regard to the display of young women adherents of the various candidates.

It would be churlish and "square" to regard their presence in any light besides that of a pleasant mode of enhancing a long evening of politicking.

And there were the bands. All in all it was a recognition of the increasing influence of young people on the Canadian scene. It might be termed a manifestation of the "new politics." And yet not really so new. Imagery and exhibitionism and their expression are deep-rooted facets of human nature. May it ever be thus.

Ottawa Offbeat

A Look at the Many Lives of Lester B. Pearson

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The king is dead, long live the king.

And now, as he prepares to leave the throne, what was Lester Bowles Pearson, political monarch of all the Canadas, really like?

The instant-historians, quick off the mark with capsule characterization, are filling him under W (for weak-wobbler) and D (for determined doer of big things).

It is an obvious contradiction.

And rationalization between the two opposites will have to be left to time and not-so-instant historians.

So history's mirror may remain cloaked for years.

The view of professional politician - watchers who have kept an eye on him ever since 1941 when he emerged from the diplomatic pack to become second-but-one top dog in the external affairs department as its assistant under-secretary.

Ten tintypes stand out in memory's album, and perhaps they picture something of the kind of person he was.

There were the quiet years when he was under-secretary and then minister of external affairs, holding his warmly cosy press conferences for the chosen few who gathered with him that domestic politics were nothing and foreign politics everything. It was the days of Ilsa a club and in togetherness they pored over New York Times foreign service clippings. All very credible, remote and out-of-this-Canadian world.

Then there was the explosion of the Suez crisis of 1956 when working literally day and night for a week at the United Nations he almost single-handedly won uneasy peace for the Middle East and a Nobel prize for himself. But he came home to face opposition accusations of having "stabbed Britain in the back."

Again in '56, he was so remote from the parliamentary scene he sat silent, even unnoticed in the Commons, while the opposition, with the gas pipeline as a weapon, smashed the "management government" of Prime Minister St. Laurent and C. D. Howe.

A different Pearson appeared in the '57 election when he went to Manitoulin Island to win his Algoma East riding for the third time. There was church on a sunny Sunday morning at Little Current, square dancing with turkey farmers, wives at Mindemoya, baseball with the kids at Manitowaning and rounds of eye-and-ginger at a party on Treasure Island with the Northern Ontario hillbilies carpeted in the bright white of spring trilliums. It was something of an idyll.

Came the Liberal leadership to him in earliest '58 as the party's crown prince bow-tied, still fresh of face and boyish of grin at 61. The crown was served on a silver platter at a convention so safely sailed for him that Paul Martin was humiliated by a vote of some 300 to his nearly 1,300.

Then only weeks later, he was to sit in the Commons all but bleeding when the new prime minister, triumphant John Diefenbaker, fronting his first minority government, cut Pearson to pieces for suggesting the Tories voluntarily move out and let the Liberals take over again without an election.

And when was a leader ever so utterly alone as Pearson when he went to Hamilton to open his '58 campaign that all but liquidated the Liberals and found not one person at the station to meet him. No arrangements made. Nothing.

In 1963 he had his second interlude of silence, sitting in the Commons staring straight ahead and never looking to left nor right as Paul Martin and Jack Pickersgill, breaking all the parliamentary rules, roupted the minority Tories to defeat. He didn't want to see what was happening, for not seeing was not to be involved in the roughhousing.

A year later he was prime minister, and Maclean Daily Express chief foreign correspondent Rene MacColl was flying in, with no appointment, to interview him. Dief, as PM, through six unrelenting years, had refused to see MacColl. Would Pearson? He was busy, driven almost to distraction with July LaMarsh waiting for him to so company her to a women's meeting, three secretaries lingering him to sign more letters, two long distance calls being held for him on the switchboard, cabinet colleagues Art Laing and Bud Drury trying to grab his ear, an office boy holding his coat — all the while at the same time.

Into this madhouse strode the Ottawa correspondent of The Express and shouted "stop, hold everything!" Yes, grinned the harried PM, he would see it! Would he see Rene MacColl? He would not. Too busy. But he must — it was life and death. Well if you say so, Dick, I'll see Rene. And he did.

Finally, for reasons such as this and others, he was one prime minister no newsman ever got annoyed at really speaking with any truly barbed questions. When they tried, he just grinned them off with a deft quip, sorrow-not-in-anger "s w. Don" or Hal or Jack or Charlie and no one ever seemed to have the heart to take another crack at him.

Trenton Councillor And Property Sale Report

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Strong objection is taken by the writer to your newspaper caption (April 2nd): Trenton Land Policy Illegal says Councillor Weaver.

I made no such comment whatsoever at this meeting. At the previous meeting (March 19, 1968) I objected to the sale of town property that cost the taxpayers more than $1,000.00 per acre and which the Council sold for $100.00 an acre. At that meeting, I mentioned to Council that this type of transaction might not be permissible under the Municipal Act. This was reported in your press coverage of that meeting.

The day following that meeting (March 19) I requested the Clerk-Comptroller to write the Department of Municipal Affairs for clarification. The town received a reply on March 23rd.

On the Council agenda for April 1st, this letter from the Minister of Municipal Affairs was not listed under miscellaneous communications with other correspondence. On completion of the reading of the other letters, it became obvious to me there was no intention to table this letter. At this point, I requested that the communication from the Minister of Municipal Affairs be read as a matter of public interest. This was the only way for the citizens of Trenton to become informed on the subject.

Councillor Parker vociferously and sarcastically resented the fact that the content of this letter was to become public knowledge. Personally, I do not know how citizens are to be kept informed on public affairs if information of this nature is to be concealed from them by the elected representatives.

A copy of this self-explanatory letter was given to your reporter and I think his news coverage of same could be misleading to many of your readers.

I am enclosing a copy of the Minister's letter and I respectfully request that you publish this, immediately following my letter which I trust you will include in your "Letters to the Editor" column.

G. A. WEAVER

MINISTER'S LETTER

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 20 wherein you indicate Councillor Weaver objected to Council's resolution of March 18 that land which was acquired for industrial use at $1,000.00 an acre be sold for that purpose at $100.00 an acre.

You further indicate the Councillor requested you to obtain clarification for him from the Department as to whether or not The Municipal Act permits a municipal corporation to sell land acquired in this manner at less than cost.

In this connection, I would invite attention to the provisions of section 394 of The Municipal Act, which states "Notwithstanding any general or special Act, a municipality shall not grant bonuses in aid of any manufacturing business or other industrial or commercial enterprise."

Will you please bring this letter to the attention of Council.

W. DARCY McKEOUGH
Minister.

Work Horses of the Air

Christian Science Monitor

Well, so long, Connie!

Eastern Airlines announces no more Lockheed Constellations on its shuttle runs. Connies still run elsewhere, but let's just wait a round of deserved applause at that big, powerful, (and rather noisy) airplane with the curved back.

Time was, back in 1948, when that's how you flew the Atlantic — courtesy of Connie. And Connie flew you to California, and Florida, and to Detroit. Not just about everywhere else. Now the sleek jets are taking over fast.

We're glad for this progress. Easier on the ears, and on the time schedule. But let's just remember the roster of wonderful airplanes that preceded the jets, including that DC-3 (Dakota, or C-47 in other terminology). Those workhorses flew you across Africa in World War II, or from Paris to the front in a bucket-seat version. They have been winging it to far routes all over the world: Malaysia, old England, New England, the Alleghenies, the mountain states. And there was even a rattley Soviet version, built in Moscow, in 1935.

Or consider the DC-4, which carried most of the rest on the Berlin airlift. Or the British Viscount, with its jet-powered propellers. But Connie, you were one of the very best!

Challenge Facing Libraries

Peterborough Examiner

The pragmatism with which the Liberal Party meets the new challenges will have to be guided by realistic principles of spending. There is little good in offering the electorate the moon and the stars in the hope of winning an election, for the Canadian public is no longer prepared to accept irresponsible increases in expenditures which result in increased interest rates and higher taxes. It should be laid in the foundations for the welfare of the Canadian people the Liberal Party will present to them with a realistic approach.

The Liberals must pursue such problems as persistent pockets of poverty and urban and economic matters with as much drive of perception and passion as they have the divorce question, capital punishment, the French - English issue, amendments to the Criminal Code dealing with homosexuality and abortion. Certainly, if the Liberal Party is to continue the policy of development it will have to bring Canadian laws up-to-date with contemporary Canadian thinking.

Ontario Leads Highway Budget

Ottawa Journal

We complain about Canadian roads almost as much as about the weather but our tax dollars are building new roads and smoothing old roads at an unprecedented rate.

Total expenditure by all levels of Canadian governments on highways, roads and bridges was estimated at over $1.6 billion in 1967, according to the Canadian Good Roads Association using figures compiled from federal, provincial and Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. Breaking down this figure, the provinces spent $1,120,000,000; municipalities supplied another $368,000,000 and federal government sources contributed $147,200,000.

Ontario leads the provinces with a 1967-68 road and bridge budget of $405,761,000, an increase of almost $23,000,000 from last year. Ontario (1964) road mileages totalled 75,234.7 miles in 1967, including 692.3 miles of freeways and expressways almost half Canada's total.

Some of these projects included completing the final link on Ottawa's Queensway, construction on the Toronto By - Pass section being widened to 12 lanes and work on 1,453 miles of the Trans-Canada Highway that passes through Ontario.

This sounds likes lot of money and miles but we use it. In 1967 Canadians travelled 69.1 billion miles in their 7,035,261 motor vehicles and revenue from user taxes (licences, permits and gasoline tax) topped one billion dollars for the first time in 1967.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 9, 1968

South African Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd was shot twice in the face by a white farmer opposed to apartheid eight years ago today—in 1960. Verwoerd, who recovered, was attending a Johannesburg fair commemorating the country's 50th anniversary. He had just finished a speech defending South Africa's racial apartheid policy when the shots rang out. Verwoerd was in fact assassinated in September, 1966, by Dimitri Tsafendas, who was found insane.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—a new military service bill calling up men up to the age of 50 was introduced in the British House of Commons; the enemy penetrated the Allied centre near Neuve Chapelle, but failed in a drive near Amiens; the Battle of Lys began.

Bare Tires are Dangerous

Winnipeg Free Press

In British it is now an offence to drive with under-inflated or threadbare tires. It can cost the careless private motorists a fine of up to $150; an operator of a commercial vehicle can be fined up to $500.

The police will not prosecute where tires are only slightly under-inflated, but will be ruthless with motorists who drive with tires dangerously low or sure, badly worn or fitted in wrong combination.

It will be an offence to use a tire which is obviously either in itself or in combination with the other tires on the vehicle; if it is not properly inflated; if it has a break in the fabric or a serious cut, lump or bulge; or if it does not have a thread pattern at least one millimetre deep.

Research has established that 17 per cent of all accidents are caused by tire failure. On the superhighways up to 30 per cent of accidents were caused by tires. Experts with bad tires come under the new British demerit system whereby a driver can be disqualified when he has reached a given number of demerits.

The British government, under the indefatigable Barbara Castle, has been doing much to make motoring safer. First by introducing the mandatory breathalyzer test it has reduced substantially the incidence of drunken driving. Now by insisting that motorists carry proper tires it may help to eliminate yet another frequent cause of accidents. In Manitoba we merely sit back and tote up the dead.

Calgary, as Shuffleboard Capital of World Imports Wood, Scoring Units and Finish

CALGARY (CP) — Ken Pool's four-year-old company is bidding to make Calgary the world shuffleboard capital.

Mr. Pool formed Western Shuffleboards Ltd. with a staff of seven and began supplying boards to hotels and clubs in Alberta and Ontario.

Working through an agency that has expanded into two distributorships, the company now supplies shuffleboards to customers in England and Wales. Agents have also been appointed in France, Belgium and West Germany.

Mr. Pool returned from a recent visit to the International Sport Equipment Fair at Cologne in West Germany and reported substantial export orders.

Associates are investigating the shuffleboard market in Australia and New Zealand with a view to building a factory in the area to cut down transportation costs. Mr. Pool plans to fly to Australia shortly to assess the situation.

"Indications are very good," he said. "Shuffleboards have never really been pushed down there and it is only in the last few years that they have caught on."

At present, he said, the firm is barely "holding its own" meeting demands for the smooth-surfaced boards, which have brought a traditional outdoor game indoors.

The boards, which sell for between $500 and $2,000, are mostly made by hand by wood craftsmen who need about 21 days to complete the operation.

The indoor game follows the basic rules of the version played by an earlier generation of transatlantic liners and at summer resorts but the equipment has become more sophisticated.

In place of the wooden discs propelled by wooden sticks, the player has heavy counters, shaped somewhat like miniature curling rocks without handles, which he pushes by hand along the slick maple surface. He can spin a counter to affect its direction.

Scoring units, controlled by push-buttons from the ends of the board, are imported from Chicago and the structure used to cost the board surface comes from California.

The wood itself is brought from Eastern Canada to the company's plant on the outskirts of Calgary.

Baroness Leads Verbal Attack

LONDON (CP) — Many Britons, frustrated and sometimes humiliated at their country's continued exclusion from the European Common Market, are venting their spleen on the president of the French Republic—with an elegant lack of harness leading the verbal assault.

But a number of their countrymen stick out for President Charles de Gaulle, depicting him as a man not afraid to speak harsh truths.

"The leading view," wrote one British commentator sympathetic to de Gaulle, "seems to be that he is senile and embittered and . . . old-fashioned."

"That such a view should so widely prevail is a dangerous illusion of the incipiently paranoiac state of public opinion."

Every time the British dismiss de Gaulle as a crank, contin.ed Patrick Cosgrave in the Spectator, "we suffer a small defeat and become more deeply embedded in our rut."

Seemingly oblivious to such warnings is 80-year-old Lady Asquith-Violet Bonham Carter—who voiced a heated denunciation of de Gaulle on France's own television system.

Shedding the frailties of age, she startled French viewers as well as officials of the state-owned broadcasting system by turning what was to have been a placid panel discussion of the old days of Anglo-French partnership into an outlet for her opinions of the general.

"Events have by-passed him," insisted Lady Asquith, daughter of a former British prime minister and schooled as a girl to speak fluent French.

She invoked the name of a renowned Englishman who had served in the cabinet of her late father, Prime Minister H. H. Asquith, during the First World War.

"Winston Churchill did not ask (of the French in 1940), 'And how is your franc' Is it in good health?"

Instead, he had unhesitatingly offered de Gaulle a base for his resistance to the Germans and proposed also "an indissoluble union of our two countries."

The old Anglo-French "entente" is dead, declared Lady Asquith as the dimension of chairman went red with embarrassment at her candor.

But dying, too, was "the era of nationalism," and Britain at last had realized this.

"Now that Britain is trying to abandon her isolation and wents to integrate herself in a community not only economic but political, the irony is that Gen. de Gaulle . . . continues to think and to act in a national framework."

Lady Asquith's outburst brought a wave of telephoned tributes. One member of the elite Academie Francaise, praising what he called her charm as well as her command of French, voiced nostalgia for the past solidarity of Britain and France, adding:

"Britain now finds itself in the kind of difficulties we, too, have experienced. In our time of difficulty, Britain helped us. We should do the same now."

Lady Asquith's revulsion in the face of Gaullism finds support also from other politicians, journalists and numerous other groups in her home country—which critic Malcolm Muggeridge contends has lapsed into serious illness in terms of "good guys and bad guys."

Among the Britons opposed to labelling de Gaulle a "bad guy" are those who back his contention that their country's economy needs a massive clean-up before admission to the Common Market can be contemplated.

One of the younger Labor MP's expressed gratification that someone was giving the British what he termed an objective if radically painful analysis of their present state.

A columnist in the Conservative Daily Telegraph asked:

"Is it absolutely impossible that Gen. de Gaulle—in setting Great Britain, as she now is, in the European community—may be acting quite rationally in the true interests of Europe?"

Could it not be that de Gaulle was indeed trying to break a United States "stranglehold" on Europe, that "the present impasse (on the Common Market question) may lie at least partly on ourselves or on the politicians of all parties who claim, more and more unconvincingly, that they represent us?"

"It is advisable to ask such questions before it becomes actually treasonable to do so; before it becomes a social blunder to say a good word for France or the French; and before the belief that Gen. de Gaulle . . . has become a perverse, petty-minded old madman (itself) becomes enforceable by law."

Euromart Will Speed Up Tariff Cuts While Allowing U. S. to Delay Them

LUXEMBOURG (Reuters) — The European Common Market today agreed in principle to speed up Kennedy Round tariff cuts by one year and to permit the United States to delay implementation of its cuts by a similar period.

The measures agreed on could cut the U.S. balance of payments deficit by $150,000,000 next year, Common Market sources said.

But the six Common Market finance ministers meeting here made their decision conditional on renunciation of any protectionist trade measures by the U.S. and on abolition of the "American selling price"—a method whereby imported chemicals are assessed for duty on the basis of higher domestic prices.

Observers here saw the decision as a major European gesture to help the U.S. toward its goal of $500,000,000 improvement in its trading position in the coming year.

The ministers were still working out the details of the conditions to govern implementation of the measures.

Under the Kennedy Round agreement reached last year the U.S., Common Market members and other industrial nations were to cut their tariffs by about 35 per cent over a five-year period beginning Jan. 1 of this year.

But some countries, including the Common Market and Britain, were permitted to stagger their reductions by introducing two-fifth of their over-all cuts July 1 this year instead of one-fifth Jan. 1.

Under today's agreement, the Common Market countries will bring forward by one year a third one-fifth cut originally scheduled for Jan. 1, 1970, the sources said.

At the same time, the U.S. would postpone introduction of a one-fifth cut scheduled for next January by 12 months.

The measures will in effect boost American exports in Europe and reduce imports from the Common Market countries.

The Common Market commission—top executive body of the six-nation community—said that speeding up of tariff cuts by the six will help U.S. exports by $80,000,000 in 1969, while the slowdown will reduce imports by some $70,000,000.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Investors on the Toronto Stock Exchange marked time in moderate midmorning activity today as American markets were closed because of the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Price changers were mixed and generally small as trading resumed at its normal pace following full restoration of the exchange's computer.

DuPont, which rose ¾ to 27¾, paced industrials up. Trans-Canada Transmission, which is negotiating to supply additional natural gas to El Paso Natural Gas Co., climbed ⅛ to 22 and Beaver Lumber ⅛ to 14¼.

Oils were mixed. Numac was up 25 cents to 5.50 while Ranger fell 20 cents to 3.30.

Golds and base metals were fractionally off. Among golds, Dickenson dropped 20 cents to 3.50 and Candfis and Braltorne 15 cents each to 4.55 and 2.05.

On index, industrials gained .07 to 153.80. Oils were off .07 to 185.16, golds .35 to 185.54 and base metals .22 to 98.27.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 821,000 shares compared with 697,000 at the same time Monday.

The industrial index jumped 1.23 to 153.73, adding some $800,000,000 to the market value of shares listed on the exchange.

Brokers blamed the light volume on a breakdown in the exchange's computer, which forced them to hold back on orders because of lack of information. The computer was repaired by 2 p.m. but it took about 2½ hours before it had caught up with the day's activities.

Utilities paced the industrial advance. International Utilities climbed 2¾ to 41¾, Canadian Hydrocarbons 1⅛ to 12, Bell 1 by 44⅛ and Consumers Gas and Quebec Natural Gas ¾ each to 19¾ and 11½.

GMC Climbs

GMC rose 2 to 90, Chrysler 1⅛ to 69¾ and Metropolitan Stores and B.C. Sugar 1⅛ each to 39 and 39½.

Gortdrum Mines slipped 35 cents to 6.10 and Northgate ⅛ to 13¾.

Among golds, Kerr Addison edged up ¼ to 15¾.

On index, golds gained .75 to 185.89. Base metals were off .38 to 98.49 and western oils .01 to 185.17.

Volume was 2,412,000 shares compared with 2,794,000 Friday. 211 to 194.

Alouette Club Enjoys Card Party

Last Saturday, the French Alouette Club for Belleville and region held a card party in St. Joseph's parish hall. About 75 members and friends were present among whom was Mrs. Aime Roy of Quebec City, mother of Mr. Leo Boisvert of Belleville.

The contest consisted of a two-hour game period of either "500", bridge "quick game" and euchre, under the direction of Mr. Donat Clement, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Winners were awarded prizes in order as follows: for the bridge, Mrs. Irene Whalen, Mr. André Hebert and Mrs. Helen Blackwell; for "500", Mrs. George Lamer, Mr. Germain Pilon and Mrs. Jacqueline Rivard; for the euchre, Mrs. R. Roach, Mr. Ned Campbell and Mrs. Gloria Barnett.

After the games, Mr. Clement announced that two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Maurais, of Belleville, had joined the club and were present for the first time.

Due to last minute happenings, the president, Bernard Gagnier had not been able to attend. In his absence, past president, J. A. C. Berube, expressed thanks to all participants who made this party such a pleasant evening. He expressed regrets of the club members that Mr. and Mrs. George Barnett will leave to move near Cochrane, Ont., where Mr. Barnett is now employed. On behalf of all members, he presented Mr. Barnett with a souvenir of their stay here and their regular participation in club activities.

Before drawing the door prizes, Mr. Clement announced that the "Rencontre 68" of all Ontario French associations will take place at the Skyline Hotel in Toronto, on June 1st, and invited members to plan to attend this general meeting. He then asked members to reserve the date of April 20 for the Irish maple sugar party.

The door prize went to Mr. B. Watson, of Belleville. A light lunch, prepared by women of the club, Mrs. Adele Berube, Claire Hall, Ann Chiasson, Cecile Poirier, Jeannette Pilon, Margot Laclair, Rollande Ouellette, Marielte Noel de Tilly, and Yolande Lapointe, ended the evening to an enjoyable close.

A high triple score of 133 in darts for Mrs. June Newlands won her the ANAF Ladies' trophies, high three individual and the Charlotte and Jack Clark Memorial. Chalking up the score is Jean Gannon, sports chairman.

Burns, who also presented individual trophies donated by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Capt. R. Fitzgibbon, P. Ronsky, J. MacDonald, E. Sills, D. Deming and M. Galbraith.

Ladies' Auxiliary president A. Storms presented an individual trophy to M. Green for her first place in cribbage and A. Storms Sr. received jewellery for taking second spot.

Poppies' Captain R. Fitzgibbon presented Bat-A-Balls to the Bonnets Captain E. Bobbiash an her team. The Bouncers lost the playoffs to the Poppies.

The last place team was presented with trophies on which the name "Cellar - Dwellers" had been engraved. Winners of the door prizes were announced.

Elections took place with the following elected to the Sports Executive for next year: chairman, Jean Gannon; Sec-Treas., Mabel Galbraith; publicity, Mary Northey.

For entertainment a tournament was held in cribbage and darts with prizes as follows: cribbage, first A. Storms Sr., second B. Dumphy; darts, first J. Newlands, second R. Fitzgibbon. High three darts: G. Fitzgerald 85.

Visiting Japanese Opera Singer Also Specializes in Italian Arias

LUMBERS STUDIO BABY OF THE WEEK

Well, spring is here and with it the usual flock of door to door photographers who only want your money. Don't be fooled by their "gimmicks" and smooth talk. They are high pressure salesmen, not photographers, but snap shooters. Most people are very disappointed with the end results but it is too late and there is no one to complain to. Lumbers Studio is always here and make sure you are completely satisfied with your portraits. Remember — compare quality not price.

This little girl is 11 month old Lisa, the wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Denyes of Hallowayy.

Mrs. Otsuki is here with her husband Takuro, who is on a two-year applied physics fellowship with the National Research Council.

She teaches music and singing and is an opera singer, specializing in Italian arias.

"I like Italian music because it is very expressive, cheerful and happy," Mrs. Otsuki said.

A 1961 graduate of the Musashisou Music Academy in Tokyo, she has continued to study singing.

From the age of four years children in Japan are given music lessons," she said.

Very young children join rhythm bands so they will appreciate music by the time they are old enough to play the piano.

Mrs. Otsuki inherited her love of singing from her mother, who also plays the piano. Her grandmother plays the koto, a traditional Japanese stringed instrument, and her husband plays the piano and violin.

The Otsukis came to Canada as newlyweds and although Mihiko is still traditionally Japanese in many ways, she is adopting some western habits.

She cooks Japanese food every day, and knelt on the floor to serve green tea out of dainty clay cups when interviewed.

But she prefers sleeping on a western-style bed to a tatami mat and wears western clothes even in Japan for all but the most formal occasions.

Mrs. Otsuki learned to read and write English in school, although she did not learn to speak it fluently until she came to Canada.

"I wish we could stay here longer," she says. "The people are so friendly. Canada is very wide while Japan is narrow.

"The air is clear here and the traffic not nearly so fast as it is in Tokyo."

Mrs. Martin Luther King Planned Singing Career

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. was planning a singing career when she met a young Baptist minister, Coretta Scott, a slender, attractive brunette with long hair, married her minister and became involved in civil rights instead.

Her marriage to Dr. King took her to peaks of pride and happiness — and now the valley of tears.

"I wish we could remain on this mountain top forever," she said when her husband won the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize.

But there were times of despair, and Thursday her husband, devoted to non-violence, was slain in Memphis by an assassin's bullet.

Mrs. King long has lived with the threat of death. And thus far she has remained composed.

She has seen her husband jailed, stabbed, threatened and has had her home rocked by a bomb blast.

Since her childhood days in Perry County, Ala., where she was born, Mrs. King said she was determined to do something worthwhile in the fight for civil rights.

Since their marriage, Mrs. King has sung at concerts for numerous civil rights organizations and has accompanied her husband on many of his trips in behalf of civil rights.

"With four children, this isn't always easy to do," she has said. The children are Yolanda, 12, Martin Luther King III, 11, Dexter Scott, 7, and Bernice, 5. The King home in a lower-income Negro neighborhood is filled with mementos from admirers.

A portrait of Mohandas Gandhi, given to them by the Gandhi Peace Foundation, hangs in the living room. King shaped his passive resistance program from the teachings of the Indian leader.

There also is a bust of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and an abstract oil painting titled Integration, painted and given them by a great-great-granddaughter of John Brown, the 19th century abolitionist.

Ann Landers

Immature Wife Reacts To Child's Treatment

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read your column long long enough to know how you feel about men hitting women — even in self-defence. I also know you are a sensible person who realizes there are exceptions to every rule. I hope you will tell me I am an exception because I intend to keep hitting my wife and I'd like to be on with your approval.

Eighteen months ago I married a spoiled brat. She slept till noon and then went out and had lunch with her girl friends. When I'd come home to dinner the bed wasn't made and the breakfast dishes were still in the sink. Also, there was no dinner. She decided it was dumb to cook because the cooks in the restaurants were better than she was. There was never any food in the house. A mouse would have starved to death.

ANN LANDERS

Finally I got mad and went to her father and told him my problem. He said it was my fault for putting up with it and added, with a wink, "The way to get a spoiled brat in line is to slap her around a little."

I took his advice and it worked wonders. No more back talk, no more loafing around and goofing off. The house looks fine and the meals aren't great but she is trying to improve. I'd appreciate your comments. — MASTER AT LAST.

DEAR MASTER: So you slap your wife around and now everything is just lovely at your house? What do you want from me — a gold medal?

Just because you married an immature girl who responds to a child's punishment, doesn't mean it is right or even acceptable. I hope you recognize the fact that your wife has loose connections in the attic. Furthermore, she may be your obedient slave at the moment but don't be surprised if one day her hostility manifests itself in some mighty strange ways.

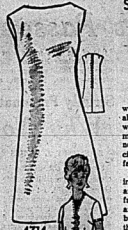
DEAR ANN LANDERS: If I am being a petty jerk please say so and I'll mend my ways. Something tells me there's more involved here than just the dough. How about a fast answer?



I work in an office and there are a goodly number of nice chicks around, but this particular couple of my five months ago. Suzy and I have gone out together several times and I like her, but she has one mingy fault. She keeps borrowing small amounts — like coffee money, or cigarette money, or $1 for an office collection, or cab fare when she forgets her coin purse. She never pays me back.

In the last three months (I kept track) Suzy has nicked me for $22. This won't break me, Ann, and if you say forget it I will, but sometimes I think I am being taken for a sucker and I don't like the feeling. Should I say something and risk losing her friendship? — BENT BUT NOT BUSTED.

DEAR BENT: People who borrow money and make no effort to repay it display a serious character deficiency — so don't write it off as "forgetfulness" or nothing to be concerned about.

The next time Suzy tries to float a small loan tell her she already owes you $22 and you'd appreciate it if she would make an attempt to liquidate. If you lose her account — I mean friendship — it won't be much of a tragedy.

Successful Living

What Constitutes A Satisfactory Home Life, Is Discussed by Group of Neighbors

Dear Doris: A group of us were having a discussion about home life. All of us feel we should be doing a little more for our families, but none of us was able to decide what constituted a satisfactory home life.

We are all at present living in apartments in the near-city area. We still have children, from three to 19 years. They are not culturally deprived but we would all like to give them just a little more in the way of encouragement.

We have combed the libraries but so far have found very little new information.— Wanting Help

Dear Wanting: It's like saying, "Please give us the principles of Successful Living in one easy lesson!"

What makes for a satisfactory home life?

(1) Companionship between parents and offspring. Eaten time together.

(2) Affection: hugs, kisses, the impulsive touch of a hand.

(3) Encouragement to know what goes on in the world: dinner table conversation about headlines; talk about school topics; a TV schedule which permits news-viewing and discussion.

(4) Optimism and encouragement and good cheer.

(5) Comfortable talk about intimate things.

Dear Doris: I read in your column that the Canadian Diabetic Association has a book called Exchange Lists for Meal Planning for Diabetics in Canada, which a person can get by sending in 35 cents.

My sister in Bermuda has great trouble making exchanges and staying within her allowances for starches and sugars. Could she get one by writing from Bermuda? — One of Three Sisters.

Dear One: Yes. I asked the director this very question. Have her write to Canadian Diabetic Association, 1491 Yonge Street, Toronto 7, Canada, enclosing 35 cents.

This publication is doing a tremendous job for doctors and diabetics right across Canada. Every bit as good for Bermudians.

Confidential to Grannie: Thank you for your message. I appreciate your going to the trouble of writing this all down especially when writing is not easy for you. You must be a wonderful person.

Please make letters as brief as possible — not more than two pages. And remember that stamped envelope.

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — The public has become much more acceptable to the situation of unwed mothers in the last 20 years, says Ethel Packham, superintendent of the new United Church home for girls in Burnaby. She says that with one-in-eight births recorded as illegitimate in the province in 1967, the public is less inclined to censure the girls.

Dairy foods go with good living

Add new zest to family suppers. Pick a favorite food, give it a quick new flavor lift and the family will love you for it. Dairy foods make it a snap to come up with winning combinations.

A cheery basket of warm tomato-cheese biscuits makes up for yesterday's leftover roast. No problem with a hunk of mild cheddar in a mixing bowl, combine 1 slightly beaten egg, ⅔ cup tomato juice and ½ cup shredded cheddar. Add 2 cups biscuit mix and stir with a fork until just combined. Spread in a buttered 8-inch square pan, sprinkle with additional cheese and 1 tablespoon celery seeds. Drizzle with 2 tablespoons melted butter; bake at 400°F 20 to 25 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with plenty of butter.

3 pounds cut-up chicken
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
flour
¼ cup butter, melted
1 cup light cream
¼ cup honey

Season chicken with salt and pepper; dust lightly with flour. Arrange in large broiler pan. Cover with melted butter. Cook uncovered in 425°F oven 30 minutes. Combine honey and cream; pour over chicken, lower oven heat to 350°F and bake 40 minutes longer.

P.S. The fresh lively flavor of milk picks up any meal. Don't forget to keep plenty on hand!

Note: Satisfactory results can not be obtained unless butter is used.

Lemon Dessert for Easter

By MARY MOORE

Cooks who are in a rut when it comes to using up leftover egg whites will perk up when they read how I turned them into our Easter dessert — large filled meringues.

In the near future I will give you a Danish method of preparing a last-minute dessert from small meringues.

Make the Meringues and Lemon Butter on Easter Saturday.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Vegetable Chowder; Creamed Salmon on Split Tea Biscuits; Individual Dessert Fruit Salads: Pineapple Rings, Stuffed Prunes, Orange Sections, Grape Clusters, White Cream Cheese Dressing; Cheese Straws; Coffee.

EASTER MERINGUE DESSERT (serves 8)

Preheat oven to 400 deg. Fahr.

4 large egg whites (nearly two-thirds cup)
1 one-third cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 one-third teaspoons vinegar
1 one-third teaspoons vanilla
1 one-third teaspoons water
Lemon Butter (see below)
1½ pints fine-quality vanilla ice cream

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, vinegar, vanilla and water in beater bowl and beat until very stiff. Using buttered teflon-coated cookie sheets or buttered foil - lined cookie sheets spoon large mounds of meringue from a berry spoon onto pan. They should be 3" apart. Make deep depressions in centres using silver gravy or mayonnaise ladle that has been moistened in cold water. Put in oven at 400 deg. Fahr. and Turn off heat at once and leave in oven until it and meringues are cold.

Meanwhile make Lemon Butter: In top of double boiler beat 3 eggs enough to mix the yolks and whites. Add one-third cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 cup sugar and grated yellow rind of 1 lemon. Stir over boiling water until it thickens — about 10 min. It does not thicken a lot so do not stand there stirring expecting it to thicken more. Remove from heat and cool. Store in refrigerator in covered jar. Chill until ice cold.

When Easter dinner time arrives place one meringue on each of 8 tea plates. Fill depression with generous scoop fine vanilla ice cream. Top with generous spoonful of Lemon Butter. The children were enchanted for this looked like "a negg" but tasted like candy!

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Child: "Do you know what Jimmy did in school this morning?"

Mother: "Honey, hurry and eat your lunch while I finish these dishes — or you'll be late getting back to school."

If your child comes home for lunch, organize your housework so you can join him at the table and listen to him. Chances for communication are too few to be missed.

Scouting activities

VENTURING

The Venturer Company, comprising young men in the age range 14 to 17 years, subscribe to the Venturer promise and accept the constitution and by-laws of the company before becoming a Venturer.

There are in Belleville District two Venturer Companies growing rapidly, located at 15th (Sir Winston Churchill) and 17th (Eastminster United). Membership is at present 20 Venturers. The activities are varied and include adult level education in competence in driver education, St. John Ambulance, ham radio, etc. fitness, exploration, vocational investigations in a number of vocations as well as cultural activities.

A special part of their program is service — to the public, other organizations, sponsoring group, Scouting in particular their own Group.

Although we do not hear very much of this new branch of Scouting, it is much activity in both Companies going on quietly and without any desire for personal notice.

Anyone interested in becoming a Venturer should contact the chairman or secretary of the 15th or 17th Group Committees, who will be glad to direct them to the Venturer Advisor or the Venturer in charge of the Company.

USED STAMPS FOR THE HANDICAPPED

The District Ladies' Auxiliaries are collecting used postage stamps, which are sent to the International Scout Bureau at Ottawa, where they are sold and the proceeds used for Scouting with the handicapped.

Send your used stamps to Mrs. H. S. Thomson, R.R. 1, Belleville or to any member of a Boy Scout Ladies' Auxiliary. Stamps should be left with at least three eighths inch margin of paper when taken from envelope. The women's aim this year is 150,000 used stamps.

6TH BELLEVILLE (TABERNACLE)

Over 50 boys and parents of the 6-A Pack took advantage of the Moira Conservation Authority on Sunday, March 31st, to take part in a guided tour of the sugar bush farm near Roslin.

Although the weather was wet at the start, the Cubs enjoyed the outing, while the parents, we are sure enjoyed it even more.

The party was shown the facilities of the farm and after the tour each one was given a sample carton of maple syrup to take home. The farm animals came in for considerable attention by the boys also.

As there was an abundant supply of the ever popular "pussy willow" everyone took a few branches to decorate their home for Easter.

An amusing feature of the afternoon took place when a number of cars went astray and followed the wrong lead car, but this was soon rectified.

10th BELLEVILLE (HOLLOWAY UNITED)

The regular meeting of the Group Committee was held on Thursday, April 4th, when several important Scouting questions were discussed.

Reports were given and a very successful father and son banquet was discussed. Leaders were urged to use the Group Committee and parents more as examiners for Cub badges in order to maintain interest.

Arrangements were made to take part in the District Salvage Drive on April 20th, while jobs were delegated for the planned Cub Camp to be held June 14th to 16th at Camp Quinte-moiac on Moira Lake. Good progress was reported in all sections of the Group.

1ST AVONDALE GROUP

The 1st Avondale Troop, since its reorganization last September under the leadership of Scoutmaster Ron Shetzlin and Asst. Scoutmaster Doug Yates has increased its membership from 13 boys to 30.

The parents of the boys recently attended an impressive ceremony when Gord Ashley, Billy Kitcher and Stephen Coates in a special "going-up" ceremony were accepted into the Scout Troop as members of the Great Brotherhood of Scouts. Cubmaster (Akela) John MacKinnon, Asst. Cubmaster-Don Ashley and members of 1st Avondale Pack bid farewell to the Cubs and Scouter - Ron Shettzil, on behalf of the Scout Troop welcomed them as members.

Preliminary instruction having been given by senior Scouts, the new Scouts were invested in the same night along with Scout Mark Everard.

The Scouts also participated in the Scouting Fun Fair at Sir John A. Macdonald School on March 29th. Thanks are expressed to all "friends of Scouting" who helped to make the Scout "candy and popcorn" booth a success.

A combination "all day" mystery, compass and cooking hike to Presqu'ile Park on Saturday was the second of a series of such outings to be held.

One patrol of seven boys was so quiet during the orienteering exercise that they surprised a deer. Estimations of heights and distances, compass readings, hidden treasure, sealed orders, tree and bird recognition, leaf, needle and seed collections, patrol cooking and a wide game of "capture the flag" completed the activities.

All thoroughly enjoyed the day and returned home tired but happy.

121 Survive Crash

Airliner's Captain Wins Passengers' Praise

LONDON (AP) — One engine caught fire and fell off and the left wing was in flames. But Capt. Charles Taylor landed the big jetliner and "we must owe our lives to him," said one of the 121 survivors.

Five of the 126 persons aboard were killed and 22 were injured in the crash-landing Monday at London Airport. Survivors and officials of British Overseas Airways Corp. said the skill and courage of the pilot, a New Zealander, prevented a much more serious accident.

Two minutes after the Boeing 707 jetliner took off from London for Sydney, Australia, Taylor looked and saw the side was all in flames," said passenger Bill Deutsch, 27, of Teaneck, N.Y.

The plane's inner left engine broke off and plunged into a water-filled gravel pit southwest of London, narrowly missing nearby houses.

"The fire was growing all the time, but the pilot brought the aircraft round and we landed three minutes later," Deitsch said.

"It was a beautiful landing. The pilot was brilliant. He really was brilliant."

Everything seemed "beautifully under control," said another passenger, Miss Helena Mordon. "As we landed it was nice, soothing music was still coming through the loudspeakers."

British pop singer Mark Wynter, 25, jumped from an emergency exit on a wing and then to the ground. He said "there were nine explosions and the aircraft burst into flames."

"Although the fire brigade was quickly there, the whole aircraft was soon burning," said a spectator. "How so many got out alive, I will never know."

BOAC said an engine of the same plane caught fire as it was preparing to take off from Honolulu late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Guthrie, chairman of the government-owned airline, told reporters: "This was the plane's first flight out—except for a test flight-following a major overhaul."

One of the dead was a stewardess, Barbara Harrison. The other four fatalities were passengers—a Mrs. M. Smith, a man and women so far unidentified and a British girl, Jacqueline Cooper, 9, whose family was emigrating to Australia.

Among the injured were two brothers and a sister.

Parents and two brothers survived.

No Canadians were listed aboard.

Mansfield Sees No Early Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield forecasts no early legislative cure for problems reflected by the violence that has torn the U.S. in recent days.

Mansfield said in an interview he'll push a plot-Easter drive to pass legislation aimed at meeting major social problems. But he conceded it is unlikely to reach the roots of ferment that exploded into violence over the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He listed for early action a so-called "safe streets" bill, a juvenile delinquency measure and legislation to give the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission power to enforce its orders.

Mansfield said he hopes the House of Representatives will act this week on a Senate-passed civil rights bill, which includes a provision banning discrimination in the sale and rental of private housing.

Mansfield urged his colleagues Monday not to be impetuously in the aftermath of King's murder. He said greater responsibility by individual citizens, rather than new legislation, is "vitally necessary to regain our self-respect."

Mansfield indicated he does not expect Johnson to address a joint session of Congress on the violence soon, if at all. The president had planned to speak Monday night but postponed his appearance indefinitely because of the King funeral today.

Mansfield was non-committal about when the Senate will act on a supplemental money bill from which a Senate-House conference committee deleted $100,000,000 for summer poverty programs.

Senator Jacob K. Javits (Rep. N.Y.) said in a statement he will oppose final approval of the bill unless the funds are restored. He said the $75,000,000 Congress appropriated last year for job programs may have been responsible for the "relative tranquility" in New York City during the recent violence.

A Senate labor subcommittee has approved legislation authorizing a $250,000,000 anti-poverty program.

Slum Drive Is Tribute To King

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York state legislature moved today to honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. by launching a $6,000,000,000 program to rebuild the slum neighborhoods of New York cities.

Responding to an appeal by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, committees of the senate and assembly reported to the floor of their houses Monday bills embodying the governor's plan for a massive cleanup of the slums.

Swift passage of the measures was expected, and Rockefeller's signature was assured—upon his return from King's funeral in Atlanta, Ga.

The main bill would set up an Urban Development Corp. with broad powers to move into any community of the city, tear down dilapidated buildings and replace them with housing, schools and job-producing industrial plants.

The agency would have a borrowing capacity of $1,000,000,000 which, pooled with private financial resources, would generate $6,000,000,000 — by Rockefeller's estimate — to apply to the imposing task.

Troops Watch In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed for curfew violations soared as 14,000 troops guarded against fresh disturbances in the riot-shocked Negro slums of the U.S. capital.

With schools and most business in the city closed today for the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., officials appeared concerned the services in Atlanta could touch off new trouble here.

Mayor Walter Washington urged all capital residents to join today in prayers "for peace and tranquility in our city and land."

Government agencies closed early Monday to clear the streets for the 6 p.m. curfew.

Strictly Personal

Why Not Allocate Taxes?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Sweating it out with my income tax man until the late hours last night, I thought of one significant improvement in the tax form that wouldn't cost anyone a penny and would make millions of taxpayers feel better — not good, but better—about filing.

In one sense, like most, I feel that my taxes are too high; in another sense, it is really not so much the amount I resent as the way most of it is spent.

There ought to be, on each income tax form, a little box on which the taxpayer can check off his preferences for allocation of his tax dollar. I would like most of mine to go for school aid, for mental institutions and hospitals, for a genuine poverty program, for attacking pollution of air and water on a meaningful scale, and for all such socially constructive tasks.

In any sensibly-run society — and the world has yet to see a sensibly-run society — priorities would be given in proportion to the preferences of the taxpayers. Those who cannot support war would find their money going to different purposes, while those in favor of it would allocate most of their payments to the military effort.

This would not only be fair, it would give the government a year-by-year idea of what citizens are thinking and desiring. Waiting years for a "mandate from the people" is simply too long in these rapidly changing times; the tax returns would provide an accurate and decisive tabulation of public attitudes and reactions.

I could pay my taxes with a much more grateful flourish if I knew that my dollars were going to support what I believe are the most important needs of the nation: and those with opinions contrary to mine would feel the same. And, in this way, the national budget could be sliced into segments more representative of the voters' selection, and less responsive to pressure of lobbyists, bureaucrats, and log-rollers.

But, of course, all of this is predicated upon a rational approach to government, to finance, and to politics — and public an approach belongs to the far distant future, if we survive long enough to overcome the irrationality of the system we are all trapped in.

Encouragement of Quinte Youth Remains as Primary Goal Of Eastern Ontario Concert Group

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra counts a VC and a former member of parliament among its musicians.

But that's got all.

Much of its music and membership is shared by teenagers.

Encouragement of youth was a founding aim of the orchestra which launches Arts Festival '68 at Centennial School tomorrow night.

"This is one of the reasons why the orchestra was started seven years ago," says conductor-director Stephen Choma. "It's for youngsters taking up music who haven't any place to play."

Not all the younger group is even teenaged.

Like Peter James, of Belleville, for instance. Only 12 years old he plays in the orchestra with his father, Hedley, both sharing the same score in the second-violin section.

For some, the concert group may stimulate interest in a professional future.

"Some of them already have gone into careers in music," says Mr. Choma.

This week, three of the junior musicians have been awarded summer music-camp scholarships by the Ontario Federation of Symphony Orchestras.

But the orchestra's membership is as diverse as the program it has assembled for tomorrow night's festival opener.

Its 50 players do not make music a total way of life, none of them is a full-time professional.

Its trombone section counts a lawyer, Bee Thompson of Brighton, a one-time MP for Northumberland in the Diefenbaker government. On oboe is Major John Foote, V.C., of Cobourg.

The music they make together is of wide-ranging variety, well illustrated by its choice of selections for this year's festival opener.

Mr. Choma's baton will lead the orchestra through a program of musical contrasts.

Opening with Mozart's Marriage of Figaro overture, it will include selections from My Fair Lady and Disney's Mary Poppins.

Modern concert pieces will involve Eric Coates' London Suite and music by Robert Jager.

Concert master Marion Stratton will take a solo spot with the violin concerto No. 1 by J. B. Accolay.

For the second successive year, festival soloists with the orchestra will be Robert and Hazel Anne Reid.

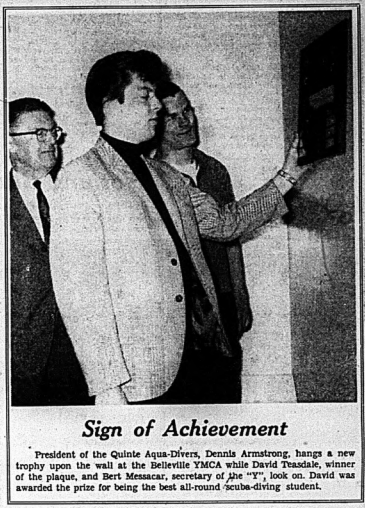
Their presentations will include duets and solos from Broadway productions — Flower Drum Song, Stop the World and Most Happy Fella.

A Family Affair

Peter James, 12, plays second violin with father, Hedley, in Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra. He is one of many young musicians attracted to ensemble, which opens Festival '68 tomorrow night.

Egg Producers Voting On Marketing Scheme

Egg producers across the province are being invited to vote this week on whether or not they favor a provincially controlled egg marketing scheme.



Producers in Hastings county will vote today (Tuesday) and tomorrow, April 9 and 10, at the county agricultural office in Stirling.

County Agricultural Representative Douglas Tipper said that the last time there was a vote on the egg marketing proposal only 14 county producers cast ballots.

He had no idea whether this time there might be a heavier turnout but suggested that the smaller producers might now be more aware of what the marketing board is attempting to accomplish.

But there is opposition to the proposed marketing plan.

During the past several weeks a series of advertisements sponsored by "a group of Ontario egg producers" have appeared in newspapers urging a "no" vote.

Sign of Achievement

President of the Quinte Aqua-Divers, Dennis Armstrong, hangs a new trophy upon the wall at the Belleville YMCA while David Teasdale, winner of the plaque, and Bert Messacar, secretary of the "Y", look on. David was awarded the prize for being the best all-round scuba-diving student.

Meet the President

William T. Smith, national president Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad, Transport and General Workers, chats with union veterans after Club Canara speech last night. The labor leader was on hand to present men with 25-year membership pins.

President Heard

Railway Workers Said Ready To Contribute to Just Society

As yet, the just society envisioned by Pierre Trudeau is just a political slogan, a national labor leader says.

The tease caution came last night from William T. Smith, national president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

It will take social organization to materialize the kind of society Canada's next prime minister evoked at his Liberal leadership nomination Saturday.

Mr. Trudeau had merely talked of a just society, Mr. Smith told district non - operating railroaders.

But "we don't want to just talk about it. We as an institution spread from coast to coast will have to do something about it," said Mr. Smith.

"We will then contribute to the just society that we're all struggling to establish."

Later, the labor leader said Mr. Trudeau was "just political sloganeering" when he coined the phrase.

"In the final analysis it's going to depend on us, on organizations like us to make it just society and a great society."

"We exist for greater things than just our own needs," he told the meeting. "We have a responsibility as an institution in society . . . and that responsibility is to champion those that are less fortunate than ourselves. And there are thousands and thousands in this nation that don't enjoy the standards of living we enjoy."

The union's social task was "engulfed in our name of brotherhood."

"We must not lose sight of our responsibility to develop among our membership not only the recognition, but the spirit of brotherhood. We have a responsibility not only of being our own keeper, but our brother's keeper."

Mr. Smith, union president since 1954, said the railroaders' welfare was wrapped up in the industry which employed them.

New labor contract negotiations would begin this fall, he added.

"We have a responsibility too, within the industry in which we're employed," Mr. Smith said.

Vast changes had overtaken railroading in recent years and co-operation between labor and management would facilitate adjustments to new conditions.

The national president's speech preceded awards of 25-year pins to 23 members of the Brotherhood's Local 126.

Recipients were G. Clement, L. Fuzzen, F. O'Brien, F. Robitaille, M. Waite, C. Ness, F. Foley, L. Wellman, S. Masterson, W. Nelson, S. Wood, M. K. Carson, H. J. Pointer, H. W. Pointer, R. Mills, C. Convention Insight

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Allan MacEachen appeared to have bungled his official withdrawal from the Liberal leadership race Saturday.

But the apparent mistake was deliberately planned in a manoeuvre to stop Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, informants disclosed Monday.

The background to the situation is that Mr. MacEachen, a reformer, regarded Mr. Hellyer as the most conservative candidate for the leadership.

Beyond this, Mr. Hellyer at a Halifax candidates' meeting had publicly questioned medical care insurance, Mr. MacEachen's baby.

Moreover, Mr. Hellyer's armed forces unification policy when he was defence minister had hurt the Liberals in Nova Scotia.

Mr. MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet, for these and other reasons had no wish to see Mr. Hellyer as prime minister.

Now we come to the situation after the first ballot at the Liberal convention Saturday.

Originally, Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland was believed ready to support Mr. MacEachen on the first ballot. This support was later to be transferred if necessary to Justice Minister Trudeau, the eventual winner, to give Mr. Trudeau a surge on the second ballot.

However, Mr. Smallwood thought it better to support Mr. Trudeau right from the beginning. This support put Mr. Trudeau over the 700-mark on the first ballot and gave him a comfortable if not insurmountable lead.

Mr. MacEachen got only 155 votes on the first ballot, a big disappointment to him. He was four votes behind Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene.

The health minister wanted to throw his support immediately to Mr. Trudeau, which he did, delivering about 80 per cent of his delegates to the justice minister.

But External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and Eric Kierans, former Quebec health minister, also withdrew after the first ballot.

This meant that if Mr. MacEachen were also off, Mr. Greene would be knocked out on the second ballot. On the first ballot, he was just behind all others staying in the fight. After each ballot, the low man had to be dropped for the next round of voting.

Mr. Greene's support came mainly from the Prairies, and especially from Saskatchewan.

Senator A. H. McDonald had stated publicly that Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher would support Mr. Hellyer, though Mr. Thatcher said later he was not supporting any candidate officially.

Thus some means had to be devised to keep Mr. Greene in for the third ballot to prevent a voting switch on the Prairies to Mr. Hellyer.

The means turned out to be relatively simple because Mr. Greene wanted to stay in for the same reason: To keep his votes from going to Mr. Hellyer.

Mr. MacEachen simply delayed his official withdrawal. It was taken to Senator John Nichol, convention chairman, two minutes after the deadline for official withdrawals.

Consequently Mr. MacEachen's name remained on the second ballot. He got only 11 votes—the number did not matter in this game—and was eliminated.

If Mr. MacEachen's withdrawal notice had been received in time, Mr. Greene as the low man would have been dropped after the second ballot.

He lost strength but managed to hang on to 194 votes.

Former trade minister Robert Winters moved into second place ahead of Mr. Hellyer by eight votes—473 to 465. Mr. Hellyer had been runner-up on the first ballot.

Mr. Winters' move to second prevented Mr. Hellyer from successfully requesting Mr. Winters to support him as the man in the best position to stop Mr. Trudeau.

Instead, Mr. Hellyer eventually had to throw his support to Mr. Winters.

Mr. Greene lost nearly all his support on the third ballot, got only 29 votes and was eliminated. At the same time, Mr. Winters soared to 621 and Mr. Hellyer dropped to 377 and withdrew.

Whether Mr. Hellyer as runner-up could have beaten Mr. Trudeau will, of course, never be known.

MUSHMOUTH REPORTS

Dear Boss: —

Uncle Crabmouth flew in from Boston over the weekend. He's loaded down with crabmeat, lobster backs, clam juice and optimism.

He says "Bell with the New York and other experts, the Bosox will win the world series and what the hockey Bruins will do to those soupers from Montreal will make the historic Boston Tea Party look like a splasters' convention."

"Unk Crab is a dedicated baseball man, boss. He hasn't missed a game since he was eye-level with plunderer wooden. He is one of the original Ted Williams fan-baiters and has a sculpture of the famous "Shiver" making that historic thumb-to-nose gesture at the bleachers."

"He likes Dick Williams, the upstart manager who took the Bosox to the world series. And he says, Williams will do it again.

The former Toronto manager is also a dedicated hunter and was usually found haunting the open fields called baseball diamonds searching for a target garbed in blue with protective gray of mask and pads.

"If cornered this hunter will fight to the last thumb is hooked. His first tussle after joining the Boston Hunt Club came with Umpire Bill Valentine. Williams lost but as he lift the field he tossed over his shoulder, "With that mask and suit and that chest protector, you could go on 'What's My Line' and they'd never guess."

Williams disproved the oft-quoted theory that if a baseball team has the players, it matters little who the manager is. Durocher proved that when he brought the Chisolm up to centre field after finishing last in 1966.

"The unk says that Williams poured last year that umpires do count — but there is a certain element of luck. And as far as luck is concerned Williams was not born with a horseshoe in his hand, he was buried in 'em in a blacksmith shop."

A Boston sportswriter pointed out last year: — "Williams has always been lucky. He was lucky the Red Sox moved from Seattle to Toronto when they did so he could be a manager instead of just a coach. He's lucky at cards, he's lucky on the ballfield. He's lucky on the bench and he's lucky on television shows."

A few months after he got the Red Sox job, Williams, then living in California, broke the bank on a quiz show called "Hollywood Squares." He won $5,000 in cash and prizes one of which was a round trip to Paris. But the trip cost him money. His wife insisted that he would not go to Paris alone.

"Personally, boss, I believe the unk and Williams are overdoing this optimism business. That disproved theory as they call it about a team needing the players may be the apple that upsets the Bosox lobster wagon."

"Williams must have worries. His ace pitcher Jim Lonborg, as is well-known, was a ski victim and is not yet fully recovered from a knee surgery. A pitcher is a pitcher but a 22-game winner is a heluva big help on a pennant drive."

And the late news is that Ray Caglarlosi their top slugger is out for 60 days at least with an injured eye. They've bolstered their mound staff with Ray Culp from the Cubs and Dick Ellsworth from the Phillies and their catching is second rate except for Howard who can work only half the games."

"I didn't tell the unk my limb-sticker, it might have spoiled his visit. However I'm picking Baltimore for the flag followed by Detroit, Minnesota, Chicago and Boston."

Tigers Trounce 'Newfies'

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP) — It'll be do or die Wednesday for Corner Brook, Nfld., Royals on home ice against powerful Victoriaville Tigers in best-of-seven Eastern Canada semi-finals.

Tigers had little trouble disposing of Corner Brook 9-2 in the second game of the series here Monday after walloping the Newfoundlanders 15-1 in the first game Sunday.

Should the series go the limit, other games will be played Thursday and Saturday in Corner Brook.

Habs Happy; Bruins All Shook Up!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Harry Sinden of Boston Bruins took a red pencil to his lineup Monday as Toe Blake of Montreal arrived in town and admitted his Canadiens are ready for tonight's Stanley Cup playoff game.

Sinden, fuming from losses to the Canadiens Thursday and Saturday in the first two games of best-of-seven quarter-final series, ran his players through a rugged 70-minute drill Monday and promised changes.

First man to go is Eddie Shack in the new shakeup.

"Terry Sawchuk will be back to the Phil Esposito line with Ken Hodge," said Sinden. "I don't know where Shack will be.

"I suppose he or Ron Murphy or Glen Sather will play on the Derek Sanderson line."

Sinden said he is satisfied with goaltender Gerry Cheevers and the Boston defence. But is unhappy with the forwards with the exception of Ed Westfall, John McKenzie, Skip Krake and Sanderson.

"They started hard all year and now when the games are most important most of my forwards have stopped. We have to start skating and start hitting."

To get the idea across, Sinden ran his club through an unusually long session of stops and starts and schimmages, ending with 10 minutes of shooting.

Someone coming into practice at the Bruins looked a little subdued and on the surly side, prompting Sinden to answer: "It's about time they got surly. They haven't done much in the first two games."

Canadiens arrived in Boston Monday and Blake pronounced himself happy with the "lively" showing of Jacques Lemaire, Dick Duff and Bobby Rousseau.

"They didn't go too well for us in the final few games of the regular season, but they've come on to such an extent it's hard to get Danny Grant, Henri Richard and Claude Larose on the ice."

Lemaire, a 23-year-old rookie, scored two goals in Saturday's 5-3 victory over Boston and Duff added one.

"He's a good one and doesn't run scared like a lot of first-year players," said Duff in describing Lemaire. "He shoots the puck just as hard as (Bernie) Geoffrion, but he's far more accurate."

Blake will go with Gump Worsley in the Montreal nets tonight because "you don't change a winning combination."

"They (Boston) are in a hole now, They've got to go all out Tuesday and they'll be tough in front of their home crowd. I expect they'll come out like bulls down a chute into a corral."

Bobby Hull, a 44-goal scorer in the regular season, is expected to play with San Mikita, the NHL points-scoring champion, on the same line.

"We tried it Thursday and it took some pressure off Bobby, who had all the Rangers hanging on him when he skated in his regular line with Phl Martin and Chico Maki," said Reay.

Chicago and New York were scheduled to play their second game Sunday, but it was rescheduled to tonight in deference to the funeral for Dr. Martin Luther King.

The extra couple of days of rest should help the Hawks, who dropped the first game 3-1 in New York.

Meanwhile, coach Emile Francis of New York had his own injury troubles, Geoffrion, suffering from a bleeding ulcer, is out for the season. Rangers called up Bill Fairbairn, a 20-year-old right winger who scored 23 goals for Omaha in the Central Pro League this season, as a replacement.

"You can sub Geoffrion but you can never replace him," Francis remarked. "The loss of anyone in the playoffs is tough, but it's especially rough when it's a guy like Geoffrion."

'Hit 'Em, Or Else' Warns Sinden

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins, whose hard-hitting tactics helped them to lead the National Hockey League in scoring this year, hope to return to regular season form tonight. The Bruins play the third game of their Eastern Division semi-finals against Montreal Canadiens.

After dropping the first two games in the best-of-seven series at Montreal, the Bruins have their backs to the wall in their first appearance in the Stanley Cup playoffs in nine years.

"We have to start skating and start hitting," Boston coach Harry Sinden said. "I'll guarantee that they'll hit, and how they'll hit.

"We can't wait any longer. We can't afford to lose another game. If we don't start skating Tuesday night, it's trouble bad trouble."

Sinden praised goalie Gerry Cheevers and the Boston defence but sharply criticized the forwards in 2-1 and 5-3 losses in Montreal.

"With a couple of exceptions, they haven't skated, they haven't been shooting, they haven't been hitting," the coach said. "I'm upset, but I'm confident we can come back."

Sinden made a couple of line changes as he directed a stiff 70-minute workout in preparation for tonight's game at the Garden.

"And that's only a start if we don't start playing the way we can," Sinden said. "I'll bench anyone, and that includes most of the forwards."

The fourth game is scheduled for Boston Garden Thursday night.

Home Again

Nothing Blue About 'St. Loo'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Blues have the home ice advantage, a new schedule and a tie in the semi-final round of the National Hockey League's Western Division playoffs. Coach Scotty Bowman is satisfied on all three counts.

The Blues play Philadelphia Flyers Wednesday and Thursday in the St. Louis Arena. The games were rescheduled from Tuesday and Thursday in deference to memorial services for slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Blues' coach Bowman said the changes will have no effect on who he starts in goal. "It'll be Glenn Hall Wednesday. I'll decide Thursday who'll play that night." Seth Martin is the Blues' second goalie.

Despite the 41-shot attack by Philadelphia Saturday, Bowman said he was satisfied with the Blues' play. "In the first game we only gave them 14 shots. Penalties hurt us in that second game," Bowman added.

"But, all-in-all," I was satisfied with our play there. We came out of their ice with a split and now we have the home ice advantage," he added.

The Blues play successive games Wednesday and Thursday, have Friday off for travel, and, if the series goes to six games, St. Louis and Philadelphia play consecutive games again.

Ranger Wins Tilson Memorial

TORONTO (CP) — Walter Tkaczuk, 20-year-old captain of Kitchener Rangers, has been named winner of the Albert (Red) Tilson Memorial Trophy as the player best combining ability and gentlemanly conduct in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

His 30 points was 10 more than Tom Webster of Niagara Falls Flyers and 18 more than Danny Lawson of Hamilton Red Wings.

Reds Down Kings 5-1

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rookie Jean-Pierre Mallette scored two goals as Providence Reds downed Springfield 5-1 Monday night in an American Hockey League playoff game before 5,007 fans.

The victory gave Providence a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five quarter-final series. The fourth game will be played here tonight.

Mallette put the Reds ahead at 5:40 of the first period. After player-coach Dave Creighton had put the Reds ahead 2-0 later in the opening period, Mallette increased the Providence lead to 3-0 with a 20-foot slap shot at 9:39 of the third period.

Junior A Finals Tonight

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Niagara Falls Flyers and Kitchener Rangers open their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Junior A finals at Kitchener tonight.

The series shifts to Niagara Falls Thursday and returns to Kitchener Saturday night. The fourth game will be played at Niagara Falls the following Friday with the fifth, if necessary, set for Kitchener Sunday, April 21 at 2 p.m.

Blair Desperate, Kelly Confident, Bowman Uncertain

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Manager-coach Wren Blair of Minnesta turned a hockey drill into a psychiatric session Monday in an effort to get some shine into his North Stars.

Blair, trying to instil confidence in his club for the third game of its Stanley Cup quarter-final series with Los Angeles Kings, called each player into his office for a personal consultation.

"I had a meeting with the team, both collectively and each player individually," said Blair after the three-hour session. "They were all just chats.

"It's like sales people. I'm sure that salesmen know how to sell all the time, but when the sales manager holds meetings from time to time it's to get the salesmen back to fundamentals.

"We wouldn't be in the playoffs if our players didn't know fundamentals. But I think the same thing is true of hockey players and salesmen. They both need to be reminded."

Minnesota dropped the first two games to Los Angeles in the best-of-seven National Hockey League playoff and desperately need a victory tonight.

Fresh from 2-1 and 2-0 victories in games Thursday and Saturday, the Kings moved into Minnesota Monday and immediately retired to the sports centre for a workout.

"We're playing our best hockey right now," said the ebullient redhead, "and I just hope it doesn't let up. We haven't played well against Minnesota this season, but I think we've found the way to play them now."

Kelly had nothing but praise for Cesare Maniago, Minnesota goaltender who kept the North Stars in contention during both games.

"The man has been fantastic for Minnesota. The North Stars always have a chance with him in the nets. Did you know we outshot them 79-39 in the first two games?"

Blair planned a few changes for tonight's game and announced he has called up wingers Leo Thiffault, 23, and Andre Pronovost, 31, from Memphis of the Central Pro League.

In the other Western Division series, coach Scotty Bowman was looking at the calendar and wondering how his St. Louis Blues would hold up in back-to-back home games against Philadelphia Flyers.

Their series now is tied 1-1 with the third game scheduled Wednesday night and the fourth Thursday.

"I don't know who I'll start in Thursday's game until Thursday," said Bowman. "We have back-to-back games Saturday and Sunday in Philadelphia anyway. And this way we're an off day for travel on Friday."

St. Louis and Philadelphia were scheduled to meet Monday night, but the death of Dr. Martin Luther King prompted the two-day delay.

Bowman calls it a wide-open series and predicts it can go either way. St. Louis won the first game 1-0 in Philadelphia and dropped the second 4-3.

Thousands Mourn 'Wee Jamie'

There were few people at Edinburgh's Turnhouse Airport, but thousands of saddened Scots were expected to turn out for the funeral Wednesday.

Clark, former world driving champion, was killed when his car skidded off the track and somersaulted into a wood at West Germany's Hockenheim track Sunday.

The Shadows Know
Hull; Double Trouble For Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull, Chicago's Bionic Bomber, could make double trouble for New York tonight as the Black Hawks try to even their National Hockey League playoff series against the charged-up Rangers.

If the Hawks, who dropped the series opener 3-1 last Thursday night, call on Hull to double his ice time, New York's Ron Stewart might need an assistant shadow. Emile Francis, the Rangers' manager-coach, thinks he has just the man for the job.

"If Stewart can't go all the way with Hull, I'll swing Bob Nevin as a backup man," Francis said after the Rangers' practice session Monday. "In Stewart and Nevin I've got two of the best defensive forwards in the league. I don't think either of them could hurt us one way or the other."

Stewart, a 16-year NHL veteran, stopped Hull cold in the first game of the best-of-seven quarter-final Stanley Cup set and picked up an assist on linemate Orland Kurtenbach's tally.

Hull, whose 44 goals topped regular season marksman, skated a couple of third-period shifts on a line with NHL point king Stan Mikita in the series opener. The Rangers expected to see the two Chicago stars working together again tonight.

Racing Troubles
Mutuels May Strike!

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's troubled racing season ran into another snag Monday when 200 thoroughbred mutuel employees announced they have given the Jockey Club Ltd. until Thursday midnight to meet contract demands or face a strike.

A spokesman for the workers, members of the Building Services Employees International Union, said the decision to strike Greenwood racetrack in Toronto Friday was reached unanimously at a meeting Sunday.

The workers are seeking a one-year contract calling for a $2-a-day wage increase plus other fringe benefits. They turned down a Jockey Club offer of $1 a day or a one-year contract.

The workers also want time and a half for Sunday racing, if and when it is approved—and $2 a day extra if and when the daily thoroughbred racing programs are extended to nine or more races from eight.

Elks Honer Midget Champions

The Elks' Black Hawks, Belleville Minor Hockey Association midget division champions who lost only one game this season, were guests of honor at a banquet provided by their sponsor on Sunday.

About 100 Elks, their wives, players', parents and special guests, including Alderman Arthur Keegan and Belleville senior hockey coach Floyd Crawford, attended.

Following entertainment by the Post Family, a country and western group, and a dinner provided by the women of the O. O. R. P., the players were congratulated for their excellent play and the Elks' Lodge for the interest it takes in sponsoring sport for the youth of the city. Keegan and Crawford were guest speakers. A. Whitney and J. Brennan presented the players with individual trophies on behalf of the sponsoring lodge and presented plaques to coach Don Francis and assistant Harold Hogue. Team captain Steve Buckles thanked the Elks on behalf of his mates.

Tigers Take Juvenile Title

Tigers clawed their way to the Belleville Minor Hockey Association juvenile championship last night by defeating the Aces 4-1.

Gary Sero and Bill Garland paced the Tiger attack. Sero scored the opening goal on Garland's assist and they reversed that order for the second counter. Sero again, with Garland and Nick Lentini accounted for the third goal. John Kearns from Dave Holroft completed the champions' scoring.

J. Tobin looked after the Aces' lone tally, making good on a penalty shot.

The losers drew four of six penalties assessed.

In Washington
Pitcher Trades Glove For Gun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle-clad soldiers occupied D.C. Stadium where baseball's annual presidential opener was to have been played Monday.

"It feels very odd," said Pfc. Pete Richert, who only a year ago was pitching the traditional opener for Washington Senators in the same stadium.

Richert, called to duty with the national guard, is one of more than 11,000 soldiers patrolling Washington to enforce order after three nights of riot violence following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The Senators have postponed their American League opener against Minnesota Twins at least until Wednesday as the nation mourns the slain civil rights leader.

The Wednesday date still was not a certainty as troops stood guard around the stadium.

Richert said: "There should have been 45,000 people and the president or the vice-president here for a happy day. Instead you have to be here under these circumstances. It's not fun."

The pitcher, traded to Baltimore Orioles in the second month of the 1967 season, caught a flight to Washington from a spring training stopover in Atlanta on a single hour's notice when the guard was called out.

The Oriole strikeout artist doesn't know yet how long he'll be on duty. "Until it clears up, I guess," he said. "You have to be here."

No Doubts Says Fouts It's Outs

TORONTO (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Football Conference announced a man-for-man trade Monday with Toronto Argonauts, but half the trade may not show up.

Blue Bombers announced they traded Bob Taylor, 245-pound defensive end, for the much-travelled Dick Fouts, but Fouts says he will not make the trip to Winnipeg.

"I'm not going to report," said the 34-year-old Fouts, twice an eastern all-star end with Argos and a three-time national all-star with British Columbia Lions.

"I'm undecided about football at present but I would like to go back to Vancouver."

The Fouts-Taylor deal, effective immediately, is unconditional so Bombers will be minus one player unless they can change Fouts' mind.

Its Snooker, But...
Setting Is Beautiful!

TORONTO (CP) — Bob Trodd was only 11 when they threw him out of the Barrie pool hall, forcing him to hitch-hike 25 miles to Washago to find a table and an opponent.

They weren't too sure about him in Washago either and he had to beat the 19-year-old local hustler before they'd let him play.

Trodd, now 35, is still trying to beat the local champion. But this time there's a difference. Trodd is meeting George Chenier, the North American snooker champion, and there's $7,000 on the line.

The scene has shifted from a country pool hall to the ballroom of one of Toronto's posh hotels. There's a soft, blue carpet on the floor and the table has tan felt.

Chenier was dressed in a wine red tuxedo Monday night for the opening of the five-day, 40-game competition and Trodd was in powder blue. About 400 fans watched the first five games from soft, padded yellow chairs. No one expectorated on the floor, ground cigarettes into the carpet or called for the rack.

The lone table was brilliantly lit, reflecting the transition of pool, snooker and billiards from the noisy, smoke-filled pool hall to the air-conditioned, broadloomed "parlors" of today.

"It was beautiful," said Trodd, a Toronto car salesman who is promoting the event with a Canadian manufacturer of pool tables.

The only discordant note in the opening night was an attack of jitters by both players. Chenier picked up 50 points in the five games of the total-points series while Trodd had 263.

Neither player was happy with his performance. The highest run was a 32 made by Trodd in the fifth game.

CANADA ANSWERS PLEA

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Canada has announced that in response to a plea by Secretary-General U Thant it is making an emergency contribution of $350,000 in food aid to the UN Relief and Works Agency for Palestine refugees.

Major Baseball Off To Shaky Start Due To Racial Unrest

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1968 major league baseball season now is scheduled to open Wednesday without a forfeit or a strike. But three of the 10 games remained up in the air because of the racial unrest in Washington, Baltimore and Detroit.

The traditional presidential opener at D.C. Stadium, postponed from Monday to mourn slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., still was doubtful Monday night as national guard troops occupied the stadium.

Civil disorder in Baltimore the last three days brought out troops and the same held true in Detroit where Michigan governor George Romney has instituted a state of emergency.

The cloud of doubt over two other openers was lifted Monday when Los Angeles Dodgers agreed to set back tonight's scheduled game to Wednesday and a threatened strike by New York Stadium workers was cancelled.

Philadelphia Phillies, who open against the Dodgers, said they would forfeit the game rather than play today—the day Dr. King was to be buried in Atlanta.

In New York, groundskeepers and maintenance personnel voted unanimously Monday to accept new contracts with Yankee and Shea stadiums, and returned to work immediately.

The rest of the Wednesday starters are Cleveland Indians at Chicago White Sox in the American League and Atlanta Braves at St. Louis Cardinals, the Mets at San Francisco Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates at Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati Reds in the National League.

Like the game at Washington, those at Cincinnati and Houston originally were scheduled for Monday, the others for today.

"All the AL games and those at San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL are afternoon contests. The others are night games.

Two exhibition games were played Monday, San Francisco belting Santa Clara University 10-3 at Los Altos, Calif., and Houston Astros defeating Minnesota 7-5 in Houston. The latter was termed a practice game.

Willie Mays and Nate Oliver slammed two-run homers and Jack Hiatt and Jesus Alou hit solo shots for the Giants. Norm Miller highlighted a five-run Houston third inning with a three-run blast.

The racial problems cost Baltimore one of its starters, shortstop Mark Belanger, and pitcher Pete Richert. Both were called to military duty, Belanger in Baltimore and Richert in Washington.

The Masters

Handsome Briton Threat To Stars

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Tony Jacklin, no brash young man but exuding a quiet, mature confidence, is ready to challenge the world's best shotmakers in the 32nd Masters golf tournament.

"I'd say there are 25 men who can win this," he said today. "And I'd have to list myself among them.

"Certainly, if I'm playing the way I was at Jacksonville, I'd have to have a good chance of winning it. But it is a day-to-day thing. If I'm not playing that well, if I have a poor day, well . . . "

At Jacksonville, Fla., two weeks ago Jacklin, 24, became the first Englishman in history to win a PGA-sponsored tournament in the United States.

But it came as no surprise to this darkly handsome young man who has stamped himself as one of the brightest young stars in the game.

He finished in a tie for second the week before Jacksonville and was in the top 10 the week before that.

"It's the kind of building preparation, I've always done," he said. "When I was good enough to play with low handicap players, I played with them. When I was good enough to turn pro, I turned pro. When I was good enough to play on the tour, I played on the tour."

He had a one-over-par 73 in a practice round over the lush green acres of the Augusta National course Monday.

Canadians working out were touring pros George Knudson and Al Balding of Toronto and amateur Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., who qualified on the strength of his victory in the U.S. amateurs two years ago.

Most of the touring pros were still competing in the Greater Greensboro open and were expected in today.

Between them, they've won seven of the last 10 Masters.

Gary Bregar, the defending champion, who has gone 12 months without a victory was on hand but still having his troubles.

"I'm hitting the ball well," he said, "but my putting is terrible."

Other early arrivals included Chen Ching-po of Nationalist China, British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, Gary Player of South Africa, Bruce Devlin of Australia and Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Gives $62,000 Purse to Memorial Fund

BOSTON (AP) — Peter Fuller, Boston businessman and sportsman, says he has contributed a $62,000 purse won by his race horse, Dancer's Image, to a scholarship fund in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Fuller said the money will be sent to King's widow for disposition as she sees fit.

Saturday in Baltimore, the three-year-old colt won his first major purse as he took the $120,000 added Bowie Governor's Gold Cup race.

Verdun Whips Halifax

MONTREAL (CP) — Verdun Maple Leafs banged home five goals in the third period Monday night to trounce Halifax Junior Canadiens 7-3 in a wild stick-swinging Memorial Cup quarter-final that produced 140 minutes in penalties.

The victory gave Verdun a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Canadian semi-final. The next two games are scheduled for Verdun Wednesday and Friday.

Four thousand fans saw the two teams take 86 minutes in penalties in the third period alone including a pair of game misconducts, two double majors and two majors.

Mike Ortuso, with three goals, spearheaded Verdun's offensive. Real St. Jean, Jim Mitchell, Yves Larocque and Marc Rioux also tallied for the Leafs while Errol Thompson, Bob Whitlock and Norm Guimond were the Halifax marksmen.

A collision on the boards between Jim Cochrane of Halifax and Robert Brunelle of Verdun resulted in blows with all 12 players on the ice joining in the fray. Charlie Charlong, picked up by Halifax from Moncton, and Jean-Rene Losier of the Leafs broke free of the others and met at it in pier six style.

Both suffered red welts on their faces and were assessed double major penalties.

An Empire Title For Durelle

LONDON (CP) — Joey Durelle, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, is tuned up for his first transatlantic fight tonight in hopes of opening the way to a crack at the British Empire title.

"If I beat the guy I think they would have to let me try for his title," said Joey after a workout Monday.

"I really want that title," he added. "For one thing, I'd like to match Yvon"—his cousin Yvon Durelle who held the empire light-heavyweight championship.

Ralph Charles, 28, the Cockney scrapper who has held the British and Empire welterweight titles for only seven weeks, is not putting them on the line against Durelle in this meeting.

The fight contract arranged by London promoter Harry Levene allows an overweight contest—150 pounds instead of the maximum 147 for welter title fights.

City Branch Wins Legion Cribbage Title

They swept the top honors and brought home the LaBatt Trophy, emblematic of the title from a field of 27 teams.

The branch champions will represent the district in the provincial championships slated later this month for Orillia.

If they win the Ontario title they will go to Penticton later this year to play in the Dominion Championships.

Star May Boycott Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ralph Boston, the world record holder in the long jump, said Monday night he may boycott the Olympic Games at Mexico City in October because of the death of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Boston, at home at Nashville, Tenn., Monday night, said he wanted to represent the Negro but didn't want to represent "people like the man who killed Martin Luther King."

"Everybody gave him a hard time when he was alive," Boston said of Dr. King. "Now they're eulogizing him. Where were these phonies when the man was doing what he believed in?"

Gags, Sketches Chopped Out Of Several Variety Programs

NEW YORK (AP)—It may have escaped general notice, but Monday night's Rowan and Martin Laugh-in on NBC was a little shorter than usual.

Network executives had snipped out about 3½ minutes from the tape—a couple of gags and a comedy sketch. Between the time the show was shot and the time it was broadcast, they had ceased to be funny.

The excised skit had impressionist John Byner playing King George IV of Spain, speaking in an unmistakable Texas accent about "the colonies," in obvious reference to Vietnam. One of the omitted lines had comedian Flip Wilson making a joke referring to racial differences.

The program was made three or four weeks ago, before President Johnson announced he would not seek re-election, before Hanoi responded to peace overtures and before the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"The omissions were made in the light of events in the name of good taste," a network executive said.

Action had been taken quickly too about Sunday night's Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour on CBS. A year-old Easter program was substituted for the scheduled show, which the latter—a rerun of a more recent program—contained a sketch with pointed, satiric racial references that under the circumstances would not have been funny.

There has been some furious editing in connection with Wednesday night's Jonathan Winters Show on CBS. Planned was a spoof of the movie, To Sir With Love, with Godfrey Cambridge making racial jokes. It will be removed from the hour and in its place will be a repeat of a sketch with Fess Parker.

This has been a season when topical comment, often tart and sometimes bitter, has attracted special attention to some variety programs. The onrushing events of the last nine days have not only demonstrated the extreme fragility of topical humor, but caused some network executives to wonder if it is wise to use much of it.

All those LBJ jokes have lost their point, and barbed remarks about national policy and race conflict have for the present become poor taste.

Palmer Favored For Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was favored today to capture his fourth title in the 16th annual $150,000 Golf Tournament of Champions, beginning April 18.

Palmer was 6 to 1 to cop the crown. Odds on Bill Casper were 8 to 1 while Jack Nicklaus was 10 to 1.

The 72-hole event at the Stardust Country Club course has 26 entrants, all winners of major professional golfers' association tournaments since last April.

Listed at 9 to 1 is Frank Beard, the defending champion.

George Archer is listed at 10-to-1 odds, Gardner Dickinson, George Knudson and Dan Sikes were at 12 to 1.

With The Trotters

The preferred pace was won by Dick's Boy with 22-year-old Brent Davies in the bike. He paid $22.80. Davies is now the leading dash-winner with 12 victories.

It was the third win in six starts for the 9-to-5 favorite.

Tonight's card has been cancelled as part of a nationwide tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King, whose funeral is in Atlanta today.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Amber Sherry, owned by Stafford Farms, won a two-furlong dash for maiden fillies Monday at Greenwood racetrack, returning $6.30 at the wire mutuels.

Bought for $1,800, Amber Sherry was making her first start. She headed a field of seven baby two-year-olds, winning by a nose under jockey Cliff Potts. Third choice in the betting, Amber Sherry nipped longshot Porter Measure with Jerry's Eagle, third. Pre-race favorite, Feather Pillows, finished up the track.

Jockey Jim Kelly, riding for the first time since he was injured in a spill last Monday, was unsuccessful with three mounts.

The daily double of Mr. Sam Bud in the first and Amber Sherry returned $28 while the fifth-race exacter of Hi Admiral and Up the Don paid $48.50.

A crowd of 6,794 bet $392,615.

Alfred Hitchcock Will Be Given the Thalberg Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last week Gregory Peck placed a telephone call to his onetime director, Alfred Hitchcock.

"Hitch," said the actor, who is president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. "I'm pleased to inform you that the board of governors has voted you the Thalberg Award."

"We all feel that this is something that has been long overdue."

After expressing his pleasure with the honor, the director responded in the typical Hitchcock manner: "You know, Greg, this is the sort of thing they give you just before you die."

Wednesday night, Hitchcock will appear at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium to claim his Irving G. Thalberg Award "for consistent high level of productions." The event will make amends for a long-time oversight.

Hitchcock has been nominated four times for the directorial Oscar—Rebecca 1940, Spellbound 1945, Rear Window 1954 and Psycho 1960. But, as he points out, he has "always been the bridesmaid."

Honors have come late to Hitchcock. Last month the Directors Guild of America gave him the D. W. Griffith award for his long list of film achievements. And his work is the subject of a penetrating new book in which he was interviewed by his fan, Frenchman Francois Truffaut.

The best news about Hitchcock is that he is once more preparing a film. He talked about it in his office at Universal City:

"The title is Frenzy and I hope to be shooting it by this summer. Shooting is the easy part; it is the preparation that always is difficult. It is hard for me to sign writers who will work the way I want them to."

Frenzy will put Hitchcock back in his famous genre. The story is based on a real life English case in which a man murdered three women.

Significant Sod-busting

Temporary quarters for Loyalist College is a rapidly-nearing reality. Work already is well-advanced on the Wallbridge Road site chosen for a building which may set a revolutionary construction trend for school buildings. Sod-turnings, marking the project's start — with a September deadline — may be announced shortly.

U.S. Newspaperman Finds Hanoi Makes Good Use of Soviet Aid

William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, has made a second trip to North Vietnam. His first visit was in January, 1967. On both trips he was accompanied by Harry Ashmore, former editor of the Arkansas Gazette and now executive vice-president of the Centre for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

Copyright 1968, the Miami News

HANOI (AP) — The first impression acquired by a reporter returning to Hanoi 14 months later is that a kind of mutual escalation prevails over this war in North Vietnam.

In Hanoi almost incidentally, but conspicuously in the countryside, you see the violent wake of the American bombers. The damage from aerial bombardment is much greater than when this writer visited North Vietnam in January, 1967.

However, as the air raids have proliferated, the North Vietnamese have "escalated" their defences and their competence in survival is more intense war from the war.

The Hanoi area, for instance, must be nestled in one of the most sophisticated and effective warning systems in the world.

Through the metallic voices of the hundreds of loudspeakers across the city, the people are placed on the alert when U.S. planes are headed toward Hanoi. The warning may be repeated two or three times as the planes approach. The siren is sounded when the bombers are within 25 to 30 miles of Hanoi, and at this signal the people hustle to the thousands of shelters here.

The efficiency of the warning system may be measured by the fact that American aircraft flew over or near Hanoi 11 times during this reporter's first weekend in the city. On each of 29, 30 and 31 bombs were dropped not in the city but in the suburbs on several occasions and only once was there not enough time given the people to hot foot it to a shelter. The exception was when a reconaissance plane sneaked through the radar net and was in the city's air space before it was discovered.

A little more than a year ago, the refugee stock in Vietnam appeared to be the ragged items of an impoverished motor pool. The trucks were old, usually small, and frequently you saw them stalled or expired along the road ways of the country.

Now it is apparent that North Vietnam has invested much of its line of credit with the countries of the Soviet Union and what they call their "socialist compatriots" in eastern Europe for rolling stock. The return is large trucks, some in the region of 2½ tons, and they are new and well kept.

Again another sign of what might be described as "the escalation of defence" is the common sight, out in the countryside, of modern ingredients for carrying on a war. In one short stretch of the road, there were seven tractor-drawn rocket launchers and more than 30 gasoline tank trucks and four heavy artillery pieces . . . and every one was new to the extent that each appeared almost unused.

The primary caution, which becomes the companion of a newspaper man in North Vietnam, is that you should report only what you see or confirm or believe within strict boundaries.

Much has been reported of the ramored of the bombing of Hanoi, and the leaders here tell you that the city was bombed 50 times in 1967. The sum of aerial raids, they say, was only 19 the year before.

But Hanoi is not really a blitzed city in the traumatic sense of London, during the Second World War. Rather, it has been sort of nicked at. The heritage they were nuisance raids or those punishing mistakes common to the making of war.

This may be a cruel way to express an impression of the bombing of Hanoi, because quite a few people were killed and injured when bombs fell last August on Hue Street, not far from the centre of the city. This writer was able to confirm that the movie house on Hue Street was crowded when the bombs fell and several died.

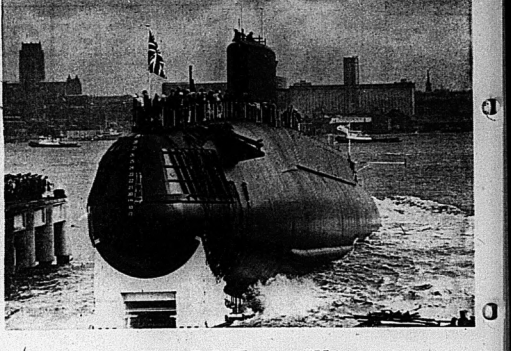
The block away, on Mai Hac De Street, a string of homes is missing since bombs fell there.



Of course, much of the ability of North Vietnamese to survive finds some explanation in the generous flow of goods from the fraternal Communist countries.

In short, North Viet Nam is really an agricultural country, and its industrial facilities are not the result of expansion under the military assistance of other countries.

But as one U.S. general told this writer not long ago:

"They (the North Vietnamese) make the most out of military aid of any people I know. They are a formidable enemy. It takes courage and a large sense of invention and they believe in their country."

This, the writer found on a return to Hanoi, is certain is not a misunderstanding or the opium of propaganda. It is the truth.

Nuclear Sub Enters Water

The British navy's fourth nuclear-powered submarine, HMS Revenge, enters the water at her recent launching in Birkenhead, England. The Revenge, 425 feet long and 7,500 tons, is to be armed with 16 Polaris A3 missiles with British warheads which can be delivered at a range of 2,500 miles.

London Sinking Slowly

13 Inches A Century

LONDON (CP) — London, like Venice, is a sinking city and could be devastated by a flash flood if the Thames bursts its banks.

That's reported in The Job, the Metropolitan Police newspaper, says such a flood could happen any time—one-in-a-year or next week. London, sinking into its soft clay foundations at the rate of 13 inches every century, is 15 feet lower than in Roman times. Coupled with this is the danger of higher Thames tides, which have risen about four feet in 200 years.

Disaster almost struck in 1953, the report says, when a massive tidal surge from the North Sea came up the Thames estuary and flooded Canvey Island with the loss of 58 lives.

The warning system is adequate but not the city's defences against the river, says the chief of the police Thames Division.

"Two years ago it was touch and go with water lapping over Victoria Embankment.

"We cannot say when the next danger period will occur. We don't know from one month to the next."

The Greater London Council, responsible for flood prevention, says it is pressing the housing ministry for a permanent flood barrier or a movable defence which could be used in mid-Thames if tides rise dangerously. The ministry maintains present defences are adequate.

If the ministry does not provide them we will have to raise our river walls," said a GLC spokesman.

Scratches on Car Windshield Almost Impossible to Remove

By RAY STAPLEY

A reader writes: "I've done something stupid and my husband is annoyed with me. I used the license tag on my key ring to scrape the ice off the windshield -- (I was in a terrible rush) -- and now it's hard to see through all the scratches. My husband says the only cure is a new windshield — worth $125. Is there a way to remove these scratches other than replacing the glass? Please answer promptly before my husband rushes out to have it replaced."

I talked to Bernard Kliger, President of Speedy Auto Glass Limited and while he was most understanding of your domestic difficulties, he tells me the chances of removing anything other than minor blemishes is extremely remote. However, if you drive to his shop at 150 Sixteen Street, Toronto, he will check the damage and, if advisable, personally supervise a buffing operation and do his utmost to remedy the situation.

BUFFING JOB

Years ago a retired neighbor, determined to beat the cost of replacement, worked diligently for days with jewellers rouge buffing away with a ¼" drill attempting to erase scratches from his windshield. He finally managed to remove some and reduce the size of others, but it was far from satisfactory. If enough material is removed from the glass to completely erase a scratch, the resulting concave patches cause a ghost-like waviness impairing vision.

Tips on preserving the car's glass: use only plastic or rubber scrapers for removing dirt or ice, metal objects can gouge the glass. While I may be criticized for mentioning this, when available I have rapidly removed ice with cold tap water for the past 30 years without cracking a glass — but the water must be cold. De-icing spray bombs are available at reasonable cost. A suitable mixture of water and detergent in the windshield washer bag is essential all year round. Water alone will not cut the oil slick that forms on the glass.

To avoid abrasive action from grit, operate the washers first when necessary to use wipers on dry glass. Never clean with a wax or oil coated cloth. The wipers can't remove rain uniformly from a film of oil or wax. Use a clean cloth and flush with lots of water and recommended detergent.

HAZARDS

As well as the danger of collision, tail-gating can result in stones, sand and mud thrown from the wheels of the car ahead, coating, cracking or breaking the windshield.

To avoid sudden scoring stop the wipers immediately if a tiny parts of the wiper mechanism contact the glass. Replace hardened or withered wiper blades and remember that the blades be cleaned along with the windshield.

Check the wiper blades after running the car through an automatic car laundry. If the wiper mechanism between the arm and blade is worn or not securely hooked up the air and water pressure used in washing the car may loosen a wiper blade and cause it to drop off. Wiper blades and arms are possibly the last things we ever think of servicing.

Once Grit and Tory Labels Were Commonplace in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Remember the good old days when a Grit was a Grit and a Tory was a Tory and nobody was ashamed to wear the label?

The word Grit, at least, seems to have gone the way of the five-cent cigar.

Heath Macquarrie, Conservative member for Queens and a political scientist, says he has always disliked the term Tory.

To him, the word conjures up a vision of a reactionary type, holding on to privilege and holding back progress. He feels it isn't in keeping with the philosophy of the Progressive Conservative party.

"Tory will always be a respectable word," he says.

"Tory is an expression that is descriptive of a party that has always . . . been responsive to changing conditions while maintaining the best things of the past."

Historians Frank Underhill and Eugene Forsey both find nothing disparaging in the words Grit and Tory.

"I think they're very handy short words," says Dr. Underhill.

Dr. Forsey says he is sorry that "Grit" has fallen into disuse as a nickname for Liberal.

"I'm rather fond of it myself—it has a nice antique flavor about it."

He recalls with gusto an incident in New Brunswick of a generation ago when he went to go back to his home in Cumberland County, N.S., to vote.

His employer, a Tory, decided to check first on his loyalties. He called the Conservative association in Cumberland County and got a reply:

"This man was born a Grit, baptized a Grit, has lived a Grit, will die a Grit and will go to that place reserved for Grits."

The man didn't get the day off.

"Tory" not only is the more durable of the two nicknames, but also has deeper-roots.

It came into political use in the British Parliament in 1679 to describe opponents of a bill to bar the Roman Catholic later James II—from succeeding to the throne of his brother, Charles II.

The Encyclopedia Britannica says the term was originally an Irish word suggesting a Papist outlaw.

The latter term never became common in Canada although there was a Whig party for a time in the United States.

Tory, on the other hand, took hardy root in the colonies as a description of establishment parties, supporting the British connection and opposed to Reformers and Liberals.

The term Grit or Clear Grit originally was applied to a faction of the Reform party in Canada West—Ontario—in the late 1840s.

The origin is obscure.

The Encyclopedia Canadiana says it is attributed to Reformer David Christie, who said the party wanted men who were "all sand and no clear—clear grit all the way through."

The Oxford Companion to Canadian Literature and History says the remark was made either by Christie or reformer Peter Perry.

Dr. Underhill says the name implied quality because "clear grit" was the best kind of sand for use in mortar.

Dr. Forsey notes that the Clear Grits represented the extreme left wing of the Reform party.

"I suppose the name was a reference to their abrasive qualities—pure sand and no softness about them."

Later, the terms Grit, Reformer and Liberal came to be used interchangeably. The Reformer label eventually faded and Grit became the slang word for Liberal.

Mr. Macquarrie says both the Grit and Tory nicknames have been used more frequently in the Maritimes and Ontario than in other parts of the country.

"As a youth in the East, I was quite accustomed to use the words Grit and Tory. But when I lived in the West I discovered people weren't always sure what you meant."

In the 1940s, he says, the typical "Tory" has sometimes been painted as a well-dressed, handsome person, everything the Prairie man opposes.

The word Tory has also had an "unwholesome" connotation among immigrants at times, suggesting that Tory avoids participation of the masses, he says.

Whatever the connotation today, the word Tory was certainly a bad one to the author of a fractious verse that appeared in the St. Thomas Liberal in 1833. He wrote:

The Tories were in Parliament
Again their jobs shall end
And with them once for ever
The name of Toryism shall end."

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief —here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance is then made to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

It is one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among those sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

The cream was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Four Grains of Caffeine Harmless

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that if one drinks more than four grains of caffeine one may suffer ill effects.

How much caffeine (grains) is there in a cup of coffee? A cup of tea? Cola drinks? Et al.? — J. L. E.

There's a whale of a difference between "may" and "will" and, for most of us, that four-grain figure doesn't make much sense.

A cup of coffee — let's take a cup containing five fluid ounces — will contain 18 milligrams of caffeine per ounce, or about 1½ to 2 grains per cup.

Tea runs about the same — again depending on how strongly it is brewed.

Therefore, four grains of caffeine would represent somewhere between two and three cups of ordinary coffee, and that amount is not likely to cause any trouble for most of us.

The cola drinks range from 3.0 to 4.6 milligrams of caffeine per ounce of liquid, or one-sixth to one-fourth the strength of coffee, per ounce. However, I suppose some people may drink more cola at a time than coffee.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration limits the caffeine content of their drinks to 1.2. grains per 12-ounce bottle, but as you see from the figures in the preceding paragraph, most of the cola, as actually produced, stays well below that top limit.

Cocoa contains only a trace of caffeine, and I don't know what else you might want to know in your "et al" unless it's stay-awake pills which may be caffeine tablets with a dab of flavoring and some binder to hold them together.

I checked one nationally advertised brand, and found that pill contains the caffeine equivalent of an average cup of coffee. Or if you want it exactly, 100 milligrams, which is 1.542353 grains.

(I'm talking, of course, of the stay-awake pills in which caffeine is the active ingredient, not the "pep pills" of the amphetamine type, which are quite a different matter.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been bothered with back aches frequent urination, and at times passing blood. My doctor diagnosed it as cystitis. Do you have a booklet on this? — M. A.

Cystitis is infection of the urinary bladder, which is one of the things discussed in my booklet, "Your Kidneys: Facts You Need to Know." For a copy, send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, unstamped envelope, plus 6 cents postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun - Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Orleans, Ill. 60142.

Dear Dr. Molner: Since cocks aren't usually diagnosticians, might they unwittingly prepare and serve meat from an animal that had a cancer? Could the cells get into a person's blood stream? This may sound stupid but I worry about it. — Mrs. M. G.

A "cancer" is a group of cells which, for reasons unknown, decided to go wild reproducing rapidly but imperfectly.

Some brave volunteers have allowed cancerous tissues to be implanted in their bodies. Result: if the person did not have cancer already, the implanted cancer cells simply died.

In addition, the food we eat does not go directly into the system. By cooking and/or digestion the food is broken down into its chemical constituents, after which the body absorbs what it needs. Thus we eat steak, but our bodies consist of human flesh, not beef. So don't worry about it.

Note to Mrs. M.: No reason why the removal of your gall bladder should in any way interfere with a future pregnancy.

Manitoba Budget Is Balanced

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba escaped the tax bite, felt by most other provinces this year, when Provincial Treasurer Gurney Evans tabled a balanced budget with just two increases in the legislature Monday night.

But residents aren't out of the woods yet. He left the door ropen for an increase in hospital insurance premiums to go along with the 4.1-mill increase in the mill rate to finance the provincial education foundation plan.

It was the provincial sales tax imposed last June 1 that gave Mr. Evans the money to cover most of the new expenditures with change left over for a $700,000 surplus. The tax is to yield $50,000,000 compared with the estimated $33,750,000 projected for the 10 months it was in force last year.

Mr. Evans was sharply critical of federal cost-sharing programs, saying there is an urgent need for "far greater equity in the federal-provincial partnership in order that the provinces may indeed reduce further the burden on property taxes for the municipalities."

At the same time, however, the revenue estimates show the shared tax programs will contribute $129,340,000 to the provincial treasury compared with $114,777,000 last year. Equalization payments account for $8,500,000 of the increase.

At a news conference, Mr. Evans reiterated earlier statements that the province wrnts a bigger share of the joint taxation pot.

Mr. Evans said the provincial budget and spending estimates represented "the most rigorous kind of pruning and careful plnnn'ng." About $70,000,000 was trimmed from spending estimates—including $20,000,000 from education—before they were presented to the legislature.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 10th

Your birthday today: You face a series of critical episodes of personal readjustment to changing work and health needs. The tendency is to encounter increasingly great responsibilities, to enter into some rather exacting service. Today's natives usually travel to strange places, and have a great knack for telling tales of adventure and sacrifice.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Social organizations continue as your mood today. There may be people around you hoping you will overspend for sentimental reasons. Real love does not fail when the money runs out.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Today is a go-it-alone day where financial matters are concerned. Keep your enterprises directed along well-tested lines. Reflect tonight on where your life is heading.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): You have a great chance today to straighten out recent confusions. Go through the day's schedule without quibbling. Catch up on your correspondence tonight.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): It is all too easy to chase rainbows today and quite expensive. Put in a good day's work and follow some earlier conservative plans.

LEO (July 23 — Aug 22): Depend on being misunderstood today, no matter what you've been doing. Put aside for the moment your need for recognition and listen carefully to what people volunteer. Postpone important purchases.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Do not rely on salesman's claim today. Wait until you can see it actually working somewhere after long service. Ask your friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 — Oct. 22): Wishful thinking still plagues you today. Cash is apt to be lost by your neglect, and your purchasing may be unrealistic. Gather with old friends tonight for some fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Thrift is a necessity today. Pretense will fail miserably and may generate future problems. Review your responsibilities tonight and how they affect your future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Traffic is unusually hazardous for you today. You may distract yourself with thoughts of what might have been or what may yet be. Don't give up any dreams, but don't let them spoil your work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Today is not good for credit deals. It may be hard to collect what is owed you — make adjustment and hold the account for later good results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Indecision on financial decisions is normal for today. Sleep on any serious business offers. Give your unconscious mind a chance to indicate the right direction to take.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your working situation is unbalanced today. Do the necessary minimum as well as circumstances permit, and hope for a chance to make adjustments tomorrow. Watch your diet carefully, avoid excess.

Two Mules Pull King's Bier Through Atlanta

"I'd like a dry Martini and she'd like a waitress with more clothes."

ATLANTA, Ga. (CP) — A farm wagon drawn by two Georgia mules carries the body of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. through Atlanta streets today as part of funeral services for the slain civil rights leader.

King, apostle of non-violence through a decade of discontent, planned to send mule trains to Washington during a demonstration this spring to dramatize his demands for jobs or income for the poor.

"We agreed nothing would be more symbolic than this for his last ride," said Dr. William Rutherford, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which King headed.

Strict security precautions were in force for the funeral, expected to be the biggest in the U.S. since President Kennedy was buried in 1963.

Police estimated 100,000 to 150,000 mourners would join the funeral procession.

Dignitaries led by Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey, representing President Johnson, were on the mourners list for the funeral rites at the Ebenezer Baptist Church where King was co-pastor with his father.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy was among the 1,200 invited to the televised services led by King's associate and SCLC successor, Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and Rev. William Holmes Borders. The number was limited to the church seating capacity.

The 10:30 a.m. EST funeral service for the 39-year-old 1964 Nobel Peace Prize recipient, who was killed by a sniper Thursday night in Memphis, Tenn., is brief—at Mrs. King's request.

After the service, the thousands of mourners planned to march through the streets in procession behind the mule-drawn wagon containing King's body for a 2 p.m. public service at Morehouse College.

It was at Morehouse that King earned his bachelor's degree and first shaped his doctrine of peaceful social dissent.

Afterward, the funeral cortege will go by car to the South View Cemetery, five miles from the college, where King will be entombed in a marble mausoleum on a grassy hillside.

Other officials among the thousands of mourners in Atlanta today include Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and Undersecretary of General Ralph Bunche, representing the United Nations.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, arrived in Atlanta Monday night and visited with Mrs. King before viewing King's body.

Kennedy and his wife moved past the coffin in the dimly lighted church while an unseen organist played the old spiritual Nobody Knows the Trouble I See.

Kennedy's face was solemn, lined perhaps with the memory of another coffin. His brother died by an assassin's bullet in 1963 in Dallas, Tex.

Mourners kept moving past the glass-covered coffin, past the stilled face and back outside the red brick church called Ebenezer—which in Hebrew means "stone of help."

Mrs. Rosa Parks, the Negro seamstress whose refusal to yield her seat to a white bus passenger in Montgomery, Ala., launched King's civil rights career with a boycott 13 years ago, arrived Monday night at the King residence.

Across the country, U.S. flags were at half staff, stock exchanges closed, sports events delayed, banks shut down in some areas, many schools closed and the roulette wheels and gaming tables stopped in Las Vegas, Nev., in tribute to King.

Airport, train and bus terminals poured out streams of people. Schools in Atlanta were closed. So were liquor stores and bars.

Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia, who often disagreed with King's tactics, said he would not attend the funeral.

Thousands of persons had filed past the coffin during the last two days. Estimates of the number ranged beyond 50,000.

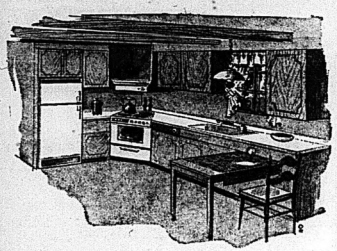
There was a general feeling that the vast majority of Negroes wanted to bury their leader with peace and dignity, but the threat of possible racial flare-ups after the funeral service hung over this city of 700,000 — 45 per cent of them Negroes.

"They'll either spare this place, it being King's home town, or they'll wreck it so bad it will make the rest of the trouble since his death look like nothing," said one Atlanta citizen.

"This town is loaded with dynamite and there's a short fuse," he added.

'See His Spirit Never Dies' King's Widow Asks in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — They came from many places. And they were guided, as they marched silent along Main Street, by the non-violent teachings of the man they had come to honor, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.



They stood under overcast skies on the broad plaza in front of Memphis' new city hall to hear his wife challenge them in slow, strong tones to "see that his spirit never dies."

"How many men must die before we can really have a free and true and peaceful society? asked Mrs. King from the speaker's platform at city hall.

"I came to you today because I was compelled," Mrs. King began. "During my husband's lifetime I have always been at his side when I felt he needed me. . . . And so today I felt that he would have wanted me to be here."

PUC Votes to Enlarge Bay Waterworks and Supply Townships

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

There will be no switch in the source of water for Belleville.

Yesterday a decision was finally made by members of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission to continue procuring water from the Bay of Quinte and to expand the present pumping station and other facilities.

The decision did not come easily. Even after the months of consideration, a storm blew up on the water question when Commissioner Lyle Langabeer adamantly refused to have anything to do with bay water.

"The Bay of Quinte is going to be nothing but a big septic tank for the rest of our lives," he told the other members of the commission, "and I will have nothing to do with it."

Besides the decision yesterday to use bay water, another major policy change was made by the commission.

For Belleville the old attitude "No water without annexation" has gone down the drain. Mayor Scott made a motion that the city provide large enough facilities so that water could be sold to neighboring communities under contract and at a profit."

The recommendation met with the approval of the commission.

The motion to use bay water and to adopt the four recommendations of Toronto consulting firm, Gore and Storrie Ltd., was made by Mayor J. Russell Scott.

Commission chairman John Deacon seconded the motion, which will now go to council for the approval of issuing debentures for $1,700,000 to cover the cost of the expansion.

The alternative to the solution chosen was to join Lake Ontario water, which would have necessitated a capital expenditure of $7,900,000.

Besides entailing a much higher capital cost, a decision to use Lake Ontario water would not provide more water for Belleville for six or seven years, according to Chairman John Deacon.

Commissioner Langabeer based his protest against the move primarily on the poor quality of the water in the bay. He also feels that eventually Belleville is going to have to turn to the lake for their water.

"I can't see spending $2,000,000 and buying land when for 20 cents more per 1,000 gallons we could have lake water," he said. "When we do go to the lake the money we've spent is wasted," he stated.

That Belleville would eventually switch to Lake Ontario water recently was a generally accepted concept.

However, yesterday Mayor Scott said that he wasn't sure if Ontario water would ever be necessary. The mayor feels that the Bay water is going to improve within two years because of industrial precautions against pollution.

"As for Lake Ontario," the mayor said, "it's dead, just like Lake Erie . . . the sewage from Buffalo and Detroit and Toronto is going to make it worse."

The intake size of the new Belleville facilities will be set for usage figures projected to 1990. The work will over a five-year period raise the water rates from 33 cents per 1,000 gallons to 50 cents per 1,000.

LBJ Hopeful Of Talks Soon

As he prepared to return to Washington this morning after a 36-hour strategy review at nearby Camp David, a mountain top retreat, Johnson awaited a reply from the Communists agreeing to a time and place for the first face-to-face contact.

He told reporters he is ready to dispatch his designated representative and veteran troubleshooter, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, "just as soon as arrangements can be completed."

The president said a number of alternative locations which could be convenient to both sides are under discussion with Hanoi. Communications to and from Hanoi were channelled through the Laotian capital of Vientiane.

White House aides provided no elaboration, but speculation focused on either New Delhi or Rangoon as the most acceptable site, with Jakarta or Vientiane as other possibilities.

It was believed talks between Harriman and a North Vietnamese representative could be under way by the end of this week.

Thieu Asks Emergency Authority

SAIGON (Reuters) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today asked the National Assembly to approve general mobilization and declare a state of emergency throughout South Vietnam.

He announced the moves in a speech to a joint session of the two-chamber assembly, which also demanded the central role for South Vietnam in any peace talks.

A two-clause bill seeking these measures was sent for consideration to a parliamentary defence committee, but informed sources said it is unlikely to be adopted by the assembly for several days.

Wellington Storm-torn

WELLINGTON (CP) — An ocean-going ferry with more than 600 persons aboard ran aground at Wellington harbor's mouth today and capsized during a hurricane. Officials feared 150 were drowned in the worst recorded storm in New Zealand history.

With winds of up to 125 miles an hour lashing the seas into high waves, the 8,944-ton ferry Wahine, built in England two years ago, keeled over and dumped passengers and crew into the icy waters.

Searchers reported 42 bodies had been picked up, either in the water or along three miles of shore stretching from the harbor entrance.

Wellington hospitals were packed with survivors suffering from injuries or exposure. Other survivors were in private homes.

As night fell, and searchlights swept the dark seas, officials said more than 100 passengers and crew are unaccounted for.

Most survivors said that there was no panic when the Wahine hit the shoal or even when the ferry began to keel over.

Hilda Gamy said, however, there was chaos in the lounge, where many women and children were waiting.

"Women were running around calling for their children," she said. "This is when they got separated.

"It was terrible. The ship was tilting right over. To get to the boats we just sat down and slid to the side, where men helped us in the boats. They were lifting little kiddies over the side and dropping them into a boat. My sister and I grabbed a baby each."

Mrs. Quinn said she saw a baby, about 12 months old, floating in the water on its back. The baby was rescued.

There were conflicting reports on the number aboard ranging from 614 to more than 700.

Reuters news agency said 600 passengers and 120 crew members were aboard, making a total of 720 people. The Associated Press listed the total of both passengers and crew as 614.

Survivors were scattered all over Wellington, in hospitals and public buildings.

Two great storms—one from the Tropics and the other from the Antarctic—had given Wellington its worst battering in recorded history.

LaMarsh Quits

OTTAWA (CP) — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh today resigned from the cabinet.

She made public a letter to Prime Minister Pearson in which she said:

"When last we discussed my leaving public life, you suggested that we should leave 'hand-in-hand together.' So we shall—you to what you have recently characterized as 'freedom and security,' and I, at least and at last, to my freedom."

The action was not unexpected. Miss LaMarsh said last week she would not serve in a cabinet under Pierre Elliott Trudeau, a new Liberal leader.

Miss LaMarsh supported Transport Minister Hellyer in the leadership race. Mr. Hellyer saw Mr. Trudeau yesterday and is reported to have agreed to continue to serve in the cabinet.

There have been reports for weeks of a feud between her and Mr. Trudeau over one or two Ontario judicial appointments.

Riots Raise Deaths by Three

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial violence struck in major U.S. cities for the sixth consecutive night since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., raising the country-wide death toll for the period to 34. All but five were Negroes.

More than 3,500 people have been hurt, at least 15,225 arrests have been made and property damage is in the tens of millions of dollars.

While some of the worst-hit cities cooled to the point where curfews were relaxed and patrols decreased, fresh outbreaks hit Tuesday in Trenton, N.J., Jacksonville, Fla., and Kansas City. Each city reported one death.

Firemen in New York City battled 25 fires which broke out almost simultaneously in a racially-mixed Brooklyn slum which had twice been the scene of disturbances since King's murder in Memphis last Thursday.

In Newark, N.J., firefighters responded to six major fires and 75 minor ones in the first incidents of arson reported in the heavily Negro Central War since last summer's riots killed 26 persons.

But many Negroes helped firemen to carry hoses and authorities said sound trucks through the streets broadcasting recordings of King's "I have a dream" speech.

In Kansas City, one Negro was killed, at least 35 persons injured and more than 175 arrested in a night of shooting, burning and looting that followed a memorial march for King.

Trenton was under curfew today after violence that brought death to a 19-year-old Negro youth and carried destruction to the fringes of the statehouse grounds.

In Jacksonville, a bullet fired from a car filled with white youths killed a Negro teen-ager as the city underwent a second night of firebombings and disturbances.

King 'Free at Last'

Let Black and White Search Hearts

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Uniformed police stood watch today at the tomb of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the slain civil rights leader whose funeral brought outpourings of mourners and tributes rarely matched in U.S. history.

Mourners trickled into South View Cemetery for a look at the crypt even after darkness Tuesday. Inscribed on the Georgia marble are the words of an old slave song often quoted by King: "Free at Last, Free at Last; Thank God Almighty, I'm Free at Last."

A police official said the guards were posted as a precaution. There had been no hint of attempts to molest the grave.

King, 39, was killed by a sniper in Memphis, Tenn. He had returned for another march of striking garbage workers after an earlier march erupted into rioting.

His followers called on the country to look at itself anew as they pledged at the final rites to carry out his crusade against racism, poverty and injustice.

"Let us see to it that we do not dishonor his name by trying to solve our problems through rioting in the streets," urged Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, retired president of Morehouse College, King's alma mater, where outdoor services were held.

"But let us see to it also that the conditions that cause riots are promptly removed," said Mays. "Let black and white alike search their hearts; and if there be any prejudice in our hearts against any racial or ethnic group, let us remove it."

Mays said the American people, including Memphis officials, are in part responsible for the assassination. In a similar vein, the biracial Southern Regional Council, a human rights organization, said in a four-column newspaper ad that white America faces "the choice between the kind of society for which Dr. King lived and died, and the kind of society which denies equal opportunity."

Marching had been a big part in King's life. So in death there was a final march for Martin Luther King. His wreath-shrouded coffin travelled more than four miles on a mule drawn farm wagon drawn by two brown mules—symbolic of the poor whose cause he had taken up.

More than 50,000 marched with King the last time.

Other notables at the service included Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who like Mrs. King was widowed by an assassin's bullet; Senators Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts; Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota; former vice-president Richard M. Nixon, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Governor George Romney of Michigan.

According to results of tests made by the traffic safety division of the Belleville Police Department Marlene Parks of Bloomfield and Linda Pulver of Carrying Place know a lot about the rules of the road from the standpoint of the Highway Traffic Act. They were among the 42 Prince Edward County Junior Farmers who averaged high marks in competition sponsored by the Belleville Police Department.

Ameliasburg

Good Driving Demonstrated

Usually it's the other way around but in the case of the young Prince Edward farmers they could save up to 10 per cent of their premiums as the result of their high marks received in a test conducted by constable Bob Hall the safety officer of the Belleville police department. The course started some weeks earlier with a familiarization tour of the city police building.

After the oral and written examination constable Hall announced that the 42 young farmers in the competition averaged 84 per cent considered better than the required mark to qualify for the insurance premium discount. Constable Hall said some companies recognize test while other continued to charge young people 25 and under the increased rate.

McFarland Cools Proposal

PICTON — Mayor H. J. McFarland, Picton's unofficial industrial commissioner, feels a full-time official commissioner is "a wonderful idea, but not too practical."

The chamber took the proposal to hire a full-time industrial commissioner to the finance committee of county council this month following discussion of the question during the April meeting last week.

The chamber quoted $14,000 as the probable annual cost of the commissioner's office, but Mayor McFarland said this would be a close estimate of salary only.

Another $20,000 or $30,000 would be needed for expenses each year. "Entertaining the industrialists scouting local sites comes to a terrific price in the cost of liquor alone," he said.

The proposed industrial commissioner would need capital and authority in order to do his job properly, the mayor said. The community would have to back him up.

School Purchase Completed

Executive members of the Prince Edward School for Retarded Children made the final payment of $1,500 last night for the four-room Yerexville school. Accepting the cheque is Robert Fox, (centre), chairman of the Hallowell Township school board. Others are Harold Hotson, president of the association, (left), and Charles Fraleigh, township school board treasurer.

I would like to thank all my friends, neighbors and relatives for flowers, cards and gifts and calls while I was a patient and since I've come from the Belleville and Kingston General Hospitals. A special thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff of the Belleville General and Kingston Hospitals. Also thanks to the Reverends Hobbs, Bentham and Vosper for their calls and prayers. Thank you everyone for your many acts of kindness too numerous to mention.

Mrs. Elaine Trevorrow.

Every School Area Will Have Representation on New Board

PICTON — Representation on the consolidated county school board has been revised to give every township school area a seat on the board.

James Plomer, Prince Edward Collegiate Institute board representative to the interim committee on education for Prince Edward county told of the new plan Monday night.

Redistribution by the tax commissioner has given Athol and North and South Marysburgh townships a place on the board.

The commercial assessment has been taken out of the calculations applied to the department of education formula for representation on the county board.

Now, Hillier, Sophiasburg, South Marysburgh, North Marysburgh and Athol townships each will have one member on the board.

Picton and Hallowell townships will be entitled to two seats each and Ameliasburg township three seats.

Pressure of Business Cause of Resignation

PICTON — James Clemmison, Wellington clerk-treasurer, was still firm in his decision to resign last night.

The clerk-treasurer, who has served since 1951, announced his resignation at Monday's council meeting.

But Reeve Robert Boyce doubts if the resignation is official because Mr. Clemmison has not yet advertised for his replacement.

Mr. Clemmison said his Wellington greenhouse business demanded too much of his time.

"I will regret leaving, but I just don't have time to perform a proper job," he said.

"We are sorry to see him go," said Reeve Boyce.

MARK L. TRIPP (Trenton)

Mark L. Tripp, tobacconist and wholesaler, prominent community leader and active sportsman in his younger days, died at the Green Acres Nursing Home, Bayside on Friday. On Tuesday afternoon he was laid to rest at Mount Evergreen cemetery after service in King Street United Church conducted by Rev. W. E. McDowell. Honorary bearers were Stanley Hart, Claude Graham, James Cox, Murray Dixon, G. M. Newton, Ken Crews, W. "Curly" Halladay and Mike Harrison while the active bearers were D. R. Fraser, Frank Miron, William Wilkins, Sam McNeill, Jack Weatherall and M. F. James.

Mr. Tripp was a lifelong resident of Trenton having been born in that community, 82 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maley Tripp. His was educated in the public and high schools of the town and early in his life entered into the tobacco business and eventually into the wholesale end of that business and became one of the successful merchants in the Quinte district.

During his life he took an active interest in his community and served in many capacities; He became interested in the blind and was a past governor for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. He was a life member and past president of the Trenton Rotary Club and active in King Street United Church and the men's club in that congregation. In his lifetime he enjoyed all sports and was active in many organizations especially the hockey club. In latter years he turned his attention to minor hockey and was active until the time of his death.

Mr. Tripp was a prominent Mason in the district. He was a 50-year member of Trent Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 38, a member of St. Mark Chapter No. 38 R.A.M., a life member of King Baldwin Preceptory of Belleville and a life member of Rameses Shrine in Toronto. He was also a life member of the Belleville Shrine Club.

Surviving are two sons, John and Paul, associated with their father in the business. His wife the former Gladys A. Miron, died some years ago. He is also survived by six grandchildren and predeceased by three brothers, Clarence, Harry and Manley Tripp.

No Humans Involved in Rabies Cases

Five positive cases of rabies in wild animals were reported during March, but no humans were involved.

Lloyd A. Ellenton, chief public health inspector for the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit gave the figures in his monthly report.

"A great deal of time has been spent on explanations of the new regulations governing food preparation," the inspector said. "These cover all aspects of food preparation, processing, storage and handling and involve considerable expense to the people concerned."

Hatchery To Hold Open House

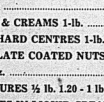
Glenora Fisheries Station is holding open house today from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Various types of local and exotic marine life will be on display in a gallery of aquaria there. Ways and means of studying the fish 'fish physiology' will be demonstrated. A series of illuminated panels trace the life history of salmon, from spawning to death.

Jack Lawrence, biologist in charge, said that the event may be the first in a series.

He commented "It's only good sense to keep your neighbors aware of what you're doing."



Festival Committee Ends Year

AMELIASBURG — The township's Apple Blossom committee met at Harold Bonter's residence last night for the purpose of winding up the operations of the 1967 edition of the annual Spring event.

With the way cleared for the new slate of officers to be elected Wednesday, April 24 events which created so much interest in the festival's promotion during centennial year were reviewed. The possibility of the more important features of last year's program being repeated and expanded in some cases will be discussed by the incoming executives and their advisers. Dates for the festival and festival ball preceding the main Sunday functions late in May will be announced along with the 1968 program of events decided upon at next week's meeting.

Townships Enthusiastic Over New Water Plan

Belleville's municipal neighbors are savoring its possibilities for urban development — and responding enthusiastically.

Official spokesmen for Sidney and Thurlow townships today verbally endorsed a decision of city public utilities commissioners which makes the bay a reservoir without municipal boundaries.

The commissioners yesterday decided to enlarge city water works and offer water to the townships.

Development is the key which unlocked the floodgate of enthusiasm.

The southern reaches of both municipalities have become part of the Belleville urban sprawl along the bayshore. However, municipal boundaries have hitherto halted extension of services beyond the city's legal limits.

In Sidney, Reeve Kells ruminates there are "possibly a couple of thousand holes" in the ex-urban zone. There might have been more had water and sewage services been developed.

Now, the number of homes "could be double in the next few years" after city water becomes available.

Bay water has soured many of its users on its quality.

"The bay water isn't possibly the best in the world," says Reeve Kells. "But the problem is we need water and we face the problem of getting it — regardless."

The growth of urban and industrial settlement is directly related to municipal services.

"It depends how much water and sewerage you can provide," said Reeve Kells.

Sewage disposal was an inevitable second issue as Thurlow council discussed the move this morning.

The councillors felt sewage would be a second step to be discussed.

"I can't visualize anybody being on city water and still using a septic tank," predicted Reeve Thompson.

Sidney council, present, the township could now finally "think and plan for water in the future as long as annexation isn't involved," he added.

The next council session is scheduled for May 1, but a special meeting could be called to discuss the proposal, he added.

Lay Plans For Rose Festival

Everything's coming up roses for the Belleville Horticultural Society.

Last night its members held enough plans for a summer rose festival — and found ambitious plans had fertilized.

The meeting, at Tabernacle United Church basement, learned more than 20 commercial and community groups have committed at exhibit to the big flower display.

The show will be held June 29 at Centennial High School.

"It's hoped that this festival will be the biggest and best flower show ever staged here," an executive organizer told the society.

Joyce Proposes Total Development

Development of the Quinte area as a whole, with Belleville as the largest urban municipality in the area, is necessary leadership, was called for today by Belleville Alderman Gerald Joyce.

Ald. Joyce, city council representative on the Belleville Industrial Commission, and well known local realtor was speaking to members of the Belleville Real Estate board at their regular monthly meeting, which

"After being on council but a short period, he has become apparent to me that Belleville cannot be a "self sufficient" community like Toronto or Montreal," stated Mr. Joyce.

He said that the surrounding Quinte area was closely interwoven with Belleville through marriage, business commerce and employment.

The Canadian Forces Base at Trenton, Canada Cement at Point Anne, Corby's Distillery and shoe companies at Batawa and Stirling, all added much to the local economy.

The loss last year of the Moore Business Corporation which is to establish a plant in Trenton, pointed up the fact that Belleville could no longer adopt the isolationist theory of the past.

"It has been proven that this theory will not work, either on an international scale or at municipal level. We must discard any negative thinking — this is past today," Mr. Joyce said.

One of the big requirements for Quinte area development, according to Mr. Joyce, was the provision of water to the adjoining townships. A decision must be made at once on a program for future water requirements.

Mr. Joyce favored a program to either expand the capacity of the existing filtration plant to supply city needs and the needs of adjoining townships or development of the proposal of the Ontario Water Resources Commission to bring water from Lake Ontario to serve the entire Quinte area.

He said he was not sufficiently knowledgeable to say, which of the above alternatives was most prudent but nevertheless was convinced that Belleville must take the responsibility for provision of water for more people than those within the city limits.

Water, was necessary for the development of the Quinte area but this was not the entire answer.

"Water is necessary," he said, "but co-operation between all the municipalities is imperative."

"A Rose by Any Other Name..."

Despite an apparent error in lineup of youngsters boosting upcoming rose festival, the message came across to Belleville Horticultural Society meeting last night. Don Tucker is lone boy getting attention of festival boosters Joyce Gardiner, Jo Ann Thompson and Sherri Carr. At rear, Donna Boyce, Cynthia McQuaid.

Budget to Take Day of Session

Hastings county councillors will learn next week what the provincial government takeover of administration of justice costs will mean in dollar savings to county taxpayers.

At least that is the hope of county clerk treasurer - administrator Carl Bateman who says he is now preparing figures to present the picture to council at its April session next week.

At the session the county tax rate will be struck and Mr. Bateman expects considerable of the year's budget will take up at least a full day of the three-day session.

The government takeover of justice administration costs will also mean a saving in tax dollars for Belleville and Trenton with both these urban municipalities sharing such costs with the county.

Last year law enforcement cost the county approximately $213,000, the bulk of this being jail employees salaries, jail supplies and repairs and maintenance costs.

However, Mr. Bateman says this does not represent the complete picture as certain other items are not included in the figure.

Under the government program of taking over justice administration costs, the province will pay all jail and other related costs and will either rent or purchase buildings used in the administration of justice.

Under the former administration of justice agreement between the county and the urban municipalities of Belleville and Trenton, Belleville paid about 34 per cent of costs and Trenton about 14 per cent.

Belleville

Cancer Fund Campaign Rolling

"Lights on for Cancer" lit up the beginning of the annual fund drive of the Canadian Cancer Society on April 1.

According to Mrs. Freda Patterson of the Belleville branch of the society the illumination is really helping this year's campaign which has a goal of $26,500.

Returns have already started to come in and of course none of the canvassers is anywhere near finished. The campaign began April 1 when all drivers were asked to have their headlights on during the day to signify the start of the drive and rotate support for it.

The money raised in the campaign goes primarily for research (65 per cent)—the rest of it is used for education and service of patients (25 per cent) and campaign expenses and operating overhead (10 per cent).

The campaign this year is headed up by chairman, Dr. R. R. Brown who has under him seven ward chairmen supervising the 40 or so poll chairmen who procure canvassers and supervise their work.

Unit president of the society is Mrs. Aston and T. E. Polkwell is the president for the district. Although the goal this year is the highest ever all of those concerned are optimistic about the outcome.

The society has an office on Bridge Street East that is open from two until four all year 'round and during the campaign from noon on to give out pamphlets and answer any questions from the public.

During the campaign month pamphlets are also being distributed at theatres and other business establishments to inform the public as to the work of the society and the hazards of smoking.

$7,000 Loss in Fire

TRENTON — Local firemen responded at an early-morning blaze to two motel units at the Dutch Mill Inn after fire broke out in a furnace room.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis estimated the damage to two rooms in the motel's east wing at a minimum $7,000.

One of the rooms, along with the furnace room, was gutted. The second unit was the scene of heavy smoke and water damage.

The alarm was turned in shortly before 5 a.m.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

An occupant of one of the damaged rooms escaped injury when he was awakened by the crackling of the fire, Chief Ellis said.

Caribbean Travel Topic

TRENTON — The Caribbean will be the scene of this week's screen travels sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club.

The latest in the 1968 series of Kiwanis travelogues — Wings to Puerto Rico — will be shown in the Trenton High School auditorium tomorrow evening at 8 p.m.

Vimy Celebration

Amputee Key Tag Service Outlined by Legion Speaker

Allan Piper is not a man easily discouraged.

Even the fact a third of the public doesn't bother to aid in his vital work is no cause for disillusionment.

Himself a double amputee — he lost both hands in a wartime accident overseas — he is general manager of the war amputee key tag service.

Officially, he was in Belleville last night as guest speaker at the Canadian Legion Vimy Night banquet.

Afterwards he revealed some background on the project which finds its way each year into almost every Canadian home.

Every owner of a registered motor vehicle gets a pair of tags. If lost, car keys are forwarded to the amputee service which then identifies and returns them to the loser.

The service sends tags to more than six million people each year.

In recent years statistics show a third of the recipients faithfully neglect to return the solicited 60 cents.

But, says Capt. Piper, there is no reason to be discouraged.

"It's only a voluntary service . . . and we figure we're able to do fairly well because of the volume we produce."

Capt. Allan Piper

Despite rising costs, the service doesn't contemplate higher-priced tags.

"A lot of people have urged us to up the cost," he says. "But we feel everybody else is jacking up prices and we should try to hold the line."

To offset increased costs, the amputee service next year is pondering a tag that will cost less to produce.

Those who don't bother buying tags are "actually just forgetful," he thinks.

Many more probably subscribe when they benefit from the service.

Maybe like the married couple this week.

Capt. Piper says the service received two sets of keys bearing precisely the same tag on exactly the same day.

"The man and his wife apparently had lost both car-key sets the same day," he said.

The service returns up to 15,000 key sets a year.

"And we just hope by the return of keys people will realize how good a service we offer and subscribe to it."

Among them was Roy Madden, a Vimy veteran and former branch president who received the meritorious service medal — the Legion's highest honor.

Everett Liddle was chairman of the banquet.

No Serious Rat Problem In City Says Engineer

Despite reports of rats having been seen in different sections of the city, city hall officials today discounted the possibility of any serious rat problem existing.

"No complaints of rats have been received at city hall," stated City Engineer Wilbur Purcell.

At the same time, however, Mr. Purcell admitted there were rats in the city.

"Let's face it," he said, "We will never get completey free of rats, but certainly we don't have any problem."

According to Mr. Purcell a continuous program of rat control is carried out at the city garbage disposal dump. A firm of pest exterminators are retained to control rats at the dump and there have been no complaints from this area for several years.

On two occasions during the past two years, the same firm of pest exterminators have extended their rat control program to city sewers after reports of rat sightings were received.

In such cases 'the pest control firm isolates the sewers and fumigates them.

This week, however, there have been reports of rats having been sighted on Moira Street, in the downtown area and at Quinte Secondary School.

But none of the complaints reached city hall.

The city engineer said any sighting of rats should be reported to city hall so that appropriate action can be taken.

"We are only too anxious to hear of any complaints," he said.

Board's Recommendation

Belleville and Suburban Planning Board's refusal to recommend rezoning in the northwest area of the city to permit a slaughter house comes as no surprise.

Representatives of Park Dale ratepayers had been understandably upset at the possibility of a slaughter house being established in their area. At the public hearing in City Hall the other day spokesmen for the ratepayers objected to the proposed industry on the ground it would lead to lowering of property values in the nearby residential area.

Their objection was reinforced by a letter from Hastings and Prince Edward County Health Unit.

The planning board also plans to instruct the industrial commission that the city has no suitable site for a slaughter house.

Belleville needs industry, but it must remain selective. The city must have regard for its residential areas and the planning board's recommendations are in accordance with this premise.

Mrs. King

If dignity and greatness are rare qualities in human beings they are all the more noble for that reason.

And strange it is that such qualities often are enshrined in people regarded by many (because they know no better) as inferior.

Mrs. Martin Luther King is one of those people. The words spoken by the wife of the assassinated Negro civil rights leader, and the manner of their expression, were eloquent of a divinity mankind embraces all too seldom.

Soon after her husband's death, and at his funeral, Mrs. King addressed the public. Observing and listening, no one could have doubted that from his wife Dr. King drew a large measure of the strength and support that carried him through the long years of struggle on behalf of his race.

Second Thoughts

American military defectors seeking asylum in Sweden are apparently having second thoughts about the wisdom of beginning a new life in Scandinavia.

Recently, the first American soldier to desert and seek asylum in Sweden, Private Ray Jones of Detroit, and five other defectors, changed their minds. They returned voluntarily to their units in West Germany.

And from Heidelberg, in Germany, comes word that two other army privates have returned to their units there after more than a month in Sweden.

Jones, 21-year-old Negro, said he found the Swedish people "very cold." Probably it would have been the same anywhere. Deserters are deserters, and for all their condemnation of the Vietnam war the Swedes likely have little use for them.

The same situation exists with U.S. draft dodgers in Canada. Outlawed by their own country and dependent on friends and welfare organizations these young men quickly find that not many doors are open to them here. It is a sad situation. Essentially it is the old problem of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face.

Too Casual

We were reading somewhere about the absence of courtesy in our society. By formality we mean manners or lack of them, and what used to be known for want of something more elegantly phrased as "good breeding."

The pace of life today, the swiftness of communications and the openness of society generally tend to militate against dealing with our fellow mortals in other than a casual sort of way.

In a world where men and women work together there is a temptation to overlook formality, to forget the small courtesies that lend grace to our workaday world, and indicate a true respect for other people.

We see the breakdown of manners in such incidents as these: three young businessmen in hats and raincoats and they are ambling along with hands in pockets when they encounter a grey-haired woman returning to office. The men all greet her, but not one bothers to raise his hat.

Nor are women blameless. A man may open a door for one, and not infrequently she will sail through without a word of acknowledgement.

Some words of U.S. vice-president Hubert Humphrey come to mind. "The first quality of a good education," he once said, "is good manners. Some people flunk the course."

White Racism and Sense of Repression Spark Negro Riots

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Only a fractional minority of the American Negro population, which numbers about 20,000,000 took part in the disorders that have wracked U.S. cities since the slaying last week of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the moderate civil rights leader.

It takes a comparatively few persons to do considerable damage. A half-dozen men can break dozens of windows and start a score of fires.

But equal emphasis should be given to the fact that the youngsters who have rioted, looted and burned have a broad understanding and even considerable support among the black people of the country.

Thus a Negro taxi driver in New York, expressing grief over the death of King said: "If they want to take a town apart, why don't they do it in Memphis where King was killed?"

A bar owner in the predominantly Negro Harlem section of Manhattan said: "I still hurt (about the death of King). But I would have hurt more if there had been no repercussions, no looting."

Here were two middle-aged men with secure incomes, not objecting to rioting as such. The bar owner said: "It don't get mine." But thousands of young Negroes have nothing.

In a disturbance on 42nd Street in Manhattan last week, Negroes pouring out of many movie theatres on a block, went quietly and quickly home. But a reporter heard no objections from them to the shenanigans of a youthful gang—and it remains that they wanted to get away before somebody was hurt.

The rioters are doing what youth has done through the centuries, expressing in physical fashion the grievances felt by them and their elders.

There is a real feeling of repression among most Negroes. King, while always expressing the feeling of non-violence, constantly said of it, So did other Negroes, from moderate to radical.

A presidential commission on last summer's riots, in a purposefully chilling report, made that feeling clear. It blamed white racism, the inability or refusal of whites to accept Negroes as equals.

In a nutshell, the average Negro feels he has not been part of the great American melting pot which has given immigrants by the millions come to the U.S. and through hard work and perseverance make a new, fruitful life for themselves and their children.

Negroes say they cannot get the schooling, the jobs or advancement that is rightfully theirs. For years they poured north from the South, seeking the better opportunities they thought they would find in the regions they believed were less racist than the former slave states. But they found ghettoes, discrimination, few jobs, unions that refused them membership and a strong resistance to allowing them to live in predominantly white suburbs.

What advancement was achieved made them hunger for more.

Many whites deny that the Negro is repressed. The more conservative say that if the Negro really wants to advance he can do so, just as did the Italians, Irish, Polish and other ethnic groups who came to the U.S. in droves.

But the feeling of repression remains widespread among the Negroes. Despite all that is moved, the riots will continue. Once it is removed, no amount of verbal harangues by radicals will bring a significant number into the streets again.

The death of King was a spark dropped into a dry forest. If he had not been assassinated there is little doubt there would have been another spark.

Congress, worried about the U.S. economic situation in an election year and during the costly Vietnam war, was hesitant about spending large amounts of money to help the economically poor Negro.

There was a rising feeling of frustration among Negroes, some of it a hangover from last year's long, hot summer.

It is doubtful that even King could have stopped violence when summer heat in the cauldron between ghetto buildings makes tempers short.

There was some evidence that the presidential commission's report did not have the effect on the white population that it sought.

There seems no great drive to do something about the situation, though it is the white community, which has vast representation in Congress, that will decide if and when vast sums are poured into improving the lot of the Negro.

Shoplifting Students

Ottawa Journal

Two university co-eds were sentenced to five-day jail terms in Ottawa Magistrate's Court last week for shoplifting. Assistant Crown Attorney Albert Roy said that all too regularly students engage in shoplifting — further indications that among some students it is now considered "smart" to beat the law. "It's all right, but don't get caught."

There is no excuse at university level for criminal behavior. Stealing is not a prank. Thousands of tax dollars are invested in each university student. Society loses patience when its investment is repaid with criminal acts.

The young clamor for power. En route they should hide their lawbreakers and honor principles they accuse adults of neglecting.

Expo—by Any Other Name

Montreal Gazette

Mayor Drapeau is still receiving suggestions about a new, catchy name for the Man and His World exhibition. Officially, the term Expo expired with the closing of the show last October. The theme title is worth keeping, as the mayor has explained, because it has been made famous around the world during the last few years.

But it is a mouthful and something short and catchy to add to it would be welcome. Montrealers will probably continue to use the short and simple "Expo" but this is banned for use in promotion, such as advertising.

Newspapers' Wide Following Scores Over Rival Media

Orillia Packet and Times

One of the strange things about newspaper men is that they tend to regard as newsworthy every business but their own. Editors take it for granted that everybody in town reads their paper, that all advertising in their paper gets proven results, and that the list of subscribers and the number of pages get bigger every year. So what else is new?

What really excites newspapermen are the other media. We fall over ourselves to list radio logs and TV programs, and we hire special writers to discuss the upcoming features or the latest programs on national television. Newspapers are the only medium to deliberately whip up public interest in competing media; can anyone imagine a TV commentator discussing the new features scheduled to appear in a competing newspaper?

This curious practice has led to some amazing public misconceptions, and wide gaps in public comprehension of the relative strengths of the various media. The newspapers that headlined the fact that the Grey Cup game, for the first time, was to be watched by a TV audience estimated to be more than a million, neglected to mention that it would also be read about, both before and after, by a precisely - counted newspaper audience of four-and-a-half million people. The same public ignorance exists in relation to advertising expenditures; few Canadians know that newspapers are far and away the top advertising medium, with a dollar expenditure vastly greater than radio, TV, magazines and billboards combined.

But it is in the audience commanded by individual programs or features that the biggest misconceptions occur. The increasing number of TV and radio shows is surprisingly small. A combined media survey in Columbus, Ohio for example, found that Man From Uncle, run at prime time secured an audience (31.1 per cent) for a local TV station less than that accorded a medical columnist (25 per cent) buried deep in the inside pages of the local paper. Newspaper features had a far greater following than even the highest - rated TV program; NFL pro football, for instance, was the top-ranked TV program of all with a measly 28 per cent of the local audience, compared with a thumping 64 per cent which regularly read Ann Landers.

Closer to home, one wonders whether Orillians realize that many a $20,000 home is sold with a $1 classified ad in this paper, or that the Packet is read in 92 out of every 100 homes in Orillia as well as in homes as far afield as MacTier or Beaverton; an assured audience greater than that for all other media combined. Do they know that a single ad in the Toronto Globe and Mail has sold $75,000 worth of dresses for the Robert Simpson Company, or that that company expects — and gets — $1,000 worth of sales from every $50 invested in newspaper advertising?

Maybe it's time we newspaper men started to blow our own horn a little louder, and where better to start the tooting than right here? After all, this page is read by more Orillians than watch any TV show or listen to any radio program or read any magazine; roughly three times the audience.

Vancouver's "Town Fool" Boosts City

Ottawa Journal

Fools rush in where angels fear to tread and Vancouver's town fool, Joachim Foikus has rushed in and found himself an "angel" in the Canada Council. In giving Foikus a $3,500 grant the council said he is making a "serious contribution to the self-awareness of the entire community" by gadding about Vancouver's Court House Square, dressed as a court jester and spouting nursery rhymes to children and riddles to adults.

Cynics might say it isn't the first time the Canada Council has given money to a fool. But looking at all the downstairs faces on our streets suggests we could use a little fun and laughter. Foikus' success may encourage other fools.

But he who laughs longest laughs last. Anybody who can get $3,500 taxfree dollars in this day and age is nobody's fool.

Letter to the Editor

Should Students Have More Freedom at School?

Editor,
The Intelligencer"

As an individual student I would like to reply to Mr. Williams' letter printed on April 5.

Permission to use Moira Secondary School's gymnasium was asked for and received. The teacher responsible did not read the newsletter beforehand and after it had been printed she raised the price from $6.50 to $15.75 "payable immediately."

Mr. Clarke's invitation was unknown to myself or any member of the Belleville Commodores, however, we have written requesting that he "forward information concerning the method by which we can communicate with the board." To date we have received no reply.

The board, which is responsible to the students' parents, employs the principals who, in accordance with the Education Act, run our schools. Their position is that of a benevolent despot; undoubtedly working for our good, but none the less a despot.

It is the feeling of most of the students and teachers with whom I have spoken that our right is to "the best possible education." To suggest that we are now getting "the best possible" is to suggest that our method of educating is perfect. The efforts of Education Minister Davis and others show that this is not the case.

In a democracy the citizens help to formulate the laws which govern them. In a school we are granted any freedom we have. Any speech made in a school assembly is examined by a teacher and cannot be made if he disapproves.

Is this freedom of speech? With the exception of "Resound" there is no uncensored student press. Is this freedom of the press? The actions of our student governments are subject to a principal's veto. Is this a logical way to train us to become responsible and conscious citizens?

I feel that if more freedom and the accompanying responsibility are granted gradually the high school student and graduate would be better citizens. The proposal should be subject to a combined study by students, faculty and board so that all aspects of the situation are taken into consideration.

Women And Gardens

Windsor Star

The season of man, the great gardener, at least by his own estimate of himself, is just ahead. At the drop of a hat question he will show us his workworn and often blistered hands, as evidence of his devotion to the outdoors in springtime. But a recent survey suggests there would be few gardens if they depended on manpower alone. The real green thumb belongs to women, an equipment producer reveals. At least 60 per cent of spring gardening is done by them, it's asserted.

This probably is true. But some men may say bluntly it was a sneaky woman with a green thumb in the first place, the survey and exposed their small contribution to spring's incense-breathing morns.

Milk Pooling System

Committee Won't Hear Farmers' Complaints

TORONTO (CP) — The legislature's agriculture committee voted Tuesday against hearing complaints of Jersey and Guernsey dairy farmers against Ontario's new milk pooling system pending settlement of a civil suit launched by the cattlemen against the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

The Channel Islands Breeds Milk Producers Association, acting for the cattlemen, had sought a meeting with the committee to argue against an OMMB policy to treat all types of milk alike in the pool.

Committee members voted in favor of a proposal by Gordon Smith (PC—Simcoe East) that the association be advised it would not be possible to hear the complaints while the matter was before the courts.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald argued against the Smith motion on grounds the hearing might show the wisdom of a change in government policy which undertakers would remove the need for the court case.

Agriculture Minister William Stewart said the proposed meeting would only amount to a second court hearing.

The committee also approved six bills, three of which repealed obsolete statutes.

Most of the debate centred on proposed amendments to the Community Centres Act under which provincial grants toward community centres, athletic fields, halls and skating rinks will be roughly doubled.

Mac Makarchuk (NDP—Brantford) proposed that the bill be changed to include a specific provision for grants toward expansion of existing community centres and to extend the grants program to community curling rinks, tennis courts and ski tows.

The proposal was defeated along party lines after Mr. Stewart said he had already promised that expansion programs for existing centres will partially qualify for grants.

$123,000 Permit Issued For New Bottling Works

A building permit for $123,000 for the construction of a new soft drinks bottling works plant on Wallbridge Crescent, has topped the city's building list during the first quarter of 1968.

City Building Inspector Grant Sickels said the permit was issued to Moirs Beverages Ltd. who are moving their operation from its present location at 39 Coleman Street.

The new bottling works plant will have a floor area of about 22,000 square feet.

The total value of construction permits for the month of March was $205,275, the three-month total for 1968 being $615,275 — more than double the $238,627 figure for the same period last year.

February of this year saw a splurge in residential construction permits with a total of $253,000 for this type of construction.

MRS. IDA MAY SCOTT

Mrs. Ida May Scott of 300 Dufferin Avenue died Tuesday in the Belleville General Hospital following a lengthy illness. She was in her 81st year.

Born in Huntsville, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott.

Mrs. Scott was a member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church and a member of the guild.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Arthur (Edna) Tillbrook of Niagara Falls and Mrs. Gordon (Beulah) Aitchison of Toronto; two sons, Robert Franklin Scott of Brampton and George Archibald Scott of Halifax; ten grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. George (Ola) Hares of Huntsville, Mrs. Howard (Laura) Lush of Huntsville and Mrs. Jack (Florence) Vinke of Huntsville; and four brothers, Frenace Scott of Huntsville, Robert Scott of Huntsville, Herbert Scott of North Bay and Ephraim Scott of Huntsville.

She was predeceased by her hubsand, Robert Scott.

The body is resting at the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home. The service will be held on Thursday afternoon in St. Thomas' Anglican Church. Archdeacon A. S. McConnell will officiate. Interment will be in the Belleville Cemetery.

ERNEST HOWARD PIPE
(R.R. 2, Belleville)

Although in failing health for some time, Mr. Ernest Howard Pipe, R.R. 2 Belleville, died suddenly at his home on Tuesday. He was 52.

Born at Tweed, he was the son of Mrs. Della Pipe and the late William Pipe and lived at Thomasburg before coming to Belleville 17 years ago. He was a 20 year employee at Northern Electric and was a member of Holloway Street United Church.

Besides his mother he is survived by his wife, the former Violet Jane Rodgers, one son Ronald L. Pipe of Toronto, and a daughter, Mrs. Ronald (Dorothy) Deshane.

Also surviving are two step daughters, Mrs. Vern Revoy of Hamilton and Mrs. Robert Armstrong of Espanola, and stepson Fred Allport of Hamilton.

There are two brothers, Cecil and Kenneth Pipe of Toronto, and four sisters, Mrs. Edward (Pearl) Gordon of Brockville, Mrs. Alfred Thurston, Morrisburg, and Mrs. Ross McNaughton and Miss Ruby Pipe, both of Tweed

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from the Thompson Funeral Chapel with service by Rev. J. W. Lamb. Interment in Harlowe Cemetery north of Tweed.

WILLIAM JOHN CASSELMAN

The funeral of William John Casselman was held Tuesday afternoon from the John E. R. Bush Funeral Home where service in the chapel was conducted by Dr. Harry M. Davis of Bridge Street United Church. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Fred Reid, David Asselline, Ernest Asselline, Ralph Bjerding, Ralph Casselman and George Dinnie.

EVERETT ROY MAYBEE

The funeral of Everett Roy Maybee of Wellman's, Rawdon Township was held Monday in the Duffin-Hogle Funeral Home, Stirling with Rev. W. C. Cox, pastor of Wellman's United Church officiating.

The bearers were Harold White, John Morgan, Lloyd King, Edward Preston, John Carlisle and Kenneth Tompkins.

The interment was made in Wellman's Cemetery.

We'd like to introduce you to the real Rye Whisky

Alberta Premium

Alberta Premium is properly called real rye whisky because it's made entirely from rye grain. This gets a slightly spart from other Canadian whiskies that are mostly made from corn. We think you can taste the difference in all-rye Alberta Premium. A gentle difference in the real rye.

Ann Landers

Girl Falls in Love With Fiance's Father

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You will swear this letter is phony, because my story reads like a four-bit novel but I am begging you to take it seriously because I am on the level.

I go to a well-known girl's school in the East. I became engaged to a Princeton senior three months ago. When I went to his home to meet his parents I flipped over his father. At first I told myself it was too crazy for words and I tried to laugh it off, but I can't laugh any more, and neither can he. We have met in Manhattan several times and he is as smoked over me as I am over him. He wants to divorce his wife and marry me next year.

ANN LANDERS

My fiance knows nothing of this. I am tearing myself to pieces with indecision. Could it work? He is 27 years older than I am, his wife is three years older than he is and a semi-invalid. After being with Senior, Junior strikes me as Amateur Night. Could this marriage possibly work? Help me, please. I am not sleeping very well these nights. — MISS ICARUS (GET IT?)

* * *

DEAR MISS ICARUS: Yeah, I get it and my advice is Drop Dead, Baby — as you intended. If you can't deep now how much sleep do you think you'll get if you allow this aging Romeo to dump his ailing wife and walk off with his son's sweetheart? The man must have rocks in his head and you have a few sizable boulders yourself, Kiddo.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I say something in defence of Gladys, the woman who says there is "nothing so terrible" about having the price tag on a gift? She has my vote.

I am a store manager who would be very pleased if all the customers left the sales slips, price tags and all other tags on the gifts. When merchandise is brought back to the store for exchange it is a real headache if all signs of size, price, and sales are removed. The person who brings in the article has no knowledge of the purchase, of course, and can be of little help.

The idea of concealing the price so the person will not know what you spent is ridiculous. Most people can just about guess, and what difference does it make anyway? I hope you will print my letter. It would be a public service — especially to the retailers. — DANBURY.

DEAR DAN: Here's your letter and I am printing it not as a public service but because it represents another point of view. I still say gifts should not be presented with the sales slips and price tags attached. It's bad manners.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am engaged to be married in September. My fiance's closest friend is a guy I can't stand. He tried to break us up and failed. Now he pretends to like me but I know he hates me as much as I hate him.

Last night my fiance and I were making wedding plans and he said he wants this twerp to be his best man. Ann, like I said, I hate him and it will spoil my wedding day. I asked my mother what to do about this sinful problem and she suggested I write to Ann Landers. So here I am. — NERVOUS INQUIRER.

DEAR NERVOUS: The groom has little enough to say about his wedding. Don't deprive him of the privilege of selecting his best man. It wouldn't be fair.

When the subject comes up again, be pleasant and agreeable. He will love you for it.

Dear Doris: We would like to send our 15-year-old son away to summer camp for two weeks. Please send a list of noteworthy camps suitable.

We live in a sparsely populated area; there are no organizations available. Perhaps summer camp would compensate. Do you think he could adjust? He is a bit apprehensive about going. — Anxious Father

Dear Anxious: Camping, with its open air sociability and physical challenge, is a great experience for a boy.

He is apprehensive because he hasn't known scouting or fun-times with a community group. A person learns to mix by mixing.

Write to your provincial director of child care or of recreation, or to your nearest Y M C A for recommended boys' camps. Involve him in actual selection, and take him with you to talk to the person who registers the boys.

When he actually goes, get something in the mail to him every day: a box of homemade cookies or candy, a letter, a week's worth of his favorite comics, a picture post card. Give him a dozen stamped, home - addressed envelopes and some paper — asking for no more than a sentence or two of news about him.

Keep the lines open.

Dear Doris:: Here is the poem, "When Pa is Sick", as requested by Grade Five Teacher. I also include the sequel, "When Ma Is Sick" and another one your reader might enjoy, especially if she knows an avid fisherman. — Jill

Dear Jill: Thank you and a tip of the hat for these delightful 12-line rhymes. There is room here for the first; and I'll send copies of the others to anyone asking.

WHEN PA IS SICK

When Pa is sick, he's scared to death,
An' Ma an' us just holds our breath;
He crawls in bed, an' puffs an' grunts,
An' does all kinds of crazy stunts.
He wants "Doc Brown" in mighty quick,
For when Pa's ill he's awful sick;
He' gasps an' moans, an' sort of sighs,
He talks so queer an' rolls his eyes;
Ma jumps an' runs an' all of us,
An' all the house is in a fuss.

An peace and joy is mighty skeerce —
When Pa is sick, it's something fierce!

Author Unknown.

Certain males I have known fit this description exactly when indispositions lay them low.

Confidential to "Worried": I couldn't. I talk and listen without a name or address. If that 20-year-old is as nice as you say, he'll understand why it just isn't good sense for a 13-year-old girl to go out with him, even once. Don't start something you can't finish.

Successful Living

Parents Hesitant in Sending 11-year-Old Boy to Camp

By MARY MOORE

Our preview Easter dinner attracted the guests to the kitchen while I decorated and glazed the ham. One dashed out to his car for his camera and took a color picture in the kitchen and again when it reached the table.

Today I will give you the menu and recipes for the vegetables. Tomorrow I will give you the roasting times and temperature for glazing and decorations for a truly festive ham.

EASTER DINNER MENU:
Glazed Fruit - Decorated Roast Ham (see tomorrow)
Glazed Sweet Potatoes (see below)
Glazed greens garnished with Hard-Cooked Egg Slices
Mixed Mustard Pickles
Spinach Hollandaise (see below)
Easter Dessert Meringues (see Tues.)
Coffee

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES (serves 6)
5 or 6 long narrow sweet potatoes
one-third to ½ cup liquid honey
3 or 4 tablespoons butter
salt

Scrub sweet potatoes and cook with skins on until nearly tender. They must not be soft or they will split and go mushy. Drain and peel. Cut potatoes into 1¼" pieces. Arrange in single layer in buttered large shallow baking dish. Drizzle honey over top of each piece, dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and bake at 200 deg. Fahr about 40 or 50 minutes, turning over at half-time. Just before serving time raise them up under broiler to singe tops until they are flecked with gold.

SPINACH HOLLANDAISE (serves 6)
three - 12 - oz. cello packages spinach
2 large eggs
¼ cup 10 per cent cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
2 tablespoons butter

Wash spinach under running cold water, drain well cook covered without adding water until tender, turning over once. Drain well in colander and chop coarsely. Return to saucepan and keep hot or turn into preheated serving dish and keep hot in warming oven. Just before carrying to table pour evenly over —

HOLLANDAISE FOR THE TIMID: Put bottom of double boiler over medium heat with ½" boiling water in it. Into top of double boiler measure all Hollandaise ingredients except butter. Have butter measured and ready at hand. Stir over steaming - not boiling - water until thick. Add butter, one tablespoon at a time — and stir until perectly blended. This Hollandaise will hold hot over hot but not boiling water for 30 minutes and is a great comfort to those timid cooks who are reluctant to make genuine Hollandaise because they fear it might curdle. This does not.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSOM

Mother: "I do get tired of staying at home all the time, but we never leave the children at night. We feel it's the duty of parents to be on the job, and nobody else will care for the children the way we do."

Too much self sacrificing is not good for children or for parents. Line up a mature and reliable sitter and plan a night out occasionally.

Mother: "The Craigs have had Mrs. Jones as a sitter for three years and they say she's dependable and good with children. So let's plan to go to the dinner and show Saturday night."

Jobs as Foreign Service Stenographers Available

OTTAWA (CP) — If you're a foot-loose and fancy-free gal with a yen for distant lands and a quick hand at the notepad and typewriter, a job as a foreign service stenographer may be right up your alley.

Miss Walsh started with the department of external affairs 11 years ago as a foreign service stenographer and has spent seven years abroad in Washington, Buenos Aires, Paris and Rome.

She and another department administrative officer, Francoise Gagnon, went on a recruiting tour this year that took them from Toronto to the West Coast.

"The most important characteristic I look for is adaptability—the kind of people who can go to foreign countries and live by themselves and cope without being miserable," Miss Walsh said in an interview.

"We're looking for people who are really interested in other places. Stability and maturity are important."

Bilingualism and previous experience living abroad also are assets.

Basic qualifications for the $3,872-to-$4,533 jobs include being single between ages 20 and 45, a Canadian citizen with 10 years' residence in Canada, availability to serve anywhere, minimum Grade 10 education with two years of stenographic experience, and ability to take and transcribe difficult dictation as well as a good knowledge of office methods.

"All stenographers have an initial training period with the department of six months to a year. Then we post them all for servebe abroad.

"There are about 86 stenographers now posted in South America, Africa, Asia, Western Europe, Moscow, Prague, Belgrade and the permanent mission to NATO.

"The stenographers are hired principally to do secretarial work but they're required to do a lot of other things too, depending on the size of the post.

"Most posts are small—only two or three Canadian girls out of maybe six or eight Canadian employees—so they all have to help one another.

"For instance, a girl at a small mission may be asked at the last moment to fill in at a dinner party. That means typing madly until 6 p.m., then rushing home to change and rushing to the party.

"However, some girls think they're going to spend their whole time going to diplomatic receptions. They don't."

For the marriage-minded, the foreign service seems to be a good bet.

"About one-third of our girls resign to get married—and it's not necessarily younger girls. The 40-year-olds do, too."

There is also the bonus of travel opportunities in the area of the posting.

Miss Walsh, who has a BA degree in modern languages and literatures from the University of Toronto, is touring to get back into service abroad.

The night on the town, sponsored by the Women's Institute, was held at Maple Ten, Bloomfield, with progressive euchre in play following dinner.

Canada in 2000

TORONTO (CP) — About 1,000 delegates to a women's conference here April 24 will attempt to predict what Canadian life will be like in the year 2,000.

Delegates will anticipate social and economic needs, fashion and food tastes at the conference sponsored by the women's advisory committee of Ontario's department of economics and development.

The department said Tuesday the conference will include a fashion show featuring Ontario creations.

Given Centennial Award

Mrs. J. E. Buchan, 145 Bridge Street East, has received a Centennial Medal in recognition of her many years' work with hospital auxiliaries. Mrs. Buchan was provincial president of the Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario in 1963-64 and also served on the National Council of Hospital Auxiliaries.

Women's Liberal Association Tired of Playing Second Fiddle

PERTH, Ont. (CP) — The Perth Women's Liberal Association has announced it is tired of playing second fiddle to the men who control Liberal politics in the riding.

In protest to the men getting all the credit for the party work in this town, 30 miles southwest of Ottawa, the association has suspended operations and frozen its assets.

"We felt that the best way to make our protest stick was to go into suspension for a few months, maybe years," Mrs. A. F. C. Hopkinson, association president, said in a letter to members.

She said suspension arises from what happened at the February meeting when the delegates for the riding of Lanark-Renfrew were chosen for last week's Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa.

"It was glaringly obvious at the meeting to name delegates to the convention that the rules laid down by self-appointed officers rendered it virtually impossible for more than one woman delegate to be chosen . . ." the letter said.

"The end result was the choice of a woman delegate who had belonged to no Liberal organization in the riding until the actual day of the meeting and had lived in the riding only four months."

The letter said all functions of the organization would cease but "when the attitude of the officers and directors has changed sufficiently to warrant re-activation of the association, it can be done so by a majority vote of the members or their survivors."

Late October Vote Is Likely

OTTAWA (CP) — Speculation persists that a general election may be called before the end of this year, with Monday, Oct. 28, standing out among the likely dates.

When Pierre Elliott Trudeau was chosen Liberal leader Saturday, there was some immediate talk of a snap general election on Monday, June 17, a date for which four byelections have already been announced.

However, nearly talk of a June 17 vote did not take account of a basic time factor, that it takes 60 days to organize a federal general election.

April 28 is the last date for calling a general election for June 17 and it doesn't look as if Mr. Trudeau will be sworn in as prime minister by then.

It's generally accepted that an election in July or August is most unlikely.

Monday, June 24, is also out since it's St. Jean Baptiste Day, a public holiday in Quebec. The Election Act provides that elections be on a Monday but if the chosen date is on a federal or provincial holiday, it is held the following Tuesday. People in close touch with election matters think it impracticable to hold an election on the day following a holiday.

It is also held to be politically undesirable to hold an election in early fall since that would mean a start on enumeration of voters in summer when many people are away on holidays.

The last date for calling an Oct. 28 election is Aug. 29 That would provide for start on voter enumeration in mid-September. The Election Act provides that this procedure begin 45 days before the election.

Informed people tend to feel that an election later than Oct. 28 is unlikely this year because of the U.S. presidential election scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 5, and its possible effect on Canadian voting.

An October vote isn't in line with what Mr. Trudeau said at his Sunday news conference after being elected leader. Choice of the date is the prerogative of the prime minister.

He ruled out a snap election by saying Parliament will resume its session as scheduled April 23 and deal with legislation already on the order paper, although not necessarily all of it. It should then take a holiday for the summer months for a new session and a speech from the throne which would set out the new leader's policy aims.

But his statement hasn't stopped people closely associated with elections for many years from thinking that there will be one on the last Monday in October.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League Eastern Ontario Club

Annual charge for cars entering provincial parks will be increased from $5 to $10 a year.

Campsite permits will be $2.50 per day, electric power will cost 50 cents per day.

The daily car entrance fee to take your family in for a swim and a picnic will still cost $1.

Departments of Land and Forests statistics show that about 7,000,000 tenters and trailerites registered at provincial parks last year. At least half of them bought car windshield stickers.

Tips to Motorists

The Ontario Motor League gives the following reminders to the motoring public:

1 — Except for emergencies you are not allowed to stop along the freeway, even on the shoulders, except for designated places to eat or walk around a little.

2 — Always carry a spare fan belt in your trunk for emergencies. One automobile manufacturer carries over 265 different types for their cars alone so the chances of getting the exact shape and size could prove difficult.

3 — Do not forget to replace the dust caps after checking the pressure of your tires. Nearly 50 percent of all tire problems can be traced back to grit and water getting inside the tires because of missing caps.

4 — The Ontario Motor League reminds all motorists that just as a person needs a certain amount of exercise to keep in top condition, a car should get more than its usual day-to-day driving for top performance. It is a good idea to head for the open road and give your car the benefit of a long drive once in awhile. A brisk run at highway speeds helps to improve battery efficiency, remove carbon from the spark plugs and frees sticky valves.

5 — Shock absorbers should be checked for deficiency at regular intervals. Leaking fluid is one of the first signs of trouble. Neglected shocks contribute to accidents by causing a car to bounce at high speed, thus causing steering difficult.

6 — Leaving winter's grime on your car is not only unsightly but it is also a costly mistake, warns your Ontario Motor League. Wash the entire outside of the car, paying particular attention to the chrome and underside, wash rust spots thoroughly and touch up with paint when dry and follow with a good waxing of the car.

The 1968 Stratford Festival will be held June 10 through October 12. The program in the Festival Theatre will feature performances of Romeo and Juliet, Tartuffe, A Midsummer Night's Dream, and The Three Musketeers. Concerts will be presented in the Festival Theatre on Sunday from July 7 through Aug. 25 and on Saturday from July 13 through Aug. 17. The Stratford Festival Opera Company and the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, among others, will present productions in the Avon Theatre between July 6 and Aug. 31. Copies of the Stratford Festival folder are available at our office. During July and August accommodations are very limited! we suggest you make your reservations in advance.

Quebec Quandary

Separation Would Pose Grave Economic Threat

MONTREAL (CP) — Constitutional change will leave Quebec's economic situation unaltered but a separation would create "terrible problems," says the director of University of Montreal's economic department.

Prof. Otto E. Thur, 40, also says French-Canadians are not ready to accept any decrease in their standard of living "so I don't think there is a real danger of separation for the next 10 years."

The moderate views of the Hungarian-born professor, who publishes a monthly bilingual review with a Canada-wide economic sweep, may attain increasing influence in Quebec's continuing debate.

PROF. OTTO THUR

"Quebec cannot gain from a constitutional change from an economic point of view," he said in an interview. "We can change the constitution on cultural and language matters but it will not change the over-all economic picture."

Separation was another matter. Quebec as an independent country would need to import approximately as much capital—here than $1,000,000,000 annually—as the whole of Canada now does. Put another way, this would mean a relative external burden four times that of Canada.

Canada, in its relations with the United States, and Quebec, in its reassessed Confederation role, both need prudence in these days when the flames of nationalism tend to flare, he said.

Prof. Thur cited labor unions as counter-forces to any nationalistic moves. Unions could not approve anything that would cause a wages drop.

Of the provincial situation he said:

"Quebec is a small part of Canada and Canada is a small part of North America, so we have to accept that the United States has certain influences on Canada and Canada on Quebec.

"This cannot be reversed, and so we cannot expect there will be an efficient economic policy in Quebec against Ottawa, New York and Washington. I think we will have to accept coldly the facts as they are."

On the national scene, Prof. Thur connected Canadians have been comparatively slow to accept investment risks in their own country. What is risky for Canadians, with their few national-size companies, is not risky for U.S. investment with many multi-national industrial goliaths, he said.

"Certainly we can do much more, but whether we can resolve these problems I'm not so sure. Perhaps what we can attain is minority participation in all kinds of American investment here."

His estimated Canadian participation—which should come gradually, a few percentage points at a time—would not exceed 25 per cent.

"We could move faster and decide that in five years we should have 50 per cent. But what I fear is that in some years American investment here will simply drop."

Prof. Thur said Canada "and certainly Quebec" face a difficult picture in 1968 but the situation is less serious than last September-November when a large flight of capital was reported from Quebec because of the unsettled political situation.

Any ideas that constitutional change would somehow enhance the economy were laughed on the head by the professor who intimated that Quebec has all along had more constitutional power than generally realized.

"We have to recognize that the British North America Act is terribly flexible from the economic point of view," he said.

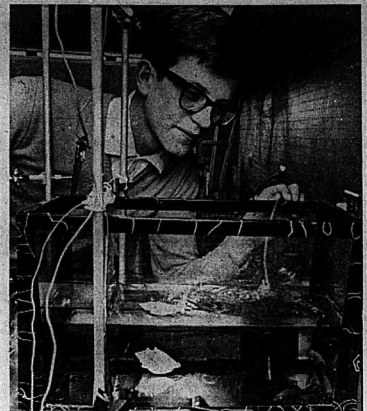
Quebec could just as well have undertaken in the 1940s, for instance, the hydro-nationalization accomplished only in the early 1960s. Perhaps what was lacking in earlier years was the will and the understanding of alternatives that could be taken.

Prof. Thur faulted on political rather than economic grounds the option of Rene Levesque, the former Quebec minister who wants sovereignty while retaining economic and monetary union with Canada.

Mr. Levesque was basing his appeal on two unreal hypotheses:

"First, that the various parts of English Canada have just one opinion and that they'd be ready to discuss a kind of separation because they were convinced Quebec represents so many problems the best path would be independence.

"Second, that discussion on economic and financial union can be conducted very coolly, no problem at all, and everybody accepting it will be the best solution."



What would Mr. Levesque's option do to Quebec's financial structure and to its standard of living?

"That's difficult to say because his first step involves the status quo. If separation went beyond economic and monetary union, we would have terrible problems because Quebec represents a need of importing capital for paying for all kinds of goods imported from foreign countries and from the rest of Canada of more than $1,000,000,000. . . ."

Prof. Thur went on:

"I don't think there is a real danger of separation for the next 10 years. It will take eight to 10 years to present the image of a new Canada. We can gain this battle; or we can lose it."

The problem will "vanish" if the federal government is successful in reflecting French Canada as well as English Canada, and if the Quebec government succeeds in its economic efforts. If not, the whole cycle will begin anew.

From Rats to Goldfish

Ralph Pudritz, 16, of Vancouver, has started memory transfer experiments with goldfish. Ralph originally started his experiments on rats at the University of British Columbia laboratories, attempting to transfer memory from trained rats to untrained rats. However, he said he found nothing to support a theory that a brain chemical known as RNA serves as a memory component.

There are about 600 species of grasshoppers which have been identified in the U.S. and Canada.

Lauderdale Crowd Gathers for Easter

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A mist of suntan oil blocked the ball spray Tuesday at Fort Lauderdale Beach where thousands of vacationing U.S. college students played with sensual new toys manufacturers hope will become instant fads.

There collegians once rioted to pass the time, this year the pastimes are "bump ball," "flip flip" and psychedelic slacks.

About 20,000 youngsters have come to Fort Lauderdale in the last few weeks, says the beach patrol. Last year, when all U.S. colleges took spring vacations at the same time, 30,000 were on the beach on one day.

Police Capt. John Sherlock said about 5,000 youths were baking and basting themselves in the sun Tuesday.

More than a thousand of them grouped around a bandstand to leap for 640 of the new "bump balls" lumpy spheres of foam rubber that look like volleyballs with warts.

The "flip flip" is a pendulum suspended from a short pole held by two dancers tummy-to-tummy. A boy swivel hips and shoulders like a burlesque dancer grinds, the pendulum swings.

At other gimmicks was body paint to decorate slacks of a special fabric. Manufacturers sent their products to the beaches for the youngsters to test in hopes they'd carry the word back to campus.

YOU'VE SEEN IT ON TV AND IN CHATELAIN — NOW SEE IT IN A WIDE COLOR SELECTION AT WRAY'S!

Where Will You Install Wray's New Ozite Carpet Tile?

USE YOUR IMAGINATION

Take a cold, hard look at your tile floors. You'll find them just that. Cold and hard. Make them soft, warm, quiet — with Ozite Carpet Tiles. Full range of colors. All colors also in broadloom widths. Put Ozite Carpet Tiles in the kitchen, bath, den, rec-room, nursery, basement. Create check patterns, or wild designs. Run tiles from the floor . . . right up the wall. Wray's sample boards show many possibilities.

SO EASY TO INSTALL IT'S RIDICULOUS!

In most home installations, just tape down two rows of tiles criss-crossing the centre of the room. All other tiles can lie loose. No adhesive required! Work from the centre to the walls, placing each tile firmly against the other. (If desired, tiles can be installed with Ozite adhesive.) To skirt pipes and corners, simply cut tiles with knife or scissors. If you move, you'll will install broadloom or tile in larger rooms.

WASH OFF SPILLS!

Ozite Carpet Tiles are made with stain-resistant Vectra fiber. To clean most spills, just pick up the tile and wash it off! This is the same amazingly durable carpet as Ozite Outdoor-Indoor Carpet . . . but now in 12-inch squares, with built-in rubber backing for indoors. Colorfast. Dense, firm surface resists soiling, is not affected by mildew.

JUST VACUUM CLEAN!

Throw out your floor wax. Put your buffer in storage. Simple vacuuming keeps Ozite Carpet Tiles fresh and new. It's the best floor covering idea since outdoor-indoor carpet. And we invented that, too! Where will you use Ozite Carpet Tiles made with Vectra fibre? Use your imagination! 93c square foot, at Wray's

WRAY'S ARE STILL STOCKING AND INSTALLING THE REGULAR OZITE CARPETING WITHOUT FOAM BACKING AS USED SO SUCCESSFULLY AT EXPO. LOWEST PRICES FOR LONGEST WEAR. USE INDOORS OR OUTDOORS.

Trudeau Confers With Leadership Opponents on Cabinet Posts

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Trudeau called in some of his cabinet opponents in the leadership campaign for separate cabinet-making talks Tuesday. A major shuffle may result.

In the swirl of speculation around the conversations, it appeared that Robert Winters, who quit as trade minister prior to last week's leadership convention, will likely return to the cabinet in the Trudeau administration.

The future is less certain for External Affairs Minister Martin. Mr. Trudeau indicated following his Saturday victory at the Liberal leadership convention that changes in foreign policy are in the offing.

It could be that Mr. Trudeau will want a new man to carry them out. On the other hand; a change in policy does not necessarily mean a change in minister. But there is some possibility Mr. Martin will leave the cabinet altogether.

Besides Mr. Martin and Mr. Winters, Mr. Trudeau also saw Transport Minister Hellyer and Finance Minister Sharp, who withdrew from the leadership race in favor of Mr. Trudeau on the eve of the convention.

The remaining cabinet leadership visitor was Health Minister MacEachen. Agriculture Minister Greene was on a Florida vacation. Consumer Affairs Minister Turner was out of town.

Before he steps down as prime minister in favor of Mr. Trudeau in two weeks or so, Lester Pearson may make some appointments of his own to complete obligations before leaving office. One or more ministers in his cabinet could be involved.

Solicitor-General Pennell is reported on the way to the Ontario Supreme Court as a judge. Fisheries Minister Robichaud could go to the Senate.

Some of the members of Parliament who helped Mr. Trudeau win the leadership might get into the Trudeau cabinet, which won't be announced until after he formally takes over from Mr. Pearson.

Another Trudeau backer from Toronto, James Walker, York Centre, could make it.

The cabinet could be in for a major shuffle, particularly if Mr. Martin departs. There's Mr. Trudeau's own portfolio, justice, to fill. And State Secretary LaMarsh, an friend of Mr. Trudeau's, is expected to quit any day.

There's a possibility that Mr. Greene might be shifted to solicitor-general to replace Mr. Pennell, A. H. Olson, MP for Medicine Hat, could get agriculture in this case.

The outgoing president is in line for a new political appointment of an unknown nature. It could be a newly-created post to organize the party for the next general election expected either this year or next.

Mr. Trudeau has indicated that all the cabinet aspirants for the leadership will be asked to stay.

A&P

Did You Ever Think of Getting Your Easter Bonnet From A&P?

We don't sell Easter bonnets but... we suspect many an Easter hat has been paid for with money saved by shopping A&P.

Are we implying that A&P has the lowest prices on all items all the time?
No!
There is no store that can make that claim.

What we are saying is:
if you're interested in your total food bill,
if you're looking for the best values for your food dollar, A&P is the store for you.

It's a little late for this year's Easter bonnet, but start shopping A&P this week, anyway.

It won't be long before somebody in the house will need a new pair of shoes.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

More Here Than Meets Eye

Dr. B. M. Wright of the National Institute for Medical Research in London shows off spectacles he designed that can be adjusted for focal length. The glasses have hollow lenses, one wall of which is thin and flexible. The hollow is filled with calcium bromide, a liquid with the same light-bending properties as glass. By sliding a piston on the side of the spectacles, the curvature of the flexible wall of the lens is altered. Now people who have two or more pairs of spectacles need only have the one.

Legislature Approves Major Tax Increases

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature put its stamp of approval Tuesday on four bills that mean residents will pay more to smoke, play the horses, drive cars or fly planes.

Second reading—approval in principle—was given to bills providing for tax increases announced March 19 on gasoline, diesel and aviation fuel, parimutuel betting and tobacco.

A procedural wrangle took place before members approved the bill that raised to seven per cent from six the provincial tax on pari-mutuel betting at horse tracks.

Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—High Park) forced a formal vote when he refused to accept a ruling by Speaker Fred Cass that the government was not obligated to say how the new revenue would be distributed.

The Speaker's ruling was upheld by 56 Conservatives and opposed by 36 members—21 Liberals and 15 New Democrats.

In other legislature business Tuesday:

—John Yaremko, social and family services minister, announced approval of a more generous needs test under which low-income families may qualify for government subsidization of day nursery care for their children.

—Transport Minister Irwin Haskett said the government has been assured by dealers importing foreign cars that there will be no "dumping" of cars not meeting safety standards in Canada.

—Two New Democratic Party members—Pat Lawlor (Lakeshore) and Dr. Shulman—criticized the release on parole last month of Toronto stock promoter Viola MacMillan.

Mrs. MacMillan was paroled after serving seven weeks of a nine-month indeterminate sentence for wash trading in shares of Consolidated Golden Arrow Mines Ltd. Wash trading is a term used to describe fraudulent manipulation of the stock market by buying and selling stock for the same account with the intention of creating a false impression of activity in that market.

—Lands and Forests Minister Rene Brunelle announced cabinet approval of plans for a week-long tour of northwestern Ontario by members of the legislature next September.

Some Judges, Doctors Rapped in Committee

TORONTO (CP) — The legal bills committee of the Ontario legislature was told Tuesday there are judges whose major interest is expediency, doctors who are "capricious" and lawyers who obstruct courts to further their cases.

The accusations came out as the committee considered amendments to the Evidence Act designed to lower the costs of litigation and speed the work of the courts in civil injury cases.

There are "some judges on the Supreme Court bench whose primary interest is expediency," said Benjamin Levinter, a Toronto lawyer who specializes in injury litigation and who is a member of the Medical-Legal Society, a group of 500 Toronto doctors and lawyers.

Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) suggested the amendments being considered were designed for the assistance of those doctors who "are capricious individuals without a social conscience" and who resist attempts to provide courts with adequate medical evidence.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart, commenting on objections to a proposal that a judge should decide whether to accept a medical report without calling the doctor in cross-examination, suggested the purpose was to prevent lawyers from obstructing the courts.

Representatives of the Medical-Legal Society and the Advocates Society, 500 trial lawyers who specialize in litigation, were present to oppose the amendments in the form given to the committee.

N. S. Joins Medicare In 1969

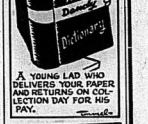
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nova Scotia will join the national medical care insurance program—but not on the July 1 starting date set by the federal government.

The legislature gave unanimous approval in principle Tuesday to a bill providing for the plan to start April 1, 1969.

G. H. Fitzgerald (PC — Halifax Cobequid), chairman of the legislature's health and welfare committee which studied a report on the plan, told the house that if the province cast aside all reasonable and prudent financial considerations and joined the plan July 1 this year, it would have to spend money without authority.

Health Minister R. A. Donahoe said "it would be the height of folly" for the province to enter the program July 1.



In other legislatures sitting Tuesday:

Edmonton — Alberta Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said the federal combines board is "doing absolutely nothing" about high automobile insurance premiums.

He said there is "ample evidence in my view, but apparently not in theirs" to justify an investigation of insurance rates.

Regina — An Opposition attempt to obtain details of agreements under which the government sold a portion of the natural rights in its Hatton field proved futile in the Saskatchewan legislature. Three motions by A. E. Blakeney (NDP—Regina Centre) seeking details of agreements between Saskatchewan Power Corp and North Canadian Oils Ltd. were ruled out of order by Speaker J. E. Sneider.

Winnipeg — A resolution calling for the use of breath testing devices to check drinking drivers was introduced in the Manitoba legislature by Steve Patrick (L—Assiniboia).

Point Petre Light Now in Operation

Prince Edward's only manned lighthouse, the new tower guarding the dangerous shoals at Point Petre, is now in operation. In the shack is emergency diesel equipment to operate the fog-horn and to provide radio signals. Two men provide supervision and maintenance.

High School Principals Ask For $641,765

Principals of the five secondary schools in the Bay of Quinte High School system have requested changes, renovations and additions to schools costing an estimated $641,765.

But members of the board's property and supply committee are faced with the impossible task of making the requests fit the budget.

Principal Linton Read of Moira Secondary topped the list with his request that $393,156 be included in the board's budget for changes and additions in the school.

His proposals included $200,000 to enlarge the present library, $60,000 for an agriculture laborotory and greenhouse, and $60,000 to enlarge the school's music room. Another $60,000 would be used to expand the guidance department.

At Quinte Secondary, principal John Hayman wants a $35,000 addition to the audio visual room and a $12,000 greenhouse addition. A $10,000 amount has also been requested for a track — but the students are expected to provide about one-half the cost of the project.

Other improvements included changes in gymnasium lighting totalling $4,000 and an upgrading of fluorescent fixtures in the shops costing about $5,500.

The present fixtures are noisy after they have been operating for several hours, according to Mr. Hayman, and it becomes difficult to teach the students. Apparently the proper lighting wasn't installed when the school was constructed.

Quinte requested a total of $84,400.

Requests from Belleville Collegiate amounted to $73,598. Major items in the listing included new boilers and internal incinerators costing $35,000 and another $13,000 to replace the present public address system and wire the school for television.

An estimated $12,000 would be used to remodel two home economics rooms.

Catholic Secondary School is requesting a total of $8,210. An agriculture building and incinerator would cost about $5,000 of this amount.

At Centre Hastings High School in Madoc the principal is requesting $82,400 although a major part of this would be included in a school expansion which is being designed at the present time.

The expansion, which will double the size of the Madoc school, is expected to cost $2,300,000.

A $12,000 amount has been included to provide space for an increased enrolment at Centre Hastings next fall.

Members of the board's property and supply committee will visit all the schools and talk with the principals before they meet to cut down the requests.

Last night the committee visited Quinte and Moira Secondary Schools.

Among the items expected to be deleted from the budget requests include the library, music room and guidance department additions at Moira Secondary, the audio visual room addition at Quinte, and various other changes.

Committee chairman Douglas MacLean said last night that his group will set up a list of priorities and then start to pare down the requests.

Once this job is completed a report will be presented to the Bay of Quinte Board.

Tatham Co. Low Bidder

The Tatham Company Ltd. is the low bidder in the city's tender call for the installation of storm sewers on West Bridge Street.

The Tatham bid at just over $93,000 will be recommended for acceptance by city council.

The firms' tenders on the sewer installation job to be done before Bridge street is reconstructed between the lower bridge and Highland Ave. The other two bidders were Lightfoot Construction and Trivadian Developments Ltd. of Agincourt.

Included in the sewer installation project is an outlet along James and Dundas streets to the Moira River.

The low bid was approximately 15 per cent higher than the city engineer's estimate and will have to be approved by the Ontario Department of Highways which under its connecting link program will heavily subsidize the street reconstruction cost.

Ameliasburg Council Agrees to Cut $12,000 From Township's 1968 Road Budget

AMELIASBURG — Steps taken by council meeting here Tuesday night confirmed earlier indications the elected officials of the township would check rein the trend to increase spending on roads in compliance with a request by the Department of Highways.

Reeve George Cunningham referred to the action as one of the ways council sought to maintain the mill rate when taxes were inclined to climb upwards regardless of careful budgeting.

The amount approved for the upkeep of township roads this year is $50,000 some $12,000 lower than last year's budget covered.

Part of the appropriation for road maintenance this year included an estimate for 15,000 cubic yards of gravel the cost of which could run as high as $24,000 depending on the tender accepted by council. Instead, however, council last night returned bids to crush and deliver the gravel on a motion of non-acceptance proposed by councillor Arnold Wetherall and seconded by councillor Norman Post.

Council's alternative plan calls for grading and applications of calcium until fall when the spreading of gravel on the roads will be again considered.

Council also reassessed the urgency for repairs to the aging narrow cement road between Onderdonk's Hill and the Bryant sideroad. Temporary improvement to be made this year at a minimum expense is considered preparatory to recommended re-surfacing of the one and two tenth mile long strip for an estimated five figure outlay.

In another move aimed at keeping spending in line council accepted recommendations of a consulting engineer and an engineer with the DOH to replace a worn out bridge on the Carrrike sideroad with a division road at a considerable saving.

Council received a report on the progress of a petition to measure the reaction of residents of a voting age with regard to a proposal Ameliasburg students change high schools from Belleville to Picton. Signatures from eligible voters obtained so far amounts to 95 per cent of the 2,738 total. The mass protest on paper is to be presented to Education Minister William Davis when representatives of council and the township area school board met with him for discussion of the matter as arranged earlier.

In reporting progress on the joint province-township museum project, museum board chairman Harry Bisdee advised council the building was ready for the painters to move in.

Bills be submitted for payment brought to $2,834.21 the expenditures on construction necessary to convert the former village United Church to a suitable centre to preserve and display township historical mementos. Chairman Bisdee said the board had made plans to open the museum to the public officially the first week in July.

"To Vimy: Cheers!"

51 Years After

Vimy Veterans Recall Battle at Banquet

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Exactly fifty one years ago tonight they were reading all about it in their Belleville newspapers.

Last night they were all talking about it at the Legion Hall.

It was Vimy night, and once more a handful of surviving veterans were taking the salute for the day they helped create history.

The battle of Vimy Ridge was a turning point — not only for World War I but Canada.

It was the first big war operation planned and executed by Canadians alone. Its success showed Canadians they could be equal to history, stimulated confidence in Canada as an independent nation.

Not that any of the participants appreciated such significance.

"All we knew was what was going on in our own section," recalls Roy Madden, 69, who joined the 21st Battalion at Belleville. "Before the offensive came off we had rehearsed it for months."

"The preparation really was something," adds Herb Willerton, who was 21 then."

It was preceded by an awesome 10 - day artillery barrage.

"The artillery told us never to worry about the German guns. They'd knock out 80 per cent of them — and they did."

EMENDOUS SUCCESS GAINED BY THE BRITISH AND CANADIANS ON WEST FRONT

However, the bombardment didn't render the enemy helpless.

"It was terrible going," remembers Herb.

It happened a bare 40 minutes after the assault was thrown against the German positions.

"I just got past the first line of trenches and a bullet went through my right leg," says Norm.

Still, he remembers some of the enemy were caught unawares in their dugouts.

"We got some of them still at breakfast," agreed Herb Willerton. "When we got into their dugouts there were still hot meals there."

"Some of those dugouts were fantastic. In one, I went down three flights of stairs."

The reason for such front-line sophistication, points out Roy Madden was that the enemy believed himself invincible.

"He felt Vimy was impregnable. The British had tried it, the French had tried it, and they couldn't get him off."

The Canadian feat of arms was planned by General Arthur Currie, a man who never received full credit at the time, the three veterans agree.

"He was only an amateur soldier, but if the British army had only had two or three Currie's . . ." says Herb.

The battle, recalled Roy, advanced the Western Front 10,000 yards, each yard costing a Canadian casualty. It broke the stalemate of more than two years trench warfare, cracking enemy morale.

Their rations were requisitioned to feed a horde of prisoners.

At one point they were down to 12 men on a loaf, three to a can of bully beef.

Water also was scarce, and thereby hangs one Vimy incident still clear in Herb Willerton's mind.

"We were all pretty thirsty until we got relieved," he recalls. "Coming back at night we came to a shell hole full of water. The stars gave it a clear, reflected glow and it looked oh so nice. We all drank deep then filled our water bottles."

Next morning the line cook was looking for water. Norm helpfully led him back to the shell crater and gazed on it in daylight for the first time.

"There were three dead German soldiers down in the bottom of it."

Another veteran of World War I summed up the fight for the Legion banquet last night.

"It was quite a job to pull off," said Norman Bean as he publicly responded to the traditional Vimy toast. "But we joined hands and showed them what we Canadians could do."

Would you like to see Belleville's all-Ontario peewee hockey champions in action?

Would you like to see these miniature Gordie Howes, Bobby Hulls, Stan Mikitas and Jean Beliveaus display the form that swept them to the highest honors in the province?

Would you like to see the Smith Twin in their first appearance — and likely the last this year — cross their championship rapiers with some of the finest clutches of pint-size puck wrriters in the eastern part of Canada?

Would you like to see the thrilling happy faces of crippled and retarded children glow with excitement as they watch their more fortunate counterparts perform for their well-being?

Then do not miss, by any means, the Shrine Peewee Hockey Tournament slated for Friday and Saturday of this week.

Shrine president Bill Stewart and "The Gentlemen of the Red Fezzes" in co-operation with the Belleville Minor Hockey Association have been bringing this top tournament of the year to the city for the past few years. And they have done and are doing a magnificent job.

They have brought the cream of the district's peewee hockey crop here to vie for the Harry Rollins Trophy and the Shrine Club Trophy. It has always been fast exciting closely-fought hockey and this year will be no exception.

There will be eleven teams here besides the Fuel champions and each and every one of them will go all out in an attempt to defeat the title-holders although nothing but the honor and glory will be at stake.

By the same token the Fuels will attempt to crown an exceptional season by taking the Shrine Tournament in their post-season stride.

The tournament gets under way Friday morning at ten o'clock with Trenton meeting Belleville Fuels in the opener. Napanee takes on Kingston at 11.15 with Peterborough meeting West-Hill at 12.30 p.m.

Oakville tangles with Whitby at 1.45 and at three o'clock Oshawa and Cobourg will have at it. Toronto Christy's and Richmond Hill go at 4.15.

At 5.30 the winners of the first two games meet each other and at 7.30 the winners of the third and fourth games go at it. Playoffs will take place on Saturday with the winners of the "A" (Rollins Trophy) and "B" (Shrine Trophy) being declared in the early evening.

I understand the one and only Bep Guidolin of McFarland's fame, will be here as guest referee.

It should be the greatest festival of "Peewee on Parade" seen here since the inception of the tournament.

A large number of crippled kiddies and retarded children will be the special guests of the Shriners and the red fezzes will be bobbing all over the arena keeping watchful eyes on their young charges.

The Belleville Minor Hockey Association under president Tom Neill is looking after the tournament arrangements and at this writing have everything well in hand.

You may or may not be a hockey fan but you will never be so fall as when you stoop to help a child.

Hockey fan or not, you'll get your reward at the sight of the shining eyes of these less fortunate kiddies as they watch the peewees flash up and down the ice. You are not buying a ticket to a hockey tournament. Your money is an investment in the health of young children. Look at it that way then go out and buy yourself a book of tickets. It will be a dollar well spent.

And all of it will go to the Shrine Club's Crippled Children Fund. How about it?

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. — John Hayes, 48-year-old harness horse trainer from Oshawa, was admitted to Milton General Hospital Wednesday with fractures to his lower back and right wrist following a training accident at Mohawk raceway here. Several other drivers were involved in the mishap when one horse in a closely-bunched group racing in a qualification event went down.

Habs Three Up; Hawks Two Down

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks have their backs to the wall in National Hockey League playoffs and no one is happier than Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers.

Canadiens whipped Bruins for the third straight time while Rangers dumped Hawks for the second time in a row Tuesday night in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarter-finals.

"We had lots of chances, but the name of the game is making them count," said Boston coach Harry Sinden after his Bruins absorbed a 5-2 defeat at the hands of the Eastern Division champions. New York dumped Chicago 3-1.

For 10 minutes of the first period it looked as though the hard-hitting Bruins had finally come up with the secret to beating Canadiens, but then Jean Beliveau tied it 1-1 on a power-play late in the period.

Claude Provost took advantage of another Boston penalty to start the second period and the Canadiens had the range again.

Before they finished, linemates Provost, Ralph Backstrom and John Ferguson had scored three second-period goals for Montreal with Dick Duff frosting the cake in the third.

In New York, Chicago coach Billy Reay served up a double dose of Bobby Hull and got no goal in the second period. But even moving Hull to centre couldn't counter-act a first-period goal by Rod Gilbert and a third-period score by Don Marshall for Rangers.

Hull, leading scorer in the regular season with 44 goals, was officially clocked as having played 30 minutes and 18 seconds of the game, including the last six minutes without letup, although Reay said he had him on the ice 39 minutes and New York manager-coach Emile Francis said it "seemed like 45 to me."

The next game in each series will be played Thursday with Montreal back in Boston and New York at Chicago.

Reay is convinced, despite the uphill fight facing his team, that they will be back in New York for the fifth game of the series next week with the series all tied up after two games in Chicago.

Francis agreed that Chicago played "one hell of a hockey game" Tuesday, but suggested that they knew they had to win at least one game in New York to take the series.

After all his work, dogged first by Ron Stewart and then by Jean Ratelle, Hull said: "I got a little tired at the end. I've played as much in a game before, but never like this."

A significant factor in the game was the number of new players on the Chicago roster, including Matt Ravlich, one of six defencemen used by Reay.

Ravlich was one of the bright Chicago prospects until March 28, 197, when he suffered a broken leg that threatened to keep him out of hockey permanently. But he's played his way back with Dallas of the Central League.

While Hull was the talk of New York, Montreal goalie Lorne Worsley was the big topic of conversation in Boston after holding Bruins to a single goal in the first period when they were threatening to run Canadiens out of Boston Garden.

"I thought Bru stops in the first period were the turning point," observed coach Toe Blake.

"Gump kept us in there tonight.

"If he'd faltered then.. we'd have been in a lot of trouble."

Sinden agreed, saying Worsley "looked real good out there," but said he felt the Boston problem was that they quit hitting Canadiens midway through the period, letting them organize their vaunted free-wheeling style of play.

Chuvalo Rejects Felstein

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo says Bob (Pretty Boy) Felstein of Toronto has missed his chance to fight for the title.

"Felstein says he's not interested in fighting me now and I'm not going to wait around," the Toronto fighter said Tuesday while discussing a proposed championship bout in Regina against an unidentified opponent.

Chuvalo signed a contract more than a month ago to put his title on the line April 29 against Felstein.

"But that contract wasn't worth the paper it was written on," said Merv McKenzie, the Ontario athletic commissioner. McKenzie explained that the contract had been signed at a news conference without naming a site or a promoter.

Casper Second In Loot Line

Casper's official earnings jumped to $50,819 and increased his total for the year to $68,762.

Osbare in the top 10 and their official and total winnings were:

George Archer, $44,704, $47,-547; George Knudson of Toronto, $44,027, $50,655; Al Geiberger, $39,345, $40,278; Tony Jacklin, $36,720, $39,020; Dave Marr, $36,171, $39,409; Kermit Zarley, $28,639, $32,393; Dan Sikes, $28,639, $29,960.

"And Away They Go!"

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals World Series line-up should be intact for their belated baseball opener tonight, but Los Angeles Dodgers will be starting a 1968 comeback drive without manager Walter Alston.

Atlanta Braves take on the world champion Cardinals at St. Louis, Philadelphia Phillies visit Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates play Astros at Houston in night games, completing a full season-opening slate after two days of postponements.

In National League daytime inaugurals—deferred until this afternoon in respect to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King—New York Mets were at San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati Reds.

Boston Red Sox were at Detroit Tigers, Cleveland Indians at Chicago White Sox, Oakland Athletics at Baltimore Orioles and California Angels at New York Yankees in other American League openers.

Roger Maris' recovery from a groin injury has virtually assured Cardinals of beginning the season with the same cast that took the final game of the 1967 Series from Boston.

He's expected to be missing from the dugout for the first three weeks of his 19th season as Dodgers' skipper.

Coaches Jim Gilliam, Preston Gomez, Danny Ozark and Lefty Phillips will direct the club in Alston's absence.

Dodgers, who reset their opener from Tuesday night after Philadelphia announced it would forfeit the game rather than play on the date of Dr. King's funeral, will send Claude Osteen against Chris Short in a duel of southpaw pitchers.

Pirates, whose pennant prospects were brightened considerably by the acquisition of veteran Jim Bunning, have named the slim right-hander to pitch in the Astrodome opener. Larry Dierker, one of the Astros' strong-armed youngsters, will be Bunning's mound opponent.

The Senators-Twins opener pitted Camilo Pascual against Dean Chance of Minnesota in a right-handers' battle.

"Now Pitching For?"

Globetrotter May Purchase Oakland Seals

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — One of three men who own the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team says his group is negotiating to buy the financially troubled Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League.

"My partners currently have an interest in the Oakland Seals, and the Seals have had a difficult time this year," George Gillette of Racine, Wis., said Tuesday night.

His partners are John O'Neal and Potter Palmer.

"We are deeply interested in professional sports. We think the Bay area has a great future, and we love the National Hockey League," Gillett said.

He said Palmer is in Oakland working on the deal.

COOL THIEVES

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Workers at General Motors Corp.'s truck and coach division watched as $27,500 in parts were loaded aboard a truck. They later learned they had been witnesses to a theft. Police found the truck abandoned and empty and informed company officials, who were unaware of the incident.

Humphrey To Open Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey, substitute for all seasons, was expected as starting pitcher today for the belated opening of the 1968 baseball campaign.

Twins have waited six months to try to snap the three-game losing streak that cost them the American League pennant on the final day of the 1967 season.

It has been six years since the Senators won an opener.

The White House remained silent Tuesday on whether Johnson would attend, but the president, confronted with racial problems and Vietnam peace probes, was expected to pass up the game.

All Quiet On The Masters Front!

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A sombre, restrained air surrounds the opening of the 32nd Masters Golf Tournament Thursday, with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, as usual, ranking favorites.

Neither of the giants of the game was especially pleased with his game, however, while defending champion Gay Brewer was downright dismayed.

"I just can't putt," said Brewer, who hasn't won since taking the 1967 title. "The rest of my game is good enough, I suppose, but I just can't sink a putt. I can't seem to get my mind on it."

Palmer and Nicklaus had their chronic complaints. Palmer said he couldn't putt, Nicklaus said he couldn't drive.

Despite their troubles, they've won seven of the last 10 Masters, and easily rank as the men to beat in the relatively small field of 76 of the world's best.

But even their magic presence on the Augusta National Course Tuesday—both were late arrivals—failed to generate the excitement usually connected with this, the first of the world's four major tournaments.

The crowds for the practice rounds were small and subdued. Palmer walked through a crowd unnoticed when he first reached the course.

Both Palmer and Nicklaus admittedly are pointing for this Masters. Each feels he needs it.

Nicklaus, the 210-pound Ohio strongboy who has won all the world's major titles, practically owned the Masters crown until he fell apart last year and failed to make the cut. He had won three of the four previous Masters and set the scoring record.

"I've won my share of tournaments, but I haven't won one of the big ones—the Masters, British or U.S. Opens or the PGA—since the 1964 Masters.

Among the other favorites are Billy Casper, winner of the Greensboro Open, Doug Sanders, and England's Tony Jacklin, who won the Jacksonville Open.

Other top threats are British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, always-dangerous Gary Player of South Africa, and George Knudson of Canada, winner of two winter tournaments.

American League

Reds Dethrone Kings!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a short stand for Springfield Kings in the American Hockey League playoffs and a dismal finish to a season.

The Kings went out in three straight games, losing the last one 2-1 to Providence Reds on Tuesday, in their best-of-five quarter-final.

The Reds now must wait for a decision between Quebec Aces and Buffalo Bisons in a similar series.

The Aces and the Bisons put on a real show for 5,066 Buffalo fans Tuesday, setting a record for the most goals scored in one AHL playoff game as the Bisons upset the Aces 10-7.

The record was 14 set when Buffalo whipped Cleveland Barons 12-2 April 6, 1944.

The Buffalo victory saved them from elimination since the Aces had taken the first two games of the series, which continues in Buffalo tonight and back in Quebec Friday, if necessary.

Quinte Hockey League

Stars Capture Crown!

Perhaps the Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks should send immediately for a copy of the Belleville Aluminum Stars' playoff script.

Both NHL clubs are winless and facing playoff elimination just as the Stars were the last week in March.

But today the Aluminum Stars are wearing the crown of Quinte Hockey League 1967-'68 champions.

The victory gave the Paul Zakos - coached Stars the titular series four games to two. After losing the first two games in rather easy manner, the Stars scored, 2-1, 4-0, 7-2 and finally the 2-0 win to cop the honors. Once they began the victory march, Stinson's were unable to call a halt.

Stinson's gave it a good shot last night as the clubs fought through a scoreless first half.

Bill Rushlow sank the insurance marker, with Zakos again assisting, while the Stars' goalie Bob Cook turned back the best Stinson's could muster to earn his second shutout of the series.

Retta Scores Upset With "Magic Lady"

CAMPBELLVILLE (CP) — Retta Herrington eked out an upset victory with her Magic Lady Lou in the fifth race at Mohawk Raceway Tuesday night.

New Approaches to Teaching Grade 13 Are Discussed

NAPANEE — Napanee District Secondary School was host on Saturday to about 200 grade 13 teachers, who met to discuss new approaches to teaching grade 13 subjects and other matters of mutual interest and concern. Teachers came from 24 schools from Brighton, Madoc, Sharbot Lake and Gananoque.

C. B. Christie of East Northumberland Secondary School, Brighton, and the president of district 22, O.S.S.T.F., and Bruce Medd, vice-principal at N.D.S.S. welcomed the visiting teachers to the conference.

The morning session began with addresses by Mr. A. Morris, executive treasurer of the O.S.S.T.F., and vice-principal of Monarch Secondary School in Tormin; and J. J. Compton, a member of the Ontario Secondary Education Commission, and principal of the Geral Vanier Secondary School in Cornwall.

The teachers participated in seminars and discussed aspects of their respective subjects. Ten subject fields were represented: biology, chemistry, classics, English, geography, guidance, history, mathematics, modern languages and physics.

After lunch the teachers listened to a panel of three Kingston students present their views about grade 13.

The program was sponsored by the Ontario Secondary Education Commission, an arm of the O.S.S.T.F. and was organized by J. G. Wright, chairman and J. A. Egan of the N.D.S.S.; G. V. Gibson of Kingston and C. M. Irwin and G. Super of Belleville.

Canadian Film Makers Vying for Oscar Awards

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (CP-AP) — Seventeen of the 20 acting nominees are expected to be present tonight for the 40th annual presentation of the Academy Awards, a show where Canadian film-makers are vying strongly for honors.

Only Katherine Hepburn, Paul Newman and the late Spencer Tracy will be missing.

Tracy, nominated a record nine times for best actor, would be the first to win an Oscar posthumously should he be picked over four others.

The annual event of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which draws a glittering crowd of stars, was postponed Monday night for the first time in its long history in respect to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The show will be telecast on ABC at 10 p.m. EST with Bob Hope as master of ceremonies for the 14th time.

The Academy says the representation of Canadian films nominated is believed to be the biggest in its history, although it keeps no record of such.

Three Canadians and an expatriate director have been nominated for Oscars. One film has two nominations.

The Canadian nominees:

Directing—Norman Jewison for In the Heat of the Night.

Documentary production, short subjects—A Place to Stand, Ontario's film at Expo.

Short subjects, live action—A Place to Stand; and Paddle to The Sea, by the National Film Board.

Cartoons—What on Earth! by the National Film Board.

For an additional Canadian flavor, La Guerre est Finie, a French film that starred darkeyed Geneviève Bujold of Montreal with Yves Montand, has been nominated for best story and screenplay written directly for the screen.

Jewison, 42-year-old Canadian who once drove a Toronto taxi and was formerly a television director with the CBC, directed the film in which Sydney Poitier played a Philadelphia detective investigating a murder in the contemporary southern United States.

The major nomidees:

Best picture—Bonnie and Clyde, Dr. Doolittle, The Graduate, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, In the Heat of the Night.

Best actor—Warren Beatty, Bonnie and Clyde; Dustin Hoffman, The Graduate; Paul Newman, Cool Hand Luke; Rod Steiger, In the Heat of the Night; Spencer Tracy, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.

Best actress—Anne Bancroft, The Graduate; Faye Dunaway, Bonnie and Clyde; Dame Edith Evans, The Whisperers; Audrey Hepburn, Wait Until Dark; Katherine Hepburn, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.

Best supporting actor—Gene Hackman and Michael J. Pollard, Bonnie and Clyde; John Cassavetes, The Dirty Dozen; Cecil Kellaway, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; George Kennedy, Cool Hand Luke.

Best supporting actress—Carol Channing, Thoroughly Modern Millie; Mildred Natwick, Barefoot in the Park; Estelle Parsons, Bonnie and Clyde; Beah Richards, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; Katharine Ross, The Graduate.

Best director—Arthur Penn, Bonnie and Clyde; Mike Nichols, The Graduate; Stanley Kramer, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; Richard Brooks, In Cold Blood; and Jewison, In the Heat of the Night.

To Your Good Health

Today's Anesthetics Safe for Elderly

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain what a vaginal repair is. Is it the same as rectocele?

— Mrs. E. M.

Dear Doctor: I am 67 and have what the doctor called a mild rectocele. He told me it will never interfere with my general health but will tend to become larger as time goes on.

I hate to go into my old age with something like this, but wonder if I am too old to have minor surgery done. I am in pretty good health but am nervous about taking a general anesthetic. Should I have it taken care of? — Mrs. M. M.

I have a good many questions from women on these topics and perhaps we can clear up some of the confusion.

A vaginal repair is an operation to correct sagging or stretching tissues in the vaginal area. In most cases this is relatively simple and not to be unduly dreaded. Different areas, of course, may be involved.

If the bladder, which is adjacent to the vagina, sags, we call this condition cystocele. If the back wall of the vaginal canal is weak (where it is adjacent to the lower colon) we call it rectocele.

Sometimes there is enough discomfort to cause so the physician can be quite specific about stating the need for surgery.

In other cases — like Mrs. M. M.'s — it comes down to a matter of the likelihood of future trouble. I would rather use the expression "may get larger" instead of "will get larger" in many of these cases.

A really mild rectocele which is not at present showing signs of getting worse at the age of 67 very likely will not become much worse in the following years. The question is whether it is interfering with bowel action or causing any vaginal discomfort.

In this particular instance, I am more concerned over Mrs. M. M.'s anxiety about anesthesia than I am over the future of the rectocele. I don't like people to be unduly worried over such things — for these days a person of 67 and in reasonably good health has no cause to be alarmed over anesthesia. The improvement in anesthetics and techniques has, for the average person in the 60s and 70s and even older, eliminated nearly all of the terror that used to exist.

An added word about cystocele. If the tissues have sagged enough so the bladder spills puddles of urine and an complete discharge of it, that situation is an invitation to infection, and bladder (and kidney) infections can be stubborn and annoying.

Therefore, the physician has considerable reason to be more outspoken in urging repair of cystocele. Whether you call it a "vaginal repair" or a "bladder repair" is a rather finicky argument, since in most cases some readjustment of both structures is involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that wearing amber beads will relieve nervousness, thyroid, which is mostly substernal. Do you know of any other cure? — Mrs. E. B.

The amber beads fable is nonsense. There are several effective treatments for enlarged thyroid, sometimes surgery, sometimes one of the various medical treatments. Your doctor after examination can determine which type of treatment is best for your particular case.

Dear Dr. Molner: What would cause red lumps, like pimples, some large, some small, no pus, on the back part of the tongue down into the throat? — Mrs. B.

They don't sound like pimples to me. The likely answer is that they are enlarged papillae. The surface of the tongue is made up of these tiny bottes, or papillae. At the back of the tongue they may not be as close together, and thus look more like "a pimple."

Irritation (as from smoking a common cause) may cause individual ones to enlarge.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Rangers, Flyers Tie

KITCHENER (CP) — A goal by defenceman John Barber at 12:29 of the third period enabled Kitchener Rangers to tie Niagara Falls Flyers 6-6 Tuesday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven series will be played Thursday in Niagara Falls.

Gary Swain paced Niagara Falls with four goals and two assists. Don Bradley and Tom Webster scored the other Flyer goals.

Jack Egers scored twice for Kitchener, Mike Robitaille, Danny Seguin and Don Luce had one each.

Niagara Falls led 1-0 after the first period and 4-2 after the second. The Rangers struggled from behind in the third period until Barber connected on a floating screen shot.

The Rangers poured 18 shots on Flyer goaltender Phil Myre in the third period and outshot Niagara Falls 42-29 overall.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 11

Your birthday today: The year ahead is full of fundamental questions; new frontiers, new calls to serve. Much of your year's work is imposed by environment and cannot be changed by personal effort. There are two reserves of strength available for coping with the pressures: physical vitality in the young, awakening psychic perception in the mature. Today's natives often drift into the difficult spots that more prudent people avoid.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Ask yourself the question today: what am I doing here? Then use your ingenuity for all it's worth to get your work up to your standards.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Do not express your dissatisfaction with things as they are. Be tactful but steadily insistent on what you want. Quit at quitting time to avoid excess fatigue.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Today your work is likely to seem tedious, but it will be twice as boring if you put it off. Changing aspects will bring you other things more fun to do — in due time. Entertain a few old friends tonight.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): If you will assume nobody has heard of your escapades, y o may find that little came to notice. Take care of your responsibilities promptly. Pursue romance this evening, discreetly.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Good day to expand business, but be wary of extending credit. Everybody and his cousin has a long, sad story to tell you today. Offer practical advice.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your opinion is much more valuable if you wait until somebody asks for it. Be friendly, but not at the expense of your self-respect. Avoid or postpone any lending or borrowing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Alertness pays off today. You will have a rare opportunity to avoid trouble with the proverbial stitch in time. Indulge your laziness this evening; you will have earned it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): Forthright direction and example your mate. Lead the party tonight, but quit early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your sense of responsibility will keep you hard at it today. Keep it simple to avoid creating conflicts. Tonight is for high spirits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Follow your intuition today in the absence of more realistic guides. The mails may have good news for you. Go someplace you've never been this evening, just to find a new experience.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Be patient with petulant people as needed from you today. Check up on your health program. Do something nice for fellow workers and neighbors; part of the problem may be their misunderstanding of you. Seek a challenging lecture or new book tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): You can get yourself an argument any time with two extra words, but today it's not really worth doing. The mails may be strength for tomorrow.

Czechoslovakia Could Become New Yugoslavia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Staff Writer

What has happened in Czechoslovakia is not a current political and economic revolution may prove to have a much heavier and more lasting impact on European communism than even the Hungarian uprising of 1956.

In contrast to 1956, the Russians seemed relatively powerless to do anything effective in Czechoslovakia. This illuminated the dramatic changes in European communism over the last dozen years.

What probably worries Moscow the most, at a time when communism is beset with divisive influences, is that the Czechoslovak experience will have a snowball effect which could further loosen the ties joining the Warsaw pact nations.

The new Czechoslovak leadership has insisted it intends to retain the country's close ties to Russia but the Prague upheaval already has challenged some of the most sacrosanct of Marxist-Leninist doctrines. If the new regime continues on this course, Czechoslovakia will become another Yugoslavia, Marxist and Communist but tailoring doctrine to suit its own needs.

The events in Czechoslovakia invite comparison with the Hungarian revolution. The sources of the two upheavals were similar, but the differences are all-important. Those differences relieved the Czechoslovaks of the threat of the sort of bloody aftermath in which the Hungarian revolution died.

The Hungarian revolution originated with unrest among students and other intellectuals whose rallying force was the Petofi Circle, named for the 19th century poet-patriot, Sandor Petofi. The thrust was anti-Communist.

The Czechoslovak upheaval, too, had its beginnings with unrest among students and writers. But the thrust was toward reform within the party's structure, for liberalized communism. It was not against the system as such, but against what the party leaders had made of that system.

Both countries reflected Yugoslavia's example. Yugoslavia in 1948 had successfully defied Moscow and its expression of that defiance had undertaken liberalizing economic reforms.

In both cases, too, swelling intellectual unrest in Communist Poland provided a background. In 1956, that unrest exploded into the Poznan riots in which hundreds were killed, wounded and jailed. Twelve years later, Poland again was in ferment, with rising demands for more freedoms.

In 1956, Moscow sent Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov to Poland, an implied threat of intervention. In 1956, Moscow sent Anastas Mikoyan to Budapest to try to take some heat out of the burgeoning revolt by dictating changes at the top of the party.

This time, Moscow was in a poor position to interfere. Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev flew to Prague, apparently to support the tottering Antonin Novotny, the party chief and president, against a move to depose that unreconstructed old-line Stalinist.

The Russians could do little. Novotny was ejected by the party's central committee. He was sustained in the presidency a few weeks, but ultimately was shorn of all influence.

One of the most important differences between 1968 and 1956 was that the Hungarian revolution was an armed uprising. It directly attacked Communist rule. It openly sought to tear Hungary out of the Warsaw pact and the Soviet orbit.

The Czechoslovaks did not have to resort to arms, nor was Czechoslovakia occupied by Soviet troops.

In Hungary, th Russians were in control of the country, its roads, airfields and communications. It was a simple matter to march in and crush the revolution.

In Czechoslovakia, even if they wanted to risk it, the Russians could hardly have their full way short of naked military invasion. There already was too much division in the Communist world for the Russians to make a move which could lead to even more disintegration.

Czechoslovakia's central committee broke away from control of its presidium, and thus could resist even Brezhnev's presence. The central committee ousted Novotny and elevated its own man, 46-year-old Alexander Dubcek, a Slovak whose attitude would be more in tune with a younger and less dogmatic party element, as party chief.

The upheaval does not mean Western - style democracy is imminent. The new regime has placated Moscow somewhat by the appointment of Ludvik Svoboda, a Soviet favorite, as president. But the pressure for economic, political and social reforms is so strong that Moscow in the long run is likely to have no choice but to live with a sort of liberalized Communist rule in Czechoslovakia.

You cannot speak to his parents. His parents are deaf mutes.

Little Jan Znava came off the Air Canada DC-9 jet in the arms of his mother. He was all blue eyes and blue cap and blue woollen coat with six silver buttons down the front.

His father followed them onto the ramp.

Jan Znava, Sr., is 35 years old, a tailor, who has come to seek a life in Winnipeg—work for himself, and a home for his son and for his wife Anna.

They are the first of 50 handicapped families who will come to Canada this year from refugee camps of eastern Europe, the camps filled still with people the world would almost rather forget.

Jan Znava's welcome to Canada, there on the ramp at the airport, was spoken by an immigration department official to an Anglican priest, Rev. Allan Simms of the Winnipeg Church for the Deaf.

Mr. Simma passed the welcome, in the one-hand North American sign language, to Mrs. Jesse Baker who translated it into the two-hands language of Europe.

Mrs. Baker passed the welcome to Mrs. Emily Kakec, a Yugoslavian native, who translated it into Czech signs, which said:

"Welcome to you, Jan Znava. Welcome to you and your family."

Mr. Znava touched his fingers to his lips—"Thank You." Anna, still holding her son close, touched her fingers to her lips.

The federal government, under an agreement with eight provinces, pays for the transportation of the handicapped refugees to Canada. It finds them a place to live and makes sure they have enough money to live on until the father is working.

Five Negroes Killed In Kansas City Riot

Hanoi Suggests Warsaw Talks

HANOI (AFP) — North Vietnam proposed today that Warsaw, Poland, be the venue for preliminary talks with the United States on the halting of air attacks against the North.

Informed sources said that Hanoi sent a reply to the U.S. making this suggestion today after receiving a message from the America.a government rejecting North Vietnam's previous proposal that the meeting be held in Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

The U.S. listed Vientiane, Laos, among alternate sites for the meeting, the sources said.

Hanoi would still prefer to have the meeting take place in Phnom Penh, the sources said, expressing surprise at the U.S. refusal.

Sources here recall that the U.S. government had indicated on several occasions that it was ready to send its representatives anywhere, at any time, to meet with the North Vietnamese.

Quick OK Is Likely

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Diplomatic sources said today the United States probably would give quick approval to Warsaw as the site of preliminary contacts with Hanoi on peace.

Snipers, Guard Fight Gun Duel

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A second straight night of racial violence Wednesday left Kansas City's Negro East Side with a toll of five dead, at least 20 wounded and the rubble of more than 75 fires of incendiary origin.

All the dead are Negroes. They were shot to death, some victims of the intense crossfire that flared at times between Negro snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

They were identified as George E. McKinney, 50; Michael McKinney, 12, believed to be his son; Charles Shugg Martin, 43; Julius Preston Hamilton, 36, and Albert Daniel Miller, 21. Another Negro was slain in Tuesday night's initial outbreak.

Two guardsmen suffered minor gunshot wounds, and a fireman was wounded in the abdomen and underwent surgery. There were more than 60 arrests.

Most of the fires were out by dawn. Some were allowed to burn because of sniper fire. Firemen were pinned down at three locations during the night.

Two of the fires raged out of control and burned themselves out. Police and guardsmen were ordered to shoot fire bombers dead.

The violence resumed around nightfall Wednesday after a day of uneasy calm. During the peak of violence police sealed off about 24 square blocks.

Snipers challenged police and guardsmen from rooftops and cars, shooting and running or driving from vantage point to vantage point. The snipers were countered with tear gas and by strike forces of police riot squads and supporting guardsmen. Other police officers served as rooftop spotters for their riflemen below.

Housing Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of landmark open-housing legislation has won applause from civil rights leaders along with renewed demands for massive federal attacks on shabby housing and unemployment in riot-prone slums.

By a vote of 250 to 171 the House of Representatives passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a civil rights bill to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the country's housing by 1970.

President Johnson said he will sign it into law as soon as possible.

The House action followed by a day the funeral of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose numerous campaigns often focused on open housing.

It also came after a week of widespread racial violence following King's assassination—and it was in that atmosphere that one southerner explained why he voted for the bill.

"I think this bill is symbolic," explained Representative Hale Boggs (Dem. La.). "Either we move ahead as one people or we move toward a police state."

Johnson hailed passage of the bill but also urged Congress to enact the rest of his program, including housing and job programs.

Countrywide Toll Now Stands at 39

From AP-Reuters

Five Negroes died during a second night of racial violence in Kansas City but elsewhere there were only scattered and sporadic incidents as tension eased in troubled U.S. cities.

The deaths raised to 39 the countrywide toll in the wave of rioting and disorders that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. one week ago today.

More than 4,000 have been injured and more than 19,000 arrested in 122 cities hit by rioting since King's death.

A total of 47,000 National Guardsmen remained committed to riot control duty in 15 states and the District of Columbia. There were also 20,000 federal troops in Washington, Chicago and Baltimore.

The U.S. capital passed its first business day without major incidents. It was expected the 14,000 troops would be released soon from patrol duties which already have been reduced.

Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley lifted the curfew for minors which was set Saturday and said the 11,800 federal troops and guardsmen may begin withdrawing from the city soon.

Eleven persons were killed and some 500 injured during two days of violence.

Rusk Declares Hanoi Shows No Restraint

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk said Wednesday the U.S. has seen no sign of the enemy restraint President Johnson set a condition for a complete halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Rusk commented amid reports a total halt was under consideration. But he told reporters the policy set by Johnson March 31 still stood.

Johnson announced then a pause in bombing of major areas of North Vietnam.

Rusk said no final conclusions had been reached on possible limited talks with Hanoi. He noted that North Vietnam has proposed "a very limited purpose" for such talks, restricted to a discussion of the complete suspension of bombing as a preliminary to more inclusive peace efforts.

Rusk declined to view North Vietnam withdrawals from the Khe Sanh area as a de-escalation, suggesting instead these may have been caused by heavy casualties from U.S. bombing, rather than a move to encourage peace talks.

Viet Cong's Evasion Said Due to Losses

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officers said today the Viet Cong's reluctance to battle with massive Southern allied forces combing the provinces around Saigon is due to Viet Cong losses during the Tet offensive.

Despite the sweep by 100,000 soldiers through 11 provinces around the capital, ground and artillery action in Vietnam continued light. The five-nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate foreign relations committee members say a major new offensive against the Viet Cong in South Vietnam threatens chances for peace talks with Hanoi.

The criticism was levelled by Chairman J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) and Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) after a closed committee session Wednesday with State Secretary Dean Rusk.

"The reports of a major new offensive called Operation Total Victory seem to be not quite consistent with a posture seeking talks to de-escalate," said Fulbright.

Savior of Bastogne New Vietnam Chief

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., who punched a hole through German lines in the Battle of the Bulge, has a reputation as an aggressive, hard-nosed boss, intolerant of second-rate performance.

"He won't be content to let the other side hold any initiative at all," says an associate.

President Johnson announced in Washington Wednesday that Abrams, 53, will succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland as commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Abrams, a full general, now is deputy commander. Westmoreland will become army chief of staff early in July.

Abrams, born in Springfield, Mass., graduated from West Point in the 1936 class with Westmoreland.

He earned his reputation for bristling aggressiveness in the Second World War when he commanded one of Gen. George S. Patton's hell-for-leather tank outfits.

In the Battle of the Bulge in the winter of 1944-45, Abrams led a column that broke through the German lines and relieved a U.S. airborne division surrounded at Bastogne.

Abrams speaks with respect for his guerrilla enemy in Vietnam and their "highly sophisticated techniques of war by a thorough integration of political and military methods."

Ontario Will Trust Landlords To Pass Tax Aid on to Tenants

TORONTO (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough admitted Wednesday that landlords and municipalities will have to co-operate if a bill introduced in the Ontario legislature earlier in the day is to be successful.

Mr. McKeough was commenting at a news conference about legislation he introduced that is designed to reduce property taxes on every self-contained dwelling in the province.

The act adopts a recommendation of the Ontario committee on taxation that the province provide a basic shelter exemption to reduce the burden of municipal taxes.

He admitted that tenants with no leases or leases expiring before Dec. 31 have no guarantee that they will be able to share in the basic shelter exemption grant.

The municipal affairs minister said that any landlord could legally raise the rent between now and Dec. 31 and cancel out the $45 to $65 grant that is the Ontario average.

He also said that homeowners —who will get the tax from the municipalities—could lose the intended cash benefit if the municipalities used the provincial exemption grant as a bonanza for new spending.

The grants will be paid to municipalities which will be required to pass the benefit on to tenants.

Mr. McKeough told the news conference that the cabinet is considering regulations that probably would give the landlord the choice of making a lump-sum payment to the tenant or of reducing the rent. The municipality must inform each tenant of the amount of the grant.

He said it will be up to the tenant to make sure he gets this amount in some form from the landlord. If he does not, the tenant can take the landlord to magistrate's court where the

Thurlow Township Zones Area

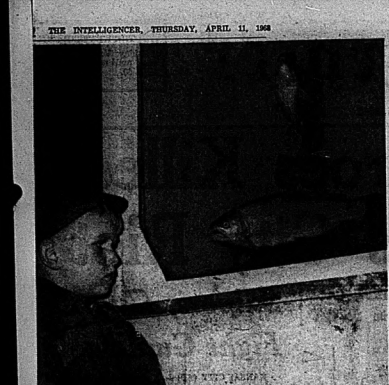
A new zoning bylaw was given first reading by Thurlow council yesterday and was referred to both the Belleville and Suburban Planning Boards as well as the Community Planning Branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs for recommendations.

It became necessary to zone a defined area of the township when commercial and industrial enterprises began to push their way into areas that had already become residential.

This problem area, as defined in the bylaw, will take in an area extending east along Highway 401 from the south-east corner of the Sidney-Thurlow line to the Moira River, then north along the river to just beyond the 4th concession, west in the township boundary again and south down the Sidney-Thurlow boundary to Highway 401, its point of beginning.

The bylaw, although it has only been given approval in principle by council, has already met with some resistance from farmers in the agriculturally area of the zoning plan.

A few of them spoke to council last night and said that they did not want their farms frozen as agricultural land . . . they would consent however, to residential zoning.



The Belleville Planning Board has been asked by Thurlow council to arrange a public hearing so that comments on the proposed law can be heard.

There will be plenty of time to make changes as it is not until the bylaw has been given two readings and is approved by the Ontario Municipal Board that it becomes law.

Reeve Carl Thompson, who has just resigned to join the County Welfare office, said yesterday that there most probably will be quite a few changes in the bylaw before it comes into effect.

John Beavis, Planning Board Director, attended the council meeting yesterday and talked over the bylaw with the council members. Mr. Beavis said that eventually it would most probably be necessary for the entire township to be zoned.

Referring to the zoning of the entire township clerk-treasurer Earl Dafoe pointed out that it will be a long time before the same problem becomes evident in other areas of Thurlow.

A fish-eye view of life under water was provided yesterday by the Glenora fisheries station open house. A newly installed aquaria displayed 37 varieties of fish. Richard Motley, 4, makes the aquaintance of some local trout.

Hatchery 'Open House' Held Over Extra Day

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward County people are noted for their interest in fish as much as the county is noted for its fishing . . . they proved it at yesterday's "open house" at Glenora fishing station where by closing time over 1,000 people had visited the show.

The first formal open house ever held at the fisheries received such response that the show is being held over for a second day and already 400 school small-fry have been booked for today to see the fish-fry.

Visitors yesterday were led first through an aquaria section, consisting of 18 large glass tanks holding 37 varieties of fish.

The number of visitors surprised Jack Christie, biologist in charge, and almost 2,000 people are now expected to visit the fisheries.

Large steel tanks of whitefish and smaller steel troughs, containing fish fry were displayed as well.

Most of the fish in the display area were local varieties with the notable exception of the Japanese variety. Two goldfish captured in the Bay of Quinte had grown to their full natural size . . . a foot long.

A tour guide commented that they would be worth close to $300 as ornamental fish in Japan.

Other areas showed means of capturing fish, their life cycles, methods of tagging them, their feeding habits, and how they were determined as well as various methods of experimentations.

Mr. Christie explained some of the working methods of the building.

The water in each of the tanks is drawn from Lake on the Mountain, to the rear of the building, by three pipelines. Two of the pipes bring water from the surface and from the bottom of the lake. The third line carries a blend of the other two so that almost any natural water temperature can be obtained.

Eight permanent and one part time worker staff the fishery. They were also responsible for every phase of the show including all of the hand drawn posters describing or explaining procedures.

Eclipse of Moon On Friday Night

Moongazers in the Belleville area will have the opportunity Friday night to witness an infrequent total eclipse of the moon.

According to the almanac the eclipse will start at 8:11 p.m. when the moon enters the penumbra of the earth's shadow and will last until 2:34 a.m. Saturday.

The total eclipse commences at 11:30 p.m. and ends at 12 minutes past midnight.

An eclipse of the moon occurs only at full moon when the lunar body, the earth and sun are in line. Each year there are two eclipses of the moon although not always visible in the same spot.

Eclipses of the moon are not nearly as spectacular as when the sun is blotted out by the passage of the moon between it and the earth.

The last eclipse of the sun (just short of total) in the Belleville area was in July 1963. But Belleville area residents saw only half of the celestial show. At about the half way mark clouds drifted in to obscure the sun.

13 Receive Certificates

Receiving their YMCA Junior Life Saving awards were: Kathy Bero, Vicki Joblin, Jo Anne Kirn, Mary Lou Kirn, Blair Hope and Richard Ouellette.

Canoeing Course

A course in canoeing will again be offered senior boys at the YMCA and will serve as preparation for a canoe trip to the Kwartha Lakes region.

The course, beginning Saturday, April 27, will include lectures on construction, selection, care and use of canoes, canoe safety and will offer practical work session in the "Y" pool and in the Moira River.

"Successful candidates wishing to take part in the trip following the course must be good swimmers," said Glen Manthorne, men's program director and in charge of the course and trip.

A CIVIC SALUTE

All Citizens are urged to join in Belleville's Salute to the Ontario Minor Hockey Champions — Smith Fuel Pee Wees and the Kinsmen Bantams, Saturday afternoon. Our city is proud of these young citizens who have brought honor to Belleville, let us throng the streets and demonstrate to them the pride we feel in their accomplishments.

The Civic Parade will leave Wallbridge Crescent at 1.45 p.m. and proceed across the Upper Bridge and along Front Street to the Arena.

Dr. J. Russell Scott,
Mayor.

R. 1, Deseronto, (Dorothy) Mrs. Orley Glass, Roslin, in her 68th year.

Resting at White and Morris Funeral Home, Deseronto where funeral service will be held on Saturday, April 13 at 2 p.m. Rev. William Hendry and Rev. Robert Willson officiating.

Interment Lonsdale Cemetery.

MURRAY — In loving remembrance of a dear mother, Rose Murray who passed away 2 years ago today, April 11, 1966.

We did not need a reminder, To bring you to our mind,

For you are in the thinks of us each day.

We are very hard to find.

If all that money can do give, We'd give it, yes, and more,

To see the face of mother dear, Come smiling through the door.

Sadly missed by daughter Margaret, Bill, Edna, Lorne, Debbie.

MURRAY — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Rose Murray who passed away 2 years ago today, April 11, 1966.

No hand to soothe, no heart to tender true.

No one to watch beside us, To speak to or to do,

PROPLES — In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Ethel Proples who passed away April 11, 1966.

Though the years have gone forever,

And your hand we cannot touch,

We have still sweet memories, Of you, Dad, we loved so much.

Sadly missed by daughter and family.

STANLEY — In loving memory of a husband and father Charles Stanley who died April 11, 1964 away two years ago April 12, 1966.

Two years have passed since we said goodbye,

To speak our thoughts, we will try,

You are beside us, in all we do, You are in our hearts and so true through.

Fondly remembered by wife Ada, daughter Sandra and son Gary.

WINTERS — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Nina Winters who passed away April 12, 1965.

Just a prayer from us who loved you,

Just a thought of you today,

Precious memories, kind and true, Are what we have to treasure forever;

Because we thought the world of you.

Interment in Albury Cemetery.

Sadly missed by Margaret, Ron and grandchildren.

Happiness Is A River, A Vigil, and A Net--Full of Smelt

Yum! It's that time of year again. That is, if your idea of yummyness is a fine mess of finger-long fish fried to a turn. The delicacy is smelt — now making its yearly run up the Moira River. And its return brings hordes of amateur fishermen to the river nightly. They're of all ages, with one thing in common: a netful of smelt as the reward of a venturesome vigil. Neither cold weather nor wet feet deter them. No matter the discomfort the enthusiasm disappears only with the smelt. And like their quarry they're almost as predictable. They'll be back next year.

Reeve Resigns

Carl Thompson of Thurlow To Take Welfare Post

An eleven-year veteran of municipal council, Thurlow Reeve, Carl Thompson, has resigned to become a field worker with the Hastings County Welfare Unit scheduled to go into operation May 1.

The 50-year-old township reeve resigned his council position last night and will assume his new duties on Tuesday, April 16.

"I made the move with some reservation," Mr. Thompson told the Intelligencer today. "I enjoyed council responsibility and dealing with people, but there comes a time when a person must bow out of municipal life."

Deputy Reeve Horace Casey will step up to assume the office of reeve, while councillor Borden Forsythe will be the new deputy reeve. Don McKeown of Foxboro has been named to the vacant seat on Thurlow council.

A native of Thurlow, Mr. Thompson farmed in the municipality and for 13 years served as fieldman and later as plant manager of the former Canadian Canners' plant at Foxboro. He is a past president and life member of the Belleville Fair Board.

He entered municipal politics 11 years ago, for the past six years has been on county council. He has been two years county chairman of finance and has served on most county committees, including the roads and bridges committee.

One of the most outspoken among the 32 member county body, Mr. Thompson has often voiced opposition to reform measures.

At the same time, however, his wide experience and ability has been well appreciated by his fellow councillors who never hesitated in naming him to committee responsibility.

Mr. Thompson will continue his Front street variety store which will be operated by Mrs. Thompson and staff members.

Carl Thompson, Reeve of Thurlow Township, leaves Council for new post.

Pollution

Pollution is a problem with which the public has become well aware.

But just how individually aware? Does it manifest itself in certain ways? What about health? That air you breathe as you step outside the office. How pure is it?

We have heard that Toronto for instance suffers from a heavy concentration of polluted air. Anyone who knows the downtown jungle of traffic that is Toronto should not be surprised at this. But then, it is very likely the same in any of our big cities.

What about our smaller ones too? Belleville for example. Stepping outside this office onto the street the other day we were suddenly assailed by the acrid odor of exhaust fumes. Yet there was no heavy concentration of traffic moving along Bridge Street.

The day was cool, however and there was some breeze and the fumes were floating around on it. It seemed to persist with every car that passed.

This is one good reason for banning traffic from Front Street. This is part of the redevelopment plan for the city. Meantime there is probably more polluted air in our midst than is good for us.

Chinese Enigma

The issue of recognition of Communist China for long has been part of the political phenomena of our day.

It keeps cropping up moreover, although currently the matter is little more than academic. Recognition of the Peking Government would seem to make little difference one way or another when one considers that the country goes its own way for the most part.

Prime Minister Pearson has been speaking on the subject again. In an interview with the United Church Observer he said Canada should have recognized China from the beginning and was "close to doing it" when the Korean conflict broke out.

Would prior recognition have made any difference? Could Canada (which participated in that war) have prevented it by diplomatic means? It is doubtful.

In recent years China has purchased vast quantities of wheat from Canada. This has been accomplished despite the absence of direct ambassadorial contacts.

Prime Minister-designate Pierre Trudeau meanwhile has expressed his views on the subject. He says he would have no objection to Canada being represented in Peking provided it also maintained diplomatic contact with the Nationalist Chinese government in Formosa.

Whatever its status in the counsels of the nations, China at the moment is quieter than it has been for some time. The Red Guard movement that in recent times sparked widespread disorders throughout the country apparently has lost some of its momentum.

Nor is there any evidence that beyond sending military equipment to North Vietnam, China is having any great influence on the course of events in that war-torn country. The current preliminary peace manoeuvers involving the United States and the Hanoi government would seem to owe nothing to any intervention by Peking.

China then manages its own affairs in its own way. Moreover it does not appear to be greatly interested in the outside world. Is it still bent on war with the United States? There are no signs of such a confrontation, and there are not likely to be. At least not in our time.

Ferry Disaster

New Zealand's capital city, Wellington, is known even at the best of times "down under" as a windy city. Now as the country moves toward winter it has been hit by the worst recorded storm in its history.

A casualty of the storm is the ferry boat Wahine which ran aground at Wellington's harbor mouth with heavy loss of life. Built only two years ago the vessel was one linking the north and south islands of New Zealand.

The disaster probably eclipses even the earthquake that hit the city of Napier back in the thirties. It recalls also a similar calamity in British waters on New Year's day some 15 years ago. A new ferry boat, the Princess Victoria, foundered in raging seas between Larne, Northern Ireland, and Stranraer, Scotland. More than 100 lives were lost.

Woman-of-the-Year Looks for Man of Her Life

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It's Leap Year, says Judy LaMarsh.

And if you think perhaps she hasn't got it on her mind, bend your ear to this exchange in the Commons just before the House recessed for the grand Grit national and Easter — between LaJudy and a couple of New Democrats.

Frank Howard of Skeena: I would like to ask the secretary of state whether she is in a position to answer my question of yesterday?

(He had asked her to see what the Board of Broadcast Governors was doing about clearing up static and other interferences on radio and TV channels.)

Hon. Judy: I have forgotten what the question was.

Miss LaMarsh: I have been waiting for a long long time to say 'yes' — to the right question.

Well, to have heard LaJudy tell it not so long ago — and keep retelling it — the question is THE one, the very one most girls are supposed to be waiting for the chosen-knight-in-shining-armor to pop.

The non-popping of the question just might be the reason Judy keeps talking of packing it up in Parliament and going home to Niagara Falls, the honeymoon capital, to concentrate on finding what she swears long has been her heart's desire.

A man. Of her very own.

You might think that Judy could be one of those girls who has just about everything.

A $35,000-a-year job with such fringe benefits as a federal government jet for sky - hopping around the country and a cozy-as-the-waterfront expense account for junketing to faraway places.

A cream - colored thunderbird.

The CBC, the National Gallery, the Film Board, the National Museum and a whole passel of cultural agencies to play with.

A mere $135,000,000 in spending money as state secretary for the edification, enlightenment and enrichment in the finer-things-of-life for the taxpayers.

And for the pampering of the ego, a semi-permanent railing since first making cabinet rank in 1962 as woman-of-the-year.

But, it is not enough, and Judy has been telling it around that "this is it" for Parliament. She is through with politics and won't be running in the next election.

Or that is what she said just the other day.

But being a woman, she can always change her mind as she has a habit of doing with almost every change of wig.

That it has, she agrees. All that and "challenging, too."

But, after a while you can get enough of it.

Then what does she really want?

(Four years ago, in Leap Year '64, she said she wanted to go to work on assembling "my own warm' brood' of youngsters. Now she is 44, and maybe having some second thoughts about that.)

Well, after so publicly wearing her heart on her sleeve, what has happened in the romance department?

Sad to say, nothing.

Trouble is, she may be too choosey.

For there was a ready response to her proclamation that she was languishing for love.

Mailed in her name — Miss Judy LaMarsh" — were the offers of some likely-sounding swains who were similarly proclaiming, in the newspapers' classified columns, their availability.

Such as:

"Single gentleman, executive type, romantic, handsome, personable, 45, enjoys reading the classics, knows art, appreciates sports." (Just the very man, you might think, for LaJudy, queen of Canadian culture.)

Well-to-do executive, six feet, trim 175, likes travelling, has well - appointed home." (Judy loves to travel, been "just about everywhere.")

There were others equally attractive offers — but from Judy, its talents fortunately hard to please, the gal's still looking.

Tranquil Scene Indicates Prince Edward Ready for Summer

Those Glass Palaces

Christian Science Monitor

A Columbia University professor in New York City finds that not everybody is totally happy living in these tall new glass skyscraper apartment buildings. Too much sunlight glare. Too warm in summer. Too high up. Too goldfish bowl fish.

What's the evidence? Office buildings with glassplated walls, secretaries often move their desks farther and farther away from the floor-to-ceiling windows, he finds. At parties in the apartments, guests tend to congregate in the dark interiors.

Some people block out their costly view with heavy curtains.

This evidence may or may not be conclusive. Each to his own taste. The curtains are there to be used. Nobody wants to be perpetually looked in upon, but when people want to enjoy the high-up view the curtains can be drawn aside. Air conditioning will usually deal with the direct-radiation heat.

Glass buildings are under construction in many countries — one more concept aimed at making life as attractive as possible in the vertical cities of tomorrow.

Westminster Abbey's Stone of Scone, stolen Dec. 15, was recovered by police in Arbroath Abbey 17 years ago today—in 1951. Weighing 485 pounds, the stone was stolen by Scottish students wishing to draw attention to their demands for an autonomous Scottish parliament. Three men and a woman admitted the theft but were not prosecuted. British sovereigns have been crowned while seated on the stone since it was taken to London in 1296.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—French claims to Alsace-Lorraine were recognized in the publication of a letter written by Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary; the Germans captured Merville.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Hitler and Mussolini completed a five-day meeting at Hitler's headquarters — their 12th meeting of the war; the U.S. office of foreign agricultural relations reported that although the food situation in Germany was better than at the start of the war, millions of people in occupied countries were existing on starvation diets; the British 8th Army reached the outskirts of Sousse.

Irish Bury the Hatchet

Ottawa Journal

The Irish lullaby continues. The Taoiseach (Prime Minister) went up to Belfast in December and the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland went down to Dublin in January and they had a grand time together.

Mr. Lynch for the Republic of Ireland and Capt. O'Neill for Northern Ireland are fast engaged in ending old quarrels. The finest touch was their statement at a joint press conference that cultural exchanges should be promoted.

The republic even plans to go so far as to loan Northern Ireland the Killymoon Hoard, a collection of Bronze Age gold ornaments found in County Tyrone in 1816. Imagine that now! Rascals along the border used to hoard bullets and such treasures to exchange with intent to maim but now they're putting their heads together to relish Irish culture and treasures. Deep down, there's a hoard of confradeship among the Irish, North and South, that they are uncovering. It's the finest and most needed treasure the old sod ever yielded.

On Making A Will

London Free Press

Where there's a will there's a way to argue about it. For that reason there will be reservation about the Ontario Law Reform Commission to make handwritten, unwitnessed do-it-yourself wills legal in Ontario.

The commission concedes that the recognition of homemade wills may bring more interpretation cases to the courts, but also believes that desirable points, such as genuineness, freedom from influence, and the incidination and ability to make a will may be as well or better protected by an unwitnessed document in the handwriting of the testator.

The commission is not necessarily recommending such a procedure, and neither do we. The best method in making a will would still seem to be to give it as much legal protection as possible. Even then its untroubled execution is not assured.

Communications in Maritimes

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

An east-west or corridor road across Maine won't have full significance for Nova Scotia unless there is a corresponding improvement in ferry service across the Bay of Fundy.

In fact, it won't have much real significance at all.

But whether the road is built now or at some time in the more distant future, the improved ferry service is urgently needed. The last of fast ferries on the passage for highway transports across the Bay of Fundy has sharply reduced the value of western Nova Scotia and southern New Brunswick for many years.

The area lost a golden opportunity when the outmoded Princess Helene was sold in 1963. She should have demanded and got a proper replacement at that time; instead we settled for an unsuitable vessel that the West Coast had no further use for and which is proving not much better than the Old Helene and in some ways less able to maintain regular service. It seems, at least, that the Princess of Acadia is far more often storm-stayed than the old Helene ever was.

One of the requirements for federal transport ministers in recent years has been the ability to express hope at suitable intervals for an early announcement of a "solution" to the Bay of Fundy ferry problem. In short, to stall.

It is tiresome.

It is close to being insulting that we should be expected to accept the tired old promises time after time.

We need that modern ferry and the new terminals it would require. We need them now. Let Ottawa put its money where a transport minister's mouth has been for so long and get on with providing them.

Rock "Doves" Woo Madrid

Gibraltar Riots Reflect Tension Over Spanish Claims

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Emergence of rival political factions in Gibraltar exposes a crack in the fortress colony's apparent pro-British solidarity at a time when Spain is pressing its claim to the tiny territory with new vigor.

Just seven months ago in a referendum, inhabitants of the Rock voted 12,237 to 44 "voluntarily to retain their link with the United Kingdom" rather than "pass under the sovereignty."

Rioting last weekend indicated to the outside world that unanimity is far from straightforward. The British government hastily announced Tuesday that talks with Gibraltar's leaders about the colony's future will begin with preliminary soundings in May.

The rioters are described officially as "hooligans," but the disorders erupted after six prominent Gibraltar citizens revealed they had been engaged in private talks seeking accommodation with Spain.

The six, who described themselves as "doves," advocate a compromise arrangement between Britain and Spain under a pact to replace the Treaty of Utrecht—255 years old Thursday—under which Britain holds the Rock.

The doves, worried about damage to business caused by Spanish border restrictions on trade and commuting workers, are members of the Gibraltar Chamber of Commerce and have close relations with members of the legislative council. Two are related to Louis Triay, port and trade minister.

The businessmen might have been acting semi-officially as kite flyers. Although Britain says they were unauthorized private citizens, the British governor set protests about the move by stressing that freedom of expression must be upheld.

The British government maintains it will abide by the wishes of both because Spain has no legal claim and the population has shown it wants the British link.

However, the British position is awkward and becomes more difficult with the open split.

A renewed attempt to negotiate a settlement in Madrid broke down March 21. Spain is expected to tighten up clandestine border restrictions. Gibraltarians are impatient to get their constitutional future straightened out.

The British government has rejected Gibraltar's proposals to become an integral part of the United Kingdom on the ground that the precedent might be seized upon by 23 other small dependent territories.

On the other hand, Britain is under pressure from the United Nations to "decolonize" Gibraltar. But full political independence would enable the Spanish to invoke a treaty clause that gives Spain "first call" on the Rock if Britain relinquishes control.

Basic Shelter Grant 'Great Help' Says Mayor

Belleville Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott today voiced pleasure with the provincial government's basic shelter exemption grant proposal introduced to the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

"It will be a great help to local home owners and tenants," Mayor Scott said. "It will do considerable to equalize the tax burden."

Mayor Scott said his understanding was that the direct subsidy would mean about $46 to Belleville home owners and tenants.

"I hope the details can be worked out and teeth put in the legislation so that tenants will benefit as well as the homeowner," he said.

Mayor Scott said the legislation was something which had been long sought by the municipalities.

"It will be most appreciated by all concerned and I commend the government for its action."

City treasurer John Grohn said he had no details as to how the tax benefits would be received by the home-owners or tenants.

"The technical details will have to be ironed out but I expect the benefit will be in the way of a cash refund," he said.

However he foresaw a few problems in working out the details of how tenants will receive the benefit.

"The difficulty will be to determine who was a tenant at a given time," said Mr. Grohn.

The basic shelter tax refund as proposed by the Ontario government is not exactly new to Mr. Grohn, who before coming to Belleville was in municipal work in British Columbia.

He said the shelter tax benefit had been in effect in the West Coast province for at least ten years.

In British Columbia the shelter tax benefit now more than $100 — is a straight credit with the amount taken off at the time of tax payment.

Ontario Trusts Landlords to Pass on Grant landlord will have to prove he has passed on the benefit.

The municipal affairs minister admitted, however, that a tenant without a lease may have trouble getting the benefit. The landlord could send him a letter saying he was going to raise the rent, but will not because of the grant.

Also the bill requires local councils to pass the grant on as a credit on each individual tax bill, but does not prevent councils from making expenditures they might otherwise have to, ultimately reduced by the grant.

In outlining the bill in the legislature, Mr. McKeough said the government will spend $150,000,000 to reduce the taxes on an estimated 2,500,000 households this year.

"This constitutes the most massive transfer of funds by a new program to municipal taxpayers in Ontario's history," he said.

Mr. McKeough said the legislation imposes a duty on landlords to pass on the full amount of the tax credit to tenants.

Tax credits will be deducted on municipal tax bills. Property owners who have already paid their taxes will receive a refund.

Municipalities will administer the plan and be paid in full for tax credits and refunds by the provincial government.

The minister said 48 per cent of the provincial government's revenues will be transferred to local authorities this year compared to 43 per cent last year and 39 per cent in 1966.

He said the plan will work this way:

1. The department will issue detailed instructions to municipalities concerning the implementation of the program within the next few weeks.

2. The department will provide every municipal treasurer with tax credit calculations.

3. After calculating the tax credits allowed on each residential property, the municipalities will indicate on the 1968 tax bills the amount of credit and deduct the credit from the taxes.

4. The municipalities will submit claims to the department for the full amount of the tax credits and refunds allowed.

Mr. McKeough said each self-contained residential property tax in Ontario will be reduced this year by an average of about 15 per cent through the tax credit program.

It will mean a reduction of between $45 and $65 on the majority of residential properties, he said.

He said the tax credits will be based on an equalized mill rate because of varying relationships between real property assessment and market value.

To determine the amount of credit, a local assessment of $2,000 is multiplied by "equalized assessment."

"The owner of a humble residence with a very low assessment may have to pay almost no taxes—the resident tax credit will cover most of the amount, Mr. McKeough said.

"On the other hand, the owner of a very large and expensive house, even though he gets the same dollar credit, will be paying a much larger percentage of his taxes himself."

The system would cost about $850,000 to administer this year, he said. The cost would be reduced substantially next year.

Mr. McKeough will meet municipal officials in nine cities and towns this month to explain the system.

He plans to be at the Lakehead today, at Peterborough on the 17th, Windsor on the 18th, Sudbury on the 22nd, London on the 23rd, Perth on the 24th, Brantford on the 25th, Sault Ste. Marie on the 26th and Orillia on the 30th.

Walter Leavens Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A funeral service will be held today for Walter T. Leavens, 64, one of Canada's air pioneers, who died Tuesday.

He was one of the three Leavens brothers, of Belleville, who barnstormed around the country 40 years ago carrying passengers in their light plane.

They founded Leavens Bros. Ltd., an aircraft supply business, which operated one of the largest flying schools in the world until 1952.

Will Carry Cross to Demorestville

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Good Friday will be marked here tomorrow with the carrying of a cross to Demorestville.

The life - size cross, made from cedars, will be carried in procession following a 7 a.m. communion service at Wesley United Church here.

The event has been organized by the North Prince Edward pastoral charge of the United Church.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — Investors on the Toronto Stock Exchange marked time in active midmorning trading today, interrupting a four-day rally.

Total advances were virtually offset by declines and price changes were generally mixed and small.

Only significant strength among the industrials was shown by construction and construction materials group. Dominion Bridge rose 1 to 14¼ and Canada Cement ¾ to 25½.

Among the base metals, Gortrum gained 30 cents to 5.90 and in oils, Dome Pete was off ½ to 59.

On index, industrials slipped .15 to 155.28 and oils .13 to 186.27. Golds advanced .42 to 193.81 while base metals were unchanged to 99.03.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 800,000 shares compared with 935,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Golds were sharply up Wednesday while other stocks posted moderate gains in active trading.

Dome Mines paced a late surge among golds, jumping 3¾ to 57¾. Campbell Red Lake bounced up 75¢ to 27, Dickenson 25 cents to 3.95 and Camflo 15 cents to 4.85.

Industrials closed well ahead of Tuesday, but the closing trend was down after a sharp morning rally began to slip by mid-afternoon.

Oils, which also began strong, ended the day mixed. Base metals were moderately ahead throughout the session.

Beverages stood out among industrials. Seagrams rose 1¼ to 41¾ and Walkers ¾ to 27¾.

International Utilities fell 1¼ to 41¼ and Québec Natural Gas ⅛ to 10⅝. Bell Canada rose sharply earlier in the week.

(Is that why he has four Jubilee policies?)

Doug Buchanan works in the control centre of Montreal's busy Dorval airport. He has been an air traffic controller for over eight years and has the highest grade obtainable in this job.

"There are eighteen of us on each shift. We control about 500 square miles of air space. Our job is to make sure airplanes get down safely. There's radar to help us. Generally, we start speaking to pilots when they're 200 miles away.

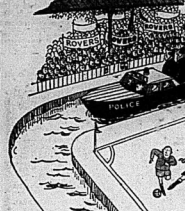
"At peak periods each controller handles between 8 and 12 planes. That means you could be responsible for more than 1,000 lives. It can become pretty nerve-racking but you have to remain calm.

"So you can see I don't have time to dabble in the stock market. When I get home I just want to relax. That's one reason I'm sold on those London Life policies. Of course, protection for my wife and daughter is important, too.

"The policies force me to save money. I think unless you have money regularly going in to a sound, safe investment you'll never have peace of mind—and do all the things you want to do."

Here are the facts about Doug's $45,000 of insurance with London Life. He has four Jubilee life premiums to 65 policies purchased between ages 23 and 28. His total monthly premium is $64.47. By age 65 he will have paid in $30,883. However, if he leaves his dividends to accumulate, his policies will be worth $74,500* in cash! More than double the money he paid in.

"Those policies are like having a really solid basement for your house. They're always going to be there to keep your family out of financial trouble, and they earn money.



"And they're excellent collateral. When we wanted to buy furniture, I took them to the bank manager and he said, 'I'll lend you all the money you need.' He gave me a favorable interest rate, too.

"Of course, I'd like to retire early. A couple of years ago Johanne and I went to the Caribbean. When we got back, we decided that when I retire, we want to travel all over the world. My London Life policies are going to help me do that. What better return could you get for money that's protecting your family into the bargain?"

To find out if you can double your money with London Life, phone a Company representative. And send for your free copy of the handbook "Plain talk about Life insurance." Write to Department C, London Life Insurance Company, London, Ontario.

The Second Time Around?

Ottawa as Shook Up as When Dief First Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — The cast of characters is different—vastly so—but the atmosphere here is much the same as it was in 1957: Electrifying.

Eleven years ago, underdog John George Diefenbaker swept into town to the aghast stares of the capital's establishment to snatch the prime minister's chair away from the equally aghast Liberals.

So accustomed were the Liberals to governing Canada, after 22 years in office, that an official refused to let Mr. Diefenbaker see some documents he had called for, on the grounds that they were classified secret.

And when Mr. Diefenbaker made his first flight abroad in an air force transport plane, one seat was still marked reserved for a Liberal party backer. Then, as now, people were asking, some of them anxiously, what the new prime minister would do. Who would be appointed to what? Who were the wheels? Who had been eclipsed?

Mr. Diefenbaker didn't leave anybody in doubt very long and it isn't likely that Pierre Elliott Trudeau will, either.

In the subsequent misfortunes of Mr. Diefenbaker, it has been largely forgotten what a whirling place Ottawa was in the early years of his regime.

Even though Mr. Diefenbaker drank tomato juice at public receptions, the capital was swinging politically, just as it is now.

In 1957, Mr. Diefenbaker had a minority government, just as Mr. Trudeau will when he takes over as prime minister on or about April 22.

Will Mr. Trudeau handle this situation as Mr. Diefenbaker did a decade ago? Many people here think so.

Mr. Diefenbaker was riding the crest of popular acclaim.

So, apparently, is Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. Diefenbaker held the Liberals in a fit of terror for months, threatening them with a general election.

Desperately, the Liberals tried to wriggle off the hook early in 1958 with a non-confidence motion that the Conservatives resign and turn the government back to the Liberals without benefit of election.

Mr. Diefenbaker played cat-and-mouse with the opposition for a few more weeks and then sprang an election. He won the biggest majority in Canadian history.

There is one school of thought here that Mr. Trudeau should have assumed the prime ministry Monday—or, preferably, Sunday—and called an immediate election.

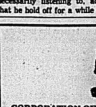
This school is still very active and Mr. Trudeau may still call a fast election.

He said Sunday he doesn't see the logic of an early election—but that he may once he is prime minister.

On the other hand, Mr. Trudeau is receiving, though not necessarily listening to, advice that he hold off for a while until he makes sure he has the whole party organization behind him.

He has said himself that he gives high priority to binding up the leadership convention wounds.

Mr. Trudeau doubtless will ponder all these things as he spends the Easter weekend in a secluded spot in the Laurentians.



He could probably do worse than call in Mr. Diefenbaker for advice on when to pull the election plug.

Stanfield Fears Policy Means More Unemployment

HALIFAX (CP) — The federal government has adopted a fiscal policy that will lead to more unemployment, Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said Wednesday.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

A frequent question to this column is, "Why didn't the mortgage lender tell me that something is wrong with the house?" Logically, it would appear that a lending institution should reveal what it knows about a property to its client. As a practical matter, however, this practice would only lead to assumption of unreasonable liability by the lender.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Doesn't the bank have a obligation to tell a buyer that something is wrong when they know? My experience had a sad and almost tragic ending. It could have all been avoided if only someone had told me.

With eager anticipation, we moved in on Tuesday afternoon. By midnight of the same day, the house had been destroyed by fire.

A representative of the bank called to offer his condolences. During the conversation, he let slip the fact that their appraiser's report as commended on the faulty wiring. When I angrily asked why we were not warned, his reply was, "The bank was under no obligation to tell." Isn't this a rather uncalloused treatment of a client? I would welcome your comment. — Mr. B. H.

ANSWER: The regrettable "Why didn't the bank tell me?" is being constantly repeated in angered letters from readers. It would appear to a layman that a lending institution with its greater degree of expertise and knowledge should help the mortgagor (the buyer). However, if this policy were followed, it could lead not only to an assumption of unnecessary liability by the lender, but could also disrupt normal business relationships.

Suppose a lender were to recommend a property, the buyer then acted in good faith, bought the property but subsequently found many things wrong. The buyer could claim that he bought mainly because of the warranties of the lending institution. The purchaser could then hold to the viewpoint that the lender was liable.

The opposite side of the coin could also lead to embarrassment. If the lender were to recommend that the buyer not purchase because of certain alleged deficiencies, it is obvious that the seller or his agent would not only complain but would be angry. If these alleged deficiencies later turned out to be imaginary and minor, it could even lead to a possible action against the lender.

In the normal transaction, the lender is a third party making no warranties or assuming any liability on behalf of either the buyer or seller. It investigates and inspects the property for the sole purpose of arriving at a decision as to whether it is a good investment for its funds.

As a practical matter, most mortgage applications come to a lender not from buyers, but from brokers. It is obvious that brokers would refuse to do business with a lender who was trying to kill their deal.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Insurance is cheap, and from that I have put together a scheme on how to get rich. If there is any flaw in my idea, please tell me quick before I spend the money.

I can get an insurance policy on my house at a cost of less than $35 per year. Instead of taking out one policy, I plan to take out five policies with different companies. In this way, if something happens, I'll collect five times as much. Good idea, isn't it? — Mr. E. M.

ANSWER: Our correspondent's idea is not original; it was tried almost immediately after the first insurance companies were organized. They quickly learned how to counter the scheme.

Policies invariably contain a pro-rata clause which allows a claimant to collect only the value of the loss and nothing in excess. Thus, if the loss were, for example, $5,000 and five companies had insured the loss, each would pay based on the pro-rata clause only $1,000 each, and not $5,000 each. When this scheme is tried, the end result is always too much money spent on insurance premiums and no excess collection, if a loss occurs.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: When I put in my new bathroom I was told that the glazed surface made the colored fixtures impervious to all types of spills and stains. Yet it is only two months later, and I have rust stains on two of the fixtures. They look terrible against the white surface. How do I get them off? — Mrs. S.

ANSWER: I'm sure it will comfort you greatly if I tell you that these rust stains are only on the surface, and they have not penetrated through the glaze on your fixtures.

To remove the stains, make a thin paste by dissolving oxalic acid crystals (can be bought in any hardware or paint store) in hot water and apply over the stain for about 15 or 20 minutes. Wipe off and then rinse with water. If the first application does not remove all the stains, repeat until all of the blemish is gone.

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Strictly Personal

"People Act Badly in Groups"

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In his recent book, A Very Strange Society, Allen Drury examines the government, people and problems in South Africa today, with a fairness that bends over backwards.

Yet, when he comes to discuss the totalitarian methods of repression used to enforce apartheid in that country, he cannot help but cry out: "The individual Afrikaner is not a cruel person; what evil people force him to be so cruel as a government!"

But the same might be said of any people, anywhere at any time in history. The Germans were not a cruel people, but they passively acquiesced (at least) in the devilry of the Nazi government. The Russians are not a cruel people, but they merely turned their eyes away from Stalin's long reign of butchery and barbarism.

It is not merely when mob hysteria seizes them that people act worse in groups than they do individually. All "causes," all creeds, all ideologies make people behave far worse than they would individually. The most horrible savagery has not been committed for personal, selfish motives, but for church and state and flag, for "loyalty" and "group solidarity" and "common cause."

Of course, most Afrikaners are decent people. Most Mississippians are kindly folk. Most Germans are industrious, lawabiding, warmly sentimental. Most Russians are friendly and out-going. And the US troops bombing villages and burning peasants in Vietnam include some of the finest, sweetest boys you would ever hope to meet.

All this is beside the point. The point is that we feel desperately alone and insecure as individuals: we require a sense of belonging to some unit larger than ourselves. That unit can be national, racial, religious, ideological, or socio-economic, as in slum gangs. And then we transfer our reason, our will, and our passions to this larger unit.

What the group does, no individual boy would do alone. What the South African government does, hardly a single Afrikaner would do. In the bitter centuries-long religious wars between Protestant and Catholics, it was the thought of "pleasing God," not any petty personal advantages, that prompted millions to mutual extermination — and them people who "wouldn't hurt a fly."

It is not so much our human "selfishness" that is responsible for the great injustices and tyrannies of the world as it is our need to identify, to transcend ourselves, to form part of a solid group. The group insignia gives us emotional licence to destroy others.

Northern Townships Give Grants

TWEED — At the recent meeting of the Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham Council, held in Flinton Township Hall, all members of the board were present.

A grant of $300 was given to Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham Library at Flinton.

The salary of the clerk, Howard Hasler, was increased to $500 and the salary of the treasurer Carl Hasler was increased by $300.

It was also agreed that members of the council board be paid at the end of every three months.

Several accounts were examined and paid including the Moira River Conservation Authority 1968 levy of $329. Welfare accounts amounted to $368.

Output Higher In 1967

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian economy grew moderately in 1967 and may have started to beat the peak inflation of 1966.

Last year's gross national product, the value of all goods and services turned out by Canadians, was reported Wednesday as $62,068,000,000, up 6.8 per cent from 1966.

Taking out price increases averaging 3.9 per cent, the "real" or volume growth of GNP was 2.8 per cent.

This is about half the growth of good years in the earlier 1960s. It is less than half the real advance of 6.5 per cent in 1966, when the GNP totalled $58,120,000,000 and the dollar growth was 11.3 per cent.

The Economic Council of Canada says the economy should grow at an annual rate of about five per cent between 1965 and 1970 to realize its potential.

The target is an average, and the 1967 performance will not be dismaying to economists worried about Canada's adjustment from its rattling activity in 1966.

The 1967 price factor of 3.9 per cent, while still inflationary, is an improvement from 4.5 per cent in 1966.

Perhaps significantly, the rate of price increases dropped towards the end of 1967.

Analysing the GNP data, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said that in the final three months of the year, the GNP implicit price index—best measure of changes in the economy —moved up only 7-10 of one per cent. This was less than in any previous quarters for two years and half the 1967 second-quarter increase.

Soviet Citizens Demand End Of Lineups in Front of Shops

MOSCOW (AP)-Soviet citizens are demanding an end to the endless lineups which have been a part of the Russian way of life for so long.

"Everywhere there are lines," Nadezhda Belonenko of Kiev said. "How much time we waste in them.

"What I can't understand is that we have everything on the shelves but, it is necessary to wait in a crowd to get served.

"It takes at least an hour to buy food for a day or two."

She wrote her complaints to the young Communist League newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda. It sent out a reporter, R. Zaitsev, to check on the situation in Kiev, a typical Soviet city. He confirmed that "you have to stand in line even for cigarettes."

Zaitsev noted that the lines, besides wasting time, constantly produce negative emotions. "Even a calm person often becomes irritable, ready to burst out over petty things."

The reporter said everyone understood the necessity of lines during the war and post-war years, when food was scarce, but now a new generation has grown up which knows about ration cards only from stories and does not understand why there has to be so much waiting in stores.

I. Korshinevsky, head of the consumption department at the Ukrainian Institute of Trade Research, said a big part of the trouble was "that we have simply resigned ourselves to the existence of lines."

He said all the help—including the store manager—should pitch in if a line starts to form and get the customers served.

The reporters did not find this view was shared by Tamara Gitenlu, manager of Kiev's central grocery store.

"What!" she said. "You think you see a line in our store now? There aren't more than 15 people in it. During a pre-holiday rush the crowds walk for hours."

Zaitsev said she accused him of asking "frivolous questions" and told him if he wanted to end lines he should get the Ukrainian government "to give us one clerk for each customer."

G. I. Sakhnovsky, Ukrainian minister of trade, said the republic was already short 10,000 clerks.

Cabinet Shuffle Pauses

OTTAWA (CP) — The Easter weekend is expected to cause a pause in the reconstruction of the Liberal cabinet by the newly elected leader, Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Mr. Trudeau takes off today for a brief respite from his new role. He may get away from it all for a while in the Quebec Laurentians.

External Affairs Minister Martin, his future still a question mark, hopes to spend the long weekend in Florida, where he may run into Consumer Affairs Minister Turner and Agriculture Minister Greene, already there.

Two more cabinet vacancies were created Wednesday when State Secretary Judy LaMarsh made good on an old promise and resigned, and Labor Minister Nicholson also quit. Miss LaMarsh's resignation is immediate, Mr. Nicholson goes when the whole cabinet resigns as Prime Minister Pearson quits to make way for Mr. Trudeau before the end of the month.

Mr. Trudeau will announce his cabinet makeup after that. A major reconstruction is likely, Robert Winters, minister-at-large to Mr. Trudeau at last week's leadership convention, is expected to return to the cabinet.

Convention splits thus appear to be on their way to being "buried over." Mr. Winters will also spend the weekend in Florida.

Finance Minister Sharp, who threw his support to Mr. Trudeau just before the convention, is expected to emerge with even more influence in the new administration than in the Pearson government.

He may retain finance, a senior portfolio, for the time being, but could be switched in a later shuffle, perhaps prior to a fall election. There's no firm indication that Mr. Martin will depart now or later. But if he does, it would have external affairs vacant for Mr. Sharp.

But Mr. Martin, like the other defeated cabinet aspirants for the leadership, has an invitation from Mr. Trudeau to remain in the cabinet.

Indian Chief Returns From Inspection Trip

TYENDINAGA RESERVE — Melville Hill of the Tyendinaga Reserve recently returned from an inspection trip in the James Bay district, and reports that conditions among Indians there are in great need of improvement. The average annual family income is not more than $500. The government is making an effort to better conditions but much still remains to be done.

Mr. Hill is a member of the all - Indian advisory committee to the Indian branch of the Department of Social and Family Services, once called the Department of Welfare. It serves a useful purpose in getting a true picture of conditions, as Indians will talk more freely of their problems to a fellow Indian than they do to most white men. This committee makes its report and recommendations to the minister.

On this occasion the nine members of the committee assembled at Moosonee. All are chiefs or former chiefs and one is a woman. They stayed briefly at Moosonee, and then separated into two parties, Mr. Hill and three others working in Fort Albany, and the other five at Couchiching River near Fort Francis.

Mr. Hill stated that it was a busy week, with meetings all day, every day listening to the Indians tell of their problems.

Wooler Personals

WOOLER — Mrs. S. L. Terril with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dorland spent Saturday at Cambray and while there attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Art Tamblyn. Enroute home Mr. and Mrs. Dorland spent the weekend in Markham with their daughter, Mrs. Jack McDonald, Mr. McDonald and family. Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam, Mrs. L. E. Bryant, Mrs. Jim Putnam and daughters Jerrilyn and Jill also attended the wedding anniversary celebrations.

Rev. W. A. Adam is in a Toronto hospital where he is reported to have undergone surgery.

Miss Ann Richards, Mrs. L.E. Bryant and Mr. Ross McMaster spent a day recently with Mrs. Blake Richards in Demorestville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McColl spent a day in Kingston recently where they visited Mrs. McColl's mother, Mrs. Murton who is a patient in Kingston hospital.

Gordon Way of Ottawa visited Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam on Sunday.

Charlie York and Mrs. Robert Redcliff are patients in the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Bahama Negroes Win Vote

NASSAU (CP) — A landslide election victory gave Premier Lyndes O Pindling complete power over the Bahamas Thursday and left the old white ruling structure of this British colony in ruins.

In a flush of black nationalism, the Negroes went to the polls in record numbers and the 38-year-old premier, a Negro, who had ruled by a one-vote margin in the House of Assembly, suddenly found himself in control of 29 of the 38 seats.

The triumph in Wednesday's election became even more one-sided when a Labor party member and an independent who had joined in a coalition with Pindling also were swept back into office.

It was a shattering defeat for the once all powerful United Bahamian party headed by wealthy white merchants. It limped out of the contest with only seven seats.

Pindling called the general election after a member of his Progressive Liberal party died, ending his one-vote margin which was maintained with the support of the Labor member. At dissolution, the Progressive Liberals had 17 seats and the opposition 18.

New Zealand Toll Cut

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — Police said today the final death toll in the Wahine ferry disaster probably would be 51, instead of the 150 first feared.

They said 676 passengers and crew members survived when the 8,944-ton ferry overturned and sank in Wellington Harbor Wednesday after running onto a reef in 130-mile-an-hour winds.

Five persons were missing and presumed dead and 46 bodies were recovered, they said.

Earlier today police divers hurried to the hulk of the ferry after a man reported hearing tapping noises, possibly indicating some survivors might be trapped inside.

The man told police he clambered onto the side of the Wahine, part of which lies above water, from his small boat to inspect the wreck and heard answering taps when he rapped on the steel plating.

Skindivers and other rescue workers swarmed around the hull for more than two hours peering through portholes and rapping on the plating with hammers.

However police said they found no evidence of any trapped survivors and said the noises probably came from the hull shifting on the sea bottom

Key to Misty Glow

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill,

Clue-in on the newest make-up trend. The shimmer look is here, and with its introduction the blush-faced, chalk-faced, shadow-faced appearance is washed down the beauty drain. For girls who have chained themselves to these outdated methods, the verdict is crystal clear; heavy-handed application is being replaced with a skim-so-lightly technique. Instead of saturating face with a thick coat of foundation base, first, refresh skin with a "wash" of moisturizing lotion. Then, apply a sheer, pearlized foundation, and notice how cosmetic glides on evenly depositing only a silken veil of color.

The key to this misty glow is playing down makeup rather than piling it on. This is particularly true when powdering. Always brush off excess tale, paying special attention to recessed areas — under eyes, along nose, and in crease of chin. But this is only part of the get-glowing technique. Now travel the reverse route and, using a foam rubber sponge, put three layers of skin freshener over the protruding facial areas — forehead, cheeks and chin. As actress Linda Peck seen in the 20th Century-Fox film "Star!" illustrates, it frees the complexion from chalky patches and allows a faint trace of facial oils to "surface."

Another method of capturing this dewy look is to highlight skin with a lustre stick or pearlized gloss. Just as an artist uses a brush for special effects, so you can stipple on glimmer touches. The direction in which the cosmetic is applied is most important. Stroke it up the jawline to lift facial contours. Place it horizontally across the chin to broaden; smooth it under the cheekbones to fill out hollows, or dab it on the apple of the cheek to expand facial planes. Such "artwork" leaves only a hint of glint, but not a trace of artificiality.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Ham at Easter with Glazed Fruit

By MARY MOORE

Please see yesterday's (Wednesday) column for Easter dinner menu.

GLAZED FRUIT - Decorated ROAST HAM (serves 12 generously)

6-pound fully cooked semi-boneless ham (see below re uncooked)

one - third cup pineapple juice (or juice drained from canned pineapple)

¼ cup brown sugar

narrow strips green pepper (for decorating)

halved or sliced red and green maraschino cherries (for decorating)

Remove outside transparent wrapping from ham completely and score fat into uniform diamonds.

To make discarding of fat drippings simple line bottom of baking dish with foil. Place ham on it, cover loosely with foil tent and bake at 300 deg. Fahr. 2 hours to heat through. If you are using a meat thermometer internal temperature should rise to 130 deg. Fahr. (if you are roasting an uncooked 6-pound ham it should be roasted at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 3 hours. Internal temperature should be 165 to 170 deg. Fahr.) One-half hour before mealtime mix well together the pineapple juice and brown sugar and brush carefully all available upper surfaces with some of it. Return to oven and continue roasting, uncovered, for another 15 minutes. Now remove from oven and apply decorations: Place 5 or 6 long strips of green pepper, about as wide as a piece of coarse string, in a fan-like arrangement, on top of ham to represent stems of flowers. At top of each arrange three halves or slices of red maraschino cherries to look like red flowers. On next "stem" arrange three halves or slices of green maraschino cherries. Continue until you have three red and three green "flowers" alternating. Now carefully brush flowers and stems with remaining pineapple-brown sugar glaze to fix them to ham. Return to oven at 300 deg. Fahr. for another 15 minutes.

Transfer to preheated platter. Carefully pick up foil and turn in edges and cool, then discard it and enclosed fat.

Garnish ham liberally at base with big branches of parsley, or if desired, pickled canned crabapples or rosy poached apple slices.

LOBA Entertains Other Groups

The members of LOBA No. 250 entertained members and friends from Trenton, Whitby and Wallbridge on the occasion of its 47th birthday.

Guests were welcomed by the Worthy Mistress Mabel Green and Right Worshipful Grand Mistress of Ontario East, Pearl Holmes.

Cards were enjoyed the first part of the evening with winners Mrs. Lena Copeland, Mrs. Mabel Keene and Mrs. Jennie Gregg, all from Belleville, playing on men's cards Mrs. Lillian Wannamaker and Mrs. Lulu Gibson, Trenton; Mrs. Lillian Wright, Belleville, travelling prize Mrs. Kathleen Cooke, Whitby.

Following cards lunch was served, convened by Mrs. Ada Marcle and helpers.

The beautiful birthday cake made by the only charter member present Mrs. Lena Akey was cut by R. W. Pearl Holmes who also brought greetings from the Grand Lodge of Ontario East. Best wishes were expressed by several other visitors and these were responded to by W.M. Mabel Keene who also thanked the convener and workers.

Regrets were expressed that some members were ill.

Bridge Marathon Tourney Winners Are Announced

Long, cold winters have been made more pleasant for several years for many Belleville women who enjoy the Bridge Marathon sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. This marathon runs from January until April and is perennially conversed by Mrs. Ella Trepanier and Mrs. Ella Trepanier as scorekeeper.

Wednesday afternoon was party day and the wind-up of tournament play. Tournament winners were Mrs. Jean Riley and Mrs. Betty Fort, with runners-up Mrs. Dorothy McMahon and Mrs. Jean Adams. Two teams played off for the consolation prize, with Mrs. G. Ormond and Mrs. Caswell defeating Miss Daly and Miss Tucker.

High score for party day was won by Mrs. Reta Lawrence with Mrs. Kay Cousins a close second. Low score for the day was won by Mrs. Mary Carr-Brant. There were five lucky draws, the winners being Mrs. Tillie Furnett, Mrs. Marion Turley, Mrs. Flossie Rainbird, Mrs. Eva MacKay and Mrs. Irene Trudeau.

White Cane Club Enjoys Recreation

The April recreation meeting of the White Cane Club took place at the Kiwanis Centre on Tuesday evening. President Clarence Morris welcomed members and friends.

Mrs. Maude Rollins presided at the piano for the opening songs.

One minute's silence was observed in memory of Colonel E. A. Baker, O.B.E., founder of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The names of members of the club observing an April birthday were read by Wilma Blind. The birthday draw was won by Alice Smith and Alma St. Onge.

Celebrating the results of the Canadian Council of the Blind Centennial Year Project, in simultaneous ceremonies in London, England, and London, Ontario, aid for the blind of India was transferred in a symbolic ceremony.

The winners at table bowling were Betty Woods and Alice Smith for the women and Harvey St. Onge and Harvey Bailey for the men.

The hostess thanked the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary for a tasty lunch. The Lions Club provided transportation.

Artists Exhibit Paintings

Eleven members of the Belleville group had 19 pictures chosen for the show. Allan Cameron received the Rowney award for his oil painting, Dories, and Georgina Graham received an honorable mention for her water color, Model.

Other local artists exhibiting were Mrs. Ann Andrews, Dorothy Brown, Donnah Cameron, Ethel Evans, Helen Graham, Edna Henderson, Meg Pederson, Lillian Peddis and Bea Williamson. The 53 pictures in the exhibit were selected by Toronto artist, David Blackwood.

P. W. Summerskill of the Ontario Council for the Arts was the guest speaker at the opening. He commended Cobourg for its fine gallery, when many larger centres still do not have one. He suggested painters might try combining all the arts — music, dancing and painting — together in one display.

Special home visits by the district nurse of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children are a most important link in the chain of Easter Seal Services for crippled children. Summer camp holidays, clinic, treatment and care programs are discussed in detail with parent and child. Easter Seals provide year-round help for crippled children — send a gift today — $1,400,000. is needed this year.

In just a few days, the 1968 Easter Seal Campaign will draw to a close with much attention focused on the provincial objective and whether the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and the 221 Easter Seal service clubs reached their goal of $1,400,000. There will also be 18,000 crippled children here in Ontario who will be keenly interested in the returns, for without the full amount, many could be deprived of a complete program of extensive care, specialized treatment, artificial limb fitting, wheelchair braces, summer camp holidays or any one of a host of Easter Seal Services.

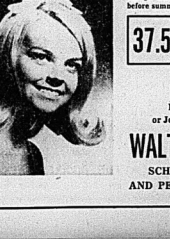
For any one who has not sent their Easter Seal donation, then now is not too soon. To many, a convenient pink envelope has been provided for this purpose, but if lost or if one was not received, then enquire through your local Easter Seal service club on where to send donation or if preferred, to deliver personally.

This year, let's not count on that other person and as we have heard many times over — if everyone who intended to donate did so — then double or even triple the amount needed could be raised.

SHRUBS AND FLOWERS EAT TOO !

Let's not forget that it takes nutriment to produce all that garden growth every summer. Every plant takes its' toll of nature's supply of nitrogen (top growth), phosphorous (root development), and Potash (fruit, flower and quality) as well as trace elements normally present in the soil. In many cases we forget to replenish this supply. The farmer who neglected his land this way let his mortgage lapse years ago.

For a planting of shrubs and evergreens apply a balanced garden fertilizer plus bone meal. For annual and perennial flower beds use a straight chemical formulation such as 4-12-10 or 7-14-7. If your soil is poor and either too light (sandy) or too heavy (clay) then work in plenty of peat moss or sheep manure. In many cases you should consider removing poor soil altogether and replacing it with fresh new loam.



Stay away from 'Odd-Ball' recommendations. Follow the manufacturer's suggestions and apply the complete formula so that you will not create a nutritional imbalance. Apply fertilizer early and mix it in thoroughly to a depth of at least 2-3" before setting annuals and planting seeds.

Ann Landers

Other Man Has No Legal Responsibility

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 27 and the mother of three children. Last year I did something I am very much ashamed of. I had an affair with a man who plays golf with my husband and belongs to our bridge club. He is married and has a family.

ANN LANDERS

My youngest child was fathered by this man and he knows it, my husband knows it, too, and he has been a saint. He treats the baby just as lovingly as he does the two older children and has never once thrown up to me the fact that the child is not his.

What I am writing about is the cool attitude of my former lover. He hasn't so much as bought the baby a gift, doesn't come around to see her and has never once inquired as to how she is. When I passed snapshots of the baby around the bridge table last night he took a quick glance and handed them to me with no comment. Does this man have any legal responsibility toward the child? What do you make of his strange indifference? — B.W.D.

DEAR B.: The man has no legal responsibility whatever. According to the law your husband is the father of the child.

On the personal side, consider yourself extremely fortunate that your husband is such a forgiving soul. He could have hounced you out on your head and taken the two older children. You are lucky, again, that your lover has no interest in the little girl. The best gift he can bestow upon her is his indifference.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to think that anyone who would write to you for help would have to be nuts. Well, I guess I am nuts like the rest of them because here I am with my problem.

When I was in high school 15 years ago I went steady with Nick. He was the All-American boy — football, basketball, track, musician, debater and president of his class. We went to the state university and my family moved to Phoenix. We lost track of each other.

About three years ago I heard he is married and lives in Cincinnati. I am now happily married and the mother of three children. Our national sorority convention is going to be held in Cincinnati in May and I would love to call Nickey. I'm ashamed to tell you how excited I get at the thought of seeing him again.

Would it be wrong to invite him to the hotel . . . just for a cup of coffee — for old time's sake? Believe, me, Ann, all I want to do is see if he is still handsome, exciting and sexy. — NO ULTERIOR MOTIVES.

DEAR NO: If all you want is to see if Nickey is still handsome, exciting and sexy by all means invite him to the hotel for a cup of coffee. But be sure to tell him to bring his wife — just in case he is.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm only 14 but I have the face and figure to get any boy 17. I had a date last night and we got lost. I didn't get home until 2:30 a.m. My mother yelled so loud she woke up the whole house. Then she got madder yet because she smelled cigarette smoke in my hair. I told her my date smoked and not me — then my purse fell open and the cigarettes dropped out. Now my mother says I am grounded for two weeks. She watches me like a hawk and treats me like a criminal. Help! Help!

Please answer in the paper. My mother won't buy me stamps. — PRISONER.

DEAR P.: So your mother won't buy you stamps? Who buys your cigarettes?

You sound like a real handful, Toots, and my only comment to your punishment is that it's too light. No point in my lecturing you about cigarettes or anything else, for that matter. For your 16th birthday your mother should give you a color picture of your lungs.

Girl Is Forever Grateful to Parents Who Stood by Her

Dear Doris: You printed a letter from "A Girl In Trouble" who was afraid to tell her parents.

I just found out that I am three months pregnant and I, too, was afraid to tell my parents. I finally got up the nerve and when I told them they were furious. My mother cried and proceeded to get drunk. After the initial shock she regained her composure. She said: "Heaven knows what you yourself are going through. After all, whoever talks about our personal problem is no real friend. You have made a mistake but we have made a bigger one by failing you somewhere. Now, my dear, will have to face the snickers and giggles from friends; being sick and without a waistline".

Now we are looking forward to the big day. Of course, the baby will be given up for adoption but we will enjoy him while we can. So please, girls, trust your mother and father. They will always stick by you regardless of what you've done.

If by some chance my mother and father happen to read your column, Doris, I'd like to add for them alone, "I love you and thank you for your love and understanding. I am truly sorry for the pain I have caused you." — Grateful For Parents.

Dear Grateful: Wonderful! Even personal tragedy becomes bearable when you have someone to confide in who will never let you down.

Dear Doris: I discovered a box of letters written to my husband by a woman who had evidently had an affair with him before I met him.

I know my husband loves me, but I still wonder why he has kept these letters all these years (19). Did he love her? Is it for sentimental reasons?

— Irked and Uncertain.

Dear Irked: Don't let old ghosts come between you. He is being sentimental about a part of his life you didn't share. Probably never thinks about the old flame until he does a little housecleaning. (How about that redhead you dated on at high school?)

The next time you renovate, casually suggest he go through his old papers and see if he wants to keep any of them. Then forget it.

Dear Doris: My husband and I would very much like to go overseas to help in underdeveloped countries, but not as missionaries: just as ourselves. My husband is a progressive farmer and a professional cement finisher. I am a housewife, and good at sewing. Sufficiently intelligent to read instructions.

I wrote to C.U.S.O., which I think is the "Peace Corps" we hear about, and they said they could only take university graduates, and that, unfortunately, leaves my husband and me out completely.

It seems we surely have something to offer, but to whom do we apply? — Willing To Work.

Dear Willing: I'm told there are far more job applicants than can be placed abroad.

You might write to the External Aid Office, Department of External Affairs, which sends out Canadian teachers and experts to many countries. From time to time other groups — churches, Y.M.C.A.'s, Cross Roads Africa, and out persons.

(We now have some understanding of why people act as they do. Write to Doris about your particular human problem, enclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope for private reply.)

Reports of Year's Activities Given At Council of CWL Meeting

MARMORA — The annual meeting of Marmora council of the Catholic Women's League was held Monday in the parish hall.

In answer to a request in correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. Joe Maloney, the sum of $10 is being sent to the training centre for lay apostolates at Cumberland. A letter will be sent to Mrs. Percy Carman acknowledging a gift of serviettes and place mats from Hastings County Agricultural Society.

Mrs. Bill Meehan Jr. gave a completea financial report for the year and a cheque was presented to the director to assist in parish projects.

A special Mass will be celebrated on April 30th.

Reports of year's activities were given by conveners of committees. In mission work Mrs. Charles Lajoie noted that 100 cartons of used clothing had been sent to Lombermere as well as new toys. Stamps had been forwarded to Holy Redeemer College at Windsor, and Marmora council also provides financial assistance to missions in foreign fields each month.

Mrs. John Clairmont gave an account of the sewing done by members resulting in a most successful bazaar booth last October. A quilting will be arranged in the near future to prepare for this year's event, and members were asked for sewing and knitting articles.

There were excellent spiritual readings at each meeting by Mrs. Charles Brady as well as informative talks given by Mrs. Donald Shannon Sr. pertaining to education. The council contributed a $100 bursary to the highest standing grade 13 pupil from the parish as well as prizes to highest students in each grade in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. P. J. O'Neill stated there were 101 paid up members in Marmora Council in 1967-68. A membership potluck supper will be held in May in an effort to obtain a good membership early in the term. There were 17 subscriptions to the Canadian League magazine in Mrs. Charles Crawford's report, and a humorous article was read from the current issue.

Presentations of CWL signies were made to 10 Girl Guides by convener, Mrs. A. M. Jones and Father Scanlan, and articles on citizenship and immigration were read by Mrs. Roger Neaseth.

In social welfare work the committee supplied seven gifts to new mothers, numerous get well cards, baskets were provided to needy families at Christmas, as well as gifts to shut-ins, and a gift to a burnt-out member, Mrs. Meehan Jr. and Mrs. Maloney visited the sick during the next month.

Social action convener, Mrs. Breen O'Connor dwelt on decrees of Vatican II which concerned laity participation, and reviewed objections sent to government officials during the year to the liberalization of abortion laws.

Mrs. Bill Monk, president, gave a brief resume of other phases of the year's programs, including ecumenical meetings with women of other Marmora churches; the bus trip to Cornberemere missions sponsored by the CWL; decoration of ecumenical windows in December; the discussions led by director on practical problems in ecumenism and church unity, and the address on Catholic family life by the Diocesan president. She also reviewed fund raising projects, and thanked members for their co-operation, terming it a satisfactory year.

Mrs. O'Connor reported on the achievements of the Marmora Women's organization, stressing the advantages of belonging to the Horticultural Society and outlining plans for a tea by the organization on April 26th.

The business that followed covered tentative plans for Holy Name banquet in May and catering for two wedding banquets in June.

There was also discussion on possibility of a bus trip to Midland, and members were reminded of Diocesan convention at Sun Valley Motel in Bellefonte on May 25-26th.

Director Father Scanlan thanked members for their work during the past year and asked them to continue in their efforts in the year to come.

Mother: "George, don't act like such a baby! You're worse than little Jimmy." (Later): "Of course, you can't stay up late as your older brother. You need more sleep."

George: "Nobody around here likes me."

Mother: "We're trying to make George feel that he's special, too, and that he has some privileges that are his alone. I'm fixing up a room for him, and he and his father are studying the stars together every night."

Help the middle child to feel that he is not squeezed in between the cherished baby and the privileged older brother.

Dissenters Evident

Belleville Students Enthused with Liberal Leadership Winner

By STEVE BISBOP

Canada's new prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, is reputed to have a great appeal to the young. An informal poll of Belleville teenagers produced a strong confirmation of this opinion.

The youth of the Prime Minister-to-be, his vitality, and the wealthy bachelor image combine to make him the most popular Canadian politician among the young people.

There were dissenters of course. Their objections to Trudeau stemmed mainly from what they felt was an over-emphasis on the image rather than the man. But these views were those of the minority.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Trudeau's French-Canadian origin did not influence the decisions of the teenagers one way or the other, except for some who felt he would be good for national unity because of his French background.

There were a number of teenagers too who knew little of his policies, and were for or against him only on his image. Many were unaware that he had been Minister of Justice before emerging as the new Prime Minister at the Liberal Convention.

Two of the most enthusiastic Trudeau supporters to be found were Moira students Jeff Hume and Mel Wilson, who journeyed to the Liberal Convention in Ottawa this past weekend. They managed to get into the Civic Centre to hear the candidates speak on Friday night, and were even on hand to help decorate Mr. Trudeau's hospitality suite at Ottawa's Skyline Hotel.

Both came away from the Convention even more confirmed in their support of Trudeau than they had been beforehand.

"I like Trudeau's style and the way he speaks," said Jeff. "He instills an enlightened spirit in Canadian politics." Mel stated. "He represents a change in Canadian thinking, something we've needed for a long time."

Those whose view of the Convention came from TV and newspapers had strong opinions, too.

Michael Fitzgibbon came out in favor of Trudeau. "He's a dynamic personality who will move Canada forward."

Michael Taylor, however, was not convinced. "Trudeau is more NDP than Liberal. He advocates socialistic policies."

"I like his adaptability," said Tarmo Heyduck. "The country's changing fast, and Trudeau will be able to adapt to the changes. He'll get things done."

Don Tracey was uncertain of his support of Trudeau. "He seems to be sly, and lacks sincerity. I preferred him to Winters, though."

"His policies are flexible," was the opinion of Elgin Wyatt. "He'll be Canada's new Laurier."

Michael Marino was thinking along the same lines: "He'll add beaucoup de vie to Canadian politics with his progressive policies."

Dennis Prentice compared the new Prime Minister to another leader with a strong appeal to youth. "He'll bring to Canada what JFK brought to the United States."

A male student, who preferred to remain anonymous, added: "I don't think Canada will miss Judy LaMarsh."

The female sector of Belleville youth had their opinions, too, although they were less concerned with politics than the men himself.

Narda Verbieren finds him attractive. "He presents a new image to the Canadian female."

"Canada's young and he's young," said Jeanette Kletch. "The combination should be good."

While these opinions represent the prevalent attitude among the girls, not all were believers.

"Everybody thinks he's sexy," said Shawnee Craig. "But I don't."

"He ran on an image, and won on an image," stated Pamela Stork.

But, for or against him, the young people are interested in Trudeau.

Supporting Their Man...

Hundreds of teenagers streamed to Ottawa last week for the Liberal party leadership convention. Among those demonstrating for their favorite candidate were Mel Wilson and Jeff Hume of Belleville.

Mini-skirted Teens Provide The 'Hoopla' at Convention

By ROGER WORTH
Staff Reporter

OTTAWA — The younger generation is really getting into the swing of politics in Canada.

Hundreds, if not thousands of teenagers, turned up in the capital city last week to participate in demonstrations for their choice of the ten contenders for the leadership of the liberal party.

They flocked through the hotels and convention hall with signs, banners and posters singing or yelling the campaign slogan of their favorites. They not only added to the "hoopla" of the national convention — in many cases they were the "hoopla."

A pretty 14-year-old wearing a gold mini-skirt and jacket, the official uniform for John Turner's forces, told me on Saturday she hadn't attended school classes since the previous Wednesday. "You can learn more here than you can at school anyway," she said. "Besides, I'm having a ball."

John Ball, a grade 13 student in Ottawa claimed one-half the senior students in his school were working for candidates in the convention. "Only 14 of the 138 students in grade 12 attended class on Friday," he said.

Two female supporters of candidate Robert Winters told me they had paid their own way from Winnipeg to attend. They were both first year students at the University of Manitoba and dressed in the colorful green "Winters" mini-skirts they teamed up with about 200 others to promote the Winters name. "It was well worth $150," one said.

Allan Samals of Vancouver left his home town a week prior to the convention. He and a friend hitchhiked to Ottawa to campaign for the winner, Pierre Elliott Trudeau. "We are having fun here although they work us pretty hard," he said.

Candidate Allan MacEachen had at least 30 young supporters from the Maritimes and many more from Ontario. Another supporter, a first year student at Queen's, said she worked all through Friday night in preparation for the final vote Saturday afternoon.

The teenagers campaigning for Paul Hellyer also presented an exciting sight in their red and white uniforms.

The candidates themselves provided the regalia for the youngsters but many uniforms had to be doctored before they would fit.

Many of the uniforms were purchased in medium size only and the youngsters had to make changes to suit the various shapes and figures. "I ful green "Winters" mini-skirts they teamed up with cut the sleeves off and shortened sleeves on 15 jackets for our fellows," a Turner supporter claimed.

Premier Joey Smallwood told me he hadn't seen so many class cut campaigners since he left Newfoundland. "They're the ones that are giving the convention an air of excitement," he said.

During the day it was difficult to find two different colored jackets or mini - skirts mingling together but the mood of the campaigners seemed to change once activities at the convention hall were completed.

It wasn't unusual to see a girl in an orange Trudeau suit on the arm of a gold jacketed Turner man . . . or a Hellyer red jacket with a Winter's mini-skirted escort.

Folksingers, Rock Group Perform at MSS

By STEPHEN HUNTER

DRAMA, Folk-singing and now rock and roll. It is a talented school that we have and there are many ways this talent expresses itself.

Our dramatists, through the school drama club and the "Footlight Players", a local theatrical group, show their Moira training on stage and our Folksingers and a group called "A State of Mind" vocally display their talents.

RECENTLY a new group has come into the foreground. They are a rock-and-roll outfit called "The Bitter-Sweet" and they're coming on strong. The group has been practising since the first of the year and have recently acquired an organist.

The group has a good sound and has pleased crowds at Moira, NCC and other local festivals. The members of the group are John Day, Paul Day, Gary Mader, Steve Bazuk, Eric Dunlop and Jamie Cass.

It is good to know that there are good local groups such as The Bitter Sweet that are playing for the enjoyment of the young folk in Belleville.

They have upcoming engagements and it is well worth your while and money to enjoy an evening compliments of the Bitter Sweet.

AT THE BASKETBALL game of the century last Friday night between the CKWS No-Stars and Bell's Bombers (the MSS teachers) the teachers romped to a 69-36 victory in the clutch of a large crowd of staff and students. Adding to the color, if not size of the evening were the two mystery announcers, Mr. Read and his side-kick Glen Irwin.

Thanks go to all the teachers members of the lettermen's and history club for making the game and dance afterwards a complete success.

The dance afterwards brought a big crowd ever to a dance at Moira Secondary. I'm glad to see that people are living up. It must be spring.

THERE WILL be a parade on Saturday to honor the two hockey teams who won all Ontario championships. The parade needs 30-40 able bodied students male or female to act as clowns. It would require only about an hour of your time on Saturday starting at 1:00.

It'll be a riot, so if you'd like to be a part of the parade give me a call at 968-7102 sometime tonight or tomorrow morning.

THE EASTER weekend is coming and with visions of hot-cross buns and Easter eggs in their eyes the children are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Br'er Rabbit.

The wait is not too long. The holidays are coming.

BCI Jackets Available

THE NEW-STYLE school jackets have come in and distribution was started the first of this week under the direction of Judy Jolliffe. The new jackets are quite smart and should show up well beside those of other schools.

The key Club has continued its good work of cleaning up the County Museum with members on the job most Saturdays. The Key Club will be holding a dance April 19th, which should be well worth attending.

AN INVITATIONAL Girls' Gymnastics meet was held at BCI on March 31st with area schools participating. The meet was won by the BCI girls on the basis of most points accumulated.

The Students' Council held a car wash over the week-end to raise funds for the depleted treasury. From all accounts it was a success and enough money was raised to help keep Student Council in the black.

Last Saturday an area badminton tournament was held at Centennial. David Geen and David Bunnet placed second in the doubles play and qualified to go on to the COSSA tournament at Centennial this week.

Quinte Students Get Set For Busy Easter Weekend

By SUE BOARDMAN

WE HAVE FOUR wonderful days of holidays now, a break that we've all been waiting for. Quinte is starting things off with a bang — tonight by holding a dance sponsored by the Key Club. The band that will be playing is "Sum People's Children".

It all begins at 8:30 p.m. and I'm sorry to say that you have to call it quits for the night at 12:00. Cost is only $1 single and $1.75 a couple, so come on and have yourself a riot — how about a lot of fun?

Quinte students were really busy this past weekend. The World Affairs Club went to Brockville to enter in a debating contest. The subject that they discussed was, Resolve: Quebec Separatism Should Be Encouraged.

THE BADMINTON tournament at Centennial, the girls' COSSA gymnastic meet and the boys' COSSA gymnastic meet were all held during the weekend. Quinte had representatives in all of events and placed very well in each one.

I have been informed that all extra-curricular activities at the school will close on May the 11th with our spring formal. If any of you have any ideas, then you'd better start moving since there isn't much time left. A few activities have already taken shape for this month.

QUINTE'S MUSIC Night is going to be on the 2nd of May this year. Tickets for this will go on sale in a few weeks.

On the 8th of May, Quinte Highlights will be held. This is a display of students' work throughout the year.

More information will be given concerning each event as it comes up.

Congratulations go out to Dave Roper a grade 12 student here who has won the Olive E. Glanbitz Home and School Award. Dave is the president of the Key Club and has done a lot for our school this year.

Don't forget to go out to Quinte tonight and get the weekend off to a good start.

PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU, the present leader of the Liberal Party and the future Prime Minister of Canada, has aroused the "now" generation to take an interest in politics.

He advocates change and the establishment of "a just society". His casual manner and youthful vigor appeal to teenagers but they seem to make adults apprehensive. After all, when has Canada ever had a Prime Minister who was referred to as "a swinger".

Tradeau Steps Into Job With Take Home Pay of $20,000

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau steps up to the highest political salary in the land when he becomes prime minister of Canada later this month.

Mr. Trudeau's total income from the office will be $46,000 a year—up $10,000 from his income as justice minister. But like everyone else, he won't enjoy it all. Deducted, including income tax, a $5,000-a-year assessment for his official residence at 24 Sussex Dr. in Ottawa and $2,000 for car expenses will cut his take-home pay to about $20,000.

Nearest provincial premier's salary is that of Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec, whose $40,000-a-year official income is $18,000 above the average remuneration for premiers, and more than $23,000 above that of Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island, whose income of $16,750 a year is the lowest in Canada.

Newfoundland—increases for Newfoundland legislators were voted last spring and the previous incomes are included in brackets: Premier $20,500 ($18,499.99); ministers $18,500 ($13,499.99); Speaker $14,000 ($9,999.99); members $8,500 ($6,499.99); Opposition leader $13,500 ($6,499.99).

Prince Edward Island—premier $16,750, up from $13,249 last year; minister $10,800, up about $100 from last year; Speaker $6,400, up from $5,600 last year; members $4,000; Opposition leader $6,500.

Nova Scotia—premier $20,000; ministers $18,000; Speaker $9,750; members $6,000; Opposition leader $13,200. Last increase was in 1966.

New Brunswick—premier $27,500; ministers $19,500; Speaker $12,500; members $7,500; Opposition leader $23,500. Last increase was in 1965.

Quebec—premier $40,000; ministers $33,000; Speaker $21,000; members $18,000; Opposition leader $33,000. Last increase 1965.

Ontario—premier $30,000; ministers with portfolios $24,000; ministers without portfolios $14,500; Speaker $25,500; members $12,000; Opposition leader $24,000. Expense allowance is reduced by $1,000 in all categories for members living within Metropolitan Toronto. Last increase 1965.

Manitoba—premier $23,800; ministers $22,800; Speaker $19,000; members $7,800; Opposition leader $23,800. Last increase 1966.

Saskatchewan (the recommended new rates shown in brackets)—premier $19,000 ($30,000); $18,000 ($26,000); Speaker $9,000 ($14,000); members $6,000 ($10,); Opposition leader $18,000 ($26,000).

British Columbia—premier $36,500; ministers $7,500 plus varying expenses (Attorney-General Robert Bonner, for example, gets a total of $8,850 travel expenses in addition to his minister's salary); Speaker, about $15,500; members about $8,000; Opposition leader about $15,500. Last increase 1965.

Trials of A Sheriff

Most Violent Election In City Was in 1842

By GERALD E. BOYCE

Belleville has had its share of riots, rebellion and 1837-38 witnessed the deaths of two local residents, the arrests of scores of suspected revolutionaries, and the wrecking of a Belleville newspaper office. The Grand Trunk Railway strike of 1876-77 saw the town's railroad engineers blockade the main Toronto-Montreal line for three days, until 200 officers and men of the Queen's Own Rifles arrived from Toronto to restore law and order. And the elections of the 19th century frequently were accompanied by threats, intimidation, violence and general disorder.

Perhaps the most violent and exciting local election was that held in October, 1842, to elect a member for the Canadian Legislative Assembly (now known as the House of Commons). In the 1842 election, the government ordered two companies of soldiers from Kingston to Belleville to enable the election to proceed. Even then, only a small fraction of eligible voters were able to vote, and the whole election was finally declared invalid.

The story of the exciting 1842 election has been told for the first time in Gentle Pioneers, a new book from the pen of Audrey Y. Morris (Hodder and Stoughton, 1968).

In Gentle Pioneers, Audrey Morris tells the story of five related pioneers who came from the British Isles in the 1830s. The five were Susanna Strickland Moodie, noted writer and Belleville resident in the years from 1839 to 1869; J. W. Dunbar Moodie, Susanna's husband and the first sheriff of the Victoria District as Hastings County was then known; Catherine Parr Traill, Susanna's sister and herself an important writer; Catherine's husband, Thomas Traill, and Samuel Strickland, the younger brother of Susanna and Catharine. All five settled in the Peterborough-Belleville area, and their intertwining stories have been told in an imaginative fashion by Miss Morris.

The election of 1842 finds its way into "Gentle Pioneers", since this was one of the challenges faced by Dunbar Moodie. He served as returning officer in this contest between Tory Edmund Murney and Reformer Robert Baldwin.

Earlier, in 1841, Moodie had also served as returning officer when the same two candidates had contested the local election, but the earlier contest was somewhat tame by comparison.

In both contests, the Orangemen supported Murney of Belleville against Toronto Reform leader Baldwin who sought to bring the Hastings seat into the Reform fold.

Baldwin had won the first contest by 36 votes, whereupon Murney's supporters condemned both Baldwin and returning officer Moodie.

It was alleged that Moodie had refused to stop ruffians from bothering Murney's followers. Moodie was accused of favoritism. And, in fact, Moodie had entertained Baldwin in his home and had become a good friend of this cultured gentlemen, so that the charges seemed to have some foundation. However, all records indicate that Moodie was an impartial returning officer and did a conscientious job in 1841.

When the polls opened at Belleville on Oct. 3, 1842, the voting was interrupted by riots. Groups of armed citizens challenged each other and blocked the path of citizens who might vote for the opposing candidate.

Alarmed by this state of events, Moodie called up the militia and swore in special constables. Violence continued unchecked. Hence, Moodie asked for and received two companies of regular troops from Kingston.

The troops arrived on Thursday, the fourth day in the six day cycle of voting. Even their arrival failed to quell the disturbances, as Murney's supporters continued to block the routes leading to the poll.

Possible Baldwin voters, who would have to announce their preference publicly (as was the custom of the times) held back from the poll. Hesitating to use the troops against Murney's supporters and hoping to avoid further violence, Moodie waited.

However, since so few persons were able to vote (except for Murney's supporters), Moodie knew that he must do something. Therefore, he asked the government to allow the polls to remain open for more than the scheduled six-day period. Unfortunately, no extension was granted. Then on Friday, Oct. 7, there were further attempts at riot, and Moodie closed the poll early. The poll was also closed early on Saturday for the same reason.

When the votes were tabulated, the count was 426 for Murney and 433 for Baldwin. But Moodie refused to certify that the election had been completed, since so few people had been able to vote. He called upon the Canadian Legislative Assembly to arrange a new election. This request was granted, and Murney and Baldwin again prepared to do battle.

Both sides were critical of Moodie for his handling of the 1842 election, and a different returning officer was appointed. He was William Hutton, first warden of the Victoria District. (Hastings County.) The new election saw Murney's victory confirmed.

The attack on Dunbar Moodie in connection with the two elections was only one part of a continuing campaign to remove the "intruder", as some people considered Moodie. There was resentment that an outsider from the Peterborough district should have been picked as the county's first sheriff.

This controversy between Dunbar Moodie and his political opponents occupies an important place in Gentle Pioneers, which book devotes several chapters to local conditions in the mid-19th Century. Its description of early political strife in the Belleville area is excellent. (The style is clear, stimulating, and exciting.) Audrey Morris has written a book that deserves to be on the best-sellers' list for local readers. Gentle Pioneers is "must reading" for anyone interested in the political literary, and social history of Belleville and Hastings County.

Stamp Honors Ketch

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office said Wednesday it will issue a new five-cent stamp June 5 to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the ketch, the Nonsuch, whose voyage into Canada's northern waters is credited with the opening of the Canadian fur trade.

The voyage of the Nonsuch and her return to England with a cargo of prime furs led to the incorporation of the Hudson's Bay Co.

Old Bargainer Gets New Chore

WASHINGTON (CP) — Averell Harriman, the old capitalist with a long record of nose-to-nose bargaining with the Communists, has been assigned by President Johnson to explore the rocky road to a Vietnam peace.

It could be just a footpath leading nowhere—yet. But patience and endurance—and business—have been characteristics of the Harriman formula, starting with Josef Stalin.

Harriman, U.S. ambassador-at-large with a roving commission centring in the last three years on Vietnam peace possibilities, is 76. But he wears well.

He has been around longer and in more official roles than any other active official in Washington.

"In dealing with the Russians, I stick to the facts," he has said. The wartime ambassador in Moscow who later became governor of New York state, probably will stick to that formula with North Vietnam.

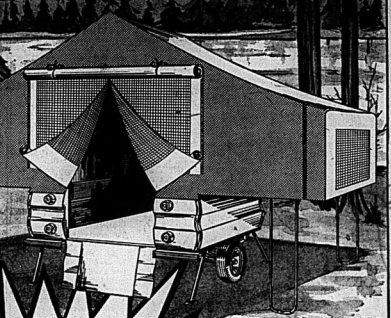
Harriman's experience has shown the Communist bargainer may not always mean what he says or say what he means. Harriman is competent and colorful, a trouble-shooter who began under Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1933. He has scoffed at retirement and says work is a duty.

Tweed Students Tour Petawawa, Chalk River

TWEED — Between 50 and 60 students from Tweed-Hungerford High School spent April 5 touring the Hydro electric dam at DesJoachims and the atomic energy installations at—Chalk River.

At Chalk River the students, all from grades 11, 12 and 13, viewed films and scientific projects, including the newly constructed proton accelerator.

The group was joined by 24 cadets from the school who had spent the morning touring the maintenance section of Camp Petawawa.



Accompanying the students were teachers M. Tubbe, George Cope, Wallie Raniowski and Miss K. Steeves.

SPORT SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Hockey superstar turned sports columnist Maurice Richard through the written word is not exactly endearing himself to Montreal sportswriters.

His brilliant achievements and records as a player will never be forgotten as long as hockey is played in Canada. Speak of hockey anywhere in Canada or wherever it is played, and one of the first names that leaps to mind is "Rocket Richard." It has always commanded respect.

Pat Curran of the Montreal Gazette in his column writes: "Richard however, is continually losing this respect in rash, bitter and silly statements scrrolled him in a local (Montreal) weekly. The columns and articles obviously ghost-written, have shown a bitterness not only of the Rocket's nature, but of his former club, former friends and team-mates but for himself."

"Richard" writes Curran, "took a rap at Boom-Boom Geoffrion saying he had no desire. But that one, distasteful as it was at the time, had nothing on his latest commentary following Saturday's playoff game."

In an almost tearful tirade the Rocket's weekly post-game piece goes to bat for Henri Richard, musing over the fact that the veteran centre wound up warming the bench in the third period."

Richard is quoted by Curran as saying: — "The Canadiens management — Pollock and Blake on top — royally disgusted me in making my brother Henri warm the bench. I'm not saying this because Henri is my brother . . . simply because it's enough to disgust anyone."

"I don't intend to become Henri's lawyer," Curran quotes the Rocket, "but personally I can't keep quiet. To what point are Pollock and Blake going to bring back their stupid grudge. If they want to get me why don't they take me on like men, not like a wetchicken. I'm not afraid of one, nor the other."

The article winds up, writes Curran, by extending best wishes to the Canadiens — to the players but not "to the genit of St. Catherine street."

"I repeat," said the Rocket "no organization has disgusted me so much as the Forum. On the other hand I was never more proud when I was carrying the Canadiens colors — but that was a long time ago."

"Somewhere along the line," writes Curran, "Maurice may have developed a grudge of his own against the club, Sam Pollock and the old Punch Line team-mate Toe Blake in particular. His ghost writer is making the most of it."

"But to suggest that his brother Henri was kept on the bench to spite him is asinine. It is also an incredible statement from the Rocket who knows from experience that Toe Blake wouldn't bench his worst enemy if the guy could help him win."

"Surely," says Curran, "Maurice Richard doesn't need a sports-writing dollar so badly that he must wind up as a chump instead of a champ."

Which recalls an incident that happened in Prague in 1959 when the McFarlands were battling for the world amateur championship.

The Rocket was there as a special guest of the Czechoslovakian government. Needless to say the Canadiens star was mobbed wherever he went, especially by the young-er Czechs.

However, the Rocket plainly showed his displeasure when the McFarlands management refused a request of the Montreal Canadiens to allow the Rocket to work out with the Macs.

Manager Drury Denyes, assistant manager Billy Reay, a former team-mate of the Rocket and Coach Bep Hildebrand refused to "break" a Macs line for the suggested workout.

The Rocket however forgot his "beef" long enough to give the Macs perfunctory congratulations after they won the world title.

CALGARY (CP) — Al Rollins resigned Wednesday as coach of the University of Calgary Dinosaurs of the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Association hockey league. Rollins, a Vezina Trophy winner as a National Hockey League goaltender, said he cannot devote enough time to the job of coaching.

Lead Series 2-1

All Go Tonight

Blues Ground Flyers In Overtime

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The National Hockey League playoffs are beginning to look more and more like the regular season all the time—with all the competition in the Western Division.

In the eastern playoffs, Montreal Canadiens have a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarter-final oper Boston Bruins while New York Rangers lead Chicago Black Hawks 2-0.

But nothing is nearly as certain in the west where St. Louis Blues Wednesday took a 2-1 lead over Philadelphia Flyers and Los Angeles Kings have a 2-1 lead on Minnesota North Stars.

All four series continue tonight in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Minnesota.

Wednesday's 3-2 St. Louis victory carried the comparison even further with Larry Keenan eventually scoring the winner at 4:10 of the second overtime after Terry Crisp and Frank St. Marseilles had scored earlier.

Jean-Paul Gauthier and Joe Watson tied the score at 1-1 and 2-2 for Flyers in the second and third periods.

Canadiens and Rangers, who finished first and second in the Eastern Division during the regular schedule, are just continuing their regular-season form in the playoffs.

But it was a knock-down, drag-out affair in the west during the regular season with only four points between the playoff contenders when final standings were posted, and that's just the way they are doing it now.

Flyers finished on top of the division while Blues made third place ahead of Minnesota in the last couple of games of the schedule.

Now Blues are bumping and pushing the Flyers into a corner while North Stars, who manhandled Los Angeles with six wins and two ties during the regular season, can't seem to get to them at all now that the play-offs are here.

That the Blues deserved their Wednesday victory is indicated by the 57 shots they had on Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent while Flyers were testing Glenn Hall in the St. Louis goal just 35 times in 74-plus minutes of hockey.

"I don't know whether it was the rest of what, but I think we were stronger than Flyers in the overtime periods," Keenan said after scoring the winner, his second goal of the playoffs.

St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman felt the difference was that he had six defencemen dressed and was able to give his blue-line corps more rest than could coach Keith Allen of the Flyers.

Allen was incensed at a penalty against Leon Rochefort that wasn't called in the first overtime and worried about the condition of forward Gary Dornhoefer.

He felt Rochefort had been impeded when he was going in with a clear shot on the St. Louis goal.

"He was hooked and no penalty was called. That's what lost us the game."

But team officials weren't able to say how serious was the injury to Dornhoefer, who left the game after a fight with Barclay Plager of St. Louis with four minutes remaining in the second period.

There was speculation that his right leg might be broken, and it seemed sure he wouldn't play tonight.

But there was no question that Bobby Hull would play for Chicago tonight—perhaps as much as three men normally would.

In Tuesday's game he played right wing on one line, centre on another and killed penalties, and coach Billy Reay said he planned to do the same thing tonight.

Seattle Stops Phoenix

PHOENIX (AP) — Seattle Totems showed defensive strength in the first period and scoring power in the third to defeat Phoenix Roadrunners 5-2 before 5,226 fans Wednesday night and grab a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Hockey League semi-final.

Seattle allowed just two shots on goal in the first period and then broke a 2-2 tie in the third period with a three-goal barrage in less than five minutes.

Jelinek Team Plan Retirement

TORONTO (CP) — Otto and Maria Jelinek, the brother-sister team from Oakville, who turned professional after winning the world pairs skating title in 1962, plan to hang up their skates.

Otto said at a luncheon Wednesday Maria will go to university in Ann Arbor, Mich., and he will enter the family business. Jelinek interests include real estate, cork manufacture and the making and sale of sporting goods.

'Yaz' Twists Tigers' Tail With Pair Of Homers

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They yawned when Carl Yastrzemski hit his first home run of the 1968 season. But they could hardly believe the second one.

The first homer for the 1967 Triple Crown winner came in the seventh inning of Boston's 7-3 opening day victory over Detroit Wednesday. It was the routine kind for Carl; over the wall and into the seats.

But in the ninth, Yaz blasted one off the centrefield wall 420 feet away and while it bounced around in the outfield, he legged out an inside-the-park homer, the first one of his life.

"I never hit one before," said Yastrzemski. "But when I hit it, I thought it was gone."

In other American League openers, Minnesota beat Washington 2-0, Cleveland crushed Chicago 9-0, New York edged California 1-0 and Baltimore took Oakland 3-1.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat Chicago 9-4, San Francisco edged New York 5-4, Houston nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, St. Louis squeezed past Atlanta 2-1 and Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 2-0.

"We couldn't do much better than that the first day," said Red Sox Manager Dick Williams, who was especially pleased by the fact that Dick Ellsworth, acquired from Philadelphia during the winter, went the distance.

"I think Ellsworth and Ray Culp can make up for Jim Lonborg (who will miss part of the season because of his skiing injury). We've got some good young arms on this staff. We can do it."

Vice-president Hubert Humphrey watched happily as his Minnesota Twins beat Washington with Dean Chance hurling a four-hitter. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison hit homers for Twins.

Sonny Siebert stopped White Sox on just two hits while Duke Sims lead a lusty Indian hitting attack with two homers. Singles by Duane Josephson and Ken Boyer were the only hits of Siebert.

Mel Stottlemyre also turned in a fine pitching performance, setting down Angels on four hits. Yankees only had three themselves off George Brunet, but one of them was a homer by Frank Fernandes in the second inning.

Don Buford's two hits, one run scored and run-saving fielding play highlighted the Orioles' victory. Frank Robinson homered for the birds and Tom Phoebus was the winning pitcher.

Series Tied 2-2

Elmvale Stops Picton

Tied 3-3 going into the third period in Picton, Elmvale stole a page from the Merchants' book by exploding for five goals and an 8-4 victory.

The win tied the best-of-seven series two games each with one tie. The clubs play in Elmvale Sunday afternoon at 2, and back in Picton Tuesday at 9 p.m.

Picton led three times last night by single goals but the visitors kept coming back and finally took command in the third heat when they blasted 24 shots at goalie Tom O'Halloran. In all, Elmvale outshot Picton 51-33 in a surprisingly strong performance.

Picton jumped ahead 1-0 in the first period on Jim Guernsey's goal at 4.01 and Elmvale tied it at 2.32 of the second with L. Smith pulling the trigger. Bob Neil at 18.01 again put Picton in front and six minutes later C. Edwards fired that equalizer. Doug Dafoe's goal at 17.00 gave Picton a lead for the last time and H. Barrett got that back in the final minute of the period.

Elmvale struck quickly in the third, taking a 5-3 lead on goals by B. McAuley at 3.50 and S. McKenzie at 3.34. A. Smith made it 6-3 at 12.38 before Roland Berry kept the Merchants alive with a goal at 13.40. McKenzie at 16.55 and Edwards at 18.02, each with their second goals of the game, put the wraps on the key win for Elmvale.

Picton assists went to Berry, Billy Hopkins, Larry Pero, Carl Stacey, Dafoe and Fred James.

Seven of the game's nine penalties came in the final twenty minutes. Elmvale drew five of the total. Among the sentences were fighting majors to Roland Berry and Elmvale's J. Brown at 17.52 of the third.

Shuffleboard

In last night's Shuffleboard playoff action the Crystal Hotel defeated the ANAF to win the "A" Division playoff championship.

The Crystal Hotel now plays the Quinte Hotel of Trenton for the Belleville - Trenton Shuffleboard League championship.

In "B" Division the City Hotel won the championship by defeating the Quinte Hotel.

In "C" Division the Napanee Hotel defeated the Paisley Hotel for "C" championship.

The trophies will be presented at the Shuffleboard banquet to be held at Deseronto Legion on Saturday April 20.

Lord Layton Here for Minor Events

Lord Athol Layton, all six-foot-eight of him, the Imperial Potentate of the Shrine's Rameses Temple, Toronto will be here for the Parade of Champions on Saturday.

sell Scott and minor hockey dignitaries at the head of the parade.

At the conclusion of the Shrine Peewee Tournament Saturday evening the distinguished visitor will present the Shrine Trophy emblematic of one of the tournament's championships to the winner.

Shrine tournament chairman Noble George Muller was instrumental in bringing Lord Layton here. It is understood he cancelled a previous Shrine commitment in order to visit Belleville.

Wrestling fans here will recall Lord Layton. He has appeared here on several occasions and was always a popular favorite. His clean abovedboard tactics in the ring met with instant acclaim of fans of the district — and they never forgot him.

Lord Layton is also a television sports commentator of repute and has been heard over several American channels covering wrestling matches.

For years he was ambassador-at-large for the Shrine and has aided its many projects particularly the crippled children.

Corner Brook Defeats Tigers 6-1

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — Coach Danky Dorrington of Corner Brook Royals was just a little worried his team might have lost its desire after dropping two lopsided games to Victoriaville, Que. Tigers in the eastern Canadian Allan Cup quarter-finals.

The Royals proved their coach wrong.

They came back to defeat the Tigers 6-1 before a crowd of 3,-000 here Wednesday but still trail the Quebec representatives 2-1 in the best-of-five series.

The Tigers would wrap it up in the fourth game here tonight. If a fifth game is needed it will be played here Saturday.

Victoriaville trounced the Newfoundland representatives 15-1 and 9-2 in the first two games of the series in the Quebec centre earlier this week.

"After a team loses like we did in Victoriaville, they usually lie down," said playing-coach Dorrington in the Corner Brook dressing room. "It's great to win this way."

City Sports Briefs

There will be a general meeting of the Belleville Minor Baseball Association held in the EMO Building 163 Dundas Street East on Wednesday, April 17th starting at eight o'clock.

BMBA president Bill Hurst says all coaches, umpires and others interested are asked to attend.

Chairman Ken Carr-Brant of the City Awards Committee extends on behalf of that body its sincere congratulations to the Smith Fuels peewees and the Dairymen bantams for bringing home two all - Ontario championships.

Muriel Sargeis took over top spot in ladies high scores in five - pins at the Bowl-O-Drome this week. She scored a neat 383 and had a triple, also high, of 809.

Departmental League Has Seven Entries

Expansion is a fact and no longer just a possibility for the Belleville Departmental Softball League.

League secretary Bill Cooney announced this morning that "seven clubs are definite starters and there is a good chance of an eighth team" following a meeting last night.

The league has operated five entries during the past two seasons.

Last season's five entries, Electric Motors, The Intelligencer, Police Department, Fire Department and Combines are back along with Post Office and the CNR. The other possible entry is Public Utilities.

All games were played at Prince Charles School last season but the league hopes to acquire two fields for the 1968 schedule.

The league also voted for a change of umpires for this season. Six clubs voted and accepted the Belleville and District Umpires' Association, represented by Al Kelleher and Harold Bawden, by a 4-2 vote. The league employed the Centennial Umpires' Association in 1967.

Another meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, May 1, at the Police Department gym at 7 p.m.

Quinte Zone Bowlers Vie For Titles

Nineteen Bay of Quinte zone five pin bowlers will be competing in the Eastern Canada Championships today, tomorrow and Saturday, at Niagara Falls.

Marjorie Sheppard, of Brighton, Audrey Ash, Trenton and Lorraine Cassidy, Trenton, will represent the zone in the ladies' singles event. Leo Labelle, Belleville, Jim Nicholls, Belleville, Les Tysick, Kingston will compete for the men's singles championship. The others will participate in team events.

Winners at Niagara Falls will get a return trip to that city next month to compete against western Canada winners in the Carling Canadian Championships, May 18th, 19th and 20th.

Leads Bridge Tournament

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. M. L. Broadbent of St. Thomas and Mrs. T. A. Wright of Galt took the lead Wednesday at the halfway point of the women's pairs championships at the Canadian national bridge tournament.

Leading the men's pairs were Dr. S. W. Marinker and V. A. Pizzi, both of Sault Ste. Marie. Simon Bramson and Irving Litvack were second in the 52-table competition.

The tournament continues today with the end of the pairs and the start of play in the knockout team championships and the two-session, mixed pairs event.

Handguns

Don Parks 257, J. Heimbach 247, R. Charlton 222, B. Waters 223.

Lifetime Sentence Is Given Killer

Ronald Turpin, 23, was sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday for the murder of Mrs. Gertrude Lamb, 72, in her home last Dec. 23.

Mr. Justice Gale of the Supreme Court of Ontario told Turpin he would be eligible for parole in seven years.

Turpin pleaded guilty to the charge of murder.

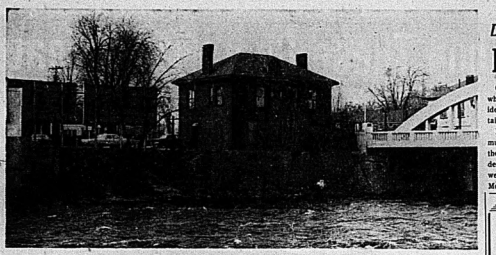
Liquor Offences Costly



BRIGHTON — Under-age liquor consumers were plentiful at this week's magistrate's court session.

Gene Latimer, 18, and 16-year-old Randolph Lockwood, both of R. R. 4 Trenton, were each fined $40 and costs after pleading guilty to supplying liquor to minors.

Two teenage girls involved pleaded guilty to consuming under age and were each fined $25.

In a separate set of charges, three Trenton teenagers pleaded guilty to possession of liquor in a motor vehicle.

The driver, 18-year-old Robert Dedoke, of Trenton, was fined $50 and two passengers were levied fines of $35 by Magistrate R. B. Batten.

Site of New Riverside "Parkette"

This old residential landmark just west of the Upper Bridge is to be demolished and the site turned into a riverside parkette. Bishop Seeds Ltd. of Belleville will contribute toward the cost of the park.

Two Plead Guilty to Jewel Theft

Two Peterborough men pleaded guilty this morning in county magistrate's court before Magistrate T. V. Wills to charges of break and enter and theft.

Ronald J. Fitzgibbon, 23 and David Davis, 24, pleaded guilty to a break-in into a Stirling jewellery store on Oct. 3 of last year.

According to evidence read by crown attorney, John Pringle a quantity of watches and rings were stolen to o value of $1400. About $400 worth of the items were recovered.

Fitzgibbon and Davis were remanded for one week.

$600 Damage In Mishap

TWEED — Damage amounting to $600 was the result of a one - vehicle accident which occurred three miles north of Tweed on Highway 37.

The mishap took place at 1.00 a.m. this morning when a car driven and owned by Aloysius Trudeau, 54, of R. R. 3, Tweed left the road. There were no personal injuries.

Splendid Concert Opens Festival

By EUGENE LANG

Very few were the unoccupied seats in Centennial Secondary conductor and the Arts Festival '68 was inaugurated with the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra giving a splendid showing of itself under the direction of its founder, Stephen Choma. Made up of about 50 amateur musicians of all ages and from various walks of life this musical organization is now in its seventh year of performing before audiences in the Quinte Area and now has over 50 appearances to its credit.

The many hours of rehearsal that the members give so gratuitously every year has given this orchestra a smoothor polish of performance as the seasons go by, and the musical stature of the group as a whole increases as the applause of each succeeding audience attests to.

Opening remarks of welcome were given by Mrs. Marion Wilson, President of Quinte Arts Council, who introduced Alderman Douglas Doyle as representative of Mayor J. Russell Scott. Mrs. Ralph Ellis, Chairman of the Concert Group of the St. Julien Chapter, IODE the sponsors of last evening's concert also prefaced the musical portion of the program with greetings to the packed house.

Variety was the keynote of the evening with Mr. Choma choosing music from the classics as well as selections from Broadway productions Hollywood Motion Pictures, and modern works of contemporary inclinations in musical speech. A few examples might be mentioned. Mozart's vivacious Marriage of Figaro Overture proved a delightful opener with remarkable results under Mr. Choma's guidance. A decided contrast were the three peices for orchestra by Robert Jager in a modern vein. The orchestra rose to a sonorous climax in the final Pughetta with the brass shining out brilliantly. Ketelby's familiar In a Persian Market was played with delightful flavoring and gobs of percussive spicing along with a vocal "Back-sheish" by the male instrumentalists adding realism. The middle section on a more sensuous theme seemed weak and wavering more so than necessary, thus could stand some pointing up.

Highlights from My Fair Lady and Mary Poppins were handled with ease and room in the quicker sections with a balance of melodic sensitivity in the slower movements. A stunning rendition of Theron Kirk's idiomatic "Intrada" was given. this work demonstrating the high degree of musicianship that Mr. Choma now has co-ordinated under his batons. A vibrant and vigorous performance of the outside movements of Eric Coate's London Suite was attained. Ballet Parisien based upon themes by Offenbach was a fine curtain closer with rhythmic drive showing in the Overture, Galop and Finale and undulating posturings coming to the fore in the waltzes. Tony's theme, a light and catchy tidbit done up in humorous attire was the orchestra's encore tossed to the continued applause of the very pleased audience.

Well known Belleville vocalists Hazel Anne Reid, soprano and Robert Reid, tenor, were featured as guest artists with Ronald Robertson as their accompanist at the keyboard. Four solos and two duets were displayed with pleasing effect. The delightful singers and, as usual in their appearances they drew loud and spontaneous handclapping from their hefers. All numbers were from the realm of the Broadway musical. Once in a lifetime was voiced with tender feeling by Hazel Anne while Robert gave a forceful yet poignant rendition of What Kind of Fool Am I? Appealing emotions were engendered by their blended tones in the fine finish that they gave to My Heart Is So Full of You.

Concert master Marion Stratton was featured as soloist in the Violin Concerto No. 1 in A Minor by J. B. Acolay and in this she carried off honors in all aspects in her finely integrated performance, with melodious linings and technical virtuosity. The orchestra backed her up immeasurably with sensitive leanings to the soloist advantage that culminated in an excellent performance.

Grossman Admits Error

TORONTO (CP) — Reform Institutions Minister Allan Grossman Wednesday told the legislature he had misled the house on one point during a recent controversy with a New Democratic Party member over mentally-ill patients held in Don Jail.

He said he had told Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park) that a man held three months in the observation ward for mentally-ill prisoners was there only for his own protection and not because he was suspected of being mentally-ill.

Mr. Grossman said the man had in fact undergone a mental examination at the request of the court, and found to be not mentally-ill.

"Due to a clerical error, the original request for a mental examination was overlooked," he said.

The controversy erupted last month when Dr. Shulman charged that persons suspected of mental illness were confined for periods up to several months in jail. Mr. Grossman had denied the charge.

Landmark Goes

Bids Vary for Demolition

Contractors figure differently when estimating jobs and the idea of calling tenders is to obtain the best price possible.

But prices seldom vary as much as tenders received for the demolition of the old residential landmark at the southwest corner of North Front and Moira Streets where a small riverside parkette is to be developed by the city.

Five tenders for demolition of the old brick residence were received by the city with the high bid exactly ten times the amount of the lowest received.

City purchasing agent, Gerald B. Hyde, said the bids ranged from a low of $275 to a high of $2,750.

The low bid was submi by Cutting Construction Trenton and acceptance of tender will be recommende city council.

Your Good Health

Arthritic Knees Need Rest, Exercise

By Joseph G. Molner

Dr. Molner: I have in both knees, and while it was just awful, every step I took on my feet a lot. Does more damage to sit out to work three or urs twice a week. Peo- me I should stay off it, Is that true? — Mrs.

correct answer to your on is not as simple as r your friends) might but it is important. ritis means that joints become worn or damage joints need rest—but also need daily move- I do not mean strenuous . I mean movement ot take your friends' ad- t face value and try to ff your feet, the result ly will be increasing s of the joints, and as they become stiffer they will be more painful when you do move them.

But, as I said, they also need rest. The answer for you is to have some of both: some movement, some rest, set aside several periods during the day when you can sit or lie down and thus strain off those painful knees. At the same time, also make it a point to move about every day to keep the joints as mobile as possible.

Your doctor can prescribe medication to make you more comfortable. Heat (hot bath, or other means of applying heat) also will make you more comfortable.

If you are overweight, shedding some pounds will help.

The above are some brief notes taken from my new booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which is now ready for distribution. It discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases, as well as outlining effective treatments and medications.

Anyone wishing a copy can get one now by sending 35 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper. Ask for the booklet by full title or just ask for "the arthritis booklet."

Dear Dr. Molner: For a year now I have been troubled with vaginal trichomoniasis. The doctor has prescribed pellets and tablets. Every time I think it has cleared up, the itching starts again. What is the best treatment for this and the cause? — Mrs. L. B.

The cause is a micro-organism known as a protozoon. The important trick in treatment is to be sure the husband is treated at the same time. For reasons not known, the protozoon irritates women but usually does not bother men as much. Therefore, the husbands do not realize that they may be harboring the same infection. Wife gets is cleared up; then infection starts all over again, from the husband whom she didn't know he ought to have been treated, too.

An effective medication which can be taken by mouth is available for trichomoniasis. Sometimes two ten-day courses of treatment are necessary in stubborn cases. The medication is effective for both men and women.

Dear Dr. Molner: My brother, age 60, makes statements in reverse. When he means something is higher, he says "lower." If he means it is ton far back, he says "too far forward." Or says "warmer" and means cooler. My mother and I get tired of correcting him. — Mrs. W. G.

This could be a neurological disorder. Instead of trying to correct him constantly, it would be more to the point to have your physician or a neurologist examine him.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would taking lemon juice and a quarter spoonful of baking soda in a half glass of water every day be bad for the liver, bladder, or kidneys? — Mrs. J. C.

The sodium in the baking soda may be undesirable in some forms of the liver or kidney disease. The lemon juice and water alone is not harmful.

Denial Not Revived Hope

a human being, God st creation, melt into te oblivion at death? this to be the ultimate the amazing life of Je- od His mission?

erson had been in Jer- on a certain Saturday ears ago and had known Jesus' followers and allilean, he would have st six. A pall of utter des- and defeat hung over Up until two days be- they had thought they following an invincible r. They had left every- to follow Him. three times denied Jesus was confronted by Him in a post-resurrection three-fold rehabilitation. (John 21:15-17)

Belief in Jesus' resurrection became the capstone of their message. Peter hardly ever lifted his voice to preach that he did not mention it. It was always the climax of Paul's preaching. In fact, he felt that belief in the resurrection was essential to Christian salvation. (Romans 10:9)

There is no scientific way to prove the resurrection. It must be accepted by faith, a faith based on the New Testament record of the experiences of the disciples and certain others. Whether or not anyone today believes in Jesus' resurrection, the disciples certainly did, and they were there.

The important thing is what belief in the resurrection of Jesus did to the disciples. It gave some of them indomitable courage (Acts 4:13). It re-enlisted them in the cause to which Christ had called them. It gave them courage to face death convinced that death would usher them into life in the presence (Philippians 1:23). As Paul was to put it, for those who believe in Jesus' resurrection, death has lost its sting; the grave has lost its victory. (I Cor. 15:55)

The most important thing in human development is hope. But too many people settle for too small a hope. They hope for a better life in this world. This is extremely important. Any religion that fails to help people achieve this hope is a poor kind of religion. But it is also poor religion if it deserts them at the grave. People need a hope that can help them look beyond death to a larger life to come.

Such a faith gives added meaning to life. It encourages people to strive to live by faith in God, believing that death will not make a mockery of such faith. As Paul said, such a faith gives people reason to be steadfast and immovable in their trust in God, and to strive to live according to His will, confident that He will not let them down at death.

Heat of Night, Expo Film Win

Katharine Hepburn, 58, was named 1967's best motion picture actress as a perplexed mother whose daughter plans to marry a Negro in Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.

Canada got an Oscar when A Place to Stand, produced by Christopher Chapman of Toronto for the Ontario government's showing Expo 67, won as the best live-action short subject.

Supporting honors went to George Kennedy, the chain gang convict of Cool Hand Luke, and to Broadway's Estelle Parsons in Bonnie and Clyde.

The glittering motion picture Academy Awards, televised and broadcast through Canada and the United States, were presided over for the 14th time by Bob Hope. His quips didn't seem up to par.

Champions Attend Funeral

CHIRNSIDE, Scotland (AP) — Jim Clark, killed in a 170-mile-an-hour auto racing accident, was buried Wednesday in the sheep farm country where he first learned to drive on his father's tractor.

Clark, twice world racing champion, was killed Sunday on the Hockenheim track in West Germany.

Among those at the funeral were Denis Hulme, the current world champion, and former champ Jack Brabham and Graham Hill.

Poor Mom!

Not many mothers would put up with having an airplane built in their livingroom, but for Mrs. Walter Weickert of Kitchener, Ont., it's just another family project which she enjoys as much as her husband and family. The 19-foot-long aircraft is being built in the livingroom, because it's the only room in the house with enough length and a suitable exit — a four by six foot window. The wings will be added after the plane is out of the house, of course. The builders are from left: Mrs. Weickert, daughters Faith 12, Hope 9, Mr. Weickert and son Chris 13. (CP Photo)

Beef Marketing Bill Approved

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature gave third reading Wednesday to a bill providing for the establishment of an orderly system for marketing beef.

The house defeated by a vote of 78 to 15 a motion by Mr. Makarchuk (NDP — Brantford) that would have delayed the final reading by six months.

The NDP motion was opposed by 19 Liberals and 59 Conservatives.

Mr. Makarchuk said passage of the bill should be delayed to give farmers more time to express their opinions. He said there was a lot of opposition to it in his riding.

James Snow (PC — Halton East) said the bill has the backing of organizations representing the majority of beef producers in Ontario.

The bill calls on the Ontario Beef Improvement Association to advise the government on establishment of standardized packing-plant procedures in the handling of beef carcasses and to spend money on promotion of beef sales.

In return the association will collect five to 15 cents a head on all cattle sold in the province. A producer has the right to request a refund of this fee.

The bill now needs only the signature of Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe.

The house gave second reading—approval in principle—to a bill repealing the authority of municipalities to levy an annual poll tax.

Rednersville

REDNERSVILLE — Masters David and Rickey Weese are recovering from tonsilectomies.

Mr. Doug Weese is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Several from the community attended a missionary night at Albury Church where the Rev. George Asbury showed films of his trip to Africa.

The local bowling league Bayshore Gals held a meeting at the Belleville Bowl to elect next year's executive: president, Mrs. Elda Sopha; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Cora Berg and statistition Mrs. Barb Peck.

Mr. Royce Dustaire accompanied Mr. John Widdicks of Trenton and Mr. Flora Donaldson of Belleville to the R. A. archery tournament in Ottawa on Sunday.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 12

Your birthday today: Despiten your natural capacity for hard driving work, you will find the coming year full of changes and interruptions of your labors. This period should bring a passionate involvement in the human struggle to rise to higher levels. Today's natives tend to be active workers who like to set goals and call their shots.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your personal concerns may intrude in your work today, but solutions will come to you during the routines of the day. Make plans tonight for a party tomorrow.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Your intuitive watchdog should be up and bristling today—there is much to beware of in the course of unfamiliar activities and strange places. Check all your facts af you go.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Competition on a personal level may get out of hand today. Social standing may depend more on how graciously you carry on than on whether you prevail over a rival.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): This is the day of your worry-mechanism; if you have nothing to fret about you'll invent something. Meditate on the rules and customs of our society and the reasons for them. If you are lucky, somebody will surprise you this evening.

LEO (July 22 — Aug. 22): Keep to the terms of your contracts today. Stay home if it's feasible, and check up on any hazardous conditions. Review your expenses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Financial dealings, purchasing, are not favored. Save the decisions for a time when you have more information to go on. Devote the evening to your hobby.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 23): Moods of depression or insecurity will get you nowhere today. Expect nobody to look beyond his own problems. Reach out a little further and be a solace to your loved ones.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): There is just enough complication today to keep you on your toes. Lending and borrowing are to be postponed or avoided altogether. Get ready tonight for a good party tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Trivial social rivalry continues today. Ignore key words, gestures and competitive movements. Money spent trying to impress people is wasted money. Keep your plans simple and modest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): The natural course of today is inconvenience. See how patiently you can cope with the nuisance, and remember this is a passing phase. Avoid reckless travel. Relax with your hobby tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Today and tonight are much like yesterday. Tend to your work sort through the mixture of desirable and undesirable, assemble what you need for the weekend. Discard useless equipment.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Unless some obligation must be met, restrict your spending today and tonight. Tomorrow will be much more favorable. Do something nice for your mate.

For April 13

Your birthday today: Despite coming year for you is full of service and increased responsibilities, human rather than financial. There is only moderate leeway for reorganization of your personal situation. There may be, however, several drastic shifts of attitude toward life. Earnings should be higher, but savings are difficult to increase. Today's natives are perennial optimists and philosophers, apt to worry only over their loved ones.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Today begins a fortnight of critical conflict: your personality against what the world demands of you. You prevail for the most, and should take strong initiative today. Celebrate tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You will have to divvy up with your mate soon, so get your resources together. Begin a campaign for improvement of your working conditions. The evening should be lively.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): If you can hold to your calm behavior, others will conclude they have not been fair to you. Many people really do believe in you. Give small gifts this evening to show your feelings.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your concern or doubt continues today, but should not interfere with your attention to work. Do not be a wallflower tonight.

LEO (July 22 — Aug. 22): Legal matters may engage your attention. Let distant details attend themselves, and concentrate on the here-and-now opportunity to cash in your knowledge. Don't get too involved with the party people tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): An economy campaign within reasonable limits is favored. You are going to need more funds soon; it is time to think bigger about your income. Relax tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Today your challenge continues, so prepare to compete gracefully. An investment in public relations may help. Keep the expenses of the evening's fun moderate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): You suffer a touch of perfectionism today. It may lead to better work, but don't overdo it. The current mood should last for a few more weeks. Seek some diversion tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Conscience and common sense are your best guidelines for today's confusion. You may be caught up in needless bickering; if so, abandon the game in favor of a straight program. Relax tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Use the home situation should be more satisfying today. Plan the next few weeks, arrange pooled buying and the like. Share your feelings with friends tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): You are starting a fortnight of serious personal commitments; mean what you say, and say what you mean. Reasonable economy will pay off.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Recovery is the keyword for today. You can find rest in a change of pace, in return to routines, weekend chores. Dine out tonight, or entertain.

Racial Strain Eases in U. S.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Scattered sniper fire disrupted a strict curfew Friday night as Kansas City's racial unrest tapered off after three nights of violence in which six Negroes were shot to death.

Police said there were 133 arrests Friday night, most of them for violation of the curfew.

One died Tuesday night, five Wednesday night. Nearly 100 other persons were wounded or injured. Hundreds have been left homeless by fires of incendiary origin. Preliminary estimates placed damage at $500,000.

Friday night's curfew was the fourth since the disorders broke out Tuesday. Police and National Guard reported a relatively peaceful night. Six Negroes were arrested for investigation of sniping. Gunshots were reported at five locations. Two arrests uncovered a cache of weapons.

The dusk-to-dawn curfews are enforced by approximately 400 police, 75 highway patrolmen and 1,000 guardsmen.

Eight young Negro leaders met twice with Mayor Ilus Davis and members of the city council. The youths demanded the Police Chief Clarence M. Kelley be fired, and that Negroes received the same treatment as whites when under arrest.

Kelley has been criticized for defending use of tear gas to break up a student demonstration, which touched off the disorders. Police have said the high school students threw bricks and bottles at them.

The youths also complained that the presence of guardsmen, state troopers and increased police patrols was an affront to the Negro community.

Washington Lifts Curfew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. capital has passed its first night in a week without a curfew and the mayor has asked President Johnson to authorize the orderly withdrawal of some 14,000 troops from the city.

Mayor Walter E. Washington told the president in a letter Friday he has been advised by military and city officials that "order has now been restored in the District of Columbia."

The troops moved into the capital April 5, the second of three nights of violence in Negro sections following the April 4 assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis, Tenn.

Mayor Washington lifted the curfew completely beginning Friday night but retained some restrictions, such as a ban on gun sales and the sale of gasoline in containers.

The Birds!

Peace Talk Site Still Up in Air

HONG KONG (CP) — The official North Vietnamese newspaper, Nhan Dan, again accused the United States today of looking good will in efforts to get preliminary peace talks started. The news came while President Johnson relaxed at his Texas ranch house.

An article signed commentator, believed a pseudonym for a high-ranking Communist party official, questioned Washington's reasons for turning down Cambodia and Warsaw as meeting places for the talks.

An American list of suggested sites left out Warsaw. Instead mentioning, Geneva, New Delhi, Jakarta, Rangoon and Vientiane.

The newspaper accused Washington of "such pretexts as the U.S. having no diplomatic relations with Cambodia, or Cambodia not liking American newsmen, or means of communications being not good there."

Serious Matter Says Spokesman

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is taking a searching and thorough look at the mechanics of Quebec's planned participation in an international conference on education in Paris, a spokesman in Prime Minister Pearson's office said today.

The spokesman said the matter is considered too serious for any "top-of-the-head" reaction. There has been speculation that the French invitation, ignoring Ottawa, to Quebec might lead to a suspension of diplomatic relations between Canada and France.

The spokesman said Ottawa is trying to determine Quebec's position and whether it has actually been invited.

The conference of 17 French-speaking nations is scheduled to begin April 22, the day Pierre Elliott Trudeau may take over the reins of Canadian government from Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson spent Easter weekend at his official residence at 24 Sussex Drive, Mr. Trudeau went to a Laurentian hideaway and External Affairs Minister Martin was holidaying in Sarasota, Fla.

However, a spokesman in Mr. Pearson's office said the Paris conference and its ramifications are under scrutiny. Ottawa has been in touch with the Canadian embassy in Paris and with all concerned in the affair, including Quebec.

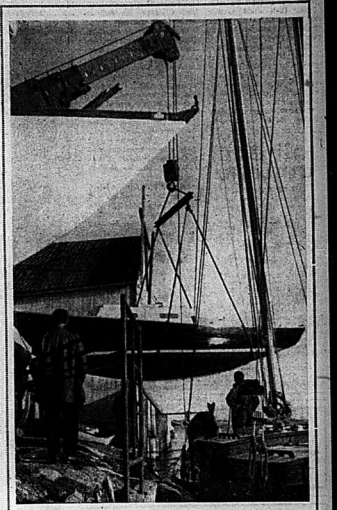
"There is little we can say at the moment, the spokesman said, adding that no federal diplomatic relations with Cambodia, or Cambodia not liking American newsmen, or means of communications being not good there."

The spokesman said the matter is considered too serious for any "top-of-the-head" reaction. There has been speculation that the French invitation, ignoring Ottawa, to Quebec might lead to a suspension of diplomatic relations between Canada and France.

In the field of education, "the jurisdiction of the provinces is recognized in the same way that everyone recognizes the jurisdiction of the federal government in foreign affairs."

The dispute arose after Gabon bypassed Ottawa and directly invited Quebec to attend the conference. Quebec accepted the invitation.

Prime Minister Pearson later suspended diplomatic relations with Gabon, saying that the African republic had "acted in a manner incompatible with international law."



Quebec, however, described the suspension as "premature and inopportune."

The federal government's constitutional expert, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, is scheduled to assume the prime ministership from Mr. Pearson on or about April 22—also the opening date of the Paris conference.

Mr. Trudeau said during the Liberal leadership campaign that Canada should break relations with France if that country ever decided to treat Quebec as an independent country in the same manner as Gabon did.

Today's Chuckle

Once there was a cannibal who hailed a lawyer for a very long time because he liked legal tender.

Ideal Easter weather brings bustle of outdoors activity to Quinte area. Centre of much attraction yesterday was Belleville waterfront where boat owners launched craft for another season.

Ideal Weather Forecast

It's the perfect holiday weekend.

But this warm sunny Easter has hatched a hazardous egg in the Quinte district.

As Quinte urbanites planned picnics or cottage-cleanup trips, the department of lands and forests feared dire consequences.

Ideal weather and human carelessness have combined to ignite an eruption of forest fires which already have gutted more than 500 acres of bushland.

As tense authorities pleaded for caution this morning, 11 fires were still burning in the Tweed forestry district.

Police also have reason for anxiety.

Since Good Friday morning, traffic has been mounting steadily on all provincial highways in the district.

In downtown centres like Belleville, streets have been intermittently clogged with the stream of motor vehicles.

To date, no serious accidents have been reported throughout the area, but police are keeping traffic patrol details fully-manned through the holiday.

The action is bound to keep rolling if weather forecasts hold up.

With the exception of possible showers tonight and early tomorrow, the Quinte area should continue to bask in temperatures in the high 50s and 60s.

Boating is hitting its stride. The weather yesterday saw scores of pleasure craft being launched around the Bay of Quinte for another season.

But the problem focus is in the northern townships.

Since April 1, there have been 40 forest fires in the Tweed forestry area and 568 acres have been burned.

This compares with 307 acres for the whole month last year — one of the worst on record.

"It's too dry and breezy to light fires up here," said a forestry official. "Just one little spark and the situation gets out of control."

FRANKFURT (Reuters) — Thousands of students bottled police and besieged Axel Springer's newspaper offices in seven West German cities early today to prevent copies of his mass-circulation Bild Zeitung reaching news-stands.

The primary target of student unrest in the wake of the shooting of Dutschke were the newspapers owned by Springer, sensational Europe's biggest publisher.

Springer's newspapers long have taken an anti-Communist stand. In the last two years, with the rise of the New Left id by Dutschke, they also have editorially attacked the dissident student movement.

On the previous night, West Berlin demonstrators burned 15 parked Springer delivery trucks and smashed windows. A spokesman estimated damage at $62,500.

In West Berlin, where Dutschke, 28, was in hospital in critical condition with three bullet wounds, an estimated 6,500 students fought pitched battles with police in John F. Kennedy Square and then switched their rioting to Springer's 20-storey publishing house.

The students accused the Springer empire—and particularly the 4,000,000 circulation daily Bild Zeitung—of fostering a climate of political intolerance which led to the attempt on Dutschke Thursday by a man named by police as 23-year-old Josef Bachmann.

A Time for Christians

It's Easter, and youth is giving new dimension to ancient traditions. With Rev. Walter Von Boetticher, United Church pastor, young people yesterday raised cross against early-morning sun to carry Christian symbol 10 miles

Youth of Canada Joins In

Easter Given Contemporary Significance

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

It's Easter — and youth is writing a new chapter to the ancient Christian chronicle.

In theQuinte area, young people yesterday carried a life-size cross 10 miles through Prince Edward County.

The Prince Edward trek was an inspiration of Rev. Walter Von Boetticher, United Church pastor at Demorestville and Mountain View.

Mr. Von and church youth groups walked the 10 miles between both communities carrying a 10-foot-high cross made of weatherbeaten cedar rails.

The march took place after a communion breakfast at Mountain View, which simulated the primitive community meals of early Christians.

Mr. Von Boetticher emphasized the symbolism of the event recalling the Crucifixion.

Good Friday, he said, saw Christ die "a grotesque death."

"But wherever there is ignorance, or sin . . . someone who didn't have to do it for those who don't deserve it, has to take on the burden of other people's need."

The clergyman then led the small group of young people out along Highway 14 where the cross-carrying marchers, drew the attention of passing early-morning motorists.

Mr. Von Boetticher was elated with the success of the event and says he has plans to repeat the march next Good Friday.

However, the age-old observances of the festival still hold for most Canadians.

In the ancient tradition, Easter will still draw thousands of Quinte-area worshippers to church.

In this area, all centres of worship celebrate the holiday with an active schedule of morning and night services.

Immediate Need

Expansion of Victoria Park Yacht Facilities Possible

A co - operative effort on the part of the city public works department, the parks board and the Belleville Yacht Club could provide needed expansion of docking facilities for pleasure craft at Victoria Park.

This was the proposal forwarded Thursday by a local yacht club member at an informal meeting called to discuss the idea of marina development in the East Zwick's Island area.

Yacht club member William Finkle said that dock extension at the southeast corner of Victoria Park would provide tie - up facilities for an estimated 50 pleasure craft and could be provided at small actual cost.

The meeting was called by parks board member Templeman to get reaction from yacht club members and harbor commission officials on the idea of dock development in the Bay Bridge Road area, but as it turned out discussion was mainly around Victoria Park.

Yacht club members felt the Bay Bridge Road marina proposal might be worthy of long term consideration but said further development at Victoria Park was the immediate need.

Later at a city parks board meeting an amount of $500 was included in the budget to have a study done on the feasibility of developing marina facilities in the landfill area east of the Bay Bridge Road.

Mr. Templeman said that in another two years the land fill garbage disposal program would be completed in the area and if there was to be future marina development plans should be made now.

Attending Thursday's meeting were Yacht club Commodore Jack McFarland, member William Finkle, harbor commission officials Don Barrett and Jack Geyers, along with city engineer Wilbur Purcell, city planning director John Beavis, and park board officials.

Mr. McFarlane said dock extension at Victoria Park was an immediate need.

He said more and more boats were coming to Belleville each year and there simply wasn't any place for them to tie up.

This was substantiated by harbor official Don Barrett who said there were 12 new locally owned boats this year — again with no place to tie up.

Mr. McFarlane said that the lack of water depth and distance from downtown might be drawbacks in considering marina development at east Zwick's Island.

On the other hand he said Victoria Park was within walking distance of downtown and park area was right at hand.

To this parks administration Lorne Williams observed the long range view for Zwick's Island was that a bus service would eventually be warranted, thus overcoming the distance factor.

Planning director urged a "go slow" approach to the idea of further development at Victoria Park.

He said this area would be included in the city's urban renewal study and suggested if there was to be any development here it would be better to wait for the urban renewal report "as we would know where we are going."

Also under urban renewal, costs could be offset by government grants, he said.

Mr. Barrett said the harbor commission had no money or authority to build additional docks at the inner harbor although Mr. Templeton suggested that only a request for permission would be needed.

The present docks at the park was built by the department of public works, it was stated.

Returning to his original proposal of extending the Victoria Park docking area to the southwest, Mr. Finkle said the necessary ledge could be provided with blast rock now being dumped at the city dump.

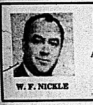
He said the ledge would normally be the most expensive phase of the project but could be cheaply provided by dumping blasted rock. Only the co-operation of the city works department would be needed.

Construction of dock fingers could come later and in the meantime an anchorage would be provided for in the small bay formed by the rock ledge.

Mr. Finkle said extension of the city dump area out into the bay through the sanitary land fill garbage disposal program had afforded excellent protection for Victoria Park.

As a result boats could be anchored off Victoria Park without fear of being buffeted.

No decision was reached at the meeting, but on the strength of discussions the $300 for a feasibility study on docking facilities for the Zwick's Island area was included in the parks budget.



Also yacht club members were enthusiastic about the discussions on the needs for added docking facilities.

$12,000 Damage in Fire

TRENTON — A grass fire burning out of control at 12 O'clock Point, about three miles from here yesterday, caused an estimated $12,000 damage to four summer cottages.

Two of the cottages were completely gutted while two others were damaged extensively. The properties were owned by Donald Edwards of Toronto.

By the time Trenton firemen had reached the scene of the blaze, flames from the grassfire had already spread into the cottage area. "One cottage was completely destroyed and three others were burning when our men arrived," Fire Chief C. S. Ellis said today.

The fire is reported to have started in a marsh area near the site of the cottages.

In Smith's Falls, hundreds of teen-agers staged the re-enactment of the Crucifixation in a park as the 5-year-old Brian Matthey—branded as a hippie, dope pedlar and drunkard to make the scene contemporary —was "nailed" to the cross.

The nails were driven between Matthey's fingers as he repeated Christ's words: "Forgive them, for they know not what they do." Their church minister said he wanted the students to learn about the Crucifixation in a way that would remain in their minds.

In Ottawa, a sunrise service was scheduled for Easter Sunday on the House of Commons grounds, sponsored by the Evangelical Ministerium of Ottawa. A sunrise service was also scheduled for Saint John, N.B.

Showers were forecast for Sunday's two Easter parades in Toronto. One parade will include bands, majorettes, an air show, a police dog demonstration and a gymnastic demonstration.

In Eastern Canada, the grass fire and forest fire season accompanied Good Friday celebrations in Ontario and Nova Scotia.

U.S. racial disturbances resulting from the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. were cited as the cause of reduced travel to American destinations by transportation company officials.

IN MEMORIAM

HILL — In memory of a dear Father Late Hill who passed away April 13, 1967.
Four years have passed since that sad day,
When our dear loved was called away,
God took him home—it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.
Sadly missed by wife and family,
Linda, sons Wayne, Ralph and Ronald.

DUESBERRY — In loving memory of Harold Duesberry, who passed away April 13, 1930.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The weary hands and aching heart are past.
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

Parks Board Agrees

Agriculture Society Proposes Auditorium on Fairground Site

Belleville city council will be asked to co-operate with the local agricultural society in the erection of a suitable building at the Belleville fairgrounds for mutual use by the parks board and by the agricultural society.

A recommendation to this effect was passed Thursday at the city parks board budget meeting after a fair board delegation made a plea for the erection of a building in time for the Belleville fair next August.

Fair board president Cameron Bunnett said demolition of the old Commodores and Manufacturers' buildings had left the agricultural society short of display space.

He suggested that the problem could be solved if the parks board would give consideration for the construction this year of the auditorium as second stage of the proposed arena complex.

The chief factor has apparently ruled out any start on the arena until at least 1970 but Mr. Bunnett said if the auditorium was built now the fair board problem would be solved.

He said the building could be used for this year's fair, even if it were only a "shell" at fair time.

The fair board request touched off a one-and-a-half hour discussion on the relative merits of a pre-engineered type building which could be erected inside ten weeks, as opposed to the brick auditorium originally planned as the second phase of the arena complex.

Cost estimates ranged from $200,000 for the permanent auditorium down to around $100,000 for the pre-engineered building.

But parks board member Ald. Richard Ellis wanted no part of any permanent construction of the proposed arena site which did not include at least an artificial outdoor ice surface.

Anything else, he said, and the city may as well kiss the arena goodbye.

Provision for the artificial outdoor ice surface would boost the cost of the auditorium structure to $300,000, but Ald. Ellis said if this were done the arena could be constructed in two or three years time.

Parks board member Robert Phillips, also a member of the fair board, said he didn't want to see the fair board "tied down the garden path" by thinking a building would be provided this year if the auditorium structure was built.

It was generally agreed that only a pre-engineered type structure could be provided for this year's fair.

Such a building could be erected as temporary display space and then when the arena was built the structure could be moved to another location.

Mayor J. Russell Scott agreed the fair board required display space and also felt the city had an obligation. He said a pre-engineered type building would serve parks board and recreational use as well as for the fair board.

However, he was in favor of the separate arena complex and said negotiations toward this end were currently going on. He hoped an announcement could be made soon.

Board members voted six to one in favor of the motion to ask city council to co-operate with the fair board in providing a joint use building at the fairgrounds. Alderman Richard Ellis was the only dissenter.

However, a rider was put in to allow the parks board to have final say both as to the type of building and the site.

Mayor Scott said it was too late to have the recommendation brought before council at its meeting on April 16.

But just in case, city officials will get together to provide cost estimates for the building and also for the extension of sewer and water services to a site other than the proposed arena location.

Parks Board Requires Money for Development

The Belleville Parks Board needs more money to carry out its program of parks development.

This was evident Thursday when at the board's annual budget meeting. Members found that after maintenance and other costs were provided for, only slightly more than $5,000 was left for parks development.

This was on the basis of parks board revenue from the city being limited to the normal one mill which this year would amount to $110,500.

But by paring park development costs to the very bone board members found that they still needed another $29,200 and city council will be asked for this amount in addition to the one mill levy.

The parks budget was set at $154,738, plus the $29,200 for a total of $184,000. Parks revenue, including grants and a $10,000 surplus from last year, reduces the parks board requirement to about $140,000.

The big item on the parks board expenditure list is salaries and wages which this year will amount to $86,000 — up about $18,000 from last year.

The reason for the increase is higher wages together with additional staff.

Board members commented that the parks board was the victim of its own endeavors.

As one member put it: "The more parks we develop the more it costs to maintain them and then we find we have no money left for further parks development."

The major park development planned for this year is the re-development of Memorial Park on Station Street costing an estimated $10,000.

This work, along with improvements to the Orr House at Riverside Park on Cannifton Road and masonry restoration at the fairground grandstand are recommended for consideration as capital expenditures.

Development of the Flynn property at the corner of North Front and Moira streets will cost $2,000 although the $1,200 will be received back by way of a donation.

Further development of Zwick's Island park is also planned with provisions being made for application of crushed stone chips as a dust layer on the entrance roads.

Also a start will be made on the development of a ball diamond and on the location of a miniature train as a ride attraction for visiting children. An amount of $3,000 was suggested this year for the last named project but on recommendation of board member Don Templeman this was pared to $1,000.

He felt the idea of the train ride attraction was commendable but suggested the $1,000 figure would allow purchase of a considerable amount of track this year.

Search Under Way For Flower Thief

Members of the Belleville OPP detachment are looking for the driver of a vehicle who was seen yesterday morning at Belleville Cemetery removing a container of flowers from a grave.

Jack Stuart, who had received permission to put artificial flowers on the grave of Frank Reid, filed the complaint with the OPP.

No sooner had they been placed on the grave than a car drove up and a man got out and took them just before noon yesterday.

The caretaker at the cemetery saw what was happening but when he tried to stop the flower thief the person got in his car and drove away at a high rate of speed, said police this morning.

As for a reason for removing the flowers maybe Constable "Robbie" Robertson (OPP) has the best one — "There are a lot of kooks around and you never can tell what they're going to do."

Picton Principal Explains System

Picton Public School students may have fewer chances to absorb lessons taught in class, yet the process will speed up the entire educational process.

Carl Reid, supervising principal of Picton Public Schools, said that 'team' teaching could change the entire outlook of education.

He was speaking at Queen Elizabeth Public School during a regular school board meeting, Thursday.

The system will involve one main teacher to present the initial lesson to groups of up to 90 children he explained.

Students who fail to comprehend the lesson fully will be able to consult assistant teachers for individual instruction following the class.

Meanwhile the main class will be able to move ahead with new work.

One disadvantage of the present system is that entire classrooms are slowed down by students who need extra help.

Teachers' time is utilize with greater efficiency as well under the new method. One lesson can be taught to three classes, as opposed to the conventional three separate lessons to separate classes.

By handling larger groups at a time, no significant staff increase will be required, said Mr. Reid.

"Two to five teachers may be required for one of the 90 member classes," he said.

The lessons could be taught in the new addition to the School, containing a special "open classroom' for the larger groups.

It is hoped that the system can be started with the completion of the new wing next September.

SA Officers Plan Campaign

PICTON — A group of student Salvation Army officers from the Toronto training college are on a 10-day campaign here.

The seven students and two officers are touring halls throughout Prince Edward County for on-the-job training. They have conducted meetings in Milford, Wellington, Demorestville and Picton.

Two services at the Picton citadel are scheduled for Sunday at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. Capt. Pamela Woods and Capt. Betty Barnum of the training college staff are heading the group.

Rev. R. Humbard Guest Speaker

Rev. Rex Humbard, pastor of the famous Interdenominational Church in Akron, Ohio, will be in Belleville on Monday, April 29, at 7.45 p.m. for a television rally.

Rev. Humbard is responsible for the building of a $3,500,000 television church, began as an MC for 420 radio programs carried throughout the world.

From here he moved to Akron where his television church, known as The Cathedral of Tomorrow, grew to its present stature.

Egg Producers Split On Production Quota

TORONTO (CP) — A proposal by the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board to establish production quotas and a central selling agency for eggs in the province has been rejected by Ontario egg producers.

The local producers kept in line pretty much with the provincial vote and were just about split down the middle. In the Picton area eight of the producers were for the proposal - seven were against.

In a vote Wednesday, 53 per cent voted in favor of the proposal. However, the marketing board needs a two-thirds majority before it can implement its suggestion.

From the egg grading station in Belleville, Mr. C. A. Finkle said he didn't think the marketing proposal made by the OFPMB was adequate, "especially when an adequate system is already working".

With 48 out of 55 polling divisions reported by late Thursday, 1,262 producers voted in favor of the proposal while 1,742 opposed it.

Earl Mighton, chairman of the marketing board, said returns from the other seven small counties will have little or no effect on the outcome of the vote.

The marketing board made the proposal in an effort to change the Egg and Fowl Marketing Board from a promotional agency to one with power to set production quotas, act as a selling agency, license producers with authority to refuse or revoke licenses and establish minimum prices.

OPP Announce Staff Changes

Inspector R. K. (Ken) Chalmers, with the provincial police headquarters staff at District No. 9 in Belleville for the past three and one half years, has been transferred to a new post.

As of April 1, Inspector Chalmers was transferred to Long Sault No. 11 headquarters in the Cornwall area and has been replaced at Belleville by Inspector R. L. Bender who comes here from Kenora.

The two above transfers head up several promotions and transfers announced by district headquarters here this month.

Another promotion and transfer sees Detective Sergeant Lloyd Lyle promoted to the rank of Inspector and moved to Toronto with the Criminal Investigations Branch.

Sgt. J. T. Tulloch, with Madoc detachment for two and a half years goes to Tillsonburg in command of that detachment. Sgt. C. Kowta with Oak Ridges assumes command of the Madoc detachment, while Corporal J. G. Anderson has been transferred from the Renfrew detachment to Belleville detachment.

Inspector Bender, who came to Belleville on April 1 has been with the force for 21 years, joining in 1947 after four years overseas service during World War II. He is married with four children, two boys in high school and a boy and girl in public school.

Inspector Lyle has been at Belleville headquarters for the past five years and has played important roles in several major criminal investigations.

Quinte Development

Having decided to continue procuring water from the Bay of Quinte and to expand the present pumping station and other facilities the question of whether Belleville would be better off with water from Lake Ontario proper remains academic.

From the qualitative viewpoint the water from either source is suspect. We drink it only after it has gone through elaborate purifying treatment. Even then its flavor leaves much to be desired.

Among Belleville public utilities commissioners there appear to be some differences on the water issue. As we have noted, the decision has been made to keep using bay water but the general feeling is that a switch to Lake Ontario water will come some day.

Commissioner Lyle Langabeer in particular favors the lake. "The Bay of Quinte," he says, "is going to be nothing but a big septic tank for the rest of our lives."

On the other hand Mayor J. Russell Scott believes the bay water will improve within two years because of industrial precautions against pollution. At the same time he feels that Lake Ontario . . . "is dead, just like Lake Erie, and the sewage from Buffalo and Detroit and Toronto is going to make it worse."

Whose analysis is the correct one? It would take some concentrated sampling of the respective bay and lake sources to decide which deserves the Oscar. The bay however has been given the nod and we are going to have to make the best of it.

The decision made, much more significant at this stage is the fact that Belleville plans to provide large enough facilities so that water can be sold to neighboring communities under contract and at a profit. Neighboring townships have expressed interest and even enthusiasm at this prospect.

In the words of Thurlow Reeve Carl Thompson: "It finally opens the door to development," and Reeve Ernest Kells of Sidney: "We're quite happy to negotiate to get water from the city."

This is a departure from the past. City services currently halt at the municipal boundaries.

With the prospect of development in the townships being spurred by the extension of services from Belleville there is the question of the future of the entire Quinte area.

Can this area afford to develop piecemeal, in a manner that can only lead to an inadequate, fragmented, economic hodgepodge?

Alderman Gerald Joyce thinks not. A newcomer to city council, Ald. Joyce says that Belleville cannot be a self-sufficient community like Toronto or Montreal. He told a local audience in the surrounding Quinte area was closely linked with Belleville through marriage, business, and employment.

Once again, in any such initiative water and other necessary services are vital. So too is Ald. Joyce's plea for co-operation between the various municipalities. That such co-operation will be forthcoming may be gauged by the statements of the Thurlow and Sidney reeves at least.

With regionalism becoming more and more an accepted concept of urban development there is every prospect of mergers and annexations taking place in the Quinte region in the years to come. Ultimately we may see a much larger community embracing Belleville, Trenton and neighboring townships.

Bored?

Belleville teenagers are concerned about lack of dating facilities.

Lack of variety is a major complaint and many teens feel there are not enough places to go, according to a recent Youth Page report.

Well consider what is available. In winter: hockey, skating, skiing. In summer: golf, tennis, swimming.

And of course dancing at any time. And the movies. And what is wrong with walking — in the snow in winter, or on a summer's evening? The list is endless, according to personal taste.

And what about creative activity. Reading, studying some favorite subject.

Is it just that the young people are bored? It was disturbing during the Easter vacation to see a goodly number wandering aimlessly along Front Street, even sitting on the steps of one of the banks.

Surely Belleville's young people have more to them than that? What they need is more initiative and plain old get-up-and-go.

What Price Freedom In the Home of the Brave?

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Forgotten, amid all the sound and fury of a new government being born about July 1 and medicare?

You may have — but some other people haven't.

Such people as New Democrats who sometimes accuse this column of being too anti-socialist; as they like to put it, too pro-individual enterprise.

So anti-socialist, reads one letter carrying 17 signatures, from, of all surprising places, Sault Ste. Marie, that the column is even against medicare.

Isn't it possible, asks the letter, that something can be said for medicare?

Why sure — and here goes — just to prove the column isn't really anti-anything, and hopefully, to provide a good-natured grin or two.

It comes by way of a conversation overheard the other day in the Centre Block's Hall of Fame where the tourists queue up to make the conducted tour of Parliament's corridors of power.

Just spoofing, of course, but it may serve the purpose.

One part of the medicare dialogue was taken by an American tourist, the other by one of the Hill guides, a Britot, not long off the boat.

They are killing time, waiting for the queue to lengthen and the crowd increase to the required size — about 100 — to begin the tour.

The guide 'Arry, an affable Brit still in the full flower of his accent, being personally fascinated by the golden way of life in the good old USA, spots this particular tourist as an envied American and asks 'ow things are.

"Rough," reports the American frankly, "it's going to be a slim year, paying off for my daughter's two broken legs. Hurt in an accident, that's why me and the wife are spring holidaying in Canada instead of summer touring Europe."

"Eyeing off a spare 'Arry, "y' mean the guv'mint don't pye for broken legs, like they do over 'ere and like they're doing 'ere startin' July?"

"We're a free county, we pay for our own broken legs," says the American in pride.

"Cor, we're 'obbled with socialism over 'ome and 'ere too, come summer. The guv'mint 'obs us of the pleasure of pyeing our medical bills? It must be wonderful to be free of all that guv'mint interference. 'Ow long will it tyke for you to pye for 'er broken legs?"

"Maybe another six months before I get all the medical and hospital bills off my back," shrugs the American. "Of course, I'm strapped for dough — but I'm free. It's the spirit of 1776."

"Well, bit hain't the spirit of 1968, not 'ere, anyways," chirps 'Arry cheerfully. "I hunnerstan' you Yankees 'ave one of the 'ighest tax rates in the 'ole world — wot do yer get fer yer 'igh taxes?"

"All kinds of the good things of life," replies the American defensively, "like f'instance, the moon probe."

"We're landing a man on the moon, spending maybe $50 billion to do it by perhaps 1971," says the American.

"Blimey, 'ats spendin'," exclaims 'Arry. "But wot if yer man bykes 'is leg when 'e lands? You'll pye for 'im?"

"The government," grins the Ame ican, "because our moonman will be covered by the Legington. It's only us taxpayers who ge; to pay for their broken legs."

"Wot yever good things of life do yer git fer yer 'igh taxes?"

"Well, let's see . . . we get the Venus probe, too," reports the American, kind of crestfallen. "We've discovered that the far side of Venus is as hot as this side."

"Coo," chirps 'Arry, impressed, "must be a gryte comfort to yer daughter wif the two broken legs'. And 'ter pye and yer good wife, too, spendin' yer 'olidays 'ere instead of over 'ome or on the Champs de Lizies, wot?"

"But we're free," protests the American, "we live in the land of the free and the home of the brave."

"Blimey," snorts 'Arry, "Ol don't think Ol could afford ter live in yer free a country. Ol'd rather 'ave the guv'mint myke a slave of me an' pye me bills."

"Of course," says the American, "I could have protected myself to some extent if I'd bought enough sickness and accident insurance. But after paying all these high taxes to city, state and federal governments, who can afford full coverage of every eventuality? But we are free, even if it's freedom only to pay taxes."

"Tell me, guv'nor," grins 'Arry, "are there any other countries ye free to pye for their own broken legs as yers?"

"Well, yes," says the American, "there are Upper Volta, Senegal, the Congo, Z a i r e, Tanzania and all the rest, but our foreign aid helps them to pay for their broken legs and just about everything else. They are even freer — they get it all free."

"And ter think," coos 'Arry, "that we calls 'em backward countries."

Airlines Cut Fares For Young People

Hamilton Spectator

Some airlines, including this country's publicly-owned air Canada, are encouraging young people to travel by lowering rates drastically. Half - price economy class rates, for example, are now in effect in Canada for boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 21. While the age-limit would be better if it included young people up to the outstanding graduation year of 25, the plan is otherwise absolutely first class.

Young people who want to see their country, or other parts of North America served by Air Canada, will now be able to do so with relative ease. For a few hundred dollars, a boy or girl can, under the plan, jet from Toronto to Calgary to Vancouver to Montreal to Los Angeles and home again with enough time to spend at each city to get a pretty good idea of what's what.

Ideally, one should travel by the slowest methods of transportation in order to get to know a country well. That's certainly always been the case in Europe, but it doesn't work on a continent as vast as ours where interesting larger cities are hundreds of miles apart. And in this jet age, with its emphasis on speed and efficiency, few young people want to go anywhere except by the fastest possible means.

Air Canada's plan will open up wider horizons for tens of thousands of young impressionable Canadians. It will excite them and encourage them to see as much of this remarkable country as possible while they are still young and filled with the spirit of adventure.

Water—A Hard Taskmaster

London Free Press

Although Dr. J. A. Vance, chairman of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, has a long record as a conservationist, he gets discouraged at times.

His admission to the Ontario meeting that the rivers and streams of Southern Ontario may have to be used for waste disposal rather than for water supply is an example.

When the Ontario Water Resources Commission was set up one of its objectives was to save the streams which were being used as sewers. Extensive action has been taken to purify our rivers. Is Dr. Vance admitting that the problem has him licked?

It is true that his experiences with cities like St. Thomas and Chatham indicate that people are not too enthusiastic about taking on more expensive but purer lake water instead of somewhat dubious river or creek supplies if it costs more money. This is hardly a reason for calling quits on the policy of purer water for Ontario.

At the same meeting J. M. Appleton, president of the board of governors of the Canadian Economics Council of Canada, pointed to a new type of pollution emerging from the sewage disposal plants that destroy organic wastes and bacteria. It is fertility pollution" caused by the rich plant food resulting from the treatment of sewage which stimulates growth of algae and water weeds.

Obviously the problem of securing purer water is a difficult and complicated one.

That is no excuse for giving up.

Convention Hullabaloo

Ottawa Journal

It is no credit to either of the old parties that Toronto and Ottawa hotels feel their conventions as much of an ordeal as the Grey Cup celebrations.

The hospitality suites do no honor to the meaning of political democracy. In the process of keeping up with the Joneses and the television cameras, the candidates feel obliged to pour liquor like water. It's "open house" not only to friends, delegates or people connected with the work of the convention — strangers stroll in off the street and drink all they can handle, and often more, without even knowing their host's name.

These booze-ups are degrading. The candidates themselves at both the Conservative and Liberal leadership conventions, could be in their hospitality suites a fraction of the time. Their agents who served all comers, regardless of age or interest in public affairs, did their candidates nor politics any good at all.

The solution is simple. The politicians should agree to spend their money on activities more useful than free drinks — or give it to charity. Surely their policies are not so awful that they are acceptable only when drunk.

Three-hundred and seventy-nine persons were killed and more than 1,200 injured as British troops opened fire on a defiant Indian mob in Amritsar, Punjab, 49 years ago today—in 1919. Riots had occurred throughout northern India and public meetings had been prohibited by the British authorities. The troops fired on the orders of Gen. Dwyer after the crowd had refused to disperse. The carnage caused a wave of horror in both India and the U.K., and Gen. Dwyer was forced to retire. Nevertheless, the House of Lords justified his action on the grounds that it saved British rule in India.

1823—Frank Winfield Woolworth, pioneer of the dime store, was born.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—the British were evacuating Nieuw Eglise as German forces kept up heavy pressure in the Battle of the Lys. Germans also captured Helsingfors (Helsinki) in Finland, as the Turks occupied Batum in the Caucasus, capturing 3,000 prisoners and 50 guns.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Winston Churchill was telling the House of Commons: "We are more than holding our own" in the Atlantic battle against U-boats; the British 1st and 8th armies were continuing their relentless pursuit of Axis forces in North Africa, but at Allied headquarters in Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned that powerful Japanese naval forces within striking force of Australia could only be held off if the Allies dominated the skies.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918 — Austro - Hungarian Foreign Minister Count Czernin resigned over publication of Emperor Charles's letter promising Clemenceau French claims to Alsace-Lorraine; the Germans captured Neuve Eglise; Gen. Foch took command of Allied armies in France.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Allied forces in North Africa closed with Rommel's defenses ringing Tunis and Bizerte; RAF and RCAF Mosquitos concentrated on Stuttgart with 10 Canadian planes lost; Germans bombed London suburbs for first time in five weeks.

A Swift Rise to Power

Toronto Telegram

The miracle of Pierre Trudeau is now complete. His phenomenal rise in power from over two years, from an obscure MP to the highest political post in the land, is unmatched in our history. . . . The Liberal party has shown great courage in picking . . . a man who is virtually untried in the hard forum of public life. . . . Only time will tell whether the choice of the delegates was wise. . . . He has demonstrated gifts that make people feel they should take greater interest and become more involved in public affairs. Perhaps it's because of his appeal to the younger generation that has brought this about. He has the ability to speak directly to the people. That, no doubt, was why he was able to generate supporte and a big personal following sufficient to sweep him to victory without any traditional power base.

Easter Sunday SERVICES

500 Bishops to Gather

LONDON (AP)-More than 500 bishops of the Anglican communion have been invited by the Archbishop of Canterbury to attend the 10th Lambeth conference this summer.

After an opening service in Canterbury Cathedral July 25, at which the archbishop will preach, the conference will get down to work until Aug. 25. This time the central theme for discussion is The Renewal of the Church.

If the practice of previous Lambeth conferences is followed, all the proceedings will be private but a report will be issued after the conference.

United churches containing an Anglican element, such as the Church of South India, will send delegatiois of bishops who will take part without voting. There also will be about 50 observers from the Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Lutheran and other churches, and from the World Council of Churches. This is the first year observers have been invited.

Just as at the second Vatican ecumenical council, renewal is the key word at this year's Lambeth conference. But there is one difference. The Vatican council had the power to make decisions binding on Roman Catholics. The Lambeth decisions this summer are only intended as advice to be discussed.

Recommendations of the 1958 Lambeth conference have not yet been adopted in some autonomous churches of the Anglican communion. And the same thing may happen again.

Status of Women Commissioners Start Tour

OTTAWA (CP) — The controversial royal commission on the status of women heads for Victoria Monday to find out just what Canadian females are fussing about.

So far, says commission Chairman Anne Francis, the evidence in 250 briefs and 500 letters submitted in advance of the first public hearings proves that women from coast to coast face "a long list of unfair discriminations."

The submissions represented the largest response ever stirred up in Canada by a royal commission and an indication "that resentment is very deep," says the 58-year-old broadcaster and writer.

Commission offices this week bustled with last-minute preparations for the 18-day western tour and lengthy discussions about just what the women among the seven commissioners and 11 staff members should wear.

Getting a last going-over are briefs that call for elimination of inequalities in pay for women, tax discriminations, barriers to job advancement, legal restrictions on female equality, and distinctions between "Miss" and "Mrs."

At hearings in Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Saskatoon, the commission will look for answers to the 518 men who told a Toronto Star survey they felt a women's rights commission is unnecessary.

Watching from the other side is the militant Committee for Equality of Women in Canada.

What is to be done may not seem immediately obvious.

Canadian women won the federal vote in 1921 although the provincial franchise in one province, Quebec, did not come until 1940.

In 1956 parliamentary legislation provided equal pay for equal work by women in jobs under federal jurisdiction, and all provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland have since followed suit.

Hopefully, any doubts about the necessity of the commission inquiry will be resolved when the five women and two men commissioners start their second tour May 29 in Winnipeg.

They then set out for Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes, and the Yukon and Northwest Territories, aiming at 50 days of hearings in all.

Besides Miss Francis, Mrs. John Bird in private life, the commissioners are: Montreal law professor John Humphrey, Judge Doris Ogilvie of Fredericton, Professor Jeanne Lapointe of Laval University, Quebec City, statistics analyst Jacques Henripin of Montreal, Elsie MacGill, an aeronautical engineer from Toronto, and farm unionist Lola Lange of Claresholm, Alta.

In Victoria and Vancouver, the commission will participate in trial radio "hot line" sessions, held in the early morning and afternoon to allow personal telephone discussions of women's problems.

Supplementing these approaches are extensive research reports under preparation on subjects as varied as the working conditions of shopgirls in department stores and the status of Indian and Eskimo women.

So far, the briefs have elicited greatest response from Canada's 2,365,000 working women, particularly those living in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and other big cities.

Housewives and rural women have also written in to outline their woes and, surprisingly, so have several men.

Top interest is shown by female social workers and teachers who have a good deal to say about educational needs of women and the need for up-to-date abortion, divorce and birth-control legislation.

Church Groups

CHRIST CHURCH PARISH GUILD

A large number of Christ Church Parish Guild members were guests of Mrs. Horace Wright on Tuesday afternoon when the group's meeting was held at her home.

President, Mrs. D. G. Livingston welcomed the members and presided over the business portion of the meeting. A number of letters were read from absent members. It was noted that 17 cards had been sent to members of the parish who have been ill. Mrs. Boyd reported a good response to the rent-a-meal project and Mrs. Pinkey gave a full account of the recent property and vestry council meetings.

It was decided to send a cheque to Camp Hyanto for children of this diocese. Mrs. Vesterfelt reported that new cups and saucers and glasses had been purchased for the church kitchen.

The Guild will be joint sponsors of a Royal Doulton China Show to be held on April 23rd and members were urged to make this occasion a success. The Guild will cater for a luncheon for the annual meetings of the Anglican Church Women in May. Mrs. A. Jordan will be convener for the Blossom Tea and Sale of the Guild which will take place at the end of May.

Following the business meeting members busied themselves with sewing projects for the tea. A number of attractive finished articles were on display for those present to see.

Tea and refreshments were served by the hostess.

VICTORIA WILLING WORKERS

Mrs. Clifford Calnan was hostess for the April meeting of the Victoria Willing Workers, with the president, Mrs. Roy Wetherall, in charge.

Mrs. Morris Pulver was in charge of an Easter program ending with a candle lighting ceremony. Each member lit a small candle at a larger one, symbolizing the risen Christ.

The May meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Fox.

U.C.W. Meeting

BRIDGE ST. UCW

Youth in this changing world was described by the Rev. Allan Lavis, chaplain at Albert College, to members of Bridge St. United Church Women at their Easter thankoffering meeting. The event was preceded by a dessert and social party the evening of April 9.

Youth cannot be pigeonholed, Mr. Lavis said. In contrast to many adults, youth does want to get involved and shows great interest in current affairs. Youth wants no generalities, is demanding to share and is ready to accept responsibilities.

Sex is discussed openly, in an effort to understand, love, and trust, the speaker continued. Young people are keen on new forms of religious expression, but find many of these go flat.

It seems to young people that for their elders, God is irrelevant, and so youth regards the thinking of older people as hypocritical and fuzzy. Young people want to experience God themselves.

Mr. Lavis was thanked by Mrs. Ron Cass and thanked by Mrs. Maddocks.

During the Easter worship service, led by Mrs. J. Neiles, silent tribute was paid to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Mrs. Loretta Zufell, Picton, a former member, was present and contributed a solo. The president, Mrs. J. S. Leynes, conducted the business.

SPRINGBROOK UCW

The regular meeting of Springbrook UCW was held in the church hall on Thursday evening. The room was appropriately decorated with Easter decor.

The president Mrs. George Williams welcomed the gathering at which time 22 members were present. Following the usual opening procedures Mrs. Joe Thompson presented the program based on "Passion Week" theme. This was well taken by Mrs. Bill McKeown, Mrs. Ed Bateman, Mrs. Percy Munro and Mrs. Mac McFaul. Mrs. Gordon Bailey rendered a vocal selection in keeping with the theme. A play entitled "A Man Called Jesus" was enacted by Mrs. Mort Reid, Mrs. Doug Andrews, Mrs. Harry Danford, Mrs. Bill and Mrs. Sam Danford.

At the close of the meeting the hostesses Mrs. R. Thompson and Mrs. W. Rathwell served tea and hot cross buns.

Trudeau Inspires New Fashion Mode

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ruffled lace used in an unconventional way is a fashion mode which claims its inspiration from Pierre Elliott Trudeau, new leader of the Liberal party.

A Toronto fashion house has discovered here a spare-time fashion designer whose lacy cuffs at the cuffs of prom-sale jeans and on work-a-day suits for women reminds Maryanne Trentin of the "elegance and sophistication of Mr. Trudeau."

Miss Trentin, 29, a stenographer, Wednesday received prizes of a $200 shopping spree and a three-day trip to New York City for winning a national competition sponsored by Miss Sun Valley creations.

The competitions, which drew hundreds of entries from across Canada, sought fashion tips which could be utilized in presenting summer garments now being manufactured by the Toronto fashion house.

Miss Trentin's novel application of ruffled lace appealed to the firm's designer Morris Watkis and he says he anticipates her ideas "starting a new fad."

Her suggestions include gathering lace at the cuffs of jeans to simulate "feminine-type spats." "A man's trousers become sweate the better," over a blouse with lace ruffs at the neck and at the wrists completed the ensemble.

Blonde Miss Trentin has also added ruffs to feminine suits to help transform them into "practical office-feminility."

She said she hit upon the lace-accessory idea because she "tires desperately quick of her clothes" and sought a new way to give her wardrobe added interest and variety.

"As soon as Mr. Trudeau announced he would be a candidate in the party leadership contest I foresaw his winning and the effect it would have on many aspects of Canadian life.

"I think Mr. Trudeau will cause all sorts of fashion fads. French lace seems an appropriate start. To me, he reflects all the qualities of that elegant period at the end of the eighteenth century when lace reached a peak of popularity."

Dear Chicken Lovers—

It actually happened . . . the other day when a customer ordered a pizza! We asked if he wanted it cut into 4 or 6 pieces. Would you believe he actually said: "Better make it 4 pieces, I don't think I could eat six".

Good news from the Fried Chicken Front! After extensive testing of a pure all vegetable shortening made by Kraft, we have found it to be far superior in all other top-rated shortenings.

It makes Dixie Lee Fried Chicken taste better than ever and the French Fries look almost too good to eat. We'll be interested in your comments after you drop in to 211 Coleman Street and enjoy your next order.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION

Take a cold, hard look at your tile floors. You'll find them just that. Cold and hard. Make them soft, warm, quiet — with Ozite Carpet Tiles. Full range of colors. All colors also in broadloom widths. Put Ozite Carpet Tiles in the kitchen, bath, den, rec-room, nursery, basement. Create check patterns, or wild designs. Run tiles from the floor . . . right up the wall. Wray's sample boards show many possibilities.

SO EASY TO INSTALL IT'S RIDICULOUS!

In most home installations, just tape down two rows of tiles criss-crossing the centre of the room. All other tiles can lie loose. No adhesive required! Work from the centre to the walls, placing each tile firmly against the other. (If desired, tiles can be installed with Ozite adhesive.) To skirt pipes and corners, simply cut tiles with knife or scissors. If you prefer, Wray's will install broadloom or tile in larger rooms.

WASH-OFF SPILLS!

Ozite Carpet Tiles are made with stain-resistant Vectra fiber. To clean most spills, just pick up the mess and wash it off! This is the same amazingly durable carpet as Ozite Outdoor-Indoor Carpet . . . but set in 12-inch squares, with built-in rubber backing for indoors. Colorfast. Dense, firm surface resists soiling, is not affected by mildew.

JUST VACUUM CLEAN!

Throw out your floor wax. Put your buffer in storage. Simple vacuuming keeps Ozite Carpet Tiles fresh and new. It's the best floor covering idea since outdoor-indoor carpet. And we invented that, too! Where will you use Ozite Carpet Tiles made with Vectra fibre? Use your imagination! 93c square foot, at Wray's

WRAY'S ARE STILL STOCKING AND INSTALLING THE REGULAR OZITE CARPETING WITHOUT FOAM BACKING AS USED SO SUCCESSFULLY AT EXPO. LOWEST PRICES FOR LONGEST WEAR. USE INDOORS OR OUTDOORS.

YOUR ANTIQUES

by Jack Jamieson

Parlor Chair Formerly Known as Balloon-back

Your grandmother probably had a parlor chair like the one illustrated, inherited from her family. The style is known as Louis XV although it has little to do with the monarch or the styles he favoured. The design was launched by the Empress Eugenie of France as the "new" style when her husband became Emperor of France in the 1850's.

The Empress was renowned for her taste and widely copied. Chairs in the new style, sometimes known as balloon-back, by the 1940's were common on this side of the Atlantic.

You can easily recognize the style by its bowing curves: There are no straight lines. Backs are oval or shield-shaped, legs are fancy and are curved, all the frame is curved. In spite of its delicate look, a man can sit in a good example in the armchair scaled to his size.

The design is still being made. If you have an original, or buy a reproduction, look for a band of grooving around the inside of the chair back. This is known as "bead" molding and is similar to the results obtained by drawing your fingers through a glass of beer in an oval design. In a reproduction this carving is done by machine, is usually more regular and not nearly as deep as the original. Often the band of finger-molding is known as carving, flowers, fruit or a shell as shown here in the centre top.

In early years this carving is three-dimensional but in later examples becomes flatter. In machine reproductions carving may be only an incised outline. Often the knees of the chair and the front of the skirt are carved as well: a constant threat to nylon stocking!

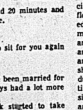
Much more elaborate chairs known as "Belter" chairs (after their maker), were popular in the United States. They had a heavily and intricately carved and pierced frame made of a secretly processed rosewood laminate core. They represent the ultimate in chairmaking and upholstering skill. Before the fire died in 1863 he destroyed his patterns and molds and his secret process died with him.

Belter chairs were expensive in their time and are much more so now. They turn up from time to time in Canada, generally unrecognized. Look carefully for one before you see it is type of chair. It may be more valuable than you think. Frames in good condition are worth about $60, reproductions start at $200 and Belter chairs run up to $800.

Antiques Fair Planned

St. George's Cathedral will present its fifth annual antiques fair April 23, 24 and 25.

Billed as "a colorful carousel of century old crafts and whimsies" the fair will have 25 dealers showing and selling a selection of their best items.



Among them are Thomas Wrightmeyer, Bath, well-known in the Belleville area when he operated an antique business in the city; Mrs. Nora Earle, Napanee; and Mrs. F. J. Markvart, Trenton. Other dealers will be present from as far away as Brantford and North Hatley, Quebec.

A festive first night show and pie socialate is planned for Tuesday, April 23, 7 to 11 p.m. April 23. Advance tickets can be obtained for $2 per person from Mrs. C. W. E. Danby, 465 King St. W., Kingston.

The fair will continue from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. April 24 and 25. Light refreshments will be available in the George Inn.

Woman Has Every Right to Criticize

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been told I am critical, hard-headed, unsympathetic and a perfectionist. If you agree I will apologize in the front window of Macy's department store next Saturday at high noon.

I saw fit to criticize a sitter because she'd:

(1) Dug huge chunks out of a ham which I had planned to serve to my bridge club.

(2) Ate nearly one-third of a coconut custard pie which had not been cut into.

(3) Left a permanent ring on top of the TV when she set down a wet glass.

(4) Burned a small hole in an upholstered chair, (cigarette, of course.)

(5) Talked on the phone for one hour and 20 minutes and made it impossible for me to reach the house.

Comment, please. — SCARDALE.

DEAR SCARS: If you hire this girl to sit for you again you have holes in your head, Woman.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Zelda and I have been married for three years. She is a lively girl and has always had a lot more energy than I have.

About six months ago my brother Dick stigted to take Zelda to the movies, bowling and a few other places because I was too tired. Last week Dick, who is a salesman, asked Zelda if she wanted to go on the road with him for a few days. She asked me if it was O.K. and I said yes, so she went. They got back yesterday and Zelda said she had a groovy time. She wants to go again soon.

A guy at work told me I must be crazy to allow this. I think he has a dirty mind. I have lived all over with my mother-in-law. If Dick wants a female companion on his trips suggest that he find a nice girl — and marry her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What would you do if you were 16 years old and your mother kept harping on how important it is to be a good girl and choose your friends carefully and have high standards and make the boys respect you and then you found out that she wasn't such a good girl when she was 16.

Her standards couldn't have been very high and she wasn't very careful about her choice of friends because she had a baby out of wedlock.

Would you obey her or would you laugh at her?—BUFFALO TEEN.

DEAR BUFFALO TEEN: The choice is yours, but you know what sometimes happens to people who laugh when there is nothing funny. Someone usually drops a butterfly net over them.

Did it occur to you that your mother loves you enough so that she doesn't want you to go through the hell she experienced when she was your age? It may well be that her mother didn't tell her anything and she had to pay an enormous price for her ignorance. If you disregard your mother's advice on the grounds that she is a poor example you are making a big mistake. She may be the best example after all.

Successful Living

Depressed Husband Requires Psychiatric Care

Dear Doris: After 15 years of married life my husband is getting into such depression that he drags me down with him, where otherwise I am very much in love with life and haven't a worry in the world.

Now my husband knows he is unhappy and is trying to do something about it but nothing works, even to going to a psychiatrist. Right now he is thoroughly convinced that if he took a course in "Developing Courage and Confidence" this would help him. We can't afford to throw $175 out the window, but if it would do him some lasting good we would spend twice that amount.

He is now 47, which I presume is making him slightly worse. But then I can't know. One reads all sorts of things about a woman's menopause but never anything concerning men. — Stumped.

Dear Stumped: If the depression is long standing I'd question your quick diagnosis. Male depression may go along with a rude awakening to advancing age — but there is little which is observably climacteric about it.

Better see his psychiatrist for guidance. A course in developing confidence is a k..ber mentally healthy people. Real depression which lasts could be a symptom of mental (or physical) ill-health.

Dear Doris: I found a small hard object in a half-gallon of ice cream. Luckily the small child had chewed it considerably before spitting it out, but could have easily choked if he had tried to swallow it. Why do they let stuff like this go on the market?

Just want to make sure that no child of mine or anybody else should be the victim of such hazards, so would like the proper authorities to look into this matter. Don't know what the foreign object is but have kept it for inspection if necessary. — A Rural Mother.

Dear Mother: Our public health departments work overtime to prevent such things. Regular, searching inspection of all plants working with food has practically eliminated illnesses and disease from foreign objects, impure ingredients, unclean handling.

Notify your local or regional health authority. They will appreciate your call and investigate.

Dear Doris: An 18 - year - old girl comes in late, talks back, smokes and swears. We do not Nan when she was 16 from the Children's Aid. She was taken out of wedlock, and has gone from one foster parent to the other. She has been with us for two years. I think she does this to spite us, but we don't know why.

DORIS CLARK

We have tried our best with her. And have talked with her about her actions, but it does no good. — Trying To Understand.

Dear Trying: Your young rebel has already been punished enough. Her g r u d g e is against the world, not against you.

Let her take the consequences of her actions: buy her own smokes, lose one date privilege, experience some isolation until she learns to talk in a sociable and friendly way.

But you do want to help her grow up don't you? Then place in her hands a job that will call for all she's got, and let her feel that you depend on her. Add your active affection. Most of all, show her you sincerely care what happens to her.

THE HOLY LAND

"Jerusalem is not just a city, a place. It is an attitude of mind, a way of life. It is the fulfilment of everything necessary to salvation." — Angela du Maurier.

Coincidence. Does it happen to you?

Someone once said it is something not believed in fiction but happens all the time in everyday life.

Whenever it does occur it leaves a gift behind: amazement. Such as this morning while reading a new book "Pilgrims By The Way," by a favourite English author, Angela Du Maurier with whom on occasion we have corresponded over the past few years. She writes of her recent trip to the Holy Land, not in scholarly but in an intimate way; a place she confesses she had never had much desire to see. But her vicar, Ivan, finally persuaded her to join an encumenical pilgrim. Not she says for a very "holy" reason, since she felt she might find material for a novel she had in mind.

Her friends of course were aghast at the idea, "going on a pilgrimage with masses of clergy? How awful!" But her mind was made up. "We were all denominations: Roman Catholic, Anglo-Catholic, Greek Orthodox, Non-Conformist and common or garden C of E." The party was divided into 10 groups. "Ivan was a group leader and I was, thank goodness, in his group," perhaps, "as a parishioner of his, he spoke up for me rather like a game of nuts-in-May."

The party crossed the channel, went by special train from Calais to Venice, where their Greek ship was waiting. The superb scenery of Greek Islands surprised her. At Beirut a week later, the party left ship, not to return until the pilgrimage to the Holy Land was over, which took a week. The groups travelled separate ways.

The drive she found through Lebanon was glorious and the "further we drove the more of the Old Testament came alive" a part of the Bible she confesses again which had always "bored rie to tears."

She found the Far East fascinating: the villages, the flocks of black goats that looked "like large apes", the camels and the nomadic tribes and the bedouin encampments and especially the great hills and their splendor. But Syria she found as "uninspiring and dull as Lebanon had been beautiful." The party lunched beside the Dead Sea. "A strange and haunted place — it is not for the joy of man."

Upon passing the road that led to Jericho, the party stopped near the ruined remains of the supposed Inn of the Good Samaritan. The sun was beginning to set, and it was then Ivan pointed to a distant western hill and said: "There is Jerusalem."

Bunny Cakes Delight Children

By MARY MOORE

LETTER:. . . thought I would pass on to you my attempt at Easter to do something like your Santa Claus cake for the children at Christmas . . . these were a great success at the kindergarten Easter party. — Beth C.

ANSWER: Beth, as you can plainly see, I saved your recipe from last year and made your adorable Easter Bunnies on Sunday for my niece's children. They are only 4 and 5 and danced with joy.

BUNNY RABBIT CUPCAKES (10 courtesy Beth C. — adapted by Emem)

Sponge Bater:
- ⅔ cup sifted cake flour
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. baking soda
- ½ cup butter
- ⅔ tsp. grated lemon rind
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 eggs — yolks and whites separated
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice

TOPPING:
- ⅔ cup unsifted fresh icing sugar
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. milk
- 2 to 4 drops red food colouring
- 5 large marshmallows
- Featherstrip coconut
- Pastel-colored smarties

To make cupcakes sift together the sifted cake flour, salt and baking soda. In beater bowl cream together butter, lemon rind and sugar until light, then beat in egg yolks and lemon juice until well-blended and pale. In separate bowl beat egg whites until stiff. Remove beaters and fold flour mixture into creamed mixture, then fold in beaten whites.

Select 10 vari-colored fluted cup cake cups and place in muffin pans (to prevent spreading). Spoon batter into paper cups, filling them no more than 3-3 full. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 22 min. Cool on cake rack.

Make icing by mixing together the icing sugar, lemon juice, milk and enough red food coloring to color pale pink. Ice tops of cupcakes to edge of paper cups. Before icing sets clip 20 "ears" from 3 marshmallows by sheering off bottom and top ridges — giving you elliptical - shaped - pieces about 1" long. With pointed knife make slit at both sides of each cupcake and slip in "ears" on a slant. Next apply featherstrip coconut "whiskers" and fix these at upper lip position with an extra dab of pink icing, which serves too as the bunny's nose. Use pairs of blue, yellow, pink and mauve smarties as closeset eyes on a level with the "ears". Let set.

Obviously you should let the children in on all of this bunny face decorating. They will love these funny bunnies.

A great big Thank You to Beth.

If that guy you meet in a bar, supermarket, laundromat, car wash or the employment office wears a cat-that-ate-the-canary look, you can bet the cookie-jar money he's a Montreal Canadiens fan.

Expansion has gone to the cheela of the Pro Soup Primos and they're going around predicting the Stanley silverware is in the bag or will be very shortly.

Why some of these Buckaroos of Blake are saying their favorites will take the glory and gold in twelve straight games. And the way they're going that is not beyond the realm of possibility.

They're piled up so many records that twice they've built additions to their—Hall of Archives. They've had the Stanley mug so many times the dam thing gets homesick when another club wins it.

They've won it an even dozen times since 1927 which is more than any other team can boast. Closest are the Maple Leafs and Red Wings so that mark is safe for this season at least.

They have the record for the most consecutive cup runs established with five straight victories from 1956 to 1960 inclusive. Toe Blake was and still is the coach and holds the record for most cup wins, seven all told.

The Habs also hold marks for most consecutive final appearances (10). They also tie a record this year, by making the playoffs. It's the 20th consecutive playoff appearance for Habs since 1948. Detroit are coholders of that record, with 20 straight playoffs from 1939 to 1958, inclusive.

If Canadiens make the finals, they'll tie Toronto's record of 19 final series appearances.

Among their other records are: Most goals by one team in a four game series (26). Most goals by one team in a five-game series (34). Most goals one team, one game (11), and most goals, one team, one period (7). The latter two marks were set March 20, 1944, when they whomped Toronto 11-0 with seven goals scored in the third period.

They also have the record for most consecutive playoff game victories. They won 11 straight. The streak began April 16, 1953, at Toronto with Pete's win in the fourth game of the final series, and ended March 23, 1961, when Chicago defeated them 4-3 in the second game of a semifinal round. Included in the streak were eight straight wins in 1960.

Habs have shewn the way in collecting playoff penalties, too. They picked up 72 penalties, involving 135 minutes, in a 1965 final against Chicago, for a record. It set the mark for most penalties by one team in one series and most penalty minutes by one team in one series.

Against Toronto on April 14, 1966, they picked up 12 penalties involving 66 minutes in the first period. That set a record for most penalties by one team in one period, and also most penalty minutes by one team in a period.

In a way Canadiens can be thankful that Detroit and Toronto are out of the running, this year. Those clubs have the best record against Habs in playoff competition. In 11 playoff series against Red Wings, Canadiens won four and lost seven. Against Toronto, Habs won five and lost six of 11 series meetings.

If they happen to meet Rangers in the finals this year, there'll be some kind of show down involved. The teams have met eight times, to date, each having won four series.

All told, Canadiens have appeared in 38 playoff series, going into the current rounds. They played three series against clubs which are now defunct. Of the 38, they've won 32 and lost 26.

Due to the fact that Toronto failed to make the playoffs this year, Habs have set another record with their appearance against the Bruins. It marks the 39th playoff series in which they've engaged. They were formerly tied with Toronto at 38 playoff series each.

Blues Stop Flyers

Habs Sweep Bruins; Hawks Hit Back

Stars Nip Kings

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Boston Bruins are out of the Stanley Cup playoffs, but coach Harry Sinden isn't letting it get him down.

Just getting into the National Hockey League quarter-finals after nine years in the league's second division is a major accomplishment for the sophomore coach.

And now he's looking to next year and a possible Cup contender.

In one of four best-of-seven quarter-finals played Thursday, the Bruins lost 3-2 and went down in four straight games to Montreal Canadiens, Eastern Division champions who handled New York Rangers in the same manner in last year's opening playoff round.

The Rangers lost to Chicago Black Hawks, 7-4, but hold a 2-1 edge in their series while Minnesota North Stars dropped Los Angeles Kings 3-2 to even their series at two games apiece.

St. Louis Blues pushed Philadelphia to the brink of elimination by beating the Flyers 5-2 Thursday for a 3-1 advantage in the opening series.

The Rangers are in Chicago, the Blues are in Philadelphia, the North Stars are in Los Angeles today with Chicago back in New York Sunday night.

There was no question of giving up by the Bruins in their final loss as they battled right down to the final siren, swarming around the Montreal end of the ice. Goalie Gerry Cheevers had been pulled with 62 seconds remaining and the Bruins went with six attackers.

It was typical of their play all year, during which they scrapped their way to third place in the Eastern Division after finishing last the previous year.

After Thursday's game, Sinden remarked, "It was a big step from the playoffs to the Cup."

An indication of the bruising year the team put in was a Friday report that six Boston players—John Bucyk, Derek Sanderson, Don Awrey, Phil Esposito, John McKenzie and Cheevers—face operations during the summer.

Montreal's Claude Larose scored two goals, matching his season's output, and assisted on one by Ralph Backstrom. Ed Westfall and Ken Hodge, scored for Boston.

The two goals matched the total season's output for Larose, who was having such a poor season that coach Toe Blake sent him to Houston of the Central League for a month during the season.

At Chicago, coach Billy Reay started juggling his lines in the third period, moving Bobby Hull on a line with Stan Mikita and Ken Wharram.

He doesn't pretend he's found the answer to all Chicago's problems, but did get two goals from Mikita and Pit Martin and one each from Dennis Hull, Doug Mohns and Gilles Marotte.

Discussing his line switches after the game, Reay said:

"I don't know how much good it did, but we finally started scoring some goals."

After the switch, the Hawks got five third-period goals.

"You don't like to break up a productive line like the Scooters," he observed, "but things weren't going right so we switched.

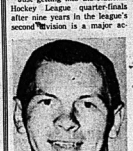
"I think the switch helped (Chico) Maki the most. He's always looking to pass to Hull. Without Bobby there, he went to work on his own."

Maki was moved to a line with Mohns and Martin.

The kings and North Stars now go into a home-and-home contest for the remainder of their series with each having won the two games already played on their home ice.

Because of this home-ice advantage, the Kings might be favored to finally win since two of the three possible remaining games will be in Los Angeles.

Both coaches agreed Thursday with Minnesota's Wren Blair saying, "winning on the other guy's ice in the playoffs means you've really got to have a super effort. But we can win out there."



During the regular season the North Stars won six of 10 games against the Kings while tying two others.

Thursday they got goals from Ray Cullen, Mike McMahon and Dave Balon after Bill White and Bill Flett had given Los Angeles a 2-0 first-period lead.

Despite their big edge over the Flyers, St. Louis players are keeping a rein on their confidence.

Shrine Peewee Tournament

Fuels, Oakville Win Pair Friday

Friday's only two double winners in the annual Shrine peewee hockey tournament were clashes head-on in the third round of "A" play late this morning.

Belleville Smith Fuels and Oakville played this morning at 11.45 — with the loser going to the consolation for the rest of the action.

"Moe" Hunter's Fuelmen trounced Toronto 5-1 Good Friday morning and reached the third round with a 3-1 win over Kingston last evening.

Oakville nipped Whitby 3-1 in their first round before blasting Toronto West Hill 10-1 last night.

In other first-round games, Kingston blanked Napanee 5-0, Toronto West Hill edged Peterborough Rehill 3-2, Cobourg upset Oshawa 4-3 and Toronto Christie won by a 2-1 shots-on-goal margin in the second overtime period after tying another of the favored clubs, Richmond Hill, 3-3.

The "A" teams are playing for the Harry Rollins Trophy and the first-round losers for the Shrine Trophy. Eight games will be played today with "B" finals scheduled for 5.45 and "A" finals for 7.30.

Belleville Minor Hockey Association president Tom Neil said this morning that noon and evening games (the last four) will likely run into bad schedule because of this afternoon's big parade.

Smith Fuels, provincial "AA" champions, built an 8-0 lead against Trenton with single goals by Peter Crawford, Mark Costes, Steve Kirby, Grant Goegan, Peter Burke, Andy Ricketts, "Joey" Edwards and Wally Daisard before Grant Cardwell fired Trenton's tally.

Against Kingston, the Fuelmen snapped a 1-1 second-period tie with Steve Kirby's second goal. Grant Goegan added two more and Danny Menard one.

Belleville is playing without defenceman Tim Whelan, who broke his wrist earlier this week. Coach Hunter paid tribute to his club. "The help that Pat Asselstine has been giving us in coaching the defence is really showing up now," he said.

Oakville got a goal per period, from Dennis Fowler, Guy Farrell and Norm Brenner in dropping Whitby. Doug Sturgess had the losers' goal.

In whipping West Hill, Oakville scoring was well split with Lenny Kelly the only two-goal man as they led 3-0 and 8-1 by periods.

Tom O'Toole registered Kingston's shutout against Napanee with Rick Twigg's two goals leading the attack.

West Hill built a 3-0 lead and hung on in nipping Peterborough while Cobourg overcame a 2-1 third-period Oshawa lead in winning that close decision.

In the 3-3 tie game, Richmond Hill's Tom Sanlon tied it at 17:50 of the third after Christie's had led 2-1 and 3-2. Neither team could score during the two five-minute sudden-death overtimes but Christie's 2-1 shots-on-goal edge in the second gave them the nod.

In consolation games this morning, Trenton and Napanee played at 8, Peterborough and Whitby at 9:15, Oshawa and Richmond Hill at 10:30 preceding the big Oakville-Belleville clash.

Cobourg and Christie's are meeting in their second-round game at 2:30 this afternoon.

Neill said this morning that "crowds varied depending on the game" Friday but that Shrine officials are pleased with response so far. Big crowds for the Smith's-Oakville game this morning and for the two finals games this evening were expected.

A Proud Youngster!

Gregory White, winner of the Tommy McNevin Memorial Trophy, proudly waves his award aloft as team-mates and others cheer the young athlete.

Tommy McNevin Memorial

Winner; Greg White

Gregory White 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross White, 83 Bertram Boulevard last night became the winner of the 1967-68 Tommy McNevin Memorial Trophy.

It was presented by Peter McNevin representative of the donor family. He was introduced by Recreation Director Lloyd G. Doran.

The trophy is presented annually to the novice player judged the most proficient in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association division in sport, schoolwork and music.

Each year novice teams of the division forward the name of their selection to a panel of judges. The panel selects the winner from the list of nominees.

Gregory played for the Maple Leafs team and attained 99 per cent marks in schoolwork and music.

He is a student at Sir Winston Churchill Public School.

Other winners since the inception of the award are: Steve Moore, Michael Seymark, Daniel Chatterley, Fred Lynch, Stephen Gray and Mike Lynch.

Strike Called Off

Mutuels Accept Offer

TORONTO (CP) — More than 100 thoroughbred mutuel employees have accepted a last-minute offer from the jockey club Ltd. and voted not to go on strike at the club's Greenwood racetrack in Toronto.

The workers, members of the Building Service Employees International Union, voted 128-36 Thursday night to accept the club's offer of a new wage package over a two-year period. The workers were to have gone on strike Friday.

The settlement includes a $1.50-a-day increase for this racing season, retroactive to March 1 and another $1.50 increase beginning with the first racing day of 1969. A Jockey Club spokesman said average daily wage for the workers was $53 before the agreement.

The workers were seeking a one-year contract calling for a $2-a-day increase plus fringe benefits. They also wanted time-and-a-half for Sunday racing. If and when it was approved, plus $3 a day extra if the daily racing programs were extended to nine from eight.

The Jockey Club spokesman said Sunday racing was discussed, but no agreement was reached.

Kingston Ints. Drop Opener

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Kapuskasing defeated Kingston Merchants 5-4 Friday night in the first game of the all-Ontario Intermediate A hockey finals.

The second game in the best-of-three series will be played here Sunday.

Gilles Picard, Roger St. Jacques, Marcel Tessier, Doug MacArthur and Ken Vail scored one goal each for Kapuskasing.

Replying for Kingston were Leo LaVallee, with two goals, and Terry Landon.

Student Wins Five-Pin East. Title

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Fraser Hambly, a 25-year-old Toronto university student, won the Eastern Canada five-pin bowling championship Friday with an average of 301 in eight games.

Edna Rimmer, 57, of Hamilton won the women's championship with a pinfall of 2,226.

Lloyd Ormerod of Hamilton placed second to Hambly, who had a pinfall of 2,412. Ormerod's pinfall was 2,310. Vern Erb of Kitchener had 2,297 and Willy Sorbara of Welland 2,250.

Second to Mrs. Rimmer was Joyce Bell of Oshawa with 2,198 pins. Third was Marg Boocock of Oakville with 2,119.

Player, January Lead Masters; Palmer Is Cut

Player and January teamed tough Augusta National and soared into the second-round lead of the 1968 Masters golf tournament, but the capricious course snapped back at the old master, Palmer, and sent him reeling home, a victim of the cut.

The four-time winner of this tournament, the game's all-time leading money winner, the most magnetic personality in the sport staggered, stumbled and struggled to a fantastic 79, seven over par for the 6,980-yard layout. That went with a 72 for 151, two strokes above the cut.

"It's the worst round I've ever had here," Palmer said. "I don't know where I was, but I wasn't on the course. I must have been some place else."

Player, the little South African who has won all the world's major titles, had a second round of 67 for 139 Friday and a share of the top spot with January, the PGA champ. January had a 68.

George Knudson of Toronto, fourth among the PGA official money winners this year, is just seven strokes off the pace after rounds of 75-71—146. Amateur Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., also survived the cut with a 71 round Friday, giving him a two-round total 149.

The lone Canadian to miss the cut was Al Balding of Toronto whose 77 Friday gave him a 152 total.

The day's best round was Frank Beard's. He reeled off seven birdies for a 65, just one stroke off the record, for 140 and a share of third place with Bob Goalby and Jack Nicklaus. Goalby had a 70, Nicklaus a 71.

Tommy Aaron, with a 72, was alone at 141.

The other first-round leaders had their troubles. Billy Casper, whose 68 led after 18 holes, took a 75 for 143.

British Open champ Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, England's Tony Jacklin and Australian Bruce Devlin, all with first round 69s, each had a 73 for 142. They are tied at that figure with Ray Floyd and Bert Yancey, each with a 71.

Player, who clipped off six birdies, could have had an even better round.

"When you shoot a 67 you can't say you're playing well," he said, "but I really wasn't doing well at all. I was stroking the ball very well, but it just wouldn't go in the cup. . . .

"I'm hitting the ball the absolutely best I have in my career," said the 1961 Masters champion who has been in virtual retirement since 1966.

But while Player was putting his game together on beautiful approach shots, it was January's chipping game that kept him together.

He chipped in for an eagle from 100 feet away on the 520-yard 15th and from 35 feet out on the 11th. "I'm going to stop going for the greens," January cracked. "I don't want to putt anymore."

Palmer, never before missed the cut here, in fact was in the water on 12 and 15, three putted two greens, took three to get down from the fringe on another and on yet another was in a trap and needed two putts.

Homers Win For Braves Over Reds

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of Atlanta's heavyweights is hurting but the Braves' light brigade is feeling no pain.

Reserve catcher Bob Tillman, a third inning replacement for injured Joe Torre Friday night, walloped a two-run homer in the seventh, carrying the Braves to a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds in their 1968 home opener.

Pitcher Phil Niekro and shortstop Sonny Jackson also homered for the Braves, who had dropped their first two games this season on the road and were winless in two previous home openers at Atlanta.

In the night's only other major league action, Houston Astros struck for four runs in the fifth inning and trimmed Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 for their third victory without a loss.

Thursday in the American League Minnesota Twins edged Washington Senators 5-4, Detroit Tigers nipped Boston Red Sox 4-3, and California Angels downed Cleveland Indians 7-5.

In the National League Thursday, Pittsburgh Pirates out-classed San Francisco Giants 3-1 in 15 innings, Chicago Cubs romped to a 10-3 win over Cincinnati, Houston took Philadelphia 7-3 and New York Mets blanked Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0.

Nip Hornets 4-3

Marlies Win Senior Crown

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros defeated Galt Hornets 6-2 Friday night to win the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior finals 4-3 in games.

The Marlboros now will play Victoriaville, Que., to decide the Eastern Canadian representative in the Allan Cup.

Bob Avery led Marlboros with two goals, Other Toronto marksmen were Carl Rymers, Gord Davies, Grant Moore and Don Fuller. Replying for the Hornets were Bill Hway and Joe Hogan.

Marlboros jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period, and led 4-1 after the second.

Toronto opened the scoring at 3:21 of the first period on Avery's first goal. Rymers increased the margin to 2-0 seven seconds later after stealing the puck from a Galt defenceman.

Davies, up from the Junior Marlboros with Doug Acomb and Brad Park, completed the first-period scoring about 10 minutes later.

Hway scored for Galt at 8:59 of the second period with each team playing two men short.

Awrey connected for the second time about two minutes later with the Marlboros playing five men to four. His soft shot trickled past Galt goaltender Norm Delelice.

At :59 of the final period, Hogan scored for Galt after he stole the puck in front of the Toronto net and slipped it past goaltender Gerry Desmarais.

Moore tallied about five minutes later and Fuller picked up the final Toronto goal midway through the period.

Sixteen penalties were called in the second period, including majors for fighting and minors for high-sticking by Don Redler of Galt and Park.

McNamara made 38 stops and Delelice 31.

— CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — Corner Brook, Que., Tigers defeated Corner Brook Royals 8-3 Thursday night to win the best-of-five Eastern Canadian Allan Cup semi-finals 3-1.

Junior 'A'

Flyers Stop Rangers

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) —Kitchener Rangers, winners in the Ontario Hockey Association's regular-season Junior A series, come back home tonight a game down in the final two with two games played.

The Rangers dropped a 7-2 decision to Niagara Falls Flyers here Thursday night that put Flyers ahead 1-0, with one game tied in the best-of-seven final. Third game is in Kitchener tonight.

League scoring champion Tom Webster paced Flyers Thursday with two goals while single goals went to Rick Ley, Phil Roberto, Garry Swain, Doug Brindley and Steve Atkinson.

Dan Seguin scored Rangers' two goals.

The big victory was the first for the Flyers over Kitchener in eight games during the regular season. Kitchener won four games of the six played against Flyers and tied the two others.

Phil Roberto opened scoring Thursday for Flyers with a 30-foot shot that bounced in off the arm of Kitchener goalie Dave Hainsworth. Shortly after, Garry Swain fired in a 20-foot rebound off a shot by Roberto, bringing the score to 2-0.

Dornhoefer suffered a fractured leg in the third game of the series Wednesday night. Nolet, who had been called up from the Flyers' American Hockey League farm club at Quebec, suffered either a torn cartilage or pulled ligaments in his left leg Thursday night at St. Louis. Both are through for the season.

The Flyers also said that centre Art Stratton would be out for the rest of the season with a groin injury.

Rosaire Paiment was recalled from Quebec to fill in for the injured players. Paiment, a right winger, played in seven games for the Flyers earlier this year, scoring one goal.

Six Bruins Will Be Hospitalized

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins nursed battle wounds Friday in the wake of four straight losses to Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

At least six members of the Bruins face possible surgery during the off-season after the club's first appearance in the playoffs in nine years.

General manager Milt Schmidt reported that doctor appointments have been set for Johnny Bucyk, Ted Green, Eddie Shack, Don Awrey, Phil Esposito, John McKenzie and Gerry Cheevers.

Bucyk, who scored 30 goals despite a slipped disc, sat out the final game of the playoffs and underwent x-rays and tests.

Schmidt said that Sanderson and Awrey will undergo nose surgery. Esposito has a gimpy knee, McKenzie an ailing back and Cheevers chronic shoulder trouble.

Fort Worth, Kansas All Even

FORT WORTH (CP) — Hank Monteith's goal late in the second period propelled Fort Worth Red Wings to a one-hockey 4-3 victory over Kansas City Blue to even their best-of-seven Central Pro Hockey League semi-final series at one game each.

After Monteith had put the Wings on the scoresheet, Bobby McCann and Dave Richardson scored 79 seconds apart in the third period to give Kansas City Irv Spencer completed the come-from-behind victory with a 40-foot shot that beat goalie Don Caley with about three minutes remaining.

Two goals by Phil Obendorf and another by Rejean Richer had given Kansas City a 3-0 lead.

Lead Series 3-1

"End It Tonight"--St. Louis

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Louis Blues hope to end their best-of-seven National Hockey League playoff series against Philadelphia Flyers tonight.

The Blues lead 3-1 in the National Hockey League's Western Division semi-final set against the Flyers. Should the Flyers ward off elimination, the sixth game is scheduled for St. Louis Tuesday night.

Coach Keith Allen of Philadelphia doesn't know what to do with a team which has been steadily going downhill. The Flyers staggered home first and have played ragged hockey in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"We've sure put ourselves in a hole and we've nobody to blame but ourselves," Allen said.

Allen also had to deal with goalie Bernie Parent who socked Flyers' trainer Dick Blouin in full view of itelevision cameras moments after Thursday night's 5-2 loss to the Blues in St. Louis. The reason for the fight hasn't been established.

St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman planned to use veteran Glenn Hall in goal as the Blues, third in the West during the regular season, bid for a playoff upset over the favored Flyers.

Allen will have to get along without forward Gary Dornhoefer and right winger Simon Nolet.

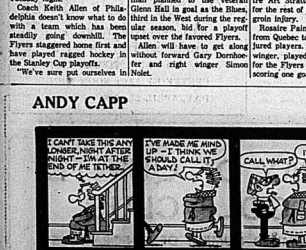
added Palmer Friday after he failed to survive the cut at the halfway mark in the Masters, his favorite tournament.

"I sure hope age is not one of my problems. I've got enough problems right now," said the four-time Masters champion who soared to a 79 in the second round, his worst showing ever at the Augusta National.

"Jack Nicklaus missed the cut last year at the Masters—and he's 10 years younger than I am," Palmer said.

Palmer's disaster-marked 79 left him with a 36-hole total of 151, two strokes over the cutoff mark.



"I don't know what was the matter, but I knew things weren't right," Palmer said of his play. "I couldn't make myself do the things I knew I had to do."

Palmer hasn't won any of the big prestige tournament since the fringed his fourth Masters championship in 1964. He also missed the cut at Pebble Beach, Cirrus Open in Orlando, Fla., last month.

However, he won the Bob Hope Desert Classic last winter, and is the all-time leading money winner in golf.

"I really felt good when I came to Augusta and thought I could win this thing," said Palmer, who opened with a 72 before his game fell apart in the second round.

Ontario Legislature

Pressure of Business May Require Fall Session of House

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature have headed home for their annual Easter recess after a hectic day Thursday that ended with royal assent being given about 75 bills passed during the first eight weeks of the 1968 session.

They return April 22 with the prospect of being at it until mid-summer and a possibility that they will face the first fall session of the house since 1961.

Last year the session started Jan. 25 and wound up June 15 with the members eager to get to the hustings for the election expected in the fall.

This year the session did not start until Feb. 14 and the pace has been considerably slower.

When the session resumes after the recess members will have to approve spending estimates of all 24 government departments and conclude a budget debate which has hardly begun, besides dealing with legislation still on the order paper and other bills planned by the government.

At the corresponding point last year the house had approved spending estimates of eight departments and worked its way well down the list of modest-debate spending.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald forecast early this week that the session would last into August. The latest the legislature ever sat was two years ago when the session ended July 8 after opening Jan. 25.

In moving adjournment of the house Thursday, Premier Robarts observed that during the eight weeks a total of 81 private and government bills had been passed. Of this total slightly more than half were government measures.

The premier said the members might sometimes think things were moving slowly but the number of bills was a record "for which we might all be proud."

The slower pace this year is illustrated in debate on highways department spending estimates. Last year they were approved in four sittings of the house; this year they are still a long way from approval after eight sittings.

Another factor tending to stretch the session this year is the legislative mood of the opposition, which as a result of the Oct. 17 election was strengthened in numbers to 48 from 32.

The daily question period in previous years seldom lasted more than 15 minutes. This year there have been several occasions when 30 or more questions extended the period to more than an hour.

Several cabinet ministers have suggested the possibility of a fall session this year, if only to consider government "white papers" on the Smith committee report on taxation.

The report was handed down last August and at least two recommendations have been implemented in the 1968 budget.

Before making further moves the government has asked interested parti- for their views on the report and plans to call a conference on the report this summer.

If the government does feel a fall session on the Smith report is necessary, a summer recess may be called sometime in June.

Massey-Ferguson May Move

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Roberts told the legislature Thursday there is a "very distinct possibility" that Massey-Ferguson Industries will move its operations entirely to the United States if the firm has to give Canadian employees wage rates paid in the U.S.

The premier said that at present 80 per cent of Massey-Ferguson's Canadian production is exported.

Fairs Bill Draws Backbench Displeasure

TORONTO (CP) — In a rare show of displeasure, some government backbenchers Thursday called for a free vote on a bill that would allow agricultural, horticultural or trade exhibitions to open after 1:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Government whip Len Reilly (PC—Toronto Eglinton) sparked the revolt when he said the bill introduced by Treasurer Charles MacNaughton was "one piece of legislation I'm not particularly proud of."

He also mentioned a similar bill, not before the house at the time, that would allow horse racing on Sundays.

Syl Apps (PC—Kingston) was the first to call for a free vote on the bill he said was designed to improve the financial statements of "various organizations."

However, the bill received second reading—approval in principle—on a voice vote after Attorney-General Arthur Wishart argued that it applied to a type of organization that would operate on Sundays only a few times a year.

Mr. Wishart noted that some other members also spoke on the horse racing bill, but he confined his remarks to the fairs and exhibitions bill.

"A great body of the public look upon Sunday . . . as a time of recreation," he argued.

The bill allows exhibitions on Sunday afternoon and evening, not in the morning when church services generally are held, he said.

Rev. William Ferrier (NDP—Cochrane South), a United Church minister, said he was concerned that the government would turn a day of rest into a day of work.

"We live in a very permissive society" and the bill "opens the door wider and wider."

Said John Root (PC—Wellington-Dufferin):

"We are responsible to one authority higher than the legislature. . . . If we believe there is a God, God's rules do not change."

Drug Regulations Tightened in UK

LONDON (CP) — Health and law-enforcement authorities are toughening up Britain's permissive narcotics regulations, but with some anxiety.

Regulations bearing an April 16 enforcement date halt the long-standing practice whereby any doctor was free to prescribe narcotics for addicts. The addict now must go to one of several special hospital clinics for his dose.

The official attitude remains tolerant—an addict is not obliged to accept withdrawal treatment and many authorities fear the new regulations might upset a delicate balance between catering to addiction at an illness while trying to curb the evil.

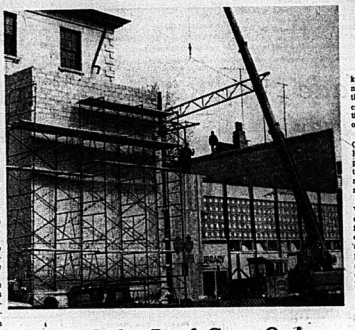
The decision to regulate prescription of drugs for addicts through clinics was prompted by a 1965 investigation that found addiction was being spread because of over-prescribing through a handful of doctors.

Under the old system, doctors were requested to notify the home office of addicts being supplied. Since February, doctors have been compelled to register known addicts.

The official register lists fewer than 1,500 heroin and cocaine users in Britain, but few authorities believe that covers all addicts. Included are addicts from North America.

Even the official list shows a big increase in the last few years, especially among the young. The number of new addicts between 20 and 34 have been multiplying.

Indications are that the growth in addiction to hard drugs has been due in some times as great as the home office list shows.



Clinics established at 15 hospitals in the Greater London area are designed to cater to only 1,000 addicts. Most of the hospitals have in-patient treatment centres for addicts.

What troubles some health authorities is the fear that clandestine addiction and the underground drugs trade may grow because many addicts would resist attending clinics.

An editorial in the British Medical Journal says some addicts would rather deal in the costly and dangerous black market and then get their official records by going to a doctor.

The medical journal also questions whether it will be possible for the clinics to prescribe exactly the right amounts.

The journal suggests the answer to the drug menace lies more in treatment than controlled permissiveness. A private medical study of British heroin users published in March shows half die before the age of 28. Despite free prescribing, the death rate among addicts in Britain is more than twice as high as among the black-market addicts of New York.

And the Roof Goes On!

The new second floor addition to the Corby Public Library is rapidly taking shape with roof trusses now being swung into place. The $50,000 addition, with enclosed stairway in front of the older original structure will greatly change the appearance of the library building.

Horticulturist Hear Talk On "Spring Wild Flowers"

Mrs. Thelma Boucher, well-known authoress, botanist and naturalist of Kingston, spoke to the Belleville Horticultural Society at the April meeting in the Sunday School auditorium of Tabernacle United Church.

Mrs. Boucher is a Garden Consultant with Canadian Homes and Gardens, a past president of the Ontario Horticultural Association and chairman of their wild flower committee.

Her subject was "Spring Wild Flowers," and, as the title of the special needs of the different plants, she showed slides of them growing in their native surroundings. Crocuses, at home in Switzerland, thrive in a rocky soil. Our native Columbine grows best where it is hot and dry. Water arum is found in water. Fringed gentian used to be seen on the sand dunes of Prince Edward county but, is becoming very scarce. Their own favorite environments should be provided for them when we bring them into our gardens.

Mrs. Boucher helped to plan the landscaping of Upper Canada Village. After consultations with other experts, Lombardy poplars were planted near the old buildings to give a proper pioneer setting. Immigrants brought twigs of these trees from the old countries to Canada and planted them around their new homes. They brought seeds of hollyhocks and sunflowers with them, also.

Native trees such as red sugar maple can be used to advantage in our own garden. They are not too expensive and give shade and color.

The Ontario Horticultural Association, in which Mrs. Boucher is interested, worked hard to get the white trillium adopted as the floral emblem of Ontario. A competition was held for school children and others. Many flowers were suggested but the final choice was the trillium as it is adaptable to cultivation in the garden. Finally, an act of parliament made it the official floral emblem.

The president, R. Patterson, introduced the speaker and she was thanked by J. W. Hodgson.

A houseplant competition was held in connection with the meeting. The award-winning plants were:

Single African Violets—First, second and third—R. Watson.

Double African Violets—Mrs. Edith Lenay, Mrs. Wilma Carr and Mrs. Rose Watson.

Tropical Fruits—Bill Smale.

Foliage Plants — Mrs. Jean Smith; Mrs. Rose Watson and Mrs. Jean Smith.

Ivy Creeper—Mrs. Jean Smith and Mrs. Wilma Carr.

Cactus—Mrs. Marilyn Ethier and Mrs. Jean Smith.

Ferns—Mrs. Francis and Mrs. Wilma Carr.

Novelties—Mrs. W. Fox, Mrs. Betty Gardiner and Bill Smale.

Other Plants — Mrs. Jean Smith, Mrs. Francis and R. Wallbridge.

Scout Leaders Complete Plans

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee, Belleville District Council, Boy Scouts, held in Scout Hall, announced plans for several major projects and discussed further plans of Scouting in the district.

Mr. Lewis Andrews, president, opened the meeting by introducing Messrs. Porter, Sims and Kunetsky of the Belleville and District United Commercial Travellers.

Treasurer John Wiseberdink reported a number of small accounts paid for water safety, training conferences and secretaries monthly account, which left a small balance on hand. It is understood that more funds will be available from United Services.

The sale of Boy Scout 1969 calendars by Groups was mentioned as a good and approved way to raise Group funds for operating the Groups. Sales to be made to Group supporters and "friends of Scouting" in the area.

Reporting on the Honors and awards night, which was postponed to May 11th, the Public Relations Officer on behalf of chairman Brown of the Honors and Awards Committee stated that there will be a large number of long service awards, training, sponsorship in addition to the Queen's Scout presentation Ceremony.

Reporting on the annual provincial meeting at St. Catharines over the weekend, President Andrews covered generally the meeting and the substance of the reports which emphasized the new Boy Scout Program. Discussion groups covered three main questions which brought out the facts that the role of the leader in the program was principally "guidance", with more opportunities provided for leadership.

Lastly the program will improve the image of leadership through creating more interest by more people. District Commissioner Burl Bateman also covered the meeting from the point of view of the uniformed Scouter, again stating that more people are required to make the program a success. During the past month Scout Troops and five Cub Packs were visited by the Assistant District Commissioners Fred Yaeger and Arnold Welch.

District Ladies Auxiliary representative Mrs. Gadd, reported briefly on the ladies activities. A meeting on March 27th had the pleasure of viewing the film "For Friendship" of the World Jamboree in Idaho last year. Plans were made for the ladies part in the Honors and Awards Night and announcement was made of the annual Pot Luck supper to be held on May 22nd or 29th.

Mrs. Morrin, Camboree work and service committee, confirmed that arrangements for the Salvage Drive on Saturday, April 20th had been completed. Display advertising requesting newspapers (tied in bundles or in cartons), soft drink bottles and fequat fruit baskets would be placed in The Intelligencer.

Reporting for the Water Safety Committee, Mr. Andrews stated that an average of 100 boys had attended the Saturday morning swimming classes at the YMCA on Saturday mornings. The last open swim will be on April 20th and the date of April 27th is reserved for Swimming and Lifesaving tests.

Badge Chariman Don Weskett and Secretary Cecil Heard reported on Proficiency Badges, with the prospect of a number of Scouts taking Fireman's and first aid instruction passing these tests in the near future.

Easter Marked Around World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This year's world Easter scene, which comes to its joyous climax Sunday in memory of Christ's resurrection, is dominated by traditional celebrations, but flecked with unusual touches.

Thousands of pilgrims streamed into Rome for the Roman Catholic Easter vigil service tonight in St. Paul's Basilica, with a mass concelebrated by Pope Paul and two Benedictine abbots. Thousands of Romans streamed out of the city, bound for the mountains and the shore during the long weekend.

On Good Friday the pontiff bore a cross through the heart of what once was pagan Rome. The 70-year-old Pope declared in a sermon that all men were "co-responsible" for the death of Christ, because He died to save all men from their sins.

The ancient holy city of Jerusalem was different this year: It was united under Israeli rule, and Christian Easter coincided with Jewish Passover.

Thousands of Israelis watched as Christian Arabs and pilgrims from many lands trod the Way of the Cross along the Via Dolorosa and filed into the Church of the Holy Sepulchre for the final stations. It is believed Christ was crucified on the spot where the church now stands and also entombed there.

At Colgate University, chaplain Dr. Donald Berry will conduct an interdenominational Easter service in the administration building for 500 students and faculty members who've been holding a sit-in since Wednesday to protest against racial discrimination in fraternities.

In New York City's Central Park there'll be a Yip-ed on Easter morning. The Yippies — members of the Youth International Party, many of them reconstructed hippies—say they'll build a mountain of canned goods for use during the Poor Peoples March on Washington this spring.

In Atlanta, King's father, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., was to preach from the pulpit he shared with his son at Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Opera soprano Mary Costa is to sing at 5 a.m. Sunday at an event described by sponsors in Los Angeles as "the largest sunrise service in the world." Up to 20,000 worshippers are expected to jam the Hollywood Bowl.

FBI Reports Progress Made In Search for King's Slayer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. Attorney-General Ramsey Clark says agents of the FBI have uncovered "very substantial" physical evidence in the search for the assasin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A justice department spokesman said the statement issued in Washington Friday night was in response to press queries.

But Clark, and FBI officials, refused to answer questions.

King was shot and killed by a sniper April 4 as he stood outside his motel room here.

In New York, The Daily News says it learned that the FBI had definitely established that a white sports car found abandoned in Atlanta, Ga., was the same car seen driving away from the murder scene after the assassination.

The Daily News says witnesses in Memphis gave investigators the licence number of the car.

The search for the assasin has spread hundreds of miles from Memphis, sources report, and involves thousands of investigators.

The scope of the investigation was evident Friday in both Memphis and Birmingham. Reporters seeking to question persons who might have information about the case were told repeatedly: "The FBI has already been here."

At the Memphis rooming house from which the fatal shot was fired, Charles Stevens said FBI agents had shown him two composite drawings of the suspected slayer—one a partial profile and the other a full face view.

Stevens said he saw the gunman flee after hearing a shot fired from a bathroom next door to his room. The bathroom window affords a clear view of the motel balcony where King was standing when shot.

At a rooming house in Birmingham, residents said FBI agents had questioned them about Eric Starvo Galt, a white man named in an FBI bulletin issued, then withdrawn, in Florida Thursday night.

Witnesses in Memphis told investigators earlier they saw a man in a white Mustang drive away from the rooming house. Records in Alabama show that a man named Galt bought a 1966 Mustang in August, 1967.

Other documents disclosed Galt listed his occupation as "merchant seaman, unemployed," when he applied for a driver's licence in Birmingham last September, giving the Birmingham rooming house as his address.

Massive Human Disaster Said Possible at Dugway

TOOELE, Utah (AP) — Dr. Kelly H. Gubler, chief of staff of the Tooele Valley Hospital, says it is possible that chemical and biological testing at the U.S. Army's Dugway proving ground could cause a "massive human disaster."

In reference to the deaths of some 6,700 sheep in Utah's Skull Valley in March; Gubler said:

"The sheep's worries are over, now I'd start worrying about the people. Undoubtedly the wind shifted and the army failed to take adequate precautions."

He discussed the subject in the April 12 edition of Medical News World, a weekly magazine.

"We should bear in mind that with a slight amount of misdirected contaminant, there could be a massive human disaster," he said.

Weather bureau charts and Dugway records have confirmed prevailing winds up to 35 M.P.H. blew across Dugway into Skull Valley 20 miles northeast and on toward Tooele and Salt Lake City March 13, the day before the sheep began dying. The army has withdrawn an earlier denial and admitted spraying a nerve gas agent from a plane that day.

Veterinarians and state investigators claim the army nerve gas testing March 13 caused the sheep deaths.

"It's ridiculous for the army . . . to soft-pedal the human health hazard," Gubler charged.

"We've blown our stacks before over Dugway incidents. We occasionally see patients who have gotten an anticholinesterase overdose at the proving ground. But will the army admit it? Never. They refuse to take a realistic attitude."

Tests done on the stricken sheep showed them suffering from a depression of cholinesterase which incapacitates its victims by blocking the enzyme action at nerve endings, causing spasms and convulsions.

Army spokesmen at Dugway say there is no human health hazard, insisting blood tests on army employees at Dugway following the sheep deaths showed no signs of nerve gas.

Senator Frank Moss (Dem-Utah) says he has "positive proof" the army test caused the sheep deaths. His proof, he said, is contained in the report by two government agencies doing comparative tests on the sheep deaths. The reports were delivered to Moss by Brig.-Gen. William Stone who headed the Association for Retarded Receives Contributions

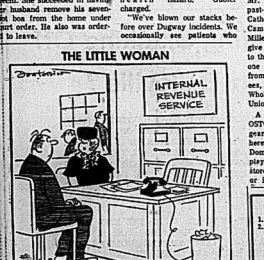
NAPANEE — The Lennox and Addington Association for the Mentally Retarded is fortunate enough to have a corps of faithful workers, all of them willing to roll up their sleeves and tackle any problem which presents itself, or try any scheme which will better the Happy Day School, or bring in a few more dollars to add to their slowly growing building fund.

The meeting last night brought reports of several more donations, and money-making schemes being undertaken on their behalf. From the OSTOC Club came a cheque for $100. A second cheque was turned over the meeting from Mr. Harold Todd, immediate past-president, on behalf of the Catholic Women's League of Camden East. Mrs. James Miller, had a second cheque to give the treasurer, in addition to the OSTOC contribution. This one was for $25, a donation from Dominion Stores employees, local 414 of the Retail and Wholesale Department Store Union.

A project undertaken by the OSTOC Club is already in high gear, and anybody can help here at no expense to himself. Dominion Store tapes can be played in a box either in the store itself, in Woolworth's or in Fraser's Radio and TV Clinic. When the Association decides on the piece of school equipment it desires, he will find out what amount is required, and when the tapes total that amount, the company will purchase the equipment. No decision has yet been reached, but it may be playground equipment, as this is badly needed.

An "In Memoriam" fund was contributed for something to be used in the school to commemorate the work done for the Association by the late Mrs. Gordon Kimmett. Mrs. Martin, the teacher advised a suitably described aquarium, which would both instruct her young charges and brighten their lives.



A further donation of $29 was received from four women who wish to remain anonymous. It was the proceeds of a euchre party which they had held at the school March 20.

Considerable time was taken up regarding a bus trip to Smiths Falls to visit the Rideau Regional Hospital when it holds open house May 25. A bus will cost $100 and they want to be sure of filling it before they commit themselves. Letters will be sent to all past and present members of the Association, and to parents of the children of Happy Day School to see whether the project is feasible or not.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

Pickerel taken from Moira River last night by Department of Lands and Forests officials may aid solution to dwindling walleye population. Lloyd Thurston, fish hatchery researcher, transferred eggs from spawning fish held by Keith Steele, Napanee game warden. Eggs will be tested for biology clues.

Biologists Seeking Cause For Pickerel Decline in Bay

The first 1968 pickerel was landed from the Moira River last week — and the out-of-season catch could have scientific significance.

The specimen was among early - arriving walleyes heading upriver laden with spawn. But for biologists it could also be pregnant with clues to a baffling Bay-of-Quinte mystery.

Provincial government researchers are seeking solutions to the steady decline of Quinte pickerel populations in recent years.

Now, they're starting at the beginning — with the egg.

The pickerel puzzle has persisted for nearly a decade, centred in a zone of the Bay east from Belleville.

Since 1959 the walleyes have not been producing in "a very great quantity" in the area, says Russ Whitfield, Department of Lands and Forests fish and wildlife expert at Tweed.

"The spawning runs in the (Moira) river has dwindled to almost nothing," he explains.

A similar situation exists further south in the Napanee River, while runs in the Napanee River "are not as good as they used to be."

"It's quite a mystery," concedes the official, "and there are no clues yet as to what it might be."

"Now we're trying to find out — starting with the fish."

Last night's catch was made by department officers Lloyd Thurston of Napanee, and Keith Steele, from While Lake government fish hatchery.

The spawn was removed on the spot and sealed in chemicals.

The procedure was necessary. The eggs will undergo viability tests and fertilization at the hatchery.

The laboratory process may help to reveal why the walleye is not reproducing in the designated areas.

The tests also could discover some clues to chemical contents in Bay waters and be turned over to an interested Ontario Water Resources Commission.

However, revealing the clues may be a slow process. The whole walleye life cycle may be under scrutiny before a solution manifests.

"There's got to be a lot done to find out what happened to them," says Mr. Whitfield. "It will take a lot of work over a number of years."

Campbellford Plans High School Addition

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford plans to build an addition to the high school at an estimated cost of $1,135,670.

This was revealed at a special council meeting Monday week called to establish the budget for public and high schools for the coming year.

Plans for the addition have received the tentative approval of the Department of Education. Cost of the addition without architects fees will be about $827,000, cost of replacing old furniture and equipment at $49,500, and cost of alterations to existing rooms will total $186,000.

The public school budget for 1968 is estimated at $479,088. Of this amount, $155,281 will be raised by taxes and legislative grants are estimated at $288,000.

Teachers' salaries and bus expenses accounted for the most of the increases. Cost of busses for public and high school pupils is more than $100,000.

The high school budget shows an increase of about $78,000 over last year, due in part to salary increases and the hiring of four additional teachers.

Total budget is estimated at $547,211, and $258,000 of this will be raised by taxes. Teachers' salaries increased from $281,000 in 1967 to $350,000 in 1968.

Librarians Conduct Workshop

About 100 librarians and trustees representing 42 libraries from Brighton to Kingston and north to Haliburton gathered at Corby Public Library, Belleville, yesterday for their annual spring workshop.

In the morning they heard David Skene Melvin, assistant director of the Lake Erie Regional Library system describe how that organization is operated.

Robert Porter, director of Belleville's United Community Services addressed the group in the afternoon on services to senior citizens.

During coffee breaks the librarians viewed collections of paper-bound reference books, children's books and new lightweight, large-type volumes for readers with visual disabilities.

To Your Good Health

Vomiting Indicates Severe Allergy

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner
Dear Dr. Molner: Would you write about hay fever in a 4-year-old child? She runs a little temperature in the evening, often vomits after eating, wakes up five to eight times a night choking and gasping for breath. She is taking several kinds of medicine but this cough medicine. We have a long-haired dog. Could that aggravate it? — M.G.

Let's not call this "hay fever", which implies allergy, or sensitivity, to various pollens in the autumn. This little girl is a victim of some other allergies — probably quite a collection of them.

The dog? Quite possibly — and I would have an allergist test her for that. But I would not stop at just that.

When a child cannot breathe, coughs, vomits, that is a severe allergy, and it needs to be studied very carefully and without delay.

The vomiting implies, or at least suggests, food allergy. This doe; not always adapt itself well to the usual skin-testing methods which are so valuable for detecting many forms of allergy.

It may be necessary to use a carefully - controlled test diet, limited at first to a few kinds of food which are least likely to cause allergy, and then slowly adding new foods, one at a time, allowing sufficient time to see whether each new one does or does not cause allergic reactions. It takes time; it's fussy; but it is worthwhile.

Children sometimes grow out of such a severe situation as this appears to be. The child should not be forced to grow up with these troubles — not to mention her misery now.

It is usually true that a person strongly allergic in one thing will also be, in varying degree, allergic to others. These allergic reactions tend to be cumulative. Mild exposures to two or more substances at the same time may cause a reaction which the same exposure to the same substances singly, might not.

Therefore, any allergic factor which can be identified is a step forward, because protecting against it will help the total picture to some extent.

As to the evening fever, chronic sinus infection is not uncommon in allergic children, and could account for that.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does cancer show up in a blood test?" —M.

Not specifically. In time an advanced cancer may well cause anemia, increased sedimentation rate, and other changes in the blood which will raise the suspicion of cancer, of course. Certain malignancies which affect the blood also would show in a blood test — leukemia, for example. But there is no blood test which will definitely indicate the presence of cancer.

Dear Dr. Molner: I like to nibble gelatin dessert powder! Is it safe if it has not been dissolved in water? — B. H.

Yes, Perfectly safe.

102nd Birthday Marked

Fondly called "Uncle George" by many people in the community, Mr. Potts enjoys excellent health and is the oldest follower of hockey on television.

Mr. Potts was born in Asphodel township on April 6, 1866, and has spent many years of his life in the Trent River area.

His wife, Caroline Adams, has been dead for many years and he makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stephens.

Russell Rowe, MPP and Mrs. Rowe called to extend their congratulations and telegrams were received from Prime Minister Lester Pearson, Premier John Robarts, George Hees, MP and Robert L. Stanfield.

'We're in Trouble'

Fish Support Price Sought

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Top officials of the Newfoundland fishing industry which has weathered storms in recent years, say the industry may be headed for disaster unless the federal government makes a line aboard this summer.

They will attend a meeting in Ottawa Wednesday which shapes up, from their statements, as a crucial milestone in two decades of battling growing international competition.

"We're not bluffing," says Secretary-Manager Eric Harvey of the Newfoundland Fish Trades Association, whose members market 90 per cent of the fresh-frozen fish sent out of the province. "We're really in trouble."

It appears likely the first demand they will make of federal Fisheries Minister Robichaud at next week's meeting will be a government support price on fish, similar to that paid on Western wheat.

This is one of the proposals in a 15-page brief they have prepared for the meeting and circulated among top federal and provincial government ministers, including Premier Joseph Smallwood.

Ironically, the most serious trouble is reported in the newest, most modern side of the two-phased Newfoundland fishery. This sector produces quick-frozen fresh fish in large new plants rather than the traditional salt-cured, sun-dried cod. The latter was the backbone of the fishery for centuries until the 1950s.

Salt cod, sold primarily in the Caribbean, has encountered trouble with Jamaican price controls which followed recent devaluation of some currencies.

But the major headache is the sale of fresh fish in the big United States market, where countries like East and West Germany, Poland and Russia provide stiff competition with heavily subsidized fish products.

Poland doesn't seem to care if she loses money on her fish," says Mr. Harvey. "She wants American dollars."

General Secretary Pat Antle of the 4,000-member Newfoundland Federation of Fishermen is also going to Ottawa. Mr. Antle says he will pursue his own line of thinking at the talks but agrees on the need for a floor price.

He says there are three major problems facing the fresh fish industry. These are overexpansion of Newfoundland production capacity which has increased competition at home for supplies, a post-war boom in European production which has denied Newfoundland European markets and provided another competitor in the U.S., as well as heavy subsidization of the European product by European governments.

What has this done to the Newfoundland fishery? The best guide is the price paid to the seller at Newfoundland docks in the U.S., which governs the price paid Newfoundland fishermen at dockside.

A pound of fresh fish brought 29 cents in 1965 and Newfoundland fishermen got up to 5½ cents a pound. The U.S. price fell to 21 cents last year and the price to the fishermen dropped to 3½ cents. U.S. prices have climbed back a bit to 24 cents but industry officials say this is behind what it should be for April.

Mr. Antle feels the fishing companies had money paying 3¼ cents last year. He thinks they anticipated more of an increase in U.S. prices this winter and now fear a drop in summer prices to around the 21 cents for Newfoundland fishermen.

When prices fell last summer, he advised Newfoundland's 20,000 inshore fishermen—not all belong to the federation—to sell their fish. Many did, causing the first increase in salt fish production in several years as heavy deep-sea dragger fleets, as the main suppliers of the fresh fish plants.

Then, just after the fresh fish market ran into trouble, international currency devaluations caused the trouble in the Jamaican salt fish market. Newfoundland fish wholesalers declined to take less money than they paid for the fish.

This has led to a backlog of unsold salt fish—it has been sold to the fishing company by the fishermen but has not yet reached the consumer—which stands at 80,000,000 to 90,000,000 pounds, Mr. Antle said in a recent interview.

There also is a backlog of 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 pounds of fresh fish bought by processing plants from the fishermen which has yet to be sold in the U.S.

Mr. Antle says a big factor in this buildup was the lifting of the Roman Catholic church ban on meat consumption on Friday. He estimates that 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 Americans stopped eating fish regularly on Friday as a result.

European subsidization of fish production he feels is crucial to the current difficulties. Similar subsidies by Canada would force mutual abolition of the subsidies eventually, throwing the fish marketing back into the supply-demand system, he said.

Mr. Harvey says banks which finance annual operations of fishing companies would feel safer if the government guaranteed a price of about 21 cents for a pound of fish, even if this was not a break-even price for the companies.

"We might lose our shirt, jacket pants and everything else at that price," he says.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 14th,

Your birthday today: You are going to talk yourself over-seriously in the complex changing times of the coming year, and will resist most of the suggested adjustments of attitude. Marital relations will be the most challenging area. There is much to be learned in the fine art of getting along with a mate; satisfaction will come if you give earnest attention. Today's natives tend to pursue independent goals regardless of hindrance, and often make good policemen.

ARIES (Mar. 21—Apr. 19): This Sunday is not the time to be petty. You are tempted to bicker over trivia or money. Divert the energy into symbolic or mental action.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You have put so much time into preparations that now it's here, you've had it. Relationships are uncomfortable, if not abrasive. Talk if you must, but don't get caught at it.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): You have the fleety but not quite the mood for displaying it. Relax, be a little easier on yourself. The dramatic may not be always the most desirable. Retire early.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): This is a Sunday for thought and philosophy. Avoid expressions that can be taken as competitive or envious, maintain your serenity when others flash.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Showing off is your great natural talent, but today is not an appropriate day for it. Dress well, but discipline your behavior. Rest early tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The temptation today is to react to some thoughtless remark and so spoil the day for oneself. If you go to church, listen for a special meaning in the rituals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23—Oct. 22): It's a day for dignity, let others quibble over petty issues. You may need a lot for your new clothes, but quality is always expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Conform today with all good intent. Take your mate to church. There will be many practical details for you to resolve later in the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): If your food and clothing are not right, you have unconsciously set it up this way. Have some alternative home activity at hand so you do not waste any opportunity through boredom.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22—Jan. 19): Reflect on your religion today, and try to show the gentleness that is all around you. Be the gracious host this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Today go along with your mate's worries about life, you may be pleasantly surprised. Your prestige is in good shape already, and calm cooperation will help further.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Walking to church is better than far-flung expeditions today. Rest your fine clothes in a manner suggesting that you're used to them, but no strutting.

For April 15th

Your birthday today: The coming year for you is one of preparation for vaguely sensed future crises. The pattern is very likely to follow spiritual crises—very serious ones. The changes made this year will be for the most part permanent ones. Today's natives in general include many artists, and most have a gift for inspired campaigns to change society.

ARIES (Mar. 21—Apr. 19): It might as well be New Year's, what with all the resolutions to do better today. Begin living your resolutions right now, the payoff is prompt. Brighten your public image tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20—May 20): A very productive day in which you get done several things which have been overdue. Put in a full day to make use of the aspects while they last. More of the same tomorrow.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): Your mate and associates are most helpful today. Get right after that promotion, spread the word. Celebrate tonight, but quit early.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Today should bring in the results of past diligence. Put in as long a day as the job calls for, cheerfully. Take a break tonight before you decide on tomorrow's approach.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Your personal finances are favored today. Take full opportunity to enjoy them without being greedy. Entertain tonight, catering to romantic interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your personal finances are favorita today to add to your savings. Discuss your situation fully with your mate and business associates, make a better deal for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Negotiations and deals are favored today. Cooperation is available over a wide range of needs. Work hard today to get the full benefit of these passing aspects. Make further plans this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Good day for thinking. Review your propositions early and pursue them vigorously. Verify your agreements this evening and make sure the figures check out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Business travel is indicated today. If you must stay put, make a symbolic search with your intellectual curiosity; your intuition will tell you the inner meanings. The results can be surprising and intriguing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Cash and carry is the motto of today's business. Make contracts for short terms with wives, trade supplies, and cut bills for all that is due you. Make it a full day's push.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): The money on hand today has long been committed, at least in principle. Today, do not rationalize any fantasies concerning new plans. Pay for what's committed, then play games with what is left.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Personal initiative and high morale really check out today. Go right into the job and get it done. Celebrate moderately this evening, but rest early.

Easter Parade in Berlin

Students, many carrying signs, gather on a West Berlin boulevard Easter Sunday in a demonstration. There were clashes with police, the fourth straight day of violence in the city since student leader Rudi Dutschke was wounded by a lone gunman. (AP Photo)

Riots Continuing In West Germany

Students Fight Berlin Police

BERLIN (CP) — West Berlin authorities today braced themselves for a sixth day of violent demonstrations after students promised to challenge state authority until May 1.

Easter Monday rallies also were scheduled by leftist student leaders in major cities throughout the country.

The students appeared determined to again try and block circulation of newspapers belonging to the giant right-wing Axel Springer chain, which controls 80 per cent of the West German national press.

Demonstrators accuse Springer newspapers of fostering political intolerance which resulted in the assassination attempt Thursday on Far Left student leader Rudi Dutschke.

At least 37 persons were arrested Sunday in West Berlin as mounted police dispersed 5,000 demonstrators who fought back with clubs, bricks and stones.

The Socialistic Students Association said it would set up blockades today in West Berlin, Frankfurt, Esslingen and Hannover.

One of the immediate aims of the demonstrators is to force evaporation of the Springer chain.

Out to "extra-parliamentary opposition," as the demonstrators describe themselves, also embraces grievances ranging from university reform to concern over the Vietnam war and the future of West German democracy.

In an effort to reconcile the dissidents and the authorities, other West Berlin political and youth groups announced plans for "make a new start" rally today.

Dutschke was shot and critically wounded by a gunman on West Berlin's main street, the Kurfuerstendamm.

A demonstration on that street Sunday erupted into a clash between thousands of Dutschke's supporters and hundreds of police, plunging the traditional Easter parade of strolling Berliners and tourists into chaos.

The demonstrators shouted "Nazis" at the police and chanted, "Ho-Ho-Ho Chi Minh" and "Rudi Dutschke." They huddled together rather than retreating when water cannon opened up at point-blank range.

In a three-hour melee, the leftists flung stones, pieces of metal, fruit, firecrackers and paint and tried to pile barriers across the street. At least three construction trucks were knocked over.

The students retreated only when police advanced with clubs swinging.

It was the most intensive clash between demonstrators and West Berlin police since a riot during a demonstration against the Shah of Iran last year took the life of a student.

Doctors reported that Dutschke, 28, was making satisfactory progress. He was hit by three revolver shots. One lodged in his brain and was removed in a lengthy operation.

The man accused of shooting Dutschke, a house painter named Josef Bachmann, 23, was wounded by police and also is reported making satisfactory progress. Police said Bachmann told them the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. inspired him to shoot Dutschke.

A police spokesman said 300 demonstrators who were picked up Saturday all were released by Sunday night. They included Peter Lorenz, 39, son of West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, who was not charged.

Meanwhile, the Communist-run overhead railway through Berlin promised free travel for the demonstrators. The move was seen by many West Berliners as an attempt by the East to take advantage of the situation.

Sitting Marcher!

Little David Hedge, too small to keep up with Saturday's minor hockey league parade in Belleville, participated nonetheless. His dad, Larry Hedge, placed the 3½-year-old in a stroller and pushed him as mascot of city's tyke team.

Riot Act Read

Campbellford Mob Protests Careless Driving Arrest

CAMPBELLFORD — Police here today will begin processing charges against about 50 persons after an unruly demonstration against local police here Saturday.

Provincial Police were called in to back up the reading of the Riot Act before the disturbance, demanding a prisoner's release, was quelled.

Town police chief Sam Baird, whose arrest of a 21-year-old man on a careless driving charge touched off the incident, said he would be sorting out summonses today.

He said about 50 people — many of them teenagers — would likely be charged with unlawful assembly.

The chain of angry events started Saturday afternoon when town police arrested Wayne Outwater, 21.

The man was charged with careless driving after several town residents complained that a pickup truck was driving around town at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Around 9 p.m. a crowd began demonstrating on the parking lot of a supermarket near the police station.

Chief Baird said the crowd consisted mainly of teenagers and persons in their early twenties. When town police moved in and took two men to the station, they were followed by the group.

A cruiser was prevented from leaving the station with prisoners for jail in Cobourg.

Chief Baird then called for help from Provincial Police.

Officers were rushed to the town from Peterborough OPP district headquarters and Brighton, Belleville and neighboring municipal forces.

The local fire brigade turned out to reinforce Chief Baird and his two-man force until the Provincial Police detachments arrived.

A paddy wagon with tear gas was sent from Peterborough to stand by at the scene.

The disturbance drew a crowd of about 200 spectators to watch events outside the police station.

Mayor Morley Tanner arrived and unsuccessfully appealed to the crowd to disperse.

Finally, about 1 a.m. Justice of the Peace Everette Steele read the Riot Act.

The gesture had the needed effect.

The act provides severe penalties for interfering with its reading (ARREST — Page 5)

LBJ Will Meet Korean Leader

AUSTIN, Tex. (Reuters) — President Johnson is expected to reassure South Korean President Chung-Hee Park in talks Wednesday that the U.S. is determined to check communism in Southeast Asia despite recent moves toward peace talks with Hanoi.

Johnson, who spent Easter relaxing at his Texas ranch, was scheduled to fly to Honolulu today for talks on the military-political prospects of the area with Park, a staunch Vietnam war ally.

Besides offering reassurances on this score, Johnson will be urging Park to go ahead with plans to commit another South Korean division to the war in Vietnam, where almost 50,000 Korean troops are fighting. The United States regards the extra division as vitally needed.

Hanoi Says U. S. Delays Talks

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (Reuters) — President Johnson, still seeking agreement with Hanoi on a site for preliminary peace talks, attended two Easter church services Sunday where prayers for peace were offered.

The White House, meanwhile, remained silent aboût the progress of diplomatic contacts with Hanoi despite Hanoi's latest accusation that the United States is "deliberately delaying" the beginning of the talks.

Officials accompanying the president on his Easter holiday weekend here also declined comment on United Nations appeal to Washington and Hanoi to quickly agree on a site for talks to avoid "the massive destruction of life and property that is going on."

Although it is two weeks since Johnson announced the restriction of the bombing of North Vietnam, officials were hopeful that both sides would agree soon on a site for the talks.

Britain Deplores Delay

LONDON (AP) — Britain is urging the United States to avoid further delay in fixing a site for preliminary peace talks with North Vietnam, diplomatic sources said today.

They said the British view, made known in Washington, is that American acceptance of Warsaw, Poland, as a site for preliminary talks, as suggested by Hanoi, would give the United States a chance to name its choice of a site for subsequent talks.

U. S. Courts Processing Thousands of Arrests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Courts are engaged in processing thousands of arrests made during the looting, arson and violence that followed the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Hundreds are still in jail.

Hundreds have been fined, mostly for curfew violations. Many have received suspended sentences. Others remain free on bail pending trial on charges ranging from looting and arson to first-degree murder.

In Baltimore, about 1,800 persons were arrested. Of 2,466 cases tried, 2,193 convictions resulted, mostly for curfew violations. Fines ranged from $5 to $300. Probation cases totalled 389. Many cases involving looting and arson await grand jury action.

Washington reported 5,500 arrests, including 4,400 curfew violations. Persons charged with curfew violations have been told they can avoid trial by posting $25 bond.

Chicago arrest figures exceed 2,800, with an estimated 500 persons remaining in jail.

Bonds for 207 persons arrested in looting and arson cases were reduced Sunday in a special Easter session of circuit court. A total of 283 cases were heard.

Arabs Like UN Proposal

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Arab interest in a plan to demilitarize Israeli-occupied Arab territories, reported to have been proposed by UN envoy Gunnar Jarring, has created "an exciting chance" of peace settlement, informed sources in Amman say.

Diplomatic activity reached a new peak in the Jordanian capital during the weekend and it was reported that the proposal was under active and favorable consideration by Jordan and Egypt.

Israeli foreign ministry officials said they had not heard of the plan and could not comment.

Jarring is reported to have suggested to leaders during his talks around the Middle East that Israeli troops withdraw from the West Bank of the River Jordan, the Sinai Peninsula and Syria's Golan Heights—all occupied during the war last June—and the Arabs in return agree not to move troops into the areas.

Jarring met Friday with King Talboni of Jordan. He is expected to visit Israel Tuesday and Cairo later in the week.

Sources in Amman said Egyptian President Nasser is unlikely to object to Jarring's formula, and strategic considerations might motivate the Arabs to accept the plan.

The June war and the clash last month with Israeli armor showed that Jordan's natural defence line is not the West Bank but the East Bank of the River Jordan, the sources said.

U. S. Bombers Are Busy in Skies Over North Vietnam Sunday

SAIGON (CP) — American planes flew 143 bombing missions over North Vietnam Sunday—the second highest number in a single day this year—a U.S. military spokesman said today.

It was only one less than the total flown Jan. 6.

The increased bombing occurred as Hanoi and Washington were trying to agree on a site to hold preliminary peace talks, the spokesman said.

However, North Vietnam charged that U.S. planes "repeatedly violated" air space near Hanoi and other areas north of the 21st Parallel Sunday.

Meanwhile U.S. marines today consolidated their positions around the recently relieved Khe Sanh base after retaking a dominating hill where they fought one of the war's bloodiest battles a year ago.

The spokesman said the marines Sunday stormed to the top of Hill 881 north, five miles from the base in South Vietnam's remote northwest corner following a heavy aerial and artillery bombardment.

The spokesman said U.S. troops found the bodies of 106 North Vietnamese on the hill, presumably killed in the bombardment. Six marines were killed.

In another battle six miles southwest of Khe Sanh, a North Vietnamese company charged the night camp of two U.S. air cavalry companies, killing eight Americans.

The U.S. command is preparing to replace American troops with South Vietnamese forces as American source said today.

It was considered possible that South Vietnamese troops will take over defence of the marine outpost of Con Thien and of Khe Sanh, now defended by a battalion of air cavalrymen.

It was reliably learned that the move will be carried out as soon as the South Vietnamese 1st Division has completed refilling and retraining. The division suffered heavy casualties during the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive.

In an upsurge of fighting near the ancient imperial city of Hue, American and government troops killed more than 600 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the last two weeks, military spokesman said the Americans lost 77 men killed.

Huntingdon Council Meets

TWEED — At the April meeting of Huntingdon Township Council a letter was sent to Conservatory, supporting its request to the Minister of Transport to have the harbors along Lake Ontario designated for ocean going ships.

The road superintendent was directed to attend "Road Superintendents' school from May 12 to May 24.

E. A. Holland will represent the township at the establishment meeting of the proposed Upper Trent Valley Conservation Authority at Brighton, April 17.

Chamber Issues Warning

"Beware of door to door men bearing good home improvement deals," applies very much to Belleville at the moment.

Reports have been received at the Chamber of Commerce regarding out of town agencies soliciting home improvement jobs.

And there is nothing wrong with that but the reports also indicate dissatisfaction with the quality of work and apparent excessive prices.

Apparently, as in other instances where there has been something a little out of kilter with fly-by-night deals, these folds for home improvement deals seem to be melting more frequently in the older citizenry.

Belleville's Business Consumer Protection Bureau to prevent any trouble has made the following suggestions:

Obtain quotations from other firms;

Insist on a written estimate;

Obtain a completed contract form showing complete details of all materials and cost;

Do not pay entire amount until work is satisfactorily completed;

Consider the advantages of doing business with well-established local firms.

An Idea That Works

A 'Group home' calls for work from everyone. These two teenagers, Paul Generaeux, and Keith Breakenridge, are part of the 11 foster sons that share a home with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMaster, on the outskirts of Picton.

'Group Home' Near Picton Provides Integral Service

PICTON — Five years ago nine-year-old David McMaster decided that he was lonely, and that it would be nice to have some brothers. Today he has ten.

That, in any case is his interpretation, as to why his parents are playing an integral part in the Prince Edward County Children's Aid.

Mrs. and Robert McMaster are parents in a 'group' home but beyond Picton town limits. Their family of ten foster children, all boys ranging in age from 13 to 17, are the left - overs after homes have been found for everyone else.

Officially the boys are classified as 'emotionally disturbed'. 'Bob' McMaster doesn't like the term. "It sounds like they're half crazy of something. They're just lonely and confused boys."

Ages of the boys at the group home range from 13 to 18. As the foster children become older it becomes increasingly difficult to find homes for them. Discontented, with constant changes of parents the Children's Aid finds become rebellious, and end up either causing trouble or running away.

Some eventually find themselves in homes such as Mc-Master's. They remain there until a more permanent home is found, or until they have worked out their problems.

"We step in just before the reform school does, but we haven't lost one yet," said Mr. McMaster.

"There's not a bad boy in the lot. Despite five years with the so called trouble makers, we've never had a policeman at the door."

After their initial success five years ago with their first "problem child", the McMasters informed the Children's Aid, that they would be willing to take in others.

The Society was more than willing, and agreed to the point that the 12 room house is now fully occupied.

The magic ingredient seems to be 'family'. The word crops up again and again as each boy explains just what the appeal is at the home.

Phil, 17, explained that it was the first strong family unit he had known for several years. Both his parents were dead by the time he was 12.

He was placed in a foster home but left after two years. He drifted about the province eventually settling down to work on a farm.

"I decided it didn't want to dig ditches all of my life so I tried to go back to school, working on the farm only in the evening.

Deciding that he couldn't handle the load, he went to the Children's Aid and was placed with the McMasters.

He is now in Grade 11. Upon graduation he plans to become a member of the OPP.

Pat 16, is a temporary guest. He checked in originally a year ago staying for four days. He was returned to the foster parents from whom he had run away.

After running away again this year he was brought to Picton.

"I'd rather stay here than go to any foster home. We have people our own age here. The whole family gets along well, we all share activities, and lend stuff to each other."

More boys may be taken in. Mr. McMaster plans to appeal for a grant to build an extra eight room section onto the house.

"The Children's Aid see that the boys have everything that they need. The organization in this county is terrific," Mrs. McMaster said.

"The organization in the home is 'terrific.' The boys are very co-operative. There aren't any regulations about how much they can have to eat, or anything like that."

The only form of discipline is grounding. "We confine them to the house for a week end, or a couple of weeks, depending upon what they have done," said Mr. McMaster.

"We don't have to enforce it too often. We've found out that it's easier just to function as a family, and to look out for each other."

Since 1962 Public School Costs Increase 65 Per Cent

The cost of public school education in Belleville has increased about 65 per cent since 1962 — but the direct cost to the taxpayer has remained about the same over the five-year period.

During the period, public school expenditures have jumped from $1,000,417 to $1,- 618,717 while the local tax levy has only increased slightly from $636,777 to $650,556.

The answer to this apparent contradiction lies in the fact that the provincial government has drastically increased education grants over the five-year period.

A cost summary, included in the public school board's annual report, shows an increase in revenues from provincial and miscellaneous sources totalling more than $200,000.

The local mill rate has remained fairly constant over the period with a drop from 7.0 mills in 1968 to 6.9 mills in 1967.

Over the same five - year period student enrolment has jumped from 4,712 to 5,363 in 1967.

But this is an increase of only 12 per cent and board expenditures have jumped 65 per cent.

Two factors are involved in the higher expenditures:

- The number of students handled by each instructor has dropped from 24.4 pupils in 1962 to 22 pupils per instructor in 1967.
- The other major factor is the general increase in the cost of hiring instructors and operating schools.

When the teacher-student ratio is lowered the cost increases. More instructors are required to handle the same number of students.

In 1962 the board hired 141 teachers. By 1967 this number had jumped to 187 — an increase of 25 per cent. But the student population jumped only 12 per cent in the same period.

Not only are more teachers working in the Belleville public school system but they naturally have received increases over that period.

Considering the extra cost involved in lowering the teacher-student ratio together with annual raises for the staff, the cost of instructional salaries has increased 53 per cent since 1962.

In that year the board paid $714,076 in instructional salaries — in 1967 this figure had jumped $370,002 to $1,- 093,168.

Other costs have also increased. In 1962 administration costs were listed at $18,- 704. In 1967 the board spent $39,077 on administration.

Again, in the operation of the maintenance costs jumped about $90,000 from $134,122 to $223,967.

Another area of concern for board officials is the increase in the cost of instructional supplies. With new educational concepts being used the cost has increased from $32,127 in 1962 to $73,190 in 1967.

The increase in the student population and lowering of the teacher-student ratio naturally means an increase in classroom space is required.

The total cost of these additions, renovations and new units shows up in the increase in annual debenture payments. In 1962 the board paid $151,270 but by 1967 this figure had jumped to $199,- 270.

So it appears the schools are now operating more efficiently, the teachers and maintenance men are receiving higher salaries, and several administration costs have jumped.

But the provincial government ends up paying a major portion of the additional cost.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

MISS MARION NEWTON (Toronto)

TWEED — Miss Marion H. Newton, of Toronto passed away recently in Toronto, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Newton of Tweed.

Her father was for many years a druggist and owner of a store at present owned by Mr. D. A. Rupert of Tweed.

The body rested at the Ross Craig Funeral Home, Queen Street, West, Parkdale, until the Friday evening after her passing and the funeral was held at 1.00 p.m. on Saturday, at the W. M. Bush Funeral Home, Tweed with Rev. Howard Y. Kennedy as the officiating clergyman. Entombment was in St. James' Vault, Tweed, for burial later.

She is survived by one sister, Amy, of 72 Sorauren Avenue, Toronto.

While in Tweed, Miss Newton was a member of St. John's United Church and a past Worthy Matron of the OES. Preceding the service in the chapel of the Bush Funeral Home, the officers and members of Tweed Chapter No. 148, O.E. Star held a memorial service led by the Worthy Matron, Sister Ethel Dafoe.

ERNEST PIPE

The funeral service for Ernest Pipe was held Saturday from the Thompson Funeral Chapel to Victoria Cemetery in Tweed for interment. Rev. William Lamb officiated.

The bearers, all fellow workers of the deceased at Ontario Electric, were Raymond McDonald, John Jones, Benedict Lajoie, Garfield Little, Percy Bankey and Lewis Cunningham.

MRS. CLARA ADAMS

Funeral service for Mrs. Clara Adams was held Saturday at the Grant Funeral Home.

The service was conducted by Dr. H. M. Davis and interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

Bearers were Larry Trawley, Dan Cope, Charles Tompkins, Lyle Brooks, Russell and Eril Herrington.

CLARENCE MOY

The funeral service for Clarence Moy of Rossmore was held Saturday afternoon from the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Rev. W. O. Wotton Boettcher officiated. Interment was in the Asbury Cemetery.

The bearers were William Lafferty, Jack Cooke, Alvin Lou, Orville Landry, Clifford Hillman and Derek Herd.

MRS. CECIL I. WARREN Belleville

In failing health for the past 20 years Mrs. Alta Lorraine Warren, died suddenly at her home, 186 Front Street, on Sunday afternoon. She was in her 73rd year.

Born in Hungton, Mrs. Warren was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Dorland and lived in Belleville for the past 60 years. She was a member of Christ Church and also belonged to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Her husband, the late Cecil I. Warren, was C.N.R. divisional superintendent in Belleville for many years and also had been stationed at London, Lindsay and Brockville. Mr. Warren died in 1967.

Mrs. Warren is survived by one son Ronald B. Warren of Sudbury and four daughters, Mrs. Harold (Hazel) Clarke of Belleville, Mrs. Derek (Marion) Wiltshire of Belleville, Mrs. Gordon (Shirley) Bankier of Kitchener.

She is survived by a sister Mrs. Harry (Nina) Sharpe of Belleville and a brother William Dennis of Belleville. There are nine grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the John R. Bush Funeral Home with service at the chapel at 11:00 a.m. conducted by Canon R. B. D. Wright. Visitation hours from 7:30 until 9:30 this evening. In lieu of flowers donations will be received for the Heart Fund.

Interment Belleville Cemetery.

ALLEN OWEN REID

A lifetime resident of Stirling, Allen Owen Reid, passed away Saturday at Belleville General Hospital after an illness of three weeks. He was in his 81st year.

Mr. Reid was born in Rawdon Township to the late Mr. and Mrs. John Reid and is survived by his wife, the former Laura Margaret Rowe. Also surviving are three sons, Edwin, Malcolm and Ralph, all of Stirling and a brother, Irvine Reid of Belleville. He was predeceased by one brother, Clelland.

Mr. Reid was educated at Allan Public School and was a farmer. He was also the last instructor for Rawdon Township and had been secretary-treasurer for the Rawdon township school district.

He was a member of Mount Pleasant United Church and had been secretary-treasurer of the church for many years.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday from the chapel of the Duffin-Hogle Funeral Home in Stirling to Mount Pleasant Church for service. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Rev. W. C. Cox will officiate.

MRS. J. M. DENNISON Fort William

A prominent Fort William resident, widow of a well-known medical man, Mrs. J. H. Dennison, of Ste. 1, 542 S. Norah St., suffered a heart seizure at home on Monday April 8 and died before medical aid could reach her.

Mrs. Dennison was the former Miss Ruby Holbert, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Holbert and was born at Thomasburg, Ont. She received her education there and graduated from Kingston General Hospital as a nurse. Following her graduation and for several years she was operating room nurse-in-charge there. She was married to Dr. J. H. Dennison at Thomasburg Oct. 5, 1922. Dr. Dennison, a prominent eye specialist here, predeceased her Nov. 4, 1966.

For many years the family has had a summer cottage at Trout Lake and was active in the sports and other cameraderie associated with activities. Mrs. Dennison was a member of Wesley United Church and former member of Rotary Inner Wheel and the Children's Aid Society temporary home auxiliary.

Mrs. Denison is survived by a son Paul, attending University of Toronto, and a daughter, Margot, at home; three brothers, Mrs. Harold Morton, Thomasburg; Mrs. W. Vance, Perth, and Audrey (Mrs. A. E. Kerrnish) Belleville, as well as other relatives.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was predeceased by a brother Floyd.

Thousands Attend Churches, Take to Outdoors Over Easter

Belleville briefly became Boys' Town during the Easter Holiday.

The town tribute to minor hockey Saturday was the only Easter parade in the district drawing swarms of adults to downtown Belleville as an estimated 1,400 took part in a half-hour cavalcade.

Its ideal weather setting was part of the backdrop for the warmest, sunniest Easter in years in the Quinte district.

Few remained indoors during the weekend.

Thousands took to the outdoors for picnics and cleanup operations of summer cottages.

Sailboats and pleasure craft lazily cruised the Bay of Quinte in temperatures at times in the 70s.

Churches were crowded through Sunday morning as Christians celebrated the religious festival with special services.

The activity brought a steady stream of traffic on district highways and urban streets.

However, motorists took police cautions on careful driving to heart. Throughout the weekend there were no serious accidents reported by traffic patrols.

But there was no recreation for conservation authorities as the weekend brought the worst rash of forest fires in years.

Department of Lands and Forests officials this morning were still counting the loss while nine fires were still being patrolled in the Quinte area's northern townships.

One of the worst outbreaks was in Huntingdon township where 60 acres of timberland was burned Sunday.

Since April 1, there have been 51 fires in the Tweed district and by this morning officials feared a loss of at least 750 acres.

This compares with a total loss during 1968 of 686 acres.

Dry weather, winds gusting up to 40 miles an hour combined with human carelessness to ignite the situation.

Smokers, persons lighting camp and cottage fires are mainly blamed for the outbreaks.

"It's awful, it's ridiculous — and it's all pure carelessness," summed up a department official today.

Easter Hunt Successful — 300 Participate

With 300 children scrambling over the East Hill Park and Playground Saturday morning in search of Easter eggs it's a wonder that the eggs themselves didn't end up scrambled.

The 13th annual Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Industrial Management Club was a tremendous success.

Bob Frederick, club president, assisted by club members distributed tokens over the grounds while the children lined up ready for the start signal given by Bert Messarat of the YMCA.

After all the hard boiled, scrambling was over major prizes were won by Brian Dall, Nancy Smith, Larry Tyrell and Patricia Barrell.

Heavy Traffic In and Out Of Town

TRENTON — Trenton people made the best of beautiful Spring weather during the Easter holiday weekend engaging in a variety of activities.

Church goers turned out in mass in their new finery but there was no big parade downtown as expected by merchants who especially dressed windows along the main street for the occasion. Traffic on roads leading out of town was heavy and apparently the interest was out in the countryside where the atmosphere was bright and balmy.

Paving of Sidney Street To Start Within Two Weeks

Paving of Sidney street from Dundas street north through the Belleville Fairgrounds to Catherine street, will be commenced as soon as possible — possibly within the next two weeks.

This was the good news today from Lightfoot Construction Ltd. who have the contract for the Sidney street reconstruction and paving.

During the summer of 1967 the north and south artery in the west end of the city was widened and curbs and gutters installed.

Late in the fall paving was started just north of Dundas street, but cold weather and early winter conditions forced a halt.

A company official said today that paving operations would be resumed just as soon as possible. The asphalt will be trucked in from the company's plant at Bayside.

The Belleville based firm also has paving to do at the air station and on No. 6 RD road.

'But Sidney street will be done first," was the assurance.

Escapees from Training School Recaptured in Stolen Car

TRENTON — Two escapees from the boys' training school at Cobourg lasted freedom for a few hours during the weekend until their flight from detention brought them in contact with police here. A third youth made good his getaway and is still at large.

Saturday night detective Sid Vickers and constable Norman Mallory on cruiser patrol downtown spotted a car on the town docks bearing 1967 licence plates. As it turned out the trio had stolen the vehicle in Cobourg a block away from the training centre.

Two of the teen aged boys jumped and ran from the car when police stopped it on the east side of the river. They were caught after a short chase. The driver, however, was more elusive losing his pursuers in a field off Herman St.

The two juveniles were returned to Cobourg yesterday.

In a second incident involving a stolen car during the weekend local police terminated the joy ride of two Ottawa youths soon after they arrived in town.

Larry Ventnor, 16, and Tom Charles Goving, 16, both of Ottawa intended visiting one of their parents spending the holidays with friends in the district. They stole a car in Toronto travelling the distance from the city to Bay St. here before being noticed. Neither could produce keys for the car or permits to drive it.

Two officers from the Metro police department came in from the city yesterday to return the youths to face auto theft charges.

Seaway Opens

A valuable bonus of Spring's strong showing this year is the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway a week ahead of schedule.

All sections of the 2,342-mile long waterway are open, from Montreal — the target date had been April 15 — can make a difference to the economics of a system that has had its difficulties in this sphere. With ships sailing through already revenues from use of the Seaway should show a healthy balance.

Meanwhile Provincial Treasurer Charles McNaughton has announced the Ontario Government is studying the feasibility of building a bridge to the United States from Kingston.

Such a link naturally would cross the stretch of waterway between Kingston and Wolfe Island and continue with another span from the Island's south shore to Cape Vincent, in New York. It would provide additional access to the United States at a time when traffic between the two countries is increasing.

The main links at the moment are the Thousand Islands bridge east of Gananoque, the Prescott to Ogdensburg bridge, and one at Cornwall. The structure contemplated at Kingston would mean Belleville visitors to the United States could save about 30 miles.

Nor should the economic advantages be overlooked. Eventually Belleville hopes to come up with an entirely new image. Its downtown redevelopment plan has been well publicized. One day it could be a showpiece of the area. The advantages then of having an international bridge in the vicinity are not difficult to discern. It would benefit the Quinte area in many ways.

Miss LaMarsh Resigns

The resignation of State Secretary Judy LaMarsh removes from the cabinet one of the most colorful personages in Canadian politics.

Miss LaMarsh has been in the cabinet since the Liberal party came to power in 1963. She served first as minister of health and welfare and in 1965 was named secretary of state.

In the latter post she played a leading role in Canada's centennial observances, travelling far and wide to tell people of other countries about Expo and this country's place in the world.

As the minister responsible for the operations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and previously as minister of health, Miss LaMarsh's frank and outspoken ways often sparked controversy, not least between herself and her cabinet colleagues.

Nevertheless, Miss LaMarsh is a woman who has the courage of her convictions. During her political career she has always been prepared to stand by her decisions. She will be missed in Ottawa.

Nipissing Route

A link with Georgian Bay and the Great Lakes is the goal of North Bay Mayor Merle Dickerson.

North Bay lies at the eastern extremity of Lake Nipissing and Mr. Dickerson is seeking support from other municipal officials in the province on a proposal to open the French and Ottawa rivers to marine traffic.

The Ottawa River of course flows into Lake Nipissing from the east while the French pursues a tortuous course west through some of the loneliest terrain in Canada to Georgian Bay. If locks and other engineering works are necessary the latter region would likely pose the biggest hurdle.

It is an interesting prospect. Realized, it could benefit North Bay considerably. Whether it is economically feasible at the moment is another matter.

From such ideas, though, the St. Lawrence Seaway was born. The Nipissing water route is there. It only needs to be developed.

Hippie Invasion

Who needs the hippies — those long-haired apostles of non-conformity?

Whether it needs them or not Ottawa is about to suffer a hippie invasion. This summer in fact. Graydon Simsar, 26, an Ottawa exchange student who spent four years in San Francisco, told a meeting of the mayor's committee on youth that Ottawa has become the "in" place for hippies this year.

The "in" spots hitherto have included such oddly assorted centres as San Francisco and Katmandu in Nepal.

Pity Ottawa this summer. Mayor Reid was at the meeting and he said youth problems probably would take top priority at City Hall this year.

It looks as if he is not going to have much choice.

Suicide . . . or Murder?

Legend of Jan Masaryk Haunts Czechoslovakia

By CY FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The ghost of Jan Masaryk, prominent son of a legendary figure, continues to haunt the leaders of changing Czechoslovakia, where government has become a perilous, knife-edge proposition.

Critics as well as outright enemies of the Communist Czech government long have agreed that Masaryk's death in a mysterious 1948 plunge may have been the work of Stalinists whose influence still is reflected in the country's administration.

Officials have termed the death a suicide but the doubts bubbled through even under the Stalinist government of the now-ousted president Antonin Novotny.

Those who claim foul play cite Masaryk's position as the country's last non-Communist foreign minister before power was appropriated by Moscow-led forces.

Masaryk's survival as a political symbol results partly from the fame of his father, Thomas, who became first president of the modern Czech state after helping pioneer its establishment in 1918.

Jan's fatal fall from a second-storey window now is the subject of an official inquiry, one consequence of the reformist wave surging across the country.

A noted professor, using the indulgence currently paid to free speech, broached the possibility that Masaryk was murdered, adding that any murder was the work of "forces from outside Czechoslovakia."

Such cryptic suggestions compound the nervousness of leaders trying to control and settle widespread thirst for change.

Looking over their shoulders are the risky Soviets. At stake is the preservation of a solid East European alliance based on the Warsaw pact.

The urge towards reform has propelled a new Communist government into office under a cautious economist named Oldrich Cernik.

He has the reputation of stout support for the chief official proponent of new ways, Alexander Dubcek, who gained the key post of chief party secretary.

Already the Dubcek-Cernik team has unveiled an action program, charting the way it wants Czechs to take towards a better, freer life.

Envisaged are controls over the secret police, greater freedom to travel, expanded, though by no means unrestrained, rights for unofficial parties and less isolation from other parts of Europe.

But Cernik is criticized as too cautious by advocates of radical change and may face further hostility in a situation charged with pent-up grievances.

People Usually Come Last

Richard J. Needham in the Globe and Mail

What god-like stature we give to the telephone! I was at Simpson's the other day, waiting my turn to be served. Just as I got to the counter, the telephone rang. The single clerk on duty immediately answered it, and took a lengthy order before wailing on me, even though I got there long before the caller. The reason for this, I guess, is that the telephone's a noisy, impatient bully; it rings and rings, demanding to be answered; whereas human beings (cons like me, at any rate) just quietly stand there.

Chalk up another victory for machines, another defeat for courtesy. But of course, it does not happen only in stores. It happens in homes, in offices, everywhere. If you're talking to someone and the phone rings, they immediately answer it: it's more important than you are.

I had a personal calamity once, and had to ask my then employer for a couple of days off to deal with it. All the time I was talking to him, trying to talk to him, the telephone kept ringing and he kept answering it. After a while, I just walked out of his office and, not long after, resigned.

"My Batman suit and my Abe Lincoln whiskers—wear them in good health."

Job Preferences Still On the Side of Youth

Hamilton Spectator

The Age Discrimination Act looks good on paper, and it probably bolsters the morale of middle-aged workers. Nevertheless, it is so easy for an employer to cook up a logical excuse for not hiring an older person that it is a Swiss-cheese act at best.

It is useless to repeat that older workers are generally more responsible and efficient than younger, untried workers. They are, and all employers know it. Notwithstanding the point, the worker holds more appeal not only because he generally can be fitted more easily into a company format, but because he has the irresistible quality of youth itself.

Forcing employers to remove all references to age from classified advertising is hardly likely to help the older worker. Many of them, as a matter of fact, are going to be penalized by disappointment when their job applications are politely turned down. At least the old system put the employer's cards on the table so that the older worker knew beforehand exactly where he stood. The new amendment to the act will mean that many oldsters will spend considerable money finding out what the "help wanted" ads used to tell them for the 10 cents the newspaper cost them.

Stress Factors!

Asking A Girl for A Date Can Cause Heart to Flutter

St. Thomas Times—Journal

Talk about stress in modern life, what could be as rough as being strapped into the nose of a missile and shot into space?

Well, for one thing, there is to fly an airplane. A study conducted by the U.S. Government Aviation Administration's office of aviation medicine showed that stress levels in student pilots were equal to those experienced by astronauts in orbit, military pilots in combat, or pilots of high-performance aircraft such as the X-15.

Temperature, heart beat rates and other measurements were taken of a volunteer group of six men and two women. The average heart rate during flight with an instructor was about 105 beats a minute. During solo flight this increased to 110, comparable to the stress on pilots flying far more difficult and dangerous missions.

However, the stress apparently comes from fear of failure, rather than fear of danger, says the Aviation Administration. Heart beats soared to 120 a minute during a licensing check flights with an examiner.

It would be interesting to measure the stress suffered by people in more down-to-earth situations. What's the heart beat rate of the man who has decided to tell the boss off this morning, or the fellow who has worked up the courage to ask certain girl for a date, or the housewife preparing a dinner for very important guests?

In terms of trembling tickers, we are all probably more "heroic" more often than we realize.

"Strip Mining" Threatens B.C.—Japan Coal Venture

Peterborough Examiner

According to reports in the Vancouver Sun neither the Canadian nor British Columbia governments have made any attempt to check the use of this deplorable method.

No doubt there will come the time when there will be a cry for government assistance to ensure that these areas it again 'beautified' once the natural resources of Canada have been plundered. The U.S. government is only now realizing what a mammoth undertaking it can be to heal the countryside after the industrialists have depleted the exploitable mineral. Now is the time for the Canadian government to insist that all provincial governments put an end to such wasteful and debilitating mining practices.

Strip mining is a euphemism for ripping up the countryside so that it looks like a veritable wasteland once the mining developers have finished their little chore of exploitation of the resources. Today West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee show the ravages of such methods. Wisely, the U.S. government is stepping in to force an end to it. Not so Canada.

Much excitement has been generated by the plans to have British Columbia's coal near Crows Nest 'mined' (by U.S. developers) and sold to Japanese interests who will ship the coal from a West Coast sea port. However, the method of 'mining' proposed is strip mining because it is cheap and affords a larger profit for the miners.

Shoplifting on Increase

Windsor Star

Shoplifting in Ontario today is reaching what may be termed epidemic proportions. Not all the thieves are getting away safely with their loot. Many are spotted, end up in court and often in jail. Yet the looting spree continues.

There always has been some degree of shoplifting, probably, but in earlier times it was customary to pin the blame on kleptomaniacs. They may be described as persons who steal from some inner compulsion. The law has tended to be lenient with them, provided restitution was made, and as a rule that is duly handed out.

The present crop of store thieves, however, hardly can be explained or defended by that rule of thumb. They appear to be fancy people who steal for gain and despite the law's heavy touch continue to steal when it comes to hand whenever the opportunity offers.

If this were a period of depression there could be a disposition to make allowances for them. But our Ontario communities still appear to be riding a boom so real want hardly can be offered as a plausible explanation.

Something in the moral fibre of too many of our people has snapped. Conscience as a guide seems to be left at home, or in a parking lot, when those sticky fingered adventurers sally forth to sneak away with items of various sorts that they probably could well afford to buy.

Rural Brain Drain Is Causing Concern

Brockville Recorder and Times

One of the sad realities faced by most farm families is that you can't keep them happy down on the farm.

Most children will have to go to the city to find their place in the sun — even though some might prefer the farm life. Unfortunately, too many parents have accepted this rural brain drain without putting up much of a battle.

It is true that automation, improved agricultural techniques and high operation costs have forced farmers to cultivate larger acreages (cutting down the number of small farms). Never before has the farmer needed to be so multi-talented — businessman, costing expert, carpenter, mechanic, study-to-read and digest technical material — as well as being thoroughly grounded on crop and feeding techniques.

Canadian farmers need the help of their young people who have grown up in a rural environment. Their built-in understanding makes them useful in farm-related fields. Youngsters who graduate in other fields such as medicine, home economics, and even nursing should be encouraged to come back to the farm communities to make their contribution.

Provincial departments of agriculture are crying out for agricultural engineers and economists. Private industry in the farm marketing, distribution and management has also needs more bright young farm people.

To let the young people know what opportunities lie in agri-th.re must be a constant flow of information about agriculture at college, professional and short courses available — with more publicity about the scholarship and bursary assistance. Private industry must begin to offer student worker programs where a young man can learn on the job. Rural municipalities and taxpayers will have to face up to the necessity of paying more to entice the young professionals back into rural communities.

U.S. Boy Scout Program To Aid Underprivileged

Houston Chronicle

Almost every lad who has belonged to the Boy Scouts is the better for it. It is a fine organization which teaches and promotes the finer ideals in life.

Recently the scouts have recognized that they have an untapped resource and an unexploited opportunity to advance their program of clean living and wholesome recreation by expanding into the slums. The Senior-City-Rural program is designed to attack poverty, prejudice, delinquency, language and cultural barriers, social instability, school failures and dropouts.

In a New York City neighborhood a program has been devised for Puerto Rican boys. In Miami for Cubans, in Los Angeles, for Mexican-Americans and in Watts, 18 per cent of the eligible boys have signed up.

The scouts can do something to brighten these boys' lives, in addition to exposing them to the scout oath and law. A further goal is getting them to "do a good turn daily," something many of them probably have scarcely heard of.

or failing to obey its injunction to disperse.

It can be read when three or more persons assemble for a "common unlawful purpose" and display force in such a manner as to alarm authorities.

As Mr. Steele read out its stern, arbitrary warnings, the crowd quieted down, then slowly began to disperse.

As the crowd broke up police took five men in custody.

Three were charged with causing a disturbance, one man with obstructing a police officer and another man with resisting arrest.

They were taken to jail in Cobourg and are expected to appear in magistrate's court tomorrow.

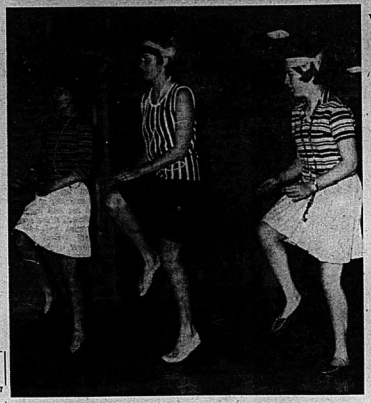
Easter Sunday Provincial Police were back in the town, patrolling main streets to deter any repetition of the Saturday-night eruption.

Meantime, Mayor Tanner called a special meeting of the police committee to discuss the situation.

Other meetings may be held today or tomorrow, said the mayor. However, he would not divulge what had been discussed.

"We may have to add to the police force," he said.

The town police force is short a constable and authorities thus far "haven't had much luck in replacing him yet."



The youth problems which may have led to the Saturday night disturbance were not peculiar to Campbellford.

"They get it in other small towns — it's a problem with the world at large today," stated the mayor.

He said at one time it was believed there were insufficient recreation facilities to occupy local youth.

To meet the need the town built a community centre, but now it doesn't seem "proving out that way."

"They don't seem to be able to find the recreation we did as boys," he added.

Roaring 20's Revisited

Three members of Eastminster United Church's Canadian Girls in Training, Susan Sisson, Nancy Wormald and Barbara Killough, practise their Charleston act in preparation for a show at Hastings Manor later this week. The girls have been practising "off and on" for about two months.

Quebec Man Guest Speaker

Speaker for a missionary conference to be held at Parkdale Baptist Church Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 15 and 16 will be Rev. Gabriel Cotnoir of Manitwaki, Que.

Mr. Cotnoir, a French - Canadian educated in Quebec and presently attending the Baptist Church in Manitwaki, has a thrilling story to tell," said Rev. Eric Penny of the Parkdale Church.

Rev. Penny stresses that this is an excellent opportunity for people to become informed as to the current situation and need in the province of Quebec.

Ralph Brant Receives RIA Degree

DESERONTO — After five years of extramural study, Ralph Brant, 28, has graduated as a registered industrial accountant from McMaster University. He is one of the youngest students eger to have received that degree from McMaster.

Mr. Brant now lives in Belleville. He was born on the Tyendinaga Reserve and attended the Deseronto School and the Deseronto Public School, graduating from the commercial department of the Belleville Collegiate Institute in June, 1962.

Researchers To Test Creeks

PICTON — Researchers at Glenora Fisheries will test Prince Edward County creeks as spawning grounds for Kokanee salmon.

Despite last fall's disheartening return on Kokanee salmon plantings in Lake Ontario, more fish stockings are slated for this year, Glenora station biologist Jack Christie says.

A series of experiments will begin this year at Shelter Valley Creek to study its potential as a spawning grounds.

Kokanee will be stocked again this year in the Georgian Bay area, where they first came through in 1967.

Open house at the research station, first planned as a one-day event, was continued for a second day.

Mr. Christie and the research station staff were amazed at the interest aroused by their invitation to tour the building. About 800 visitors viewed the exhibits on opening day.

As well as live fresh-water fish displays in the aquarium gallery, visitors saw exhibits of the salmon's life history, microscopic fresh water flora and fauna, and experiments on fish stamina, metabolism and water temperature effects.

Wellington Meeting

Shifting Sands Cause Major Problem: Alkenbrack

WELLINGTON — Shifting sands, a natural phenomenon that became a chronic problem with modern settlement here, will come under federal government scrutiny.

Perpetual movement of the sand — which enhances this area with some of its most attractive natural features, including the Sandbanks — has always been a development problem.

Particularly when the government tries to build a dock — and the harbor silts up.

"It's unfortunate that the sand presents such a problem in keeping a channel open," Douglas Alkenbrack, MP Prince Edward-Lennox told the Wellington District Development Association.

However, he had good news on two counts: (1) Works Minister George McIlraith had authorized dredging of the present harbor to begin at once. (2) A study of the channel will try to determine the movement of the sands.

The present channel opening was inefficient, Mr. Alkenbrack felt.

"It may be that the location of the channel will have to be changed — perhaps "cut through the sands at another part of the beach here."

The meeting heard a suggestion that a committee be formed to present a brief to the works minister.

Lighting the dock and harbor entrance also was proposed to facilitate easier location of the anchorage by boatmen.

Mr. Alkenbrack also warned area residents against possible water pollution.

Wellington fortunately had an abundance of clean water surrounding the community.

"However, you are vulnerable (to pollution) also . . . this is one thing that must be kept in mind at all times."

Mrs. W. Burris, on the association's public relations committee, told the meeting there was only anchorage for about 500 boats between Kingston and Ontario.

At peak summer periods there may be up to 6,000 pleasure craft plying Lake Ontario.

"If trouble arises or if a sudden storm should come up, many of these craft have to have a safe harbor, she emphasized.

Wellington Reeve Robert Boyce said Wellington was the only harbor between Point Traverse and Brighton.

Occasionally, when storms rage, boatmen in distress cannot get into Wellington harbor, he added.

'Air Belleville' Awaits Approval To Operate Commercial Port

"Air Belleville" is its name and although it sounds like a spring cleaning campaign it is actually Belleville's newest and only commercial airport.

Within the next four months flying training up to the ATR level and charter service with two and four seater aircraft will be provided at the Belleville Flying Club.

G. Johnson and R. Morris are awaiting formal approval for an Air Transport Command charter to operate "Air Belleville" as a commercial airport.

The twin engine conventional aircraft will be used for pilot training and charter work.

To bring in visitors small visiting aircraft will be encouraged to use the facilities.

OUR ROSES HAVE THORNS . . .
But they bloom beautifully all summer long. Choose a few from our wide selection of Hybrid Teas, Grandifloras, Floribundas and Climbers and be sure to plant them in April. Select an open, sunny, airy location away from trees, shrubs and buildings. Dig at least two feet deep and apply plenty of plant food. (Replace the soil in the hole if necessary). Roses planted in April will be full grown and blooming like sixty by June . . . just in time for the Belleville Horticultural Society Rose Show.
Brown-thumbed gardeners will be pleased to know that we will have a bigger display of potted roses this year. You just can't miss with these big healthy living bushes. Best of all, thanks to our increasing buying power, we'll have lower prices on Potted Roses than ever before.
Bare root (packaged) roses will be on hand early in April; Potted Roses about May 1st.

Laurentian Chapter to Sponsor House and Garden Tour

OTTAWA — Governor-General Roland A. Michener and Mrs. Michener have graciously consented to open the public rooms and grounds of Rideau Hall to patrons of the eighth annual house and garden tour sponsored by Laurentian Chapter, IODE. The always - popular event takes place on Thursday, May 16th, from 10.30 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. and, as in the past, coincides with Ottawa's colorful Tulip Festival.

His Excellency the Ambassador of Venezuela and Mrs. Antonio M. Araujo have lent their residence, as has His Excellency the Indian High Commissioner, General Jayanto Nath Chaudhuri. Visitors can see for themselves the comfort and elegance of Seven Rideau Gate, the Government of Canada's guest house for distinguished visitors, and will also view the attractive modern home of Mr. Thomas C. Assaly, president of Assaly Construction, and Mrs. Assaly.

All tour attractions are easily accessible — Rideau Hall and Seven Rideau Gate can be approached from Sussex Drive, the Indian High Commissioner's home is in adjacent Rockcliffe Park and the other two residences are in the Alta Vista area.

Tickets (with map) are available from Mrs. Frederick Clifford, 2 Maple Lane, Ottawa 2, (tel. 746-6545). Early application is advisable.

Visitors are assured of aesthetic interest and variety. Many of Their Excellencies' personal treasures grace the rooms of Rideau Hall — of particular interest is an exquisite picture of the Taj Mahal executed in moonstone and jade.

The informal Canadian room will delight art-lovers, as it is hung with paintings by Emily Carr; David Milne, Paul Kane, Plaskett, Robertson, de Tonnancourt and Cosgrove.

His Excellency the Ambassador of Venezuela has collected many treasures during his diplomatic career. Beautiful mahogany furniture inlaid with mother-of-pearl, ebony and ivory comes from Damascus and was acquired during a Cairo posting. The drawing room boasts an El Greco painting and a Rubens sketch and the Ambassador's large and awe-inspiring sculpture collection includes Assyrian, Hellenic, Greek and Roman pieces of varying antiquity.

General Chaudhuri's residence contains many interesting and beautiful objects, including reproductions of paintings found in the Ajanta caves and dating from 100 BC to 600 AD, an 800-year-old stone carving from an Indian temple and an elephant train carved from a single tusk.

Canadians can well be proud of the reception accorded to the many dignitaries who stayed at Seven Rideau Gate during Centennial Year. Visitors are sure to admire the beautifully furnished drawing and sitting rooms and the carefully planned bedroom suites. Of particular interest is the Canadian bedroom, in which Centennial Year print, especially designed by Sanderson, is used on walls, furniture and four-poster bed. National Gallery paintings by Cosgrove, Henri Masson and David Milne, among others, are hung throughout the house and splendid examples of Eskimo sculpture are well displayed in the informal sitting room.

Construction know-how is everywhere evident in the contemporary tri-level Assaly home. A spacious foyer of slate ning, creamy-colored onyx leads to a sunken living room, lower-level family room (with angled bar and concealed TV) and up to bedrooms. The creamy onyx is repeated in the modern kitchen with its built-in barbecue and rippling waterfall. Vivid colors predominate throughout the house.

Lorraine Chapter, IODE will serve luncheon (optional) at McKay United Church Hall, McKay Corners. Proceeds from the tour will maintain existing scholarships and bursaries and will further Laurentian Chapter's educational and welfare work, which now extends from Tortola, British Virgin Islands, to Canada's Northwest Territories.

This chic dinner dress with purple and orange flowers printed on white silk chiffon, is just the thing for a summer dinner date. It has cuffed long sleeves and the neckline is jewelled in crystal and rhinestones. The dress was shown recently as part of a summer collection in New York.

ST. ANDREW'S WMS

The Easter thank-offering meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, afternoon auxiliary, was held in the Sunday school auditorium.

The president, Mrs. H. Elvidge, opened the meeting. Mrs. W. Mills read the Scripture and Mrs. G. O'Neil gave the Easter message.

Mrs. A. S. Carr, past president of the Women's Missionary Society, western division, was guest speaker. She discussed missionary work at home and abroad and stressed the value of prayer as a bond between missionaries and the WMS groups in Canada. She was introduced by Miss Frieda Matthews and thanked by Mrs. M. Barlow.

SOCIALS

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dunnier of Toronto spent the Easter weekend with Mrs. Betty Wood, Brock street, Belleville.

Prior to the marriage of Mrs. John Shepherd (nee Judy Wood) a community shower was held in the township hall at Ivanhoe when approximately 50 friends and neighbors were present.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN W. SHEPHERD

Shepherd – Wood

Calvary Temple, Belleville was the setting on Saturday, April 6, 1968, at 2 p.m., when Judith Margaret Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood of Ivanhoe was united in marriage to John William Shepherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Shepherd, R.R. 1, Inverary, Ontario. Rev. J. P. Weller of Scarborough assisted by Rev. Don Cantelon, London, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. David Shepherd of Mount Bridges, sister-in-law of the bridegroom played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist Ken Wallace of Scarborough. Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white peau de soie featuring a Chantilly lace bodice with bell sleeves. The full-length train at back, and the skirt were accented with matching lace appliqued flowers. She carried a white Bible crested with a glamelia with cascading red sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Jack Wood, Ivanhoe, sister-in-law of the bride as matron of honor and the bridesmaid Miss Marjorie Shepherd, sister of the bridegroom from Kingston and Miss Christine Stephens of Ivanhoe as junior bridesmaid were dressed alike in full-length green crepe dresses with matching headdresses. All carried bouquets of white shasta 'mums and daisies.

David Shepherd of Mount Bridges attended his brother, while the ushers were Jack Wood, brother of the bride and Lorne Shepherd of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom.

The reception was held at Club Canara where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a beige and turquoise bonded silk ensemble with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. Mrs. Shepherd, the bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a blue crepe matching dress and jacket, blue accessories and a cursage of pink sweetheart roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to points in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, the bride wore a sand and white ensemble, orange hat, brown accessories and a white camelia corsage.

On return the couple will reside at Glencoe, Ontario.

Australian Girl Named Miss Teen International

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Blue-eyed Janette McLeod, a honey-blonde Australian girl who thought she was "a bit too wholesome" to win, was named Miss Teen International Saturday night at the Hollywood Palladium.

Miss McLeod, 17, daughter of a Sydney bakery owner, is five-feet-eight and measures 34-24½-36.

She won a 1968 car, a $2,000 scholarship to the college of her choice, a summer wardrobe and a tour of Europe.

Runners - up were Miss Teen Canada, Anne Grazyna Sapieja, 17, of Toronto, and Miss Teen U.S.A., Pamela Martin, 18, of Detroit. They received $1,000 each.

SHE WAS FIRST

The first Moslem woman to attend college was Halide Edib, who graduated from the American College for Girls in Constantinople in 1901.

South Vietnam May Call Up Single Women

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Vietnam may call single women between the ages of 18 and 25 into the armed services if general mobilization is enforced, informed sources said Sunday.

The women would take over from soldiers at present doing desk jobs or they could become army nurses, the sources said.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's call last week for general mobilization, would make men between the ages of 18 and 45 liable for military service.

The present mobilization order covers men between 18 and 33.

Bethlehem Shrine Officers Installed

Canadian Ballerina Joins Royal Danish Ballet

TORONTO (CP) — Canada is losing its short-haired ballerina princess, Martine Van Hamel, darling of Toronto's ballet set since she won first prize in the third International Ballet Competition in Varna, Bulgaria, two years ago, is leaving at the end of the current season to accept an offer by Erik Bruhn of the Royal Danish Ballet.

"Erik offered me a spot as a soloist to do his Swan Lake for three weeks in September and October," she said.

Martine, now wearing short hair — "I didn't have time to fiddle with my long hair" said she would be wasting her time if she stayed here.

"I've been with the National Ballet for five years now and I'd like to try something else." Martine, 22, says a ballerina should be established by the time she's 30, and expresses the desire to broaden her experience.

Her future plans when she comes back from Europe include New York—

"It's a marvellous ballet town. New, exciting things happen there. Toronto is the best ballet town in Canada, but it can't compare to New York."

Lawn Bowling Fine Game For Every Member of Family

Dear Doris: For years we lawn bowlers have tried to impress people that lawn bowling is a wonderful sport for ages 18 to 80, not just an old folks' game. A while ago in your column you made a remark that has become a standing joke among our lawn bowlers.

You said something to the effect: "If you can stand up and hold a bowl you can lawn bowl". Now at our green if somebody has a bad game and gets a bit discouraged, you know what we say! "You know what Doris said!"

I will admit there are plenty of grandparents that play and good bowlers they are too, but there are many young and middle-aged people active in these clubs. — Frontier Bowler.

Dear Bowler: OK., have your fun! Does same remark make them feel 18 or 80? I hereby declare lawn bowling a delightful game for every member of the family!

Still, — does it pose the threat to life, and limb, and heart, that football or tennis does?

Dear Doris: Our 13-year-old daughter has better than average ability on the piano, but she is no longer interested. She gets annoyed when I nag her to practise; and I am sick at heart because she is not taking advantage of the chance I always wanted and never got. There was a time when I didn't have to encourage her at all.

If we let her quit, I am sure that some day she will regret it. She is not burdened with housework; in fact, I often let her away rather lightly, hoping that she will put more time in on her music. What do a few wisps of dust' matter to one's soul? — Concerned.

Dear Concerned: Leave it alone. Until she begins pining her gift herself you are banging your head against a wall. I'm sorry to say. Right now her world is changing and expanding — a restless, uncertain time for a girl. I'm guessing she'll be back at the piano on her own, later, if you resist pushing her now.

Her future will also involve managing a home — so those dusting habits may be more important than you think. Do not let your ambitions for her unbalance her all-round training for life.

Dear Doris: I have followed your instructions about my skin condition and now my face is improving rapidly. Enclosed is 10 cents for your helpful leaflet. — Grateful Friend.

Dear Friend: The credit goes to you for taking pen in hand and asking for help; then for doing what the leaflet says.

The folks I despair of are those who sprout a new pimple every day or two and take not the slightest interest in doing something about it. We know acne is an adolescent scourge, sometimes carried well into adulthood; we know it is related to diet and to cleanliness; we know it can be treated with great success.

Then why does anybody keep putting up with it? Partly because the victims don't connect a pimple with sweets or a bottle of pop; partly because some parents themselves still don't see what food has to do with health. And the old excuse, "Well, he doesn't like this; he doesn't like that," is allowed to govern what he eats.

Irresponsible Boys Need Dad's Discipline

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband died five years ago and left me with two fine sons, ages six and eight. Seven months ago I married a bachelor. He liked my boys and they like him. On occasion he would complain about their behavior and say, half-joking, "When I am their father I'll see that they get some discipline."

ANN LANDERS

I am afraid our marriage is in danger and I need your help. My husband has turned from an even-tempered man into a tyrant. He and I have no problem, but his attitude toward the boys is horrible. He says they are ill-mannered, irresponsible, spoiled rotten. I say they are high-spirited, energetic, normal kids. True, they punch each other sometimes in the back seat of the car, but then all brothers do. When we go out for dinner they don't always behave perfectly, they spill things and make a little too much noise. So what?

I've always taken the boys with me in the evening, to dinner and the theatre and visiting friends. (I felt this was compensation for being fatherless.) Now they expect to and I see nothing wrong with taking them.

I told my husband I was writing to you and he said he was going to write to you also. Of course he never will. Can you give me some help please? — PHOENIX.

The letter you were sure your husband wouldn't write arrived the same day as yours. Here it is — at his request:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife informed me she was writing to you about my abusive treatment to her two sons. I told her I was going to write and give you the other side of the story. Please publish my letter if you decide to publish hers.

My wife considers the boys "normal." I say they have been pampered, catered to and are totally undisciplined. They have no regard for their mother whatever. When she asks them to do something they ignore her. The teachers complain because they are irresponsible and mouthy. Recently we took the boys on a 200-mile motor trip and they fought in the back seat until I became so annoyed I stopped the car and gave them both a whack. A few minutes later, when we were going about 60 miles an hour, one of the boys hit me on the head from behind and we nearly went into a ditch.

My wife insists on taking these kids to dinner and movies on school nights which I feel is outrageous. If they are too tired to get up the next day she lets them sleep. She says they need the feeling of security more than they need to go to school.

I love my wife and I want this marriage to work. I told her before we married that I would help her raise the boys and she seemed agreeable. Now she says, "They are my sons. Leave them alone."

I hope you will use in print. — H.G.W.

DEAR H.G.W.: I'm addressing my remarks to your wife since she is the one who needs it.

Get it with it, Mother, or you are going to have two worthless sons and a lonesome old age. Your husband has the right idea. Welcome his firm hand — it is badly needed. Kids who are allowed to do as they please do not grow up happy and secure. They grow up unmotivated, irresponsible and miserable.

Chocolate and Peppermint Flavor Easily-made Cake for Young Swingers

By MARY MOORE

For my young pupils this chocolate cake is probably one of the least possible number of ingredients and easiest steps. It's not to put down by the buttermilk; you can simply put 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice in a measuring cup and fill it to one cup level with sweet milk and it will be soured by the time you need it. Also it calls for cocoa, thus avoiding melting chocolate which is commonly used in chocolate cakes.

YOUNG SWINGERS' CHOCOLATE CAKE

NOTES:

1) Heat oven to 350 deg. Fahr.

2) Butter two 8" layer cake pans. I used Teflon. Or use layer cake pans with a swivel bar at centre or line bottom of pans with round of buttered waxed paper.

3) All measurements are level and made in measuring cups and spoons.

1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 one-third cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup soft (room temperature) shortening
1 cup buttermilk or soured sweet milk (see above)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 medium-large eggs

Sift the flour and measure. Put sifter over large mixing bowl and sift it with the next four (dry) ingredients. Add soft shortening, buttermilk (or soured sweet milk) vanilla and eggs. Now beat on low in electric beater for 1 minute or beat by hand 120 strokes or until batter is smoothly blended. Turn batter into prepared pans, dividing it as evenly as possible between the two. Smooth tops. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. on shelf at about centre of oven for 50 minutes or until cake shrinks about one-sixteenth to ¼" from sides of pans. Remove from oven, let stand 2 or 3 minutes, then invert cake racks on top and turn over and out. If swivel bar pans are used, turn the bar one complete revolution before turning out. If wax paper is on bottom peel it off while cake is hot. This cake is wonderful warm and uniced. But if you want to frost it, make

MINT FROSTING (The favorite with my children when they were young)

Into beater bowl measure ¼ cup soft butter, 2 cups icing sugar and 1 or 1½ tablespoons milk or cream and ¼ or ½ teaspoon peppermint flavoring. Beat until smooth and of spreading consistency. Spread on top of one layer. Cover with second layer. Frost sides now, then frost top. If desired some chopped nuts or cocoanut may be sprinkled on top.

North Koreans Ambush Truck

SEOUL (AP) — Two Americans and two South Koreans were killed Sunday night by North Koreans who ambushed a UN Command truck a half mile south of the Panmunjom armistice meeting site, a spokesman for the UN command said today. The attackers escaped and there was no indication any of them were hit.

Two other American soldiers were wounded. The UN command called the ambush "a flagrant violation" of the Korean armistice and filed a protest note.

The ambush raised American casualties to four killed and 14 wounded since the North Korean raid on Seoul Jan. 21 in an attempt to assassinate President Chung-hee Park. North Korea seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo Jan. 23, and one of its 83 crew members was fatally wounded then.

The spokesman said a truck from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division was making a routine trip from an advance camp to Panmunjom when it was attacked.

A 2nd Division force was dispatched to sweep the area but found no trace of the attackers. The spokesman said the ambush was well inside the South Korean half of the demilitarized zone. The two South Koreans killed were attached to the U.S. division.

U.S. Rear-Admiral John V. Smith, the UN Command member of the Military Armistice investigation of the attack. The Commission, demanded a joint North Korean member of the commission, Maj Gen. Pak Chung Kook was expected to refuse to participate.

There was another incident at Panmunjom Friday. A UN Command spokesman said 15 North Korean guards attacked four UN Command personnel on duty at the conference site. No other details were given, but other officials said the UN men suffered no serious injuries.

New Lake to Form On Columbia River

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP) — The flow of the mighty Columbia River will be shut off Tuesday morning as though a faucet valve were turned.

Massive gates in John Day Dam, 25 miles upriver from here, will slide shut under hydraulic control and the waters racing downstream will pile up against the concrete and steel barrier that stretches more than a mile between Oregon and Washington.

Lake Umatilla, the reservoir behind the biggest dam ever built by the Army Corps of Engineers, will fill quickly.

Its level will rise more than a foot an hour. By Wednesday morning it will be at the bottom of the spillway gates. By Friday the lake will be 76 miles long, running upstream from John Day Dam to McNary Dam.

Its level will be down 80 feet above the present river. And under it will be abandoned townsites, abandoned railways and highways and the mysterious rock carvings of long-vanished Indian tribes.

Navigation will be extended by the new lake, giving a continuous course of 325 miles from the sea to Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River.

John Day is the 10th dam completed or under construction across the Columbia below Grand Coulee. Its ultimate output will produce a constant supply of nearly 2,000,000 kilowatts, making it one of the world's most powerful—more powerful than Grand Coulee. The power will go into the Bonneville system which markets to public and private utilities in the Pacific Northwest.

Its cost by the time the 20th turbine is installed nearly four years from now will have been close to $450,000,000.

About one-third of that cost has been to move people and the things they built from the path of the rising waters of Lake Umatilla.

Frankford, Plainfield Children Bitten by Rabid Animals

A trio of youngsters is currently undergoing anti-rabies injections after attacks by domestic animals suffering the fatal disease.

Hastings - Prince Edward district health authorities today confirmed rabies had been identified in a cat and dog which attacked the children.

Meantime, federal veterinary officials indicate they are keeping close vigil on Prince Edward County wildlife for signs the disease may spread across the Bay of Quinte.

The island county hitherto has been relatively free of outbreaks.

District health officer Dr. C. R. Lenk says the latest incidents indicate that the rabies threat has not abated in the area. The disease has raised its termilitant scares — some groundless — in the Quinte district in recent months.

Near Frankford a 10-year-old girl was recently bitten by a dog which now has been found rabid.

The second incident occurred at Plainfield where two small boys were bitten by a cat.

Health authorities did not reveal the identities of the children involved.

They are now undergoing the mandatory 14 - day series of anti - rabies injections.

Dr. Lenk says the dog was shot and the cat killed with a shovel blow after the incidents. The owners shipped them to health authorities who identified the disease after laboratory tests.

Meantime, district federal veterinarian Dr. J. F. McCorvondale said authorities were probing the deaths of three foxes and a cow over a six-week period in Prince Edward County.

The disease may have been carried across the ice-bound Bay of Quinte during winter months, he said.

"We're just holding our breath that there's no extension (of rabies) into the foxes over there," said the veterinarian. "But time will tell."

Foxes are a prime carrier of the disease.

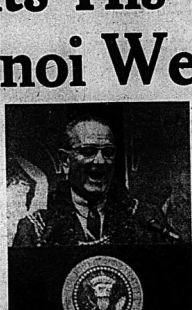
LBJ Hints His Patience With Hanoi Wears Thin

Anti-aircraft Fire Increases



SAIGON (CP) — The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States four more planes Monday, two shot down over the southern panhandle and two lost when they collided in the air, military sources said today. Five of the flyers were rescued and one was lost.

Radio Hanoi said five U.S. planes were shot down over the North Monday and the pilot of one was captured.

A U.S. spokesman suggested the North Vietnamese may be moving more anti-aircraft guns south to counter the increase in American bombing of the panhandle since President Johnson banned raids farther north.

The two planes shot down were air force F-105s and both were hit near Dong Hoi, about 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone. The U.S. spokesman said anti-aircraft fire around Dong Hoi was extremely heavy.

Since President Johnson halted U.S. bombing north of the

Hanoi May Have Selected Envoys

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam announced two high-level appointments today, arousing speculation in Saigon that they would be Hanoi representatives at peace talks with the United States.

Hanoi radio broadcast the announcement that Xuan Thuy had been appointed a government minister and that Tran Quang Huy had been named chairman of the cultural and education board of the premier's office.

Analysts of North Vietnamese affairs in Saigon, assessing the titles given the two men and their background, speculated that Thug might head Hanoi's negotiating team and Huy might be its chief spokesman.

Johnson Hits At Haggling

HONOLULU (CP) — President Johnson confers today with top military men after expressing his disappointment at "two long weeks" of apparently fruitless haggling with Hanoi over a site for preliminary peace talks.

The president, accompanied by Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and presidential troubleshooter Cyrus Vance, planned talks with Admiral Ulysses S. Grant Sharp, commander-in-chief of the Pacific command.

Vance, a former deputy defense secretary, has been designated to accompany Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman in any preliminary contacts with Hanoi.

On his arrival Monday for talks with the military and South Korean President Chung Hee Park, Johnson issued an indirect warning to Hanoi that U.S. patience in restraining bombing of North Vietnam might wear thin.

He said Hanoi had not responded to the proposals of five "neutral sites" for preliminary peace talks—Geneva, Switzerland; Paris; Laos; Rangoon, Burma; Jakarta, Indonesia, and New Delhi, India.

Johnson said negotiations over the site should not be a "propaganda exercise"—an apparent reference to Hanoi broadcasts commenting on the talks for a site.

"For us, this is not a propaganda exercise. . . .

"What is needed today is an equally serious reply, reacting to our proposals for neutral sites or offering additional suggestions of neutral capitals where both of us have representatives and communicate."

Several hours after Johnson spoke the official North Vietnamese Communist newspaper Nhan Dan said the United States showed "lack of good will" in turning down two sites Hanoi has proposed, Warsaw and Phnom Penh.

A Nhan Dan article broadcast from Hanoi flung back in the president's face his offer in the past to send U.S. negotiators anywhere at any time for talks.

"This statement is big-sounding and allows no misunderstanding," the article said. "Yet after making many such statements the Johnson administration now changes tune."

Although the military talks were expected to centre on Vietnam, Johnson probably will seek a report on recent Korean border incidents.

On the latest development, North Koreans attacked a truck inside South Korea Sunday, killing two Americans and two South Korean soldiers.

Some elements in Seoul have complained that the U.S. was not taking stepped-up North Korean intrusions during the last year seriously enough.

Chicago Mayor Wants Firebugs Shot on Sight

CHICAGO (CP) — Negro leaders reacted with dismay and concern today as Mayor Richard J. Daley's order for Chicago police to shoot to kill arsonists in any further racial disorders.

Rev. Jesse Jackson, who was standing behind Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., when he was assassinated in Memphis April 4, described the mayor's decision as "a Fascist response" to the three days of rioting which followed Dr. King's murder.

Daley, Monday, attacked the Chicago police department for laxity during the rioting and charged that city Police Chief James B. Conlisk failed to issue a "shoot-to-kill" order that Daley requested.

The veteran Democratic political leader told a news conference angrily he now has personally ordered Chicago police to shoot and kill arsonists and to "shoot to maim or cripple" looters.

Within hours of Daley's news conference, Conlisk sent an order to his commanding officers saying:

"Arson, attempted arson, burglary and attempted burglary are forcible felonies. Such force as is necessary, including deadly force, shall be used to prevent the commission of these offences and to prevent the escape of perpetrators."

At least 11 persons were killed and hundreds injured during the disorders. Property destruction and damage in the city totalled an estimate $10,000,000, with 452 buildings destroyed or damaged.

Envoy Home From Paris On Issue of Parley

OTTAWA (CP) — Jules Leger, Canadian ambassador to France, has been in touch here with Prime Minister Pearson concerning the foreign policy dispute involving, Ottawa, Paris and Quebec.

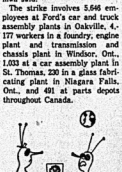
He arrived here Saturday for consultations and is expected to see Liberal Leader Trudeau, the next prime minister, before returning to France within the next few days.

Mr. Leger was not summoned here. Officials said today he merely felt it would be easier to discuss the situation here instead of resorting to the transatlantic telephone.

Mr. Trudeau is expected back from a brief Florida vacation tonight or Wednesday. A cabinet meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Canada suspended diplomatic relations with the tiny West African nation of Gabon in February when Gabon bypassed Ottawa and invited Quebec to an international education conference of 17 French-speaking states. Quebec accepted the invitation and attended the meeting.

The second session of the conference is scheduled for Paris April 22, the day Mr. Trudeau is scheduled to take over as prime minister. Again, Ottawa has not been invited though Quebec has been regarded as the French government of the opening date of the second session in Paris.



Ford Strike Starts

TORONTO (CP) — More than 11,000 Ford of Canada employees went on strike in five Ontario centres today but a spokesman for the United Auto Workers union said there is still hope of a settlement "before too long."

Negotiations broke off at the 10:30 a.m. strike deadline after 25½ hours of bargaining. But discussion of local issues was to resume at 4:30 p.m. today and master-table talks were to resume at 6 p.m.

"The next session of master talks starting at 6 p.m. should clean it up," the union spokesman said.

The strike involves 5,646 employees at Ford's car and truck assembly plants in Oakville, 4,177 workers in a foundry, engine plant and transmission and chassis plant in Windsor, Ont., 1,033 at a car assembly plant in St. Thomas, 230 in a glass fabricating plant in Niagara Falls, Ont., and 491 at parts depots throughout Canada.

Dame Fonteyn Planned Kidnapping in Panama

LONDON (AP) — Dame Margot Fonteyn, Britain's prima ballerina, has pulled another cloak-and-dagger caper in Panamanian politics with a plot to kidnap the chief of Panama's National Guard to guarantee her husband's safety.

Dame Margot told The Daily Sketch today the plot was abandoned. Four Britons she hired to help with the snatch were arrested in Panama.

The brown-eyed star of the Royal Ballet said: "My husband knew nothing of the plot, but I feared for his safety."

Her husband is Dr. Roberto Arias, a Panamanian politician who has been paralysed since he was wounded by a political rival in 1964.

He is reported in Panama for the election next month of a president and a new National Assembly.

Dame Margot said she planned to kidnap Brig.-Gen. Bolivar Vallarino, who heads Panama's Army, if Arias was arrested.

Dame Margot did not explain why she feared her husband might be arrested.

Frankfurt Police Crush Students in Bitter Street Fighting

RUDI DUTSCHKE

FRANKFURT (CP) — Tough police action crushed the protests of thousands of defiant leftist students in bitter street battles Monday night as the demonstrators tried to prevent newspapers of the Springer chain from being delivered in three West German cities.

Riot squads in battle dress, backed up by water cannon and mounted police, thwarted renewed student attempts to besiege printing houses of the Axel Springer publishing group and prevent circulation of its newspapers in Hamburg, Frankfurt and Munich.

A Springer official said early today that more than 600,000 copies of newspapers reached stands in Frankfurt but the effect of rioting on circulation in other cities was not immediately known.

Police in Bonn released figures showing that a total of 8,000 students took part in the demonstrations to block delivery of the biggest Springer newspaper, the mass-circulation Bild Zeitung, and there were at least 158 arrests, bringing the four-day figure for the rioting to about 400. Over 60 students have been released from custody.

Police spokesman in Hamburg, where 45 policemen were injured, said students used violence against the police for the first time. "They attacked with bricks and cobbles and anything they could lay their hands on," he asserted.

The spokesman also said: "For the first time, we noticed large numbers of rowdies among them—leather jackets and the like, just out to cause trouble."

Student casualties in Hamburg were not known, but in Frankfurt and Munich—other centres of the Springer chain newspaper—at least 30 persons needed treatment.

Student leaders in Frankfurt sent a delegation to the city hall to protest police brutality and announced they would hold another demonstration today.

In Hamburg, the Students Union called for a boycott of lectures today when the university summer term opens.

West Berlin was relatively free of student violence Monday for the first time since the attempted assassination there last Thursday of Rudi Dutschke, 28-year-old leader of the Socialist Student Federation, or SDS.

Dutschke, in hospital with three bullet wounds, was reported out of immediate danger. A house painter accused of shooting him, 23-year-old Josef Bachmann, was wounded by the police who captured him and was reported in good condition at the same hospital.

Springer, the biggest newspaper and magazine publisher in continental Europe, long has been a target of leftist students because of his conservative editorial policy. The SDS claims attacks in the press and articles on Germany's dissatisfied leftist students were an indirect incitement to the attack on Dutschke.

A casualty of Monday's fight at the Springer plant in Munich was Associated Press photographer Klaus Frings. He was in serious condition after being struck on the head by a stone during the fighting.

Four other persons were severely injured and more than 100 arrested in Munich. Police said they found a incendiary device in a courtyard of the printing plant. Another 35 were arrested in Hamburg.

The battle in Frankfurt was joined after police moved from behind barbed wire barricades and tried to convoy about a dozen delivery trucks through a crowd of 2,000 blocking the printing plant.

Demonstrators hurled stones at police and set Mayor Willy Brundert said the demonstrators also threw bags of quick lime and paint.

About 1,500 youths chanting "Ho! Ho! Ho Chi Minh!" marched to a railway station where the newspapers are normally loaded. Then they walked to city hall, called for Brundert's dismissal and staged a sit-down.

Enraged by mounted police swinging rubber whips, students linked arms Monday night and charged through the night club district chanting "Springer murderer!" after they were put to flight.

In West Berlin, 2,000 students demonstrated outside the city's television station, demanding an hour of television time daily.

Their demonstration at the radio station Monday night had the same effect when station director Franz Barsig agreed to face a large hostile audience and discuss their grievances with them —although nothing came of the talks.

In a show of support for the West German students, 2,000 young British marchers clashed with police who sealed off the building where Springer's London offices are located.

Prince Edward Taxes Jump; Radical Drop in Mill Rate

By DAVID LEES
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Prince Edward County taxes have risen again but if it's of any consolation to area taxpayers, the mill rate has dropped.

The 10 municipalities in this county will pay a total of $601,727 in taxes by Dec. 20, an increase of $98,256 over the $503,483 levy of last year.

The mill rate, however stands at 6.3900 this year as opposed to the 20.73 rate in 1967.

The radical drop in the rate is the result of a new method of county assessment. The rate is now being based upon 100 per cent of property values. Formerly it was based upon 33 per cent of assessed values. The difference is made up by an "equalization factor."

Sidney Manley, county assessment commissioner explained that "the equalization factor applied to each municipality is based upon a ratio of assessment to market values."

"As the total assessment increases, the mill rate drops, but it raises tax dollars in a greater proportion," he added.

The 1968 mill rate has more than three times the proportionate value in tax dollars than did last year's mill rate.

The new tax structure has resulted in significant tax increases in the townships of Ameliasburg, Sophiasburgh, and Hallowell.

The Sophiasburgh levy, amounting to $60,618.36 in 1967 has risen to $98,965.73, an increase of $38,189.47.

Ameliasburg taxes has also grown from $98,206.44 in 1967 to $134,426.36 an increase of $15,295.92.

Hallowell tax returns jumped by $11,351.59 from $1 0 2, 136.02 in 1967 to $113,487.61.

The only other tax increases in the county will hardly be felt by the municipalities of Bloomfield which increased $584.83 to $18,186.40 and Hillier which increased $741.76 to a total of $42,063.42.

Taxes in the five remaining municipalities have actually decreased. North Marysburg decreased $6,656.27 to $26,250.61; Wellington $6,000 to $23,130.96; Athol, $5,706.30 to $34,754.35; South Marysburgh $1,139.64 to $19,797.15 and Picton $858.89 to $121,344.99.

One of the largest portions of the tax will be spent upon county roads. Actual tax dollars, the 2,4442 mills devoted to road construction and maintenance works out to $228,860 down $50,000 from last year. An additional $227,000 will be provided by the provincial government.

An amount of $,8618 mills has been allotted to "general purposes" the largest portions of which will be geared to welfare and to the county home for the aged.

Illegal Payments

Wolf Bounty Problem

Prince Edward County may have been issuing illegal bounties upon wolves for the last two years, it was announced yesterday at county council.

Joint Library Board Remains A Possibility

PICTON — Prince Edward County may spitch over to a Government regulations provide for bounties of $25 per wolf pelt turned over to lands and forests officials, under the Wolf and Bear Act. However this county in the past has provided bounties of $50, and then during the last winter, bounties of $75.

The matter was raised as a result of an auditor's report to the council, in which it was stated that the auditors knew of no existing legislation to provide for bounties ranging above $25.

Bernard C. Hepburn, reeve of Picton, said that the high payments were necessary if wolves were to be curbed in this county. He contended that he could not imagine many hunters seeking out wolves for a $25 bounty unless it were for the sheer love of hunting.

Deputy-Reeve Donald Thompson, Picton, pointed out that the matter was to be considered if they expected their township council to function.

Donald M. Soutter, managing editor of The Intelligencer, addressed the service club at its weekly meeting at the Gilbert Hotel.

In drawing parallels between similarities in communities in the Quinte area, Mr. Soutter said The Intelligencer no longer considers its responsibilities end at the city limits. "Our scope is now Quinte-wide," he said.

Mr. Soutter told Rotarians that the chief priority behind news gathering at The Intelligencer was that the reader is considered the most important aspect of the newspaper operation. In explaining the increased attention paid to communities in The Intelligencer's circulation area, Mr. Soutter said "this is important to everyone, for what happens in each of these communities will inevitably be reflected in yours."

Mr. Soutter said the in-depth attention paid to Trenton town council, education, the air force Base and countless other aspects of Trenton life were not isolated events but rather initial steps in a planned program to provide better coverage of the Quinte area.

In asking Trenton and Belleville to work together for the mutual benefit of the Quinte area Mr. Soutter said The Intelligencer was doing its part by sending reporters to all meetings of Sidney and Thurlow Townships.

"What happens in these two communities over the next 10 years, will be of tremendous importance to this whole area," he said.

Mr. Soutter touched on coverage in Prince Edward county, telling his listeners The Intelligencer had opened a bureau in Picton and staffed it with a fulltime reporter-photographer.

In discussing education, the editor said his newspaper planned to continue its extensive coverage of education in the Quinte area by "covering every meeting of the (upcoming) county-wide school board which is open to the press."

In explaining that any newspaper was merely the medium by which area residents exercised their right to be informed, Mr. Soutter told Rotarians: "You have a vested interest in education. It is your tax dollar and your children's future which is at stake. You must insist that you are kept as fully informed as possible."

Joint library board. At present libraries in the county are operated independently by each municipality.

Reeve Bernard C. Hepburn, Picton, pointed out at county council yesterday that government grants favored the county system.

Another fringe benefit of the county system is the availability of books. County systems tie in with larger municipal centres, so that each small library may order books through library centres.

Any book on stock in the library centres is available, thus greatly increasing the numbers that can be supplied by the smaller community.

A committee has been set up to study the system, consisting of Reeve Robert Boyce, Wellington; Reeve Harold Miller, Marysburgh; and Deputy Reeve Donald Thompson, Picton.

Mutual Aid Fire System May Be Replaced

PICTON — The present mutual aid, fire defence system may be replaced with an even more efficient fire fighting system in Prince Edward County.

Reeve Bernard C. Hepburn, Picton, suggested yesterday at county council that a county fire department be established.

"Any extra costs to the department would be more than offset by reduced fire insurance costs in the county," he said.

Among the advantages of the system, however, is the likelihood of reduced overall costs. Duplication of costly equipment could be avoided, while costs could be spread over large areas.

Reeve Robert Boyce, Wellington, said however that present fire stations would have to be decentralized.

The eastern and south western ends of the county have the greatest need at present for ah efficient, permanent service.

New Face for A Park

Employees of the Belleville Parks Department are hard at work doubling the size of Riverside Park on the Cannifton Road. Several dilapidated structures have been torn down and a new picnic shelter is under construction. The old pump may still be used.

Quinte Area Can't Afford Isolated Pockets: Editor

TRENTON — Trenton Rotarians were told last night that the philosophy of the Quinte area had to be fostered if they expected their township council to function.

Donald M. Soutter, managing editor of The Intelligencer, addressed the service club at its weekly meeting at the Gilbert Hotel.

Austin Evan Barlow, Retired Newspaperman, Dies Suddenly

A life resident of the city and a retired composing room employee with The Intelligencer, Mr. Austin Evan Barlow, 16 East Moira Street, died suddenly early this morning. He was in his 71st year.

Mr. Barlow died at home in his sleep as a result of a heart attack.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Barlow, Mr. Barlow served briefly in World War I and worked as a linotype operator at The Intelligencer until 1919. He joined the Daily Ontario in that year and remained with the Daily - Intelligencer and The Intelligencer retiring in 1966.

Even after retirement, however, he continued to keep his hand in by occasionally assisting in the newspaper composing room department.

A member of Tabernacle United Church, Mr. Barlow took an active part in church work. He was a church elder and a charter member of the A.O.T.S. Club.

He was an active alley bowler and played with the Belleville Golf team in the major league days.

He was a life member and past master of Moira Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 11, from which he had received his 50 year jewel. He was secretary of the lodge for a number of years and was a member of the committee of general purpose at the time of his death. He was also a past grand steward and past principal of Quinte Chapter No. 227, R.A.M. and past worthy patron of the Belleville Chapter, No. 55, O.E.S.

He is survived by his wife, the former Marie Ogilvie Stewart, and one brother Montgomery (Monty) Barlow of Belleville.

The funeral will be held Thursday from the Grant Funeral Home with service in the chapel conducted by Rev. Robert A. Crookes. Interment will be in Foxboro Cemetery.

Remanded On Charge

TRENTON — Charged with theft from his employer during the period from 1963 to 1968, James Malcolm Spafford, 29, of R.R. 5, Trenton, was remanded out of custody until June 11 when he appeared here in Magistrate's Court this morning.

The accused, a foreman and salesman with Mark Tripp Wholesale of Trenton, is free on $500 cash and $5,000 property bail. His lawyer, R. E. Nourse of Picton, made application for the postponement of trial.

Heavy Damage In Mishaps

PICTON (Staff) — Increased holiday traffic resulted in two major accidents during the weekend. There were no serious injuries, according to the Ontario Provincial Police Detachment here.

Cars driven by Donald McCaw 17, of R.R.3 Picton, and Roger Brant 16, of R.R.2, Picton, were in collision Saturday on County Road 4.

Both vehicles suffered $200 damages. There were no injuries.

On Sunday, a Volkswagen rolled over out of control on highway 33, east of Bloomfield. James Kenneth Hicks, 17, of 33 Centre Street, Picton, was admitted to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital. He was later released.

Damages to the vehicle amounted to $700.

Marijuana Charge Laid

Charged with possession of the narcotic drug marijuana, 19-year-old Bruce Pringle appeared before Magistrate Orval Wills in magistrate's court this morning.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers made the arrest last night at Pringle's residence at 23 Octavia St. in Belleville.

They took into their possession approximately one ounce of the drug and placed Pringle under arrest.

After hearing the charge in court this morning, Pringle was remanded until May 1 when the case will be heard. A recommendation by Crown Attorney John Pringle that the accused be released on bail was heeded by Magistrate Wills.

Cpl. Harold Bateman of the RCMP said this morning in court that they had been "watching" the accused for the last few months.

"His name had been mentioned to us on several occasions and we were keeping our eye on him," said the corporal. "Yesterday, when we were sure that he had it we picked him up," he stated.

Pringle is being represented on the charge by Robert Templeton of the law firm of Temple and Russell.

Ban Clean-up Fires in Forest Areas

Lighting of cleanup fires in Quinte-area forest areas has been banned.

With more conservation acreages lost in 15 days this spring all 1967, the Department of Lands and Forests today stopped issuing burning permits in the Tweed forestry district.

The permits are issued persons burning off grass or garbage on private property.

Conservation officials acted after counting fire losses to date in the current dry weather spell.

Since April 1 there have been 31 fires in the district and 884 acres of bush, timber and potential tree-growing land has been seared.

This compares with 670 lost acres during the whole of 1967.

The hazard flared to a peak during the long Easter holiday, as thousands took to the outdoors — to picnic grounds, camping and cottage sites.

The worst single outbreak was in Huntingdon township where fire burned across 150 acres before being fought to a standstill.

Other serious outbreaks were in Sheffield township, 80 acres and the Kaladar area, 25 acres.

Human carelessness in lighting fires is blamed for the entire loss.

Inattentiveness at cottage and camp fires has combined with a weather situation that has made the Tweed forestry district a sprawling tinderbox.

With no forecast break in the weather for the next few days, conservation authorities are keeping crossed fingers that April may not become one of the blackest months on record for fire control.

New Chamber Executive Prepares for Busy Year

Just packed full of goodies aptly describes the seven-page April bulletin from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

"All of the committees of the chamber have been keeping busy," said O. "Brad" Bradley, secretary-manager of the Chamber, "and all have progress to report."

Under the chairmanship of J. L. Acton the projects committee is seeking revenue producing projects to compensate for the loss of the annual Industrial Exhibition.

Perhaps the sponsorship of speed-boat races is going to be the answer and this proposal by the committee is still being investigated.

A new program this year being sponsored by the Education Committee is a project in conjunction with the Ontario department of Education. It involves the training of secondary school teachers leading to a Specialists Certificate in guidance.

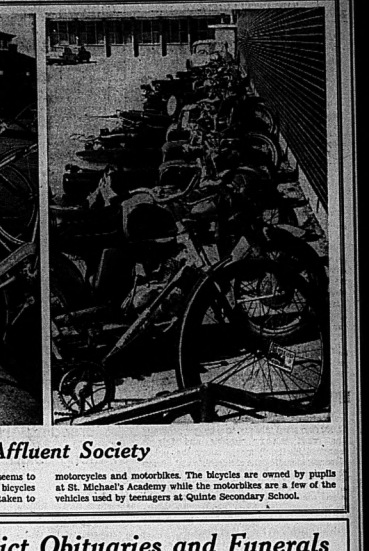
Along the same educational lines local industries have been invited to participate in a program which will provide these teachers with first hand knowledge of the educational and skill requirements needed in local industry.

Of course, the "Magic Circle" committee is still hard at it but further development will be dependent upon approval by two levels of government.

Keeping our children safe is the objective of Child Safety Day being observed nationally on Sunday May 5 and endorsed by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

The high toll of accidental injury and death among children can be controlled only by those closest to the hazards, and the Chamber of Commerce are the people of the community.

Leaders of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce during 1968 are H. H. Murray, president, J. A. Ireland, 1st vice-president, J. R. Belanger, 2nd vice-president, S. D. Hagerman, past-president. J. D. Scanlon is the treasurer and the directors are J. L. Acton, M. Coles, D. G. Joss, G. W. Joyce, H. J. Past, V. L. Lewis, E. G. O'Connor and W. S. Wills.



Coming up during the next few weeks for the Chamber is a meeting April 24 to improve publicity for Hastings County as far as tourism is concerned

Representatives from Land o' Lakes, Madawaska and the Bay of Quinte tourist regions will meet with representatives from the Ontario department of Tourism and Information to discuss means of aiding each other and publicizing the area.

Also the Chamber is putting out a new six page color brochure, showing tourist attractions in Hastings County. It was put together by secretary-easnager of the Belleville Chamber, O. "Brad" Bradley in co-operation with the Highlands of Hastings Regional Tourist Council.

The new brochure will contain 11 pictures featuring all seasonal sports.

The Affluent Society

Each year the mode of travel for the teenager seems to change. Younger students these days are travelling on bicycles while their counterparts in senior high school have taken to motorcycles and motorbikes. The bicycles are owned by pupils at St. Michael's Academy while the motorbikes are a few of the vehicles used by teenagers at Quinte Secondary School.

Youth 19, Dies in KGH From Crash Injuries

Richard Lloyd, 19, of Harriet St., who was involved in the truck - motorcycle collision April 3, died of severe head injuries in Kingston General Hospital yesterday.

The accident occurred when a truck driven by William Bernard Johnston of Great St. James St. in Belleville was proceeding east on Victoria Ave. Lloyd, driving a motorcycle, was proceeding west. The collision occurred when the truck made a left hand turn onto Charles St.

Belleville Police Chief C. D. Crosbie said this morning that an inquest may be held into the death. Johnston, driver of the truck, has been charged with careless driving and failure to yield on a left hand turn.

Chief Crosbie again emphasized the importance of wearing safety helmets and said that serious injuries and deaths from accidents involving motorcycles would be much less common.

Loose Gravel Throws Bike Out of Control

A motorcycle accident late yesterday afternoon sent 19-year-old Barry Grills to Belleville General Hospital with facial lacerations.

The mishap occurred on Sidney Street near Highway 401 when some loose gravel evidently threw the small bike out of control. Mr. Grills is reported to be in good condition today and it is expected that he will be released from hospital within a few days.

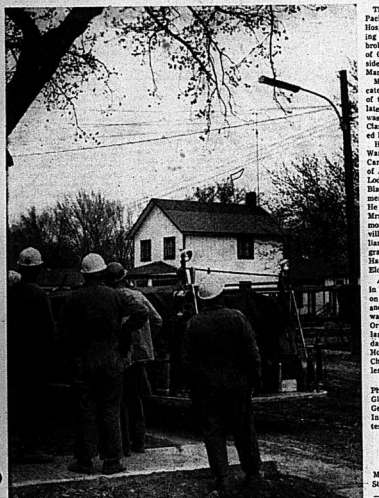
Historical Society President Retires

NAPANEE — Judge Gerald F. Smith, Napanee, plans to step down Friday night from the position of president of Lennox and Addington Historical Society.

He will turn the job over to vice-president Mrs. Norman W. (Helen) Hutchinson.

The society's annual meeting and election of officers will be held Friday night at the County Memorial Building.



Judge Smith is the third president of the society, which was formed in 1907. He has held the post for 14 years, and is credited with reorganizing the group in 1954.

During his tenure of office the historic Alan Macpherson house in the east end of the town was purchased and restored. It was opened to the public Aug. 5, 1967.

In his parting remarks, Judge Smith said the society has hoped for some time to have a junior group formed and promised that work will continue towards that end.

City Parks

Described by members as a victim of its own endless success, Belleville parks board is short of money for further development.

Better this situation, however, than that the board or any other branch of local government be accused of sitting on their heels.

One member was merely stating the obvious last week when he said: "The more parks we develop the more it costs to maintain them and then we find we have no money left for further parks development."

Development is planned at both Memorial Park on Station Street and at Zwick's Island. At the latter a start is to be made on development of a ball diamond and on the provision of a miniature train as a ride attraction for visiting children.

Some paring was done in the cost of the train project, $1000 being allocated instead of $3,000 suggested initially. The budget generally was pared where possible and this is commendable if only for the reason that public response, including the children's, must always be considered.

Consider for instance that the tennis courts are used by only a comparatively few young people and some adults. The parks themselves, apart from Zwick's Island, are virtually empty at the best of times.

Still, parks are essential attributes of any community. Cleanliness is another. Litter for instance has been mentioned often enough in this respect. Those using the parks should ensure they do not leave litter behind, other than in the trash cans provided.

Lakeland Image

Speaking of trash, what a mess is made of such naturally scenic areas as the Great Lakes.

Pollution of the lakes themselves is understandable when one observes the condition of the shoreline. A Belleville resident tells of an Easter trip along Lake Huron's coastal highway 21.

In Goderich he stopped his car at a dead-end road overlooking the lake, but not before shattering a bottle under the tires. The slopes down to the beach were unkempt and the view itself forbidding.

Much cleaner and attractive was a beach at Amberley, a small community farther north. And again, a rocky stretch across the rail tracks at Kincardine as the sun went down. But here too old bits of scrap iron lie all around. However, one does not have to travel to the shores of Lake Huron to find similar evidence of man's carelessness. It can also be found in the trash discarded at The Outlet and Sandbanks — and even in the countryside itself, in streams and abandoned quarries and areas of scrub.

At least the countryside — and here we are thinking again of western Ontario — has a healthy look about it. It may be dreary at times awesomely desolate, but the expanse of farmland is considerable and tractors were busy as bees over the weekend.

In Stratford the much-vaunted Avon at the moment is nothing more than a mudflat. Given Stratford's bordering parkland and river drive, Belleville's Moira River would cut a much more impressive picture. Around the Festival Theatre grounds of Stratford has been made the trees their home. Perhaps they are just a temporary phenomenon, like the shads that plague communities along the St. Lawrence, but they are there just the same.

As they say, there is a fly in every ointment. Yet much of it is man-made. Parks, beaches, woodland . . . all should be kept clean. Those who contribute to this ideal show respect not only for nature but for themselves.

U. S. Riot Tactics

Even though civil rights rioting has not been imported from the American scene it is encouraging to note that tactics being used to deal with it now place more emphasis on saving life than on saving property.

Manpower and tear gas, as distinct from firepower are proving more effective than in last year's unhappy outbreaks in Detroit and other cities.

The law hasn't changed, but the way it's being enforced has changed "tremendously," said one official. "That old stuff about 'looters will be shot on sight' is for the history books and maybe the movies. . . We have drawn back from all the law allows because it is our duty to stop riots, not to kill rioters."

By adopting such a policy the United States authorities are taking the first steps toward restoring some element of sanity to the American domestic scene so long plagued by violence.

Ottawa Offbeat

The Solitary Life of the People's Watchdog

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Every weekday morning, and sometimes even on Sunday, a lonely-looking man leaving Ottawa's fashionable Sparks Street Mall turns sharply right by the Bank of Canada's manicured gardens. The ceremonial Wellington Street and disappears through the gleaming double brass doors of the federal Justice Building.

You can set your watch by him — as dependably as the noonday gun or the Peace Tower clock — for he is a precisely programmed man.

Accuracy, dependability is his working way of life.

It makes him the national capital's closest approach to a human computer.

He is a lonely-looking man, head sort of shyly inclined down between his slumped shoulders, because that just has to be the way he feels.

For while he is not exactly ostracized, he very definitely is made to feel Ottawa's most unwanted man.

He is shrugged off alike by the mandarins and the working misfits of the Civil Service. And that because seldom if ever is attention paid to him where it counts.

For he is ignored by the cabinet. And that is what matters.

He is Auditor General Maxwell Henderson, watchdog of the treasury. Parliament's very own guardian of the taxpayer's purse. And this year has blown the whistle on 189 individuals and specific cases of government waste and extravagance.

Add them all up and they come to some $134,000,000 down the drain.

All documented.

Careful case histories of each instance of what, in his cost accountant's way, he calls "unproductive spending."

Jody LaMarsh has told him to get lost.

Former CBC President Alphonse Ouimet asked what does the auditor general know about broadcasting?

Ben Benson, who has served both as national revenue minister collecting the taxes and as treasury board president conserving them, has scoffed at Max Henderson.

There has been a lot of talk about that $104,000 the CBC spent last year for hotel rooms during Expo that neither it nor any other federal agency arranged to use.

But almost nothing has been said — except, of course, by the auditor general — about the $2,500,000 more in rent being paid by at least three federal departments, for new and extremely posh office accommodation for no better reason than prestige.

But then, as Judy LaMarsh asked, why doesn't Max Henderson get lost?

He doesn't for 169 good and sufficient reasons including the fact that the National Energy Board, the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and the Industry Department, all occupying new and modern office accommodation, moved into only slightly newer, but ever so much more expensive quarters simply to put on the departmental dog.

Between them they set up departmental housekeeping on 36 floors in the two new high-rise midtown office "towers" that still aren't finished — leaving scads of their old offices vacant, except for the rugs, drapes, furniture and equipment.

The old appointments, lacking "prestige" to match their new $2,500,000-a-year accommodation, were abandoned to the Crown Assets Corporation, the government's own second-hand shop, or turned back into the used furniture and equipment pool for the outfitting of some presumably lower federal agencies not so expensively set on prestige.

The move was made, so says the auditor general — and so far nobody, lowly clerk nor mighty deputy has denied or even "corrected" the statement — for no other reason than the departments wanted "confidence" they would improve their image, attracting a high calibre of personnel because of the prestige appearance of the new office towers."

It didn't matter that the federal Civil Service staff has been "frozen" by order of the finance minister, and so no new personnel, of high calibre or low, would be hired.

Nor did it matter that onto the annual $2,500,000 bill departmental image-makers rain up in rent for what the auditor general defined as the "most prestigious and expensive accommodation to be had anywhere in the capital, another $1,000,000 was tacked for new office appointments.

That makes a total tab of $3,500,000 for departmental "face."

It mattered only that lowly - looking man, Max Henderson — and who cares what he says?

Except that $3,500,000 about equals the total taxable incomes of Newfoundland's 1,900 under-18-year-olds ($3,443,000) — or of Nova Scotia's 794 taxpayers of 67 ($3,728,000) — or of New Brunswick's 634 taxpayers of 66 ($3,300,000) — or, putting it another way, the $3,215,000 in income taxes paid by the 6,686 filing returns on taxable wages and salaries totalling $81,468,000 in Owen Sound, Ontario.

Are "Out-dated" Attitudes Breeding Frustration Among Students Today?

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In reply to Mr. Tom Williams letter concerning the student publication, I should like to point out many of the obvious hypocrisies that exist in our present social philosophies. Education is a right, not a privilege. It is the only necessary function designed to help the individual relate properly to society and his social environment. We are told that we have the rights of freedom of speech, freedom to work, freedom to be happy. Society has reached a point where these basic freedoms would be unattainable without education.

Further, society has also reached a point where the lack of educated citizens would only retard social development. Education is a necessity, not only for the individual, but for society. Indeed it has been stated that the true GNP indicator is not in terms of dollars, but in terms of literacy. The one commodity most precious to the developing nations is their students.

And what role does the student play in society? It follows logically that he is an integral part of the system. The student, by virtue of the fact that he is learning, questioning and putting forth ideas, related to his environment and knowledge of the world-experience, is contributing to society. Not only is the student a future investment, but he is currently a working investment. He is a worker in that society, and deserves equal rights for his contributions.

These are not idle platitudes. Unfortunately society has an extremely out-dated attitude towards education. In the past, a man or a woman was not considered an adult until he or she left school and went to work. But school was a short-lived experience, then, entailing eight years at the most (for a great majority of people). Today nearly 85 per cent of youth remain in school until they are 18, and half of them seek higher education. But the same old rule applies. Yet, the youth of today, given modern forms of communication, the ease at which books and periodicals may be obtained, are far more learned than the youth of their father's day.

With such prevailing attitudes there is little wonder why students are becoming frustrated. And they are manifesting their frustrations in many ways. The more sensitive become hippies. The more aggressive try to do away with it. They form unions, they revolt from those attitudes they recognize as being detrimental to their basic rights. And in between these two extremes lies the sleeping mass, the majority. They hide their frustrations out by dabbling in the forbidden fruits of so-called adulthood. They smoke, cuss, drive the family car to distraction and back and chase girls. They are happy with their toys, until the toy loses their novelty.

Now is the time to consider the position of the student. He plays a positive role in society, but is society giving him the tools to function as a truly contributive member? Is he getting an education? A real education?

The reasons students (particularly university students) are turning strong-arm and seeking student power is because they want to start controlling their own destiny. Society, in seeking security, has sacrificed this very basic aspect of individual freedom. Youth are seeking that lost right, and intend to use education as the best weapon. They must be allowed to do that.

COLIN LEONARD,
Associate Secretary for Communications,
Canadian Union of Students.

Education A Privilege

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I am sure Mr. Brickwood would agree that the student should have the right to have more freedom, to be correct, first his basic premises must be correct.

Many of us, Mr. Brickwood, feel that it is not a right but a privilege that we have of receiving the best possible education, and therein lies the debatable point.

Choice Before Trudeau

Regional Bargaining Is Theme of Controversial Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau will inherit a fairly messy plate of legislative leftovers when he takes office as prime minister later this month.

Some of them will have to go to the parliamentary bench on ice — if the new leader is to follow his plan for a long summer vacation for Parliament.

Mr. Trudeau made it clear last weekend that Parliament won't necessarily deal with all the items left on the order paper before it adjourns.

Now he must decide which are to go ahead and which will be abandoned — at least for now.

One of the toughest decisions may be on Bill C-186, a controversial labor bill designed among other things to broaden the scope for regional bargaining units.

The bill is a special interest of Manpower Minister Marchand. Mr. Trudeau's closest ally in the cabinet. It is also backed by the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions, and any move to delay it would certainly cause an outcry in Quebec.

A decision to go ahead with it, on the other hand, would bring renewed opposition from the Canadian Labor Congress and from Conservative and NDP opponents. Some Liberals also are said to be lukewarm about it.

In short, Mr. Trudeau will be damned if he goes ahead and damned if he does not.

It's the sort of thing a new prime minister might well wish had been cleaned off the slate before he came along.

The big bill to amend the Criminal Code is in a different category for two reasons.

For one thing, no actual parliamentary time has been invested in the bill since it was introduced in December, so nothing would be lost if it were allowed to die at the end of this session. It could easily be resurrected in the fall.

Government planning always has been to allow time for a thorough public debate on the bill, touching as it does on so many basic social issues such as abortion, homosexuality, lotteries, firearms control and compulsory breath tests for drinking drivers.

A more touchy item may be Consumer Affairs Minister Turner's bill to broaden competition in drugs in the hope of reducing prices.

It also has drawn some unhappy reaction from the Liberal back-benches, but it has been approved in principle and likely will be completed before adjournment.

Still to receive approval in principle are bills to outlaw use of the drug LSD and to legalize the sale of contraceptives. Both have been passed by the Senate but their fate is uncertain.

A bill to curb hate literature, which also originated in the Senate, is even farther back in the stream.

It was introduced almost a year ago and a special committee set up more than five months ago to study it has had only three meetings.

At least two of the 11 items on the Commons order paper fall into the "must" category for passage before adjournment: One would cut tariffs in line with international trade negotiations and the other would ratify a new international grains agreement scheduled to come into effect July 1.

The Commons must also pass the main estimates brought down in March or the government will have to seek interim supply by way of its bills during the Parliamentary vacation.

Letters to the Editor

Students Feel Alienated

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I would like to thank your newspaper for printing letters to the editor which are deemed to be controversial and newsworthy. For in this way only are people made aware of what goes on behind the scenes.

At the same time I acknowledge Mr. Brickwood's reply concerning an article printed April 1 and commented upon by myself on April 5.

I would gather from his remarks that he as well as other students, feel that they are not a part of the present day society, and therefore not subject to the rules that govern them.

However, I am sure they will find, that even outside of school, we are all only 'granted' certain freedoms, and even then we must earn them.

U.S. Defence Purchases Here Criticized by Representative

WASHINGTON (CP)—U.S. possible co-ordination of the material programs of Canada and the U.S. to assure Canada a fair opportunity to share in the production of military equipment and materiel involving programs of mutual interest to both.".

defence department purchasing policy is "ridiculous" in giving private Canadian firms equal status with American ones, says Representative Charles A. Vanik (Dem. Ohio).

Vanik told the House of Representatives that a Cleveland firm had lost two orders for 81-mm. mortar shell cases to two Ontario firms and one in Alabama.

He said Cleveland labor officials, claiming the switch could cost 400 jobs, named the Ontario firms as Prestolite Co. of Sarnia and the Ingersoll Machine and Tool. Co. of Ingersoll,...

The defence department said it is policy to "seek the best

Vanik said he was told:

"Under this criterion, privately-owned Canadian firms are considered on the same basis as U.S. firms when evaluating bids prior to award, pursuant to current procurement regulations."

But, he sobmitted, the U.S. defence department "completely overlooks the lower wage differential in Canada which favors Canadian industry."

"Furthermore, American defence production in Canada is exempt from the Renegotiation Act and excess profits claims which can be made against an American producer.

"It is ridiculous to expect the taxpayers of America to support American defence production in Canada under rules which discriminate against American labor and industry and compound the balance-of-payments problem with defence dollars."

The sales are made under the Canada-U.S. defence sharing agreement of 1959, Canada—due to U.S. demand swollen by the Vietnam war—is running a surplus of about $300,000,000.

Will Open Provincial Parks May 10

PICTON (Staff) — Provincial Parks in this area will open May 10, a few days earlier than normal, according to Robert Davison, Parks superintendent.

Mr. Davison said that clean up crews will be at work within a few days to clean up winter debris.

Small maintenance crews left during the winter have made a number of improvements to the park grounds most notably, of which was the construction of extra toilet facilities.

There are four Provincial Parks in the county. They are the Sand Banks, the Lake on the Mountain, the Outlet Beach and the North Beach Parks.

Junior Band Will Assist In Concert

PICTON (Staff) — A new and improved Picton Junior Band is to play at the annual spring concert here, according to Jack Ward, president of the group.

He said the band had been working throughout the winter, not only improving their playing, but practising marching techniques for the summer months.

The spring concert on April 22 at the Prince Edward Collegiate Institute auditorium will be their first performance this year. Also playing at the show will be the Young Peoples Choir, from St. Gregory Holy Roman Catholic Church, and Joe Surchill, a Belleville trumpeter.

Will Offer Career Information

TRENTON — A feature in education programing takes place at the Trenton High School between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday night).

Taking part in the career night activities are more than 50 counsellors from a variety of schools, colleges, universities, professional groups, industrial services and business organizations.

They will offer career information to students of the local high school and East Northumberland Secondary School (Brighton) and their parents.

The undertaking is under the sponsorship of the Trenton business and professional Women's Club and the Trenton Rotary Club.

Home and School Groups Plan Hamilton Delegates

COUNCIL NEWS LETTER

This is the time of year when all Associations in the Belleville and District Council are appointing their delegates for the annual meeting and convention of Ontario Federation of Home and Schools. This will be held in Hamilton on May 27th to 9th.

The theme at convention will be: "Challenges Of Human Rights". The big job in education today is the ability to get along well with people through out this shrunken world. Because of an evolution of transportation and communication we are living side by side with people, who years ago, were far away in distance and time.

There is vital need for a very different kind of preparation and a far greater knowledge of subjects that years ago were considered to be unimportant.

The time has come for us all to get better acquainted in Ontario, Canada and the world. And even closer to home we must build a better world. Studies a program of improvements and benefits for everyone. Let's take a look at our Juvenile delinquency problem and find projects for the so-called "bad boys". Busy people have no time to become delinquent, so let us turn this form of energy into constructive use.

Many times we hear "That person speaks a strange language," or "I don't like that person because his skin is different color," or "They are not as good as we are; they go to a different church". These are problems that must be solved. This is the challenge of our age.

Teachers and parents are the people who will shape the mind of the next generation. Truly a big dynamic challenge — a challenge that the Ontario Federation of Home and School will meet at the Convention in Hamilton May 7th-9th, with its theme, "The Challenge of Human Rights".

A general meeting will be held at the Harry J. Clarke school on April 16, 1968 at 8:00 p.m. to discuss the changes in bylaws and the resolutions to be presented at the annual meeting. All associations are expected to have their representatives present.

Annual dinner meeting for Belleville and District Council will be held on April 30 at the Tabernacle Church. The speaker will be Mr. J. K. Bradford, BASc, MASc, OBE, president, Loyalist College, the newest branch of the educational field. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. V. Wilkie, 32 Bertram Blvd., Belleville, before April 20, 1968. Price $2.25.

Congratulations to David Allen Roper of Quinte Secondary School who was awarded the "Olive E. Dafoe Memorial Award" for Area "C".

New Billboard For Quinte's Isle

PICTON — The beauties and attractions of Prince Edward County will be brought to the public eye via a huge billboard on Highway 401.

The decision was made yesterday at County council to erect the sign, which will be 10 feet by 40 feet in size, at the western approach to the county.

County promotion committee chairman, Robert Boyce, said that construction and erection would cost $2,300.

That figure does not cover illumination. It was suggested at the meeting that the illumination be considered in the future.

It is expected that a second billboard will be erected next year at the eastern approach to the county.

Toronto Livestock

TORONTO (CP) — Strictly choice steers traded on a broad demand at strong to higher prices on the Ontario public stockyards today.

Lower grades of steers and all grades of heifers and cows were steady.

Veal calves and hogs were steady and lambs were higher.

Slaughter cattle 1,718: Choice steers 27-27.50 with sales to 28.80; good 26-26; medium 23.50-25; commons 17-22; choice heifers 25-26 with sales to 27.20; good 23-24.50; medium 20-23; commons 17-20; good cows 19-20 with sales to 21; medium 17.50-18.50; canners and cutters 14-17; good heavy bologna bulls 21-22; commons and medioms 18-20.

Replacement cattle 800: Good light stockers 28-30; good steer and heifer calves 26-32.50; medium and common: 22-27.

Calves 531: Choice vealers 32-42 with sales to 46; good 36-38; medium 28-33; commons 23-27; boners 17-22.

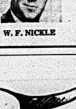
Hogs 1,226: Grade A at Toronto 26.90-27 currently at Toronto 26.95; stags 13-15; boars liveweight 12.50; heavy sows 18.05.

Sheep and lambs 286: Good to prime slaughter lambs 34-35; heavy spring lambs 45; sheep 5-15.

Centennial Medals Awarded

Two residents of Thurlow township, one of them a 90-year veteran of municipal office and the other active for many years in community work, have received centennial medals.

Receiving the medals in recognition of their public services were township clerk Earl Dafoe and Mrs. Harry Harrison of Holloway.



Mr. Dafoe has been clerk of his township for 21 years, while Mrs. Harrison has been active in rural women's organizations and on the Belleville Fair Board.

Increased Spending Requested

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board is being asked to triple the advertising budget for the promotion of milk products.

The resolution seeking increased spending for milk promotion was passed at a meeting in Kingston attended by about 70 milk committee delegates from the counties of Prince Edward, Hastings and Lennox and Addington. George McLaughlin, OMMB chairman and several board members attended the day long session.

On March 1 of this year the milk board began a province wide pool to purchase milk from milk producers on a quota basis.

QUESTION: When does Upper Canada Village open, and what is the admission price this year? Also Old Fort Henry?

ANSWER: Upper Canada Village is open daily from 9.30 to 5.00 from May 13 to June 17 and from 9.30 to 6.30 June 18 to September 4. Admission: adults $2.50, children 6 - 15 years, 25 cents; group of 25 or more, $2.25 adults, children 25 cents. Season ticket $6 adults.

Only 135 miles from Belleville, at Morrisburg, Ontario, the Ontario Government created Upper Canada Village to preserve the flavor of early Canada. When you pass through the 1840 toll gate into Upper Canada Village, you step back 100 years into Dundas's past. Over 40 or more buildings have been relocated in the village from their original sites in the St. Lawrence Valley. You find a sleepy village peopled by millers, tradesmen, merchants and housewives, each dressed in authentic, nineteenth century costumes. You can watch bread being baked in an ancient brick oven, have flour ground made in a water-powered mill and cheese being made in a 19th century factory.

Old Fort Henry, in Kingston, is open from May 15 to September 15. Admission rates are $2, children 6-15 years 25 cents, group of 25 of more $1.75 adults, 25 cents children. Season tickets, adults $6.

XIX OLYMPIAD

Unless you already have made reservations, you won't now get a room in a first-class Mexico City Hotel during the Olympic Games. They were all booked long ago and even the Mexican authorities don't seem keen about the second class hotels that still have space. In a letter to the Canadian Automobile Association, the Mexican Department of Tourism advises accommodation in private homes and apartments "where we are sure, they will be much better off than in a hotel room of doubtful standing now".

Incidentally, you will not be able to buy tickets for the Games, which run October 8-31, if you can't prove that you have a ticket to stay.

Speaking of travel to Mexico, which is always pleasant, take note that you have no right documents if you are under 21. The warning comes from Bill Gallagher, of the American Automobile Association, with which the OML is affiliated.

A minor travelling alone in Mexico must carry a notarized letter in duplicate, signed by both parents or guardians, authorizing the minor to make the trip. Even if one parent goes along, a notarized letter from the other parent must be presented.

Du Pont Profits Climb

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Du Pont Co., biggest chemical maker, reported Monday that profits for the first quarter of 1968 were about 17-per-cent higher than the similar 1967 period.

The company said net income totalled $97,000,000, up $19,000,000, but added that about $11,000,000 was raised from sales and make it retroactive—profits would be reduced to $90,000,000 equal to last year's January-to-March quarter.

The net income of $97,000,000 is equal to $2.03 a share, compared with $1.64 a year ago.

Sales also climbed. Du Pont reported sales for the first three months at $527,000,000, an increase of 11 per cent over the $475,000,000 for the first quarter last year and six per cent higher than the last quarter.

Club Activities

B AND P CLUB

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its dinner meeting at Johnny's restaurant, Monday night.

The dinner speaker was Mrs. Barbara Cameron, vice-president of district C, Cobourg. Her topic was leadership and what it means to each member of the club.

Women join not just for the social aspects alone but because of mutual ideas on the future of women in the modern world. Membership in the club gives a person confidence in accepting small and big tasks in leadership training each time she assumes a challenging task.

Mrs. Cameron concluded by saying leadership helps delegates to make flexible resolutions at conventions, as part of a vital organization for the interests of women. Leadership educates women to accept and fulfil obligations gained from past generations of women, especially in the field of education and politics.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Nettie Brown.

The business meeting concluded with committee reports and the reminder to members to continue selling their tickets for the club's fashion show to be held for the public at Club Cedars May 22.

PRIVATE STUDY CANDIDATES — GRADE 13

It is a private study candidate's responsibility to communicate as soon as possible with the principal of the nearest Secondary school where the subject he wishes to write is being taught. The principal of the school or a teacher designated by him will indicate to the candidate the course of study being followed.

Private study candidates may write the final examinations set for students who are not recommended on their year's work. In these cases the student's standing in the subject will be based wholly on the final examination.

It is the candidates responsibility to check with the school office to determine when the examination is being held.

"Youth Charter" Welcomed by Church Leaders

LONDON (CP) — A go-ahead to teen-age marriages proposed by the British government or a so-called "youth charter" has been generally welcomed by church leaders.

But some marriage experts wonder if there will be more divorces once it is legal to marry at 18 without parental consent.

A recent statistical report showed that couples who married when the wife was under 20 are twice as likely to be divorced than when the wife is over 20.

"Young people today are well balanced and intelligent and the majority of young marriages are happy," said an official of the Marriage Guidance Council.

"But the risks of younger marriages are greater and that is all the more reason why they should be understood by the people concerned."

The council urges more education about marriage in schools and clubs.

In 1965 Britain and 37,785 divorces in all age groups. Divorce is likely to become easier when a new bill becomes law. Under it, making a breakdown of marriage is a valid ground for divorce.

Meanwhile, Philip Latey, pop-singer son of the judge whose committee recommended lowering the age of majority to 18 from 21, says he likes to think he has helped influence his father.

But he does not think the proposals go far enough—he favors a complete permissive society.

"There should be a much more broad-minded attitude to marriage and sex. I go out with dozens of different birds and I like them to be uninhibited physically and mentally.

"But I see no point in getting married unless I want specifically to have children. . . With modern methods of contraception it is quite possible for a young couple to enjoy a physical relationship without having to get married. And why shouldn't they?

"There should be a move towards young couples living together and sleeping together but not getting married if they don't want children."

As well as marriage at 18, new proposals give teen-agers most other rights and responsibilities of adults except the vote. Many members of Parliament would like to see the voting age lowered from 21.

Eighteen-year-olds will be able to take out mortgages, sign contracts for instalment buying, obtain passports and make wills, all acts now requiring a parental signature.

Commission on Status of Women Meets

VICTORIA CP — One-third of government offices in Canada should go to women, the first public hearing of the travelling royal commission on the status of women was told today.

Women in office would influence the country towards "peace and the good life for all," the Victoria Voice of Women said in a brief to the five women and two men on the commission at the start of their 18-day western tour.

"There is much more chance of the world being saved from nuclear disaster or complete paralysis by pollution, starvation, plague or over-population, if women are given a real voice," the eight-year-old organization said.

Six briefs were presented during the morning session; which followed a hectic evening of telephone answering for the commissioners on their arrival here Monday.

Victoria women kept special lines ringing with discussion ranging from widows' difficulties to claiming funds from their dead husbands' estates to complaints that college girls can't get well-paying summer jobs.

"We're being treated as an ombudsman service," said commissioner Lola Lange, a farm unionist from Claresholm, Alta., who took a late shift answering all callers with Elsie MacGill, a Toronto aeronautical engineer.

The seven commissioners and 11 staff members were to leave for Vancouver later today where they will receive almost 30 briefs, then head for Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Saskatoon.

Copies of the briefs presented to the commission today were released to the press in advance.

Contact Lenses Do Splendid Job for Older People

Dear Doris: I'm thinking about getting contact lenses. A woman told me she had tried four pairs and that she was finally told her eyes were too old to adjust to the lenses. Since I am 58 I am wondering if I would have the same trouble. — Doris Too.

Dear Doris Too: Most unlikely. Contacts are doing a tremendous job for many older people. Most can supply vision where ordinary glasses won't do. Persons with refractive problems have been made to see again and see well because of these modern miracles.

There's a lot in getting accustomed to them gradually. The eyes don't readily welcome foreign objects, even when they make one see better. But most people who try them say the adjustment period was worth all it took.

I know one woman 83 who bought them for cosmetic reasons: her eyes had faded greatly, and the lenses, appropriately tinted, have given back her shining brown eyes. She was so encouraged that she got a new hair do and a new short dress, right in style.

Next time the lens man sees her, she was planning on taking an office job. Looked a young 60, he said.

Dear Doris: I read your column all the time.

I'm glad there is somebody who is concerned with people, and I'm even more glad to know there is at least one grown-up who will stand up for teen - agers and doesn't think we're all monsters with no sense of decency or humanity, just waiting to do something terrible the minute we get a chance. — Loyal Fan.

Dear Fan: Thanks. Far from it. Our young people are reaching out in all directions to help others these day. Note what C.U.S.O. is doing; and the Summer of Service volunteers, to mention just two among many inspired projects.

Granted there are some queer ducks that tend to give everybody else a bad reputation; but that happens in every generation.

Dear Doris: We are into our Christmas - from - Canada program for 1968, which features ditty bags. These are practical, bright-colored bags which close with a drawstring. Contain things like soap, coloring book, ball, and a note on other items to delight the heart of any boy or girl in whatever country.

Desired delivery is June one to 15, (for delivery before Christmas) although ditty bags are welcome any time of year, anywhere. Call your Depot Supervisor, Canadian Save the Children Fund.

Dear Supervisor: Readers will love to help, and I will send Ditty Bag Instructions to any inquirers.

Some of those youngsters are wide - eyed as they embrace their very first doll, or car, or ball; a gift from someone in Canada who cares.

Ann Landers

Widow Falls in Love With 19-year Old

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll make it brief and to the point. My age: 36. Background: Married twice. First marriage to a man twice my age. (I was 16.) My mother pushed me into it because she thought he was rich. I said O.K. because I thought he was kind. We were both wrong. The third time he broke my nose I divorced him.

My second marriage lasted two years. My husband drank vodka martinis for breakfast with beer chasers. He wrecked four cars in the city and had a fatal accident at work. I'm sure he was smashed on the job, but they paid off nicely and I got a generous settlement.

I bought a small cafe three years ago and have been doing very well. The problem: A 19-year-old boy applied for a job four months ago and I hired him. He is handsome, hard-working, and I think we are in love. He is very grown-up for his age and looks a lot older than he is. The Army won't take him because he has a steel plate in his head. He wants to marry me. What do you think? — ANGIE.

DEAR ANGIE: The kid has a steel plate in his head. What's your excuse?

. . . A fellow 19 should be looking for a girl 17. If you are smart you'll help him find one. Where's his mother, anyway?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 13-year-old boy who thinks your advice stinks. Why did you tell that 12-year-old kid he is better off staying in the house practising the piano, which he hates, than being out in the fresh air playing ball with the gang? Any doctor will tell you that you are wrong. Also this kid's chances of becoming a great ball player are a lot better than his chances of becoming a great piano player because he said in his letter he loves baseball and hates piano.

I used to think you were on the side of us kids, but now I think you are a crabby old lady. — FORMER FRIEND.

* * *

DEAR FORMER: I doubt seriously that the boy is in danger of becoming either a great pianist or a great ball player. Contest, however, is beside the point. What I had in mind was discipline. Unfortunately, too many kids are allowed to do only what is easy, convenient or pleasant and practising piano is not usually on the list. Got it straight now, Buddy?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were married at a small family wedding. I knew I was pregnant at the time, and figured I was about three months along. As it turned out, I was in my fifth month. We left the city shortly after the wedding and now live about 600 miles away from our families. My mother knows I am pregnant but she has no idea how pregnant I am.

The baby is due in about two weeks and I am undecided as to whether I should notify our parents when the baby arrives or wait a few months. What is your advice? — INFANTICIPATING.

DEAR IN: Notify your parents when the baby arrives. It is unrealistic to think you can keep an event like this a secret. If you attempt to lop off five months from the baby's age when you take him home, or when someone comes to visit, you will make a fool of yourself.

Gooseberry Trifle Is Intriguing Dessert

By MARY MOORE

Frederikshavn is a port city in Denmark. In one of its restaurants my friends Margie and Kay Bates were served Danish Gooseberry Trifle and they were intrigued with it, and made mental notes.

On their return to Canada Margie set about reproducing it with her consultant — critic. Her results were a gratifying facsimile and she passed them on to me.

For this you use small eggwhite meringues instead of lady fingers or sponge cake as in English Trifle. Margie thinks this dessert is one that can be assembled at the last minute if the restaurant is suddenly filled with guests from a ship which has just arrived from Goteberg, Sweden, across the strait, Skagerrak.

I liked the added dividend of meringues which could be made from leftover egg whites stored in covered tin box without coming to grief.

DANISH GOOSEBERRY TRIFLE (see cherry variation)

NOTE: This should be prepared but not assembled until just before mealtime because meringues should be crisp.

Twelve 2 or 2½" dry meringues (see below)

one 14-oz. can gooseberries

1 tablespoon corn starch

5 or 6 drops green food coloring

5 oz. (half of a half-pint) 32 percent whipping cream

1 teaspoon icing sugar

¼ teaspoon vanilla

Drain syrup from gooseberries and measure. Put ½ cup of syrup into it and cook, stirring until thick and boiling 1 minute. Remove from heat and add green food coloring. Gently stir in gooseberries. CHILL. Just at mealtime crumble the dry meringues into bottom of your finest cut glass bowl. Cover with gooseberries. On top at even intervals place the six remaining whole meringues. Whip cream until it will barely hold its shape. Fold in icing sugar and vanilla. Now add to cover gooseberries and meringues allowing tips of meringues to show. When serving be sure each guest receives one whole meringue atop his serving.

NOTES: 1) Cherry Variation: Instead of a 14-oz. can of gooseberries use a 15-oz can of red pitted cherries (sweetened) and red food coloring instead of green. 2) See April 9th for meringue method:

Chief Librarian at National Museum Has Tremendous Task

OTTAWA CP — Audrey Dawe, a white-haired woman with twinkly eyes, has met every twinge of the National Museum library's growing pains.

In 1959, when the library separated from the geological survey library which had also served the museum for years, Miss Dawe and about 40,000 books went with it.

The books had to be re-arranged and the catalogue refiled, gaps in selections filled, and the library expanded to keep pace with the growing museum.

Today Miss Dawe, the chief librarian, presides over 85,000 to 80,000 bound volumes and a "tremendous" amount of unbound material.

"We have things here sometimes nobody else in North America has," Miss Dawe says. "In anthropology I think we have one of the best basic collections."

Miss Dawe was born and raised in St. John's, Nfld. and went to Memorial University there and later Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B., where she graduated with a BA degree. It was followed by a degree in library science from the University of Toronto.

For 10 years after that she was reference librarian at the Gosling Memorial Library in her home town.

I took just shortly after the depression.

"People came in who really needed the library. They had to educate themselves.

"I know people now who are doing things that are quite important in Newfoundland."

After a stint at the still shared the survey's facilities."

Today, as well as the main library in the old, stone National Museum, Miss Dawes also oversees libraries in the War Museum and the Museum of Science and Technology.

"Now there are plans for other branches to move out. I'll soon have little libraries all over the city and if my hair wasn't already white it soon would be."

Same Virus Causes Kissing Disease in U.S., Tumors in Africa

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — There may be a positive link between infectious mononucleosis, widely known as the kissing disease, and a malignant tumor which is common in Africa but rare in the United States.

That was the report today by Dr. Julius S. Horosewicz of Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y.

If the link, a virus, is established definitely, it will be the first time that a virus has been indicted as a cause of cancer-type disease in humans.

The virus already has been shown by other researchers to be associated with infectious mononucleosis, a not-usually-severe disease that causes fever, chills, general bad feeling, fatigue and sometimes headache and chest pain.

Researchers have shown that the virus reacts with protective anti-bodies from humans who already have had the blood disease, the Roswell Park report said. The reaction is the same as an infection that would produce in a vaccinated person, indirect evidence that the virus causes infectious mononucleosis.

The New York researcher, associated with Dr. James T. Grace Jr., and Dr. Virginia C. Dunkel, gave his report to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, meeting here.

They found that the same virus associated with infectious mononucleosis is the one often seen under the electron microscope in tissue samples of Burkitt lymphoma, the malignant tumor frequently seen in Africa.

The Roswell Park report indicate that in the test tube the virus can affect certain cells in a variety of ways—ranging from a mild chronic infection to a lethal infection.

The virus also seems to pick and choose the cells it prefers, favoring certain white blood cells in the human and the monkey, indicated in connection with the blood-forming cells the researchers said.

Further proof of the connection between the two diseases may be difficult since people cannot be infected deliberately with the virus to show a casual link.

The researchers proposed a large-scale study on the continent of Africa to collect and store blood samples from young white and Negro subjects, to be checked later to see if they have developed protective antibodies to the virus.

Memphis Strike Continues

Half-inch Rain Started Racial Crisis in U. S.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — On a cold, gray morning in January, half an inch of rain fell in Memphis, barely enough to send trickles of water along the gutters.

But that half an inch of rain started a chain of events that may have altered the course of race relations in the United States.

Because of the rain Jan. 30, Memphis sanitation department supervisors sent home with two hours pay for the day, 21 or 22 men whose job it was to clean the gutters.

The gutter cleaners, all Negroes, complained that their white supervisors always received a full day's pay, even when it rained.

Their complaints swelled into a strike of 1,300 sanitation workers and garbage collectors, 80 per cent of them Negroes. The racially-tinged labor dispute brought clashes with police, hundreds arrested and a pall at the city council chamber.

And it brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Memphis.

King led garbage collectors on a march through the business district on March 28. He was planning another march when, on a still spring evening April 4, the civil rights movement's leading apostle of non-violence was shot and killed by a sniper.

Disorders erupted breaking out in cities across the United States.

Within a week, Congress had passed and President Johnson signed a civil rights bill containing a non-discriminatory open housing provision.

The turmoil following King's death all but obscured the sanitation workers' strike, now in its 10th week. The dispute has left the city edgy.

Some officials appeared confident a settlement will be reached. Ralph Abernathy, who succeeded King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. He returned here Monday night, promising more marches. Aides said Abernathy will launch a new campaign "for justice, jobs and human dignity" and will stay in Memphis "for the duration."

Two days after King's slaying, the White House dispatched Labor Undersecretary James Reynolds, a veteran of steel, railway and other major labor negotiations, to Memphis in an attempt to settle the garbage collectors' strike.

The action, Reynolds said, "reflects the grave concern we in Washington have in respect to this relatively small labor dispute."

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees is seeking a 45-cent increase in hourly wages that have ranged from $1.65 to $2.10. The last reported city offer was an eight-cents-an-hour increase.

Reynolds does not seem hopeful of an early settlement.

"It's kind of like a snake on a rock," he says. "You can't tell which way it will go."

As he spoke, two orange garbage trucks, manned by supervisors and other city employees, rolled along Main Street outside the hotel. They were followed, as they have been for weeks, by a police squad car.

It has been hard for families of the strikers.

One striker who lives in a weatherbeaten house on the outskirts of Memphis talked briefly with a reporter, but asked that his name not be used because "I don't want trouble."

He said he was planning to go into the city today in search of part-time work. But he didn't have much hope of finding it.

"It's been pretty hard but we're making it so far," said the striker.

White businesses have been hit hard, too, by the pressure of a Negro boycott and white apprehension.

Figures on the business community's financial loss aren't available, but estimates range into the millions.

Pastor Refuses To Be Inducted

NEW YORK (AP) — A protestant chaplain at Cornell University led an anti-draft march down Seventh Avenue Monday, then reported for induction but refused to be sworn in as a U.S. Army private.

The minister, Rev. Paul E. Gibbons, 35, was allowed to leave after he refused to take the traditional step forward that would have made him an armed serviceman. A selective service spokesman said the action would be reported to the U.S. attorney's office, for possible prosecution.

Mr. Gibbons, father of four, is a minister of the United Church of Christ.

He told reporters he was reclassified 1-A last November after turning in his draft card. Previously he had a ministerial exemption and was classified 4-D. He received his induction notice April 1.

No Link Discovered In London Slayings

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Nine-year-old Frank Jensen almost certainly met death at the hands of a sex-killer, city police said Monday.

But they denied a suggestion by provincial police that the boy and 16-year-old Jacqueline Dunleavy, found dead Jan. 8, may have been murdered by the same person.

"We have no concrete evidence to link these two murders at this time," said Chief Jeffery, superintendent of detectives.

"In every police investigation there is always a chance that two murders may be linked in some way, but in this case we have nothing at all at the moment that would suggest these two young people were murdered by the same person."

Police were still unable to state what caused the death of the Jensen boy, whose body was found floating in the Thames River at nearby Thorndale Friday, 64 days after he disappeared from his London home.

Supt. Jeffery said he did not think the pathologist had been able to say precisely how the boy came to his death.

"The body was very badly decomposed," he said. The murder of the Dunleavy girl, who disappeared Feb. 1, vitally clad, was gagged and strangled to death, was termed a sex killing but a pathologist's report stated she had definitely not been raped.

South African Can Remain Here

KITCHENER (CP) — Bertram Petersen, a 22-year-old colored immigrant who claims he would be jailed if returned to South Africa, has won a six-month fight to stay in Canada.

The immigration appeal board during the weekend quashed a deportation order and granted Petersen resident status.

"I am smiling from ear to ear and hope I don't get locksaw," said Mr. Petersen, who works for a public relations firm here.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "amazing-to-thrilling improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among those case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Gun in Holster When Shot Fired

TORONTO (CP) — Police Constable Bruce Ellenor was relieved of his duties as a "matter of formality" following the shooting Sunday of a 15-year-old boy, Deputy Chief Bernard Simmonds said Monday.

The boy, an escapee from St. John's training school in nearby Uxbridge, was shot in the back of the left thigh in an east-end park as he fled from police.

Hospital officials described his condition as favorable.

Constable Ellenor, 32, was suspended immediately following the shooting.

The official police report said Constable Ellenor's service revolver, a .38-calibre Webley, accidentally discharged when the constable tripped and fell on the rough ground as he pursued the boy.

The report said the constable was running with his right hand on the butt of his revolver, which was in a belt holster.

"Every policeman holds his gun when he's running—I do myself," the deputy chief said.

The case started when Constable Derek Gregg questioned a boy and two girls near a refreshment stand.

The boy fled and Constable Ellenor joined in the chase.

Cleveland Will Fight Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal water pollution control administration announced Monday a $325,162 grant to Cleveland, Ohio, for an experimental program aimed at reducing water pollution from combined sewers and restoring Lake Erie beaches.

The project is part of an intensive U.S. effort to clean up a serious source of water pollution in urban areas. It aims at both prevention and cure.

Various methods will be tried to reduce overflows from combined storm and sanitary sewers, to screen the overflows and to treat them and to flush the sewers during dry weather.

A spokesman said steel sheet pilings would be set up to protect the waters along beach areas, and continuous chlorination would be attempted in these areas to purify the water.

Lake Erie is considered the most polluted of the Great Lakes.

Amnesty Unlikely

TORONTO (CP) — Young Americans evading the U.S. draft were warned Monday not to get their hopes of an amnesty too high despite indications of possible peace in Vietnam.

Hatin, Satin, director of the Toronto anti-draft program for young Americans, said there has never been an amnesty in the United States and that only extreme political alterations could change the situation.

An estimated 10,000 American men are in Canada evading the draft, Mr. Satin said.

WATCH FOR

Eight Cabinet Members Holiday in Florida Sun

OTTAWA (CP) — A northward trek of Canadian cabinet ministers starts today.

At least eight ministers spent the Easter vacation in Florida and most are expected to leave the beaches in time to reach the capital for Wednesday's regular cabinet meeting.

Seven ministers, headed by Prime Minister Trudeau, saw Liberal leader and justice minister, spent the vacation in Fort Lauderdale area.

External Affairs Minister Martin was to return today from Sarasota.

Mr. Trudeau's visit to Florida was kept a secret until he left.

One of his aides, questioned Friday about a report that the new leader would fly to Florida, there was no foundation to the report and that Mr. Trudeau was "somewhere in Quebec."

Wednesday's cabinet session presumably will discuss the inaugeuration of Canada's first Prime Minister Pearson to Mr. Trudeau, expected next week, and the legislative program for the resumption of Parliament next Tuesday.

Also likely to be on the agenda is the current tension with France over Quebec representation at the international conference on education starting in Paris next Monday.

A report from the Canadian embassy in Paris, setting out its views on whether the French government has bypassed Ottawa and issued a direct invitation to the province, is expected to be before the cabinet.

Quebec regards the Paris conference as merely the second phase of the education conference in Gabon in February.

Canada suspended diplomatic relations with the small West African country after that meeting because the invitation had gone directly to Quebec.

U.S. Phone Workers' Strike Seems Certain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a miracle can avert a U.S.-wide strike of some 200,000 telephone workers next Tuesday, says President Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers Union.

After a seven-hour meeting with the union's executive board Monday, Beirne said:

"The record is in full agreement that the strike appears inevitable at this point and that our position today is proved hard and unceasingly for the substantial general wage increases that our members both need and deserve."

About 8,000 members of another AFL-CIO union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, already are on strike against the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., and 14,000 members of Beirne's union are respecting the picket lines and refusing to work.

The New Jersey telephone company said supervisory personnel stayed on the job and there was no interruption of service to its 2,200,000 customers even when the strike began Monday.

Beirne conceded that a strike by his members also would have little immediate impact on most customers, except for long-distance calls and other service requiring an operator, because of the highly automated nature of the telephone system.

The 200,000-to-250,000 computer they call the Bell Telephone System is just about the most spectacular achievement in the entire world of automation—but without the skills of our members to keep it and keep it running, that computer will eventually become an enormous pile of junk," he said.

A 3 p.m. Thursday deadline for the strike would involve 21,000 telephone installers, whom the union is using to try to set a new wage pattern. They are the highest paid, averaging $2.27 an hour compared with an average of $2.79 for all telephone workers.

If you own 1959 Canada Savings Bonds

Here's a special offer just for you

The Government of Canada has created a special new high-yielding security for the advance refunding of 1959 Canada Savings Bonds. These Special Replacement Bonds will be dated May 1, 1968, and will mature in 10 years 5 months on October 1, 1978. They will be available only in exchange for an equal amount of 1959 Canada Savings Bonds, and not for cash. Their average annual yield to maturity will be 6.88%. They will retain all the standard features which have made Canada Savings Bonds the most popular investment in Canada's history. This includes the right to cash them ally time at any bank for full face value plus earned interest.

In addition, Special Replacement Bonds offer the opportunity to double your money. If you choose not to cash your regular interest coupons during the life of the bond, 3 Compound Interest Certificates then become payable for a total of $280.00 extra (on each $1,000.00 bond). This amount plus your regular interest coupons doubles your money. You can take advantage of this compound interest feature in various ways.

And that's not all. There will be two Prepayment Coupons, cashable May 1, 1968, attached to each Special Replacement Bond. They represent the 6 months' interest already earned by your old bond and the prepayment of the 3½ non-taxable premium originally due November 1, 1968. On a $1,000.00 bond, these two Prepayment Coupons will be worth a total of $55.00.

The exchange procedure is simple. Take your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds to your bank, authorized investment dealer, trust or loan company. They will make all arrangements for you. Exchange your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds for the new high-yielding Special Replacement Bonds without delay. This offer expires on May 15, 1968.

How to recognize your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds

First, the serial number in red in the upper corner of each bond is preceded by "314" in black. Second, the name of the issue, "Canada Savings Bond" "1959 Series" is shown just below the serial number.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The successful Shrine Club Pewee Tournament was the "curfew" that ended the knell of parting hockey" and its near spring when a sportsman's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of fishing, golf, baseball, cabins, cottages and summer vacations.

The puck-chasing trail just ended was milestoned by several incidents that ran from the tragic to disappointment to success. The only sounds to be heard in the arena now are the protesting squeaks of ice being relegated to the melting pot.

The serio-tragic note of the season came when Hilary "Minnie" Menard suffered a severe accident during an exhibition game at Napanee when the Ho-Hawk star lost the sight of an eye.

To the everlasting credit of his Mo-Hawk team-mates, members of the 1958-59 McFarlanes, NHL teams, other players, and fandom as a whole besides several individual donations, a handsome sum was raised for the injured player at a special exhibition game staged here.

The disappointing note was the seasonal performance of Peter Smith "A" Mo-Hawks who with on-and-off performances missed the playoffs bracket.

Most hockey men here believed the club was a much stronger one on paper than that which went into the playoffs last season.

True, they lost a number of games by a single goal and at times Lady Luck and the "breaks" turned their heads. At other times they played lackadaisical hockey when a victory or two would have enhanced their chances to enter the playoffs circle.

Near the end of the season they shook the lethargy and won eight games in a row on home ice only to falter in the main clutches and finish in ninth place, a slot outside the playoffs list.

But they did prove that senior hockey is a "must" here and fandom backed them up. While nothing definite, to our knowledge at least, it is a safe bet the top brackets will be back again next year.

The epitome of effort, desire and hustle were the Belleville junior "B's" who finished the season with two victories, 22 defeats and two ties.

Unfortunately, events proved that the Junior youngsters did not "have the horses" to compete with any degree of success with other clubs of the OHA Eastern Ontario Junior "B" League. To their credit it must be said they never quit trying and each and every youngster went out there and gave his best.

And fandom again demonstrated that everybody likes a winner. The Juniors drew a minimum at the box office sometimes less than 100. To the credit of manager Jim Matthews, Red Mavety and coach Charlie Drake, they kept the team on an even keel even end where many other people, under the circumstances would have folded the club.

But offsetting the tragedy and disappointment was the splendid performance of the clubs of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

Three championships were brought to the city during the season, an all-time record for our town.

Smith Fuels peewees repeated their all-Ontario championship from last season. The Stanmore bantams brought home the OMHA championship of their "AA" division and the Food City Novices won the OMHA eastern Ontario championship of their category.

The Quinte Hockey League had a successful season and drew large crowds to their weekly shows with the Aluminum Stars coming from behind in the playoffs to annex the championship.

The Gashouse League also enjoyed a good season with the Firemen bringing home the championship bacon.

The Belleville Oil Kings through force of circumstance played their home games in Tweed with the exception of a couple of playoff tilts. They had a good season, so to speak, and hope to enter the team in intermediate hockey another year.

Girls hockey was represented by the Ellis Printers and Barrlage Landscapers in the District Women's Hockey League.

All Trail 2-3

Rangers, Flyers, Stars On The Spot

Play Tonight

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Wren Blair's a proud man whose team is tiring.

Blair's Minnesota North Stars trail Los Angeles Kings 3-2 in their best-of-seven National Hockey League quarter-final series.

It's been a homer series to date and the sixth game is set for tonight in Minneapolis.

But his skaters have slowed perceptibly during the last week and their performance is a cause for concern to the 43-year-old former Oshawa, Ont., milkman.

"We have a tired club on our hands," he said in an interview Monday night. Because of injuries during the season, there are 12 players who carried the team all year. I just hope they can carry the load a little farther.

"We don't talk about it, but they've done a great job getting us this far."

The Kings and North Stars are battling to meet the winners of the St. Louis Blues-Philadelphia Flyers series for Western Division honors. Blues, who lead their set 3-2, are at home tonight in the Flyers.

Montreal Canadiens already have sewn up one Eastern quarter-final, eliminating Boston Bruins in four straight games, while Chicago Black Hawks lead New York Rangers 3-2 in the fourth series, which continues tonight in Chicago.

Blair announced Wall Mc-Kechnie has been recalled to the club from Phoenix Roadrunners of the Western League and will replace either Leo Thiffault or Andre Pronovost.

Blair also announced during the interview he was resigning his duel portfolio of general manager-coach at the end of next year and will continue with the North Stars as general manager.

"It's been a tough year, but very rewarding.

"We started with nothing and now have ourselves some really fine hockey players to build a solid nucleus for the years to come."

Weary and obviously sagging from the difficult year of creating a new team in the expanded NHL division, he said:

"Next season will probably be my last as coach. . . .

"By then I shall have completed my job as foreman (coach) and will need to turn my attention more to my group leader (general manager) position with the club."

He indicated that his successor would be John Mockler, 34, coach of Memphis South Stars of the Central Pro League.

"John was hired a year ago and told at that time that when I got ready to devote my time to general-managing the North Stars, he would become coach," Blair said.

Referring again to the current series, he said the players his club would most have to watch on the Kings were Ed Joyal and Gord Labossiere, two centres who had indifferent seasons in games between the two teams but who have come on strongly in the playoffs.

"We haven't played as well as we can so far in the series," he said. "But if we can get all our scorers hitting on the same night, we should win tonight and back in Los Angeles.

". . . It's just a question of how bad do they want to win.

"All se son long they've played great hockey when they've had to—and now they know they have to or they're through."

It's the same situation for the Rangers and the Flyers.

Cornwall Ousts Trappers

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Cornwall Royals advanced to the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-final hockey playoffs Monday night by defeating North Bay Trappers 8-3 in the deciding game of their best-of-seven series.

The Royals advance against Verdun Maple Leafs in the next round. The best-of-seven series opens in Verdun Wednesday with the second game there Friday.

Jack Canning Just Missed Perfection

NIAGARA FALLS (Special) — Bay of Quinte five - pin bowlers won no official titles here during the three - day Eastern Canada Championships, April 11, 12, 13th, but they did make their presence felt with the 5-man effort by a group from the Quinte area. Just four games of "300" were bowled during the tournament and two were sparkling efforts by Belleville bowlers. Jack Canning just missed perfection with an eleven strike game, with a corner pin leaving between him and a 450 game. His game was 401. Jim Nicholls, hit 400 even. John Pappas, Scarborough had top single of 414 and Red McQuaker tied Cannings 401.

Leo Labelle's 261 average pace in the men's singles championships was good for a 12th place finish. The event was won by Fraser Hambly, Toronto, with a 301 average for the eight games. Jim Nicholls was 20th with a 248 average.

The Bay of Quinte mixed team had the 10th overall finish with their 9426 pinfall, good enough for 7th place. Jack Canning and Marion Burton starred in this effort. Canning rolling a 1259 four game contribution and Burton hit 1829 for eight games. The men's team also made a good showing with a 9880 total.

Individual performances that should be mentioned are Ed Lugtenburg's 277 average over 64 frames, acting as a spare. Labelle had a 260 - plus average for the whole tournament and Jim Nicholls was above the 250 mark.

The nineteen bowlers representing the Bay of Quinte scene were: Ladies: Audrey Aris, Betty Heffern, Earla Crossman, Anne Cassidy (Trenton), Peg Ronsky, Jean Calnan, (Belleville), Marjorie Sheppard, Mary Slaght, (Brighton), Shirley Tysick (Kingston). Men: Leo Labelle, Jim Nicholls, George Crabb, Jack Canning, Ed Lugtenburg (Belleville), Jim Byers, Mel Kennedy, Leo Anderson (Trenton), Les Tysick (Kingston). Coaches: Ed Lugtenburg, Lou Aris, Jack Canning.

Rusty Staub said things started getting pretty funny around the 17th inning. Roy Hofheinz officially sanctioned the humor of the situation five innings later.

Two innings before the longest night game in major league history ended in the Astrodome Monday night with Houston Astros a 1-0 victor over New York Mets the following legend appeared on Astros' owner Hofheinz' psychedelic scoreboard:

"The judge says he's ready to go to bed . . . let's score a run."

"After about the 17th inning, everything sort of got funny," said Staub, who batted nine times in the six hour, six minute contest. The game outlasted by two innings the longest night game played previously, a 6-5 American League victory for Washington Senators over Chicago White Sox last year.

The game ended in typical Metsian fashion, with- an error letting in the run after eight pitchers had battled valiantly to preserve the scoreless deadlock.

In the only other National League games played, Los Angeles Dodgers rallied to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and St. Louis Cardinals topped Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 10 innings.

Hawks, Rangers Game On TV At 9 Tonight

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC announced Monday that it will televise nationally the sixth game of the Stanley Cup quarter-final series between New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks tonight.

Tonight's telecast will begin at 9 p.m., EST, a half hour after the opening faceoff at Chicago Stadium.

The CBC will probably television the seventh and deciding game, if it is necessary, in its entirety Thursday night.

Both games will also be broadcast nationally by CBC radio.

Welterweight Title

Cokes, Ludick Tonight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes and challenger Willie Ludick of South Africa expect to weigh in at around 146 pounds each for their 15-round title fight tonight.

Cokes, declaring "I have no problems" and thinking only of getting the fight over so he can take some more lucrative series that will pay for a restaurant he is installing in Dallas, said he would probably be down to 146 about 10 a.m.

Ludick, getting his first professional fight away from home—he has had 29 fights, winning 27 of them—said he weighed exactly 147 Monday night.

The fight starts at 9.08 p.m. (CST) at which time television over 28 stations in the nation will start.

Most observers look for the bout to go the full 15 rounds, with Cokes favored about 9 to 5 to retain his title in his fourth defence of the crown since he won it in 1966.

Cokes will get $50,000 or 40 per cent, whichever is greater, while Ludick will receive 15 per cent of all monies.

Commercial Softball

1968 League Organized

The possibility of an eight-team Belleville Commercial Softball League for the 1968 season was strong following a meeting in the Armouries last night.

Bill Vallance, returned to the office of president at the election of officers, listed six returnees from 1967 among the eight likely entries.

City Hotel, Lightfoot Construction, Stinson Construction, Stewart Warner, Brant's and Black Diamond Cheese, six of last year's seven teams, were represented last night, along with Point Anne and Belvedere Hotel. The latter two clubs played in the Commercial League in earlier years. Missing from last season is the Tiki Club Invaders.

"We hope to function at the Alemite Park again this year," said Vallance.

He also announced that another meeting will be held on Monday, April 29 and that date will be the final one for accepting entries. The meeting will be held in Room 014 of the Armouries, at eight o'clock.

Joining Vallance on the league executive are Leo Lacelais as league president, Chuck Rowbotham as secretary and Don Smith as treasurer.

Campbell Hits Wallets of Blues, Flyers for $3,800 In Fines

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, Monday slapped fines totalling $3,800 on St. Louis Blues and Philadelphia Flyers players for their part in a brawl at the Philadelphia Spectrum Saturday during a West Division semi-final playoff game.

Philadelphia won 6-1 to narrow the Blues' margin in the best-of-seven series to 3-2.

Hardest hit were the clubs' coaches.

Coach Keith Allen of Philadelphia will pay a personal assessment of $500, while his counterpart, Scotty Bowman of St. Louis, was fined $400.

Also contributing were St. Louis defenceman Barclay Plager with a $275 fine and Philadelphia's Pat Hannigan and Don Blackburn, each with $200 levies. The Flyers' centreman Doug Favell, was fined $150.

Campbell issued a lengthy statement outlining the infractions and his reasons for the stiff financial penalties imposed.

CLARENCE CAMPBELL

"At 12:49 of the second period, Barclay Plager of St. Louis was assessed a minor penalty for boarding. It was an obvious foul.

"On receiving the penalty, Plager charged at referee Bill Friday protesting the penalty and berating him with abusive and threatening languages, for which he was assessed a misconduct penalty.

"When the referee went to the penalty bench to report the infraction, Plager charged into the referee's crease and grabbed Friday by the shirt. He was only restrained by teammates.

"For this Plager was given a game misconduct penalty with the accompanying $50 fine and ordered to the dressing room."

The original misconduct had already cost Plager $25.

"Instead of proceeding as directed, Plager engaged in a further tantrum which resulted in further delay," Campbell's statement continued.

"This is the sixth misconduct penalty for Plager since the beginning of March for which the automatic fines of $25 and $50 are inadequate.

A further fine of $200 is imposed."

The second major incident occurred at 9:13 of the third period when St. Louis defenceman Noel Picard and winger Claude Laforge of Philadelphia collided behind the St. Louis goal. The pair then slashed each other with their sticks and wound up fighting.

"Other players on both teams gained off in a mixture of wrestling and fighting, which continued for about a minute," Campbell said.

"Just when officials appeared to be restoring order, players Pat Hannigan and Don Blackburn came off the Philadelphia bench and entered the fight.

"They were quickly followed by all their team-mates and all the St. Louis players except goalkeeper Glenn Hall."

After the general donnybrook ended and the game had been delayed a further 15 minutes, Friday assessed a minor, two majors and an automatic misconduct penalty to Picard. He gave major penalties to Dickie Moore and Craig Cameron of St. Louis.

He also assessed a minor and a major to Laforge and majors to John Miszuk and goaltender Doug Favell, all of Philadelphia.

Fines of $50 each were assessed against Picard and Favell for persisting in several fights after they had been brought to and after Friday's repeated warnings.

"All players who left the benches were assessed automatic fines of $50 each for leaving the bench to take part in an altercation," said Campbell.

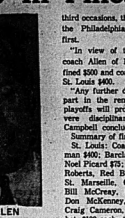
"In my judgment, this automatic fine is quite inadequate under these circumstances and they are all increased to $100 each, with the exception of Hannigan and Blackburn, who, because they precipitated the general exodus, are fined $200 each."

The NHL president said this "deplorable incident" clearly was not a spontaneous outbreak.

"It was the product of the season's feuding and which culminated in the playoff series.

"In my opinion this misconduct is a fault of the coaches of both teams, who failed completely to maintain discipline and control over their players—so often that their failure is inexcusable.

"In the first game of the series, in which the players came off both benches, it was a St. Louis player who came off the bench first. On the second and third occasions, there's no doubt the Philadelphia players left first.



"In view of this difference, coach Allen of Philadelphia is fined $500 and coach Bowman of St. Louis $400.

"Any further default on their part in the remainder of the playoffs will produce more severe disciplinary action," Campbell conclude.

Summary of fines:

Philadelphia: Coach Keith Allen $500; Pat Hannigan, Don Blackburn, $200 each; Doug Favell $150; Joe Watson, Jean Gauthier, Lou Angotti, Leon Rochefort, Brit Selby, Bill Sutherland, Andre Lacroix, Ed Hoekstra, Larry Zeidel, $100 each—total $1,950.

Goalies Steal Spotlight

CHICAGO (AP) — Denis DeJordy is the kind of guy who likes to pay his debts.

The mortgage fell due during the current Stanley Cup quarter-final with New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks couldn't be happier.

DeJordy, inactive for the first five weeks of the regular National Hockey League season with a broken finger, has taken over in the nets and as a result the Hawks hold a 3-2 lead in the Eastern Division playoff.

A victory on home ice tonight would land the Hawks in the semi-finals against champion Montreal Canadiens, who eliminated Boston Bruins in four straight games.

"I knew the guys were counting on me when the series started," said DeJordy. "The Black Hawks have been very good to me.

"They stayed with me at the beginning of the season when I reported late and it took me so long to get in shape.

"Then when I had the injury, they stayed with me again. I don't want to let them down."

Both DeJordy and New York's Ed Giacomin have been magnificent in the series in which neither team has shown much desire to protect its goalie with outstanding defensive manoeuvres.

Nevertheless, Hawks coach Billy Ready feels his club now has the edge after Sunday's 5-2 victory in New York which saw DeJordy turn back 32 shots while Gilhemin handled 23.

"We won the one we had to in New York," said Reay. "We should have had it in the second game, but this one makes up for it.

"It's the kind of series I wanted, a goaltenders' series and DeJordy's doing a wonderful job for us."

"Rules Is Rules" — Officials

Masters Decision Blasted

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Telegrams from across the United States poured in to Augusta National golf course Monday, criticizing the controversial finish of the Masters tournament.

"We've gotten quite a stack of them," said tournament chairman Clifford Roberts. "And one said we did the proper thing.

"The ones we got all say 'You gave that fellow a bum deal'."

"That fellow" is Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo, who tied for the Masters title Sunday but was dropped to second because he signed a card which listed his score incorrectly.

The ruling left Bob Goalby the champion and officials of the prestige tournament embroiled in golf's biggest controversy.

Roberts said the critics of the ruling "don't understand the difference between golf and spectator sports, such as football and baseball."

"You must remember," he said in an interview, "that baseball and football players have no responsibility about keeping score.

"In golf, this responsibility is pinned on the player, who must turn in an accurate score."

De Vicenzo's partner was Tommy Aaron, who gave the Argentine a four on the 17th hole although De Vicenzo made a birdie three there.

When the score was totalled, it showed De Vicenzo with a 66 instead of the 65 he shot. De Vicenzo, upset over losing a stroke to par on the 18th hole, signed the card and was taken away to prepare for the final ceremonies. Then Aaron discovered the error, and De Vicenzo had to accept the score he signed for.

That gave him a total of 278, one stroke more than Goalby's 72-hole total, and plans for a Monday playoff were eliminated.

Roberts said the Masters officials could do nothing about the rules.

"De Vicenzo had plenty of time to check his card. He went over it three or four times, but he was so mad at himself for making a bogey at 18 that his mind was not capable of seeing the card."

Twins Stop Orioles; Unbeaten In 5

Associated Press Sports Writer

Spring has been a little late this year in Minnesota, but a heat wave is on the way.

Big Bob Allison and the torrid Twins are coming home.

While temperatures hovered around the freezing mark in Minneapolis-St. Paul Monday night, Allison continued his early-season hitting binge with two doubles and a triple at Baltimore as the unbeaten Twins whipped the Orioles 6-3 for their fifth straight road victory.

Allison led American League hitters with a .550 average and the Twins topped the AL standings as they headed back to Minnesota for Wednesday's home opener against Washington.

The Senators blanked California Angels 7-0 behind Camilo Pascual's six-hit, nine-strikeout pitching and Oakland Athletics downed New York Yankees 6-3 in American League day games. Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox were rained out and Cleveland and Chicago were not scheduled.

Allison doubled in the second inning, tripled in the fourth and doubled again in the sixth—giving him eight hits in nine at-bats—before going out in his last two trips to the plate.

Right-hander Dave Boswell overcame a shaky start and held the Orioles to four hits.

At Washington, Pascual became the only active American League pitcher to reach the 2,000 strikeout mark when he fanned the Angels' Chuck Hinton in the fourth inning.

The 34-year-old right-hander, who missed the last three weeks of the 1967 season after breaking his left ankle in a game, California, finished the day with a total of 2,007 strikeouts and the 33rd shutout of his career.

Ken McMullen and Sam Bowens homered for the Senators.

Ramon Webster drilled a triple and homer, driving in three runs, and rookie Reggie Jackson delivered two more with a double and homer as the Athletics pounded Yankee ace Mel Stottlemyre.

For The Want Of A Shoe

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A loose shoe may have cost He's A Smoothie, Canada's Horse of the Year in 1967, last Saturday's $67,700 Pan American Handicap, it was reported Monday.

He's A Smoothie received leg cuts that will force the sos of Round Table to the sidelines for several months, it was reported at Gulfstream Park, where he is stabled.

He's A Smoothie, packing top weight of 121 pounds under Ray Broussard, pressed the early pace and was third when the field turned for home but slowed there and beat only two horses.

The Canadian horse is owned by Bill Beasley of Toronto, whose son Warren trains the five-year-old.

Fanfare for A Festival!

The Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra launched Festival '68 at Centennial Secondary School last week. There weren't any fanfares, strictly speaking, although conductor Stephen Choma paused briefly to test the tone of the trumpet section. Front are Adena Teal and Charles Kammer, with Herbert Seames, (left), Joseph Burchill toning up over director's shoulders. Second event in the series, Charley's Aunt, takes place tomorrow.

Bonnie and Clyde Amazes Movie World

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Except with voters of the Motion Picture Academy, Bonnie and Clyde continues to be a winning film.

The movie has amazed everyone in the movie world, including those who made it. "We knew we were working on something special," says co-star Faye Dunaway, "but we never dreamed that Bonnie and Clyde would take off the way it did."

Indeed, film observers cannot recall when a single film has had such an impact on so many facets of society—fashion, music, film technique, fads, humor, and even crime.

In recent weeks, banks were held up in Atlantic City, N.J., and New York, with women involved in the robberies; both crimes were headlined as "Bonnie and Clyde-style holdups." When the FBI reported a 50-per-cent rise in bank robberies during "May," the Wall Street Journal mused in its lead: "Maybe it's all due to Bonnie and Clyde."

The world of fashion has been profoundly affected by the Bonnie Look created by designer Theodora Van Runkle. Millions of dollars have been spent on Maxi-skirts, thick-seamed stockings, and 1930-style berets.

The Clyde Look has not caught on as fast with the males, traditionally resistent to change. But in London, Paris, San Francisco and Greenwich Village of New York, men have been sighted in wide-lapelled pin stripes and "Clyde fedoras." Women have also adopted the floppy, wide-brimmed fedora and their own use.

—Bonnie and Clyde has brought a flood of record albums and singles. "

Casper Wallet Fattest

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf is pro golf's top tournament winner this year, but Billy Casper has won more money, the U.S. Professional Golfers Association announced Monday.

Weiskopf has won $64,122 on the sanctioned professional tour and picked up unofficial winnings for a total of $70,465. Casper is almost $11,000 back in the official column at $53,219, but other winnings give him a total of $71,162.

George Archer is the third man in the list of the Top 10 released by the PGA. Archer has $66,664 in official winnings and a total of $69,307.

George Knudson of Toronto, who has won two of the major tournaments this year, is fourth on the money list with $45,407 in official winnings and a total of $52,055.

Brundage May Get Surprise

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Frank Braun, president of the South African Olympic Games Association, said Monday night South Africa should not accede to any request to withdraw from the Olympic Games.

Commenting on the arrival here earlier in the day of American Avery Brundage, International Olympic Committee president, Braun said:

"My personal view is that if Mr. Avery Brundage has come to the country to ask South Africa to withdraw from the Olympic Games, we should not accede but stand firm on the vote taken at Grenoble."

Spawning Habits of Sea Turtles Depicted in Drama-filled Hour

NEW YORK (AP) — The entire process of the lumbering green sea turtle, which often travels 1,000 miles to the off-Africa island of Europa to lay its eggs, is awesome and interesting. And interesting, too, are the little one-man submarines built to order for Jacques Cousteau and his band of seafaring explorers.

ABC put them both together in a special program Monday night. The result was the weekend of the Cousteau undersea search for turtles and, but it was still a fascinating and at times a drama-filled hour.

The spawning habits of this huge creature, weighing upward of 400 pounds and which lays as many as 500 eggs in a season, are not exactly mysteries. But Cousteau and his underwater photographers were able to follow them around the sea floor as well as up on the beaches as the females struggled over the sand to drop their eggs.

Most interesting portion of the hour was the hatching of the young turtles and their furious struggle to make their way back to the protective sea. The drama was supplied by the hovering and sinister frigate birds who picked off the unprotected young turtles at such a rate that often there is not a single survivor in an original clutch of 100 eggs.

The submarines were interesting additions to the Cousteau underwater equipment, but there was a rather phoney drama built up in the series involving what was alleged to be their initial launch. The program, third in the series, lacked the magnificent and unusual undersea photography of the others, but even with its shortcomings, it was a superior program.

Champion Rider Retires

By KEN POLE

EDMONTON (CP) — At 25, Gail Ross says she is "definitely finished" with international show jumping after six years as a member of Canada's national team.

In an interview Monday, the Edmonton rider confirmed an announcement that she has retired from active competition.

Miss Ross's retirement climaxed a controversy over the method of selecting the Canadian equestrian team for the 1968 Olympics. The rider and her father, Cliff Ross, say a change in selection methods by the Canadian Equestrian Association discriminates against riders from Western Canada.

Sea Gulls Shade Portland

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — San Diego Gulls built a 4-1 lead after two periods Monday night and then survived a Portland rally for a 4-3 victory over the Buckaroos to force a seventh game in the Western Hockey League's semi-final series.

Former Premiers Arrested

ATHENS (Reuters) — Two former Greek premiers, veteran politician George Papandreou and conservative leader Panayotis Kanellopoulos, were placed under house arrest Monday night.

The two men had been under house arrest until December when they were freed under a Christmas amnesty announced by Premier George Papadopoulos.

Security officers were placed outside their houses Monday night after the new restrictions on them went into effect.

Papandreou, 80, had been first arrested the day of the army coup last April.

He was Greek premier until July 15, 1965, and his downfall following differences with King Constantine started a chain of political crises in Greece.

To Your Good Health

Every Heart Attack Is A Serious One

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I know that myocardial infarction means some damage to the heart muscle, but you might explain acute or anteriosterior. Would this mean a mild attack? — T. V.

You are right in that myocardial infarction means that one of the coronary arteries has become plugged and the portion of the heart muscle served by that artery is damaged. In short, a heart attack.

An acute attack is one which comes on suddenly, in contrast to an attack in which encroachment upon the circulation is gradual. Changes in electrocardiogram readings will reveal this.

There are two main coronary (heart) arteries, the anterior (in front) and posterior (in back of the heart). An antero-lateral attack would be one involving the anterior or front branch.

Both these main branches in turn have networks of small er branches, spreading out much as the branches of a tree fan out from the trunk. The point at which the artery is plugged has a great deal to do with the severity of a attack. If it is in a large part of a branch, it is naturally more severe than if only a smaller sub-branch is involved.

However, I dislike the word "mild" applied to coronary attacks. Even though they may — and do — vary considerably in severity and degree of muscle damage, one does not know the extent until the patient's progress has been watched and a series of electrocardiograms has been obtained.

Every heart attack leaves some damage to the heart muscle, however minimal, and every heart attack must be regarded as a serious matter, with every precaution being taken to keep the damage as limited as possible.

The posterior vessel is involved more frequently than the front one in coronary attacks, but the anterior attacks tend to be more severe.

Dear Dr. Molner: Nobody knows the agony of itching feet unless he has had chilblains. Feet itch when warming up after getting them a little cold. After 15 years of pills, salve, and everything else, I found the cure myself. Keep a pair of shoes near an outside door or other cool place. When your feet warm up and start to itch, change to cool shoes. — D. D.

Thank you, sir. Your suggestion is new to me. I hope others find it works for them.

Dear Dr. Molner: I get headaches for about two or three days. Pills don't help me. I have stomach trouble. I get very nervous and my stomach gets upset and I throw up. I can't take anything for my stomach because I get these headaches at the same time. They are on the side of my head. I would like your advice. — G. L.

For headaches as severe as yours, you certainly need some medical help, although it might be simpler than you think. I'd suggest that you read my booklet, "How To Tame Headaches," which you can get by mail — send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, unstamped envelope plus 6 cents for postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

But besides reading the booklet, see your doctor. Your description includes all the classic signs of the migraine type of headache. There is no reason why it can't be done after that type of headache starts, but it is usually possible to make them less severe, and often to prevent them entirely, if you learn the signs which show that one is about to start — and then take suitable medication in advance.

Migraines are discussed in detail in the booklet, which is why I want you to read it as well as getting your doctor's help.

ANAF News

It looks like a busy time for members of the Duke of Edinburgh unit for the next few weeks. April will see the final games of the Saturday Darts Doubles and also the Mr. and Mrs. Darts games with the playoffs for the trophies in May. The playoff for the high three darts trophy will also take place. After winning the league top place in Belleville Shuffleboard League the ANAF team, although putting up a gallant fight, were defeated in the finals and lost the right to meet Trenton for the Quinte district championship.

The regular Friday social evening may be transferred back to the auditorium to meet the wishes of a number of members.

Besides the local trophy playoffs there will be the Sports Meet between the 48th OCA from Toronto and the Unit and No. 49 Ladies Auxiliary, with competitions being held in darts, shuffleboard, and cribbage for both the men and ladies. Following the big final match between the two presidents for the president's trophy with his attendant fun and excitement. The mentioned date for this is sometime in June.

The last gala spring dance will be held in the auditorium on April 27 and will be in Western style with an exhibition of square dancing and other features. It will be a big night so plan to attend.

The Unit pipe band will attend the annual international meeting in Brockville on May 25th, and endeavor to win for the fifth straight year the best marching band trophy. This is a great parade with large numbers of bands and marching personnel from numerous places in the USA and Canada competing for the beautiful trophies. It is a colorful and musical event and a day to be remembered. More details in a later news report. The pipe band also added a touch of color to the young hockey champions parade on Saturday. Remember any young fellows, age 16-25, who would like to join the pipe band, will be welcome on any Wednesday evening between 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Also expected in May is a big initiation night and stag night. The executive will begin making arrangements for the big summer children's picnic, which it is hoped, will be larger and better than ever. The date will be announced later.

Owing to the Minor Hockey league parade and the numerous sporting events being announced over TV and radio there was no Saturday afternoon darts league. They will be continued next Saturday. In the evening the next Mr. and Mrs. Darts contest will be played.

The chairman of the sick committee reports the following convalescents: Norman Somers, 5 Cherry, W. Cumbly, and J. Semark Sr. in Belleville Hospital and Mrs. Thompson and Ab. Grant mark. All have been visited and looked after. If you know of a sick comrade of the club know so he can be visited.

Melrose

MELROSE — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bates Jr. spent several days in Ottawa last week attending the Liberal convention.

Mr. Bates, chairman of the South Hastings Liberal Association, was a delegate.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Denville entertained on Saturday evening on the occasion of Mrs. Demille's birthday.

Mrs. Ivan Bonert, Belleville, was a weekend guest of Mrs. E. Lasher.

The slat babies baptized Sunday morning at Melrose United Church were William Lorne Weese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weese, Toronto; Christopher Eugene Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sherman, Belleville; Christian Paul Payette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Payette, Belleville; Alana Leslie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones, R.R. 5, Belleville; Kenneth Steven Richard Bonert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reside Sager, R.R. 6, Belleville; and Ena Lee Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rushlow, R.R. 1, Corbyville.

A committee of Melrose Wi met at the home of Mrs. Great McLaren Wednesday night to make plans for the East Hastings district UI tea at Plainfield April 10.

PLEDGES MONEY

The Soviet Union has pledged an annual voluntary contribution of $40,000 to the UN Institute of Training and Research, the UN secretariat announced. The agency trains foreign service officers and other civil servants for developing countries.

Legion News

Another big night for Belleville Branch 99, Royal Canadian Legion passed into history with the celebration of the 51st anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge fought on April 9, 1917 Canada's four Divisions, consisting of over 100,000 young Canadians fought for the first time as a single fighting force. Although the total casualties were around 13,000 killed, wounded, and missing, the Canadians were victorious.

One hundred and forty-five veterans of World War I and 312 guests attended the Vimy night turkey dinner, catered by the Ladies Auxiliary, Branch 99. The program opened with the Marching on of the Colors, with Tom Purdey, acting Sergt.-at-Arms, heading the parade of guests and the veterans of World War I.

Everett R. Liddle who arranged the banquet acted as chairman for the night and after his remarks, Comrade E. F. Smith, Branch President, welcomed the guests and the many veterans.

Comrade Roy Madden proposed the Silent Toast to those who paid the supreme sacrifice on Vimy, and two minutes silence was observed, with all lights turned out with the exception of the lone candle burning on the table of sacrifice. Comrade Armand Duffy was the trumpeter for the Last Post and Reveille.

Comrad E. Smith proposed the toast to the home and the Legion at Vimy and other battles and was responded to by a Vimy veteran, Comrade Norm. Bean.

A special presentation ceremony was performed by Capt. Allan Piper, the guest speaker, when he presented to Comrade Roy Madden the highest decoration for the Legion in Canada, The Legion's Meritorious Service Medal and special lapel pin designating that the wearer has the L.M.S.M. Comrade Angus Duffy was presented with a Dominion Command life membership, the highest award that the local branch can confer on a member for long faithful service. Comrade Dick Kirby was presented with the past president's medal for his faithful and hard working service to the local branch.

Comrade Earl Fleming of Belleville Branch showed his colored slides taken at the Vimy Centennial celebration service which he attended last year on April 9, 1967, and gave a commentary as he showed the slides. The pictures brought back memories to the old Vets.

Comrade Allan Piper's address was broadcast over CJBQ (1410 cx) on Tuesday evening at 8:30.

Comrade Bill Richard of Shannonville proposed a fitting toast to Comrade Hope Begley and her Auxiliary for the splendid way in which they served the large turnout of veterans. The toast was suitably responded to by Hope Begley who is the president for the Auxiliary.

The toast to Comrade R. Rayfield was the lucky winner of the door prize and Comrade Don Ridley was the accompanist for a sing song which went on long after the banquet finished.

Comrade Harold Vaughan thanked the guest speaker and presented him with a gift.

The head table guests were from all walks of life, including municipal military minister (al), air-cadets, naval cadets, veterans organizations. All representatives spoke briefly.

U.S. Advertising Firms' Role Less in France Than in Reich

PARIS (CP) — New agreements between French and foreign agencies have given topical life to the issue of how much power is enjoyed by American companies in France's advertising industry.

American penetration appears to be much less here than it is in the advertising industries of West Germany, Italy and Britain.

But the French government is reported taking no chances on any radical growth in the influence of United States agencies here.

The government was said to have favored purchase by two French advertising firms of shares in a third such company, which had been eyed for possible acquisition by a U.S. concern.

American military involvement in Italy and West Germany as a result of the Second World War is considered a key factor in the foothold gained there by advertising and other commercial ventures from the U.S.

In Britain as well as in the two Continental countries, U.S. advertising interests could avail themselves of the great power already enjoyed by their compatriots from elsewhere in business, said one French commentator.

"It therefore can be feared that France may suffer the same fate sooner or later," he added.

Pointing to this possibility, he maintains, are agreements recently concluded between the French advertising agency Publicis and an Anglo-American firm, Ogilvy and Mather.

The two companies said their pact was strictly technical in nature.

But French observers accorded it greater significance since it followed purchase by a U.S. firm, Compton Advertising, of a 20-per-cent share in France's fourth-largest agency, R. L. Dupuy.

A spokesman for J. Walter Thompson Co., which has operated in France since the 1920s, said U.S. pre-eminence in advertising techniques is understandable "because it was in America that advertising as we know it was born."

The French president of Vi confined to a field. Later they performed a grass dance from standing the town hall in Lonedale 10 miles north of Deseronto. Gerald Lott, and the boundary. About noon they subdued a fire in Thompson's woods on the Shash Road, confining damage to the grass.

Fire Chief Al Fraser of Deseronto agrees that fires are fewer because people are becoming fire conscious.

Fire Chief Warns Public Re Lighting Grass Fires

NAPANEE — "Nobody should light a bonfire, whether in town or the township. The person who lights the fire is responsible for any damage it does if the fire gets out of hand. In the township it costs him $120 if the Napanee Fire Department is called in addition to the damage. In the town it is illegal for anyone to light a bonfire except in an approved incinerator." These are the words of Fire Chief F. W. ("Pat") Patton of the Napanee Fire Department.

The Napanee Fire Department has been called to fight several grass fires lately, although there was a lull in some years. "People are becoming more fire conscious," said Harry ("Pepper") Lavender, a driver with the Fire Department for 17 years.

A grass fire which threatened homes on Original Road as well as Wilfred McCabe's home, set afire from a small bonfire, neglected for a moment and fanned by the wind, in record about 12 crews before it was subdued by firemen and volunteers. The crews had a drum consumed and led to the destruction of a pig pen on the farm of Herman Lasher of Rte. 1 Napanee. Two grass fires had to be controlled in Clarkville. Saturday the firemen were called to a small grass fire on the north end of Robert street.

Deseronto firemen from the town's fire department kept a grass fire behind Ideal Venders

Britain's Tories in Disarray Over Race Discrimination Ban

LONDON (AP) — Harold Wilson's Labor government, which needs any political crumbs it can scare up these days, has fallen heir to a welcome bonus in its new bill against racial discrimination.

The bill has thrown the Conservative Opposition into disarray over how to tackle it in Parliament, giving the cabinet one of the few political breaks it has stumbled into in many months.

The Tories' internal but well-publicized disagreement is a mish-mash of breather for Prime Minister Wilson, whose party has been battered in a string of bylections and recent popularity polls. It's an embarrassment for Conservative Leader Edward Heath, who can't get his 365-member group to march in the same direction.

Present indications are that about 20 Tories, including at least one member of the Conservatives' shadow cabinet, will abstain from supporting an amendment tabled by Heath for a debate on discrimination that opens when Parliament reassembles April 23 after the Easter recess.

The government's bill, introduced last Tuesday, is a touchy one. It replaces a 1965 law outlawing discrimination in a public place, which was not effective. The new one purports to ban racial discrimination in a wide field including housing, jobs, unions and various services.

But it does not make discrimination a crime, leaving enforcement largely to conciliation and the prospect of collecting damages for violation. Some experts say it is full of loopholes.

On the other hand, with many of Britain's 1,000,000 colored people confronted with second-class citizenship, some of the Conservatives' "progressive" spokesmen find it distasteful to register opposition to even an incomplete measure.

Heath's amendment calls for affirming Tory condemnation of discrimination. In the meantime further reading on the ground the bill would not "contribute to the achievement of racial harmony."

The shadow cabinet itself is reported split almost down the middle. Sir Edward Boyle, shadow education minister, is among those expected to abstain.

To forestall a public display of indecision, the Tory leadership has decided to put only a "two-line" whip on the vote. This means abstainers will be allowed to pair with absentee government members without their disidence showing too obviously.

FBI at Dead End

False Leads Multiply In Hunt for Murderer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Dead-end clues to a man who vanished without a trace apparently confronted FBI agents today in their investigation of the sniper-slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

False leads multiplied in the hunt for Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious quiet-talking man whose last known address was a Birmingham room in a rooming house. His former landlord said Monday he had identified drawings showed by FBI agents as a resembling Galt.

"It's him," said Peter Cherpes, 74, who runs a boarding house where an Eric Galt lived for six weeks last fall.

Galt's abandoned white Mustang was impounded last Thursday by the FBI in Atlanta, Ga. It fits the description of a car seen leaving the scene after King was killed April 4 by a single firing from a rooming house in Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis witnesses described the suspect assassin, who registered as John Willard at a rooming house opposite King's motel, as about six feet and sandy-haired and "a clean, neat man."

No trace of Willard apparently has been found.

An FBI alert for Eric Starvo Galt in a white Mustang was issued in Florida last Thursday, but was cancelled. However, the FBI has continued a search for Galt's whereabouts or clues to his past.

After Cherpes disclosed what his boarder said of his work and background, Associated Press inquiries turned up blanks.

Is there a real Eric Starvo Galt? The FBI was asked, the Cherpes declined comment. Neither would the FBI say why Galt was wanted.

The man known as Eric Galt had said he was employed at a Mississippi shipyard, but there was no record of him. He claimed he held Louisiana driver's licence six years ago, but no record was found in the files.

There are mysteries within the mystery: Galt left the Birmingham boarding house last Oct. 7, saying he had a ship job in Mobile, Ala., but in December, he turned in the keys to his safety deposit box at the Birmingham Trust National Bank.

In addition, a duplicate driver's licence for Eric Starvo Galt was mailed to the Birmingham address March 1, nearly seven months after he left, and apparently unclaimed. The Birmingham post office indicated no forwarding address was left for Galt.

Galt had a room at the boarding house from Aug. 26 to Oct. 7.

"He was here on vacation and he said he was going to stay here about four months," Cherpes said. The new boarder usually slept until about 11 a.m., had most of his meals at the rooming house and stayed to himself most of the time.

The second week after he arrived, Galt bought a car; the 1965 white Mustang paying cash. He needed a driver's licence.

About a week later, the landlord recalled, Galt got a package in the mail from Chicago: a box about two feet long, a foot wide and weighing 20 to 25 pounds. But Galt complained that it was the "wrong merchandise" and he was going to return it.

Galt left saying he found ship work in Mobile, Ala., but expected "a cheque from Chicago." A letter to Galt from Chicago arrived at the boarding house in February or March and was returned since there was no forwarding address, Cherpes said.

The landlord recalled that Galt had said he would send his new address. "But he never did send it."

Student Pilot Charged With Attempted Suicide

SURREY, B.C. (CP) — Police Monday night charged a 19-year-old man with attempted suicide several hours after a student pilot threatened to crash his light plane into a busy four-lane freeway bridge across the Fraser River.

A police spokesman said John Hogan, a resident of this Vancouver suburb, has been sent to a mental hospital for an indefinite period of time pending the outcome of a mental examination.

A pilot buzzed the Port Mann bridge for nearly an hour earlier Monday, making more than 20 passes between the bottom of the centre span and the river 148 feet below.

Road and water traffic on both sides of the bridge—a part of the Trans-Canada Highway—was stopped while the single-engined aircraft looped and curved in the vicinity of the big span.

Then the plane came down and coasted to a halt on a nearby grassy meadow. Police rushed to the scene.

A man stepped from the aircraft clad in a blood-spattered flight jacket, a long white scarf trailing from his neck. Blood was trickling from his wrists. The man lit a cigarette, then held police at bay for an hour with a cigarette lighter—police thought it might be a gun.

They later subdued him and he was being taken away strapped and handcuffed in a stretcher he said:

"I'm sorry to give you people so much trouble. Some . . . Englishman did it in time under London Bridge and I just wanted to show a Canadian how it's done."

Police said the man rented the two-seat Fleet Canuck at nearby Pitt Meadows, took off alone and started circling the Port Mann Bridge, 18 miles east of Vancouver.

"He was a good flyer," said contractor Neil Houle of Surrey, who watched the plane zoom under the bridge from a nearby rail freight yard. "He used the same route every time and took two bridge sweeps."

While airborne, the pilot radioed the control tower at Pitt Meadows that he wanted to put the aircraft into the Port Mann bridge and wanted a taxi. "I said Roy Kemp, assistant chief instructor of the British Columbia Air Service.

Mr. Israel and chief instructor Les Hargreaves took off in another aircraft to try and talk him down, but found out later they were on the wrong frequency.

They said they knew the man and he was a student pilot.

"At one point we flew close enough to wave and he waved back."

After the Fleet Canuck landed, with only 20 minutes of fuel left in its tanks, police tried to talk the man into surrendering. They kept their distance, mistaking his gold cigarette lighter for a pistol.

Another instructor, Wilf Varkerease, walked over to him. The man's attention was diverted and police closed in and gang-tackled him.

They quickly bound his wrists, handcuffed his legs and strapped him to a stretcher. The man disappeared into the back of an ambulance, smiling at the crowd and puffing on a cigarette.

Utopian Dreams Achieved

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Ponderings and Perplexities:

Why is it that people who say "it goes without saying" never go without saying it?

Why is it that we talk about the "dead past" when it refuses to ignore some parallel with today's problems, but about "the lessons of history" when we want to make some dramatic comparison?

Why is it that we always say "reiterate" when "iterate" would be enough?

Why is it that the phrase "gracious living" seems so ungracious to those who can't afford it?

Why is it that so many parents expect little children to "listen to reason," when the age of reason doesn't begin until at least 7, isn't fully developed until 18, and in many cases remains passive for a lifetime?

Why do we still disparagingly refer to an idealistic plan as "utopian," when it is virtually everything in the Utopian schemes of the past has been achieved or exceeded, beyond the wildest dreams of their founders?

Why is it that the speakers who "need no introduction" are generally given the longest and driest ones?

Why is it that a man who would be the first to admit that he is "not much of a lover" would be the first to repeat being termed a "rat"?

Why is it that people who refer to themselves as "generous to a fault" imagine that their generosity makes up for their other faults?

Why is it that when a person tries to emphasize a sentence with the word "literally," he almost always means "not literally"?

Why is it that whenever a man says to me, "I agree with you in principle," it is clear that he is going to go against his principles.

Why is it that we "upbraid" others in preference to them, instead of "downbraiding"? And why "shortcomings," but no "longcomings"?

Why is it that speakers or writers who want to sound impressive use the word "fruition" — which has nothing to do with "coming to fruit," but properly refers to enjoyment rather than maturity?

Why is it that we laugh at the delicate euphemism of our grandparents having called a leg "limb" and a bosom a "chest" — when we follow the modern custom of referring to illicit sex relations as an "affair."

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 17

Your birthday today: There is nothing quite like the subtle rising tide of self-assurance in you this year. Doors open on all sides, and you will find original, sometimes shocking, ways of making use of the opportunity. Fame or notoriety could rise from your experiments rather easily, but the required cash is much harder to come by and almost impossible to hang onto. Today's stars tend to thrive on controversy, and seek professionals in which debate is a daily staple.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Production today is the problem. Your solution is original but may violate customs or contracts. Avoid temper; tact will get you a lot further.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Some coolness arises, perhaps out of envy, perhaps as a reaction to your recent strength. Stick to the work without comment. The evening is much better.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Writing letters for most Gemini is a poor substitute for alive-in person relationships, but today it is the preferred channel. Catch up on your correspondence. Tidy up the home.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): This is one of those days when it seems the whole world is a bit awry. Hard work is the best remedy for the mood. Earning possibilities are higher today.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Today may prove more expensive than most, but the emergency is only financial. It may be relatively your turn to pay your share of group costs. Consider it an intangible long-term investment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): There is no lack of places to put money today. The problem is that you have too many interests and there isn't enough money on hand to cover them all at once. Seek more funds from new sources.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Group involvement can be very tricky today, in any area from a retirement plan to a street demonstration. Postpone your share of mass action until later. Tact really pays off heavily today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Some attractions cool off abruptly today; tempers may flare here and there. Avoid crowded situations, and tend to those business chores which are most essential.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Today overenthusiasm gets to be a problem, as it may lead to misunderstanding over facts. Continue your research, but get your routines out of the way first.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your contribution to solution of the world's problems is to do what you can where you are. Today you can do very little beyond normal routines. Deeper perspective will show you a path to more strength later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb 18): It may surprise you how many details clutter your scene today. Start early and put aside everything that is not essential at the present moment.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): "Nor heed the rumble of distant drums" applies to today's temptation to mix into strife. Unless your own welfare is involved directly, stay out of the turmoil. Rest early tonight.

Alberta PCs Subject Manning's Regime to Close Scrutiny

EDMONTON (CP) — When Peter Lougheed led his six-man Conservative group into the Alberta legislature this spring, he promised to "look under every rock" in examination of government priorities.

The home, holds its 42nd sitting today with no indication that Mr. Lougheed and his friends are tiring out of rocks.

Sporting estimates have not yet been approved and cleave-by-clause study of all but two bills is still to come.

The 10-man opposition—three Liberals and an Independent along with the six Conservatives —is the largest faced by Alberta's Social Credit government since 1959 and the session has been turned into a running catechism on government policies and procedures.

Today's sitting carries the house beyond the 41-day length of the 1967 session and there have already been 20 night sittings, compared with 10 last year. And the end is not yet in sight.

The current sitting now is not expected to wind up by early May. The education and municipal affairs department estimates still must be approved before the legislature can devote full time to studying bills.

University spending, last item in the education estimates, is certain to inspire debate on announced increases in tuition fees. Under municipal affairs, extended discussion is likely of a new housing program, assessment equalization and provincial planning.

The Conservatives are all newcomers to provincial politics although Hugh Horner, who was in Lac Ste. Anne, was for 10 years a member of the House of Commons.

The vociferous Conservatives are usually at the root of debate; writing and asking questions, debating estimates and requesting statistics from government departments.

Their debates are laden with their own statistics. This year, for the first time, the Alberta Opposition has received an allowance to hire research staff.

Occasionally a question draws a reaction, as when provincial Treasurer A. O. Aalborg replied to one saying the province has no written commitment from Canadian National Railways to buy the Alberta Resources Railway, which is being built in the northwest of the province with provincial funds.

He said there was an understanding the CNR would purchase the rail line at some unspecified time.

More often the questions seem to be seeking ammunition for future use, or satisfying the PCs' curiosity about the interior workings of government departments.

Liberal Leader Mike Maccagno rose during debate on the opposition leader's indemnity to call the protracted questioning "a game of fiddlesticks."

He mimicked Conservatives' pledge to "get in where the action is," then told them:

"Well, one way is to ask searching questions, not listen to the answers and ask the same question over again and again."

The government attitude has been more tolerant. Premier E. C. Manning said early in the session that long searches for data waste civil servants' time and taxpayers' money, but the information has been supplied.

5 Years Ago Pearson Promised Exciting Rule

OTTAWA (CP) — Five years ago this month Lester B. Pearson became Canada's 14th prime minister with a pledge that his term would be a "time to excite the daring, to test the strong and to give new promise to the timid."

Next week the Pearson era comes to a close, leaving behind a massive legislative record of social, economic and administrative change stamped indelibly on the Canadian framework.

Undoubtedly the great personal accomplishment of the era was Mr. Pearson's determined campaign in 1964 that led to parliamentary adoption of a distinctive Canadian flag.

The most emotional moment has to be 12:01 a.m. last July 1 when Confederation entered its second century and 50,000 swarmed on to Parliament Hill to sing O Canada and watch proudly as the maple leaf flag rose above the Peace Tower amid a blaze of fireworks.

There were two new breakthroughs in social welfare—the Canada Pension Plan and the medical insurance plan. The first is already in its third year of operation and the second begins July 1 when at least two provinces plan to implement it.

Most politicians agree that these are the last of the universal welfare measures likely in this generation.

O Canada became the official national anthem by a simple motion of adoption for a Commons committee report. It went through almost without notice one day last spring. A decision on the official lyrics is expected when the Commons resumes April 23.

Major changes in the divorce law, broadening the grounds to cover most aspects of marriage breakdown, will come into being this year.

The long campaign to end capital punishment led to a compromise solution last year by which the death penalty for murder was abandoned for a five-year trial period, excepting for slayers of policemen or prison guards.

Complex laws on broadcasting, banking and transportation have undergone major overhaul.

A new system was worked out for reshaping federal ridings after every census, removing the process from political hands. The idea had been talked about for 50 years without action.

Government-guaranteed loans for university students were introduced, with Ottawa paying the interest until graduation, and the family allowance program was extended to cover students up to 17.

Needy pensioners were given a $30 monthly supplement to the regular $75 monthly old age pension paid to all. The pension age has dropped progressively from 70 to 67 this year and will be down to 65 in 1970.

Money was poured into development agencies—$100,000,000 for the Atlantic Development Board; $50,000,000 for the rural development agency, ARDA; $500,000,000 to a health resources fund aimed at assisting new medical colleges and teaching hospitals.

A federal labor code was enacted, setting the minimum wage at $1.25 an hour and the regular work week at 40 hours in industries under federal jurisdiction. This was followed by a safety code. Adult job retraining courses were set up across the country.

The federal dairy commission was brought into being, crop insurance benefits improved and farm credit expanded.

A 12-mile fishing limit was enacted to keep foreign fishing fleets out of coastal waters, although some of the international agreements required to enforce it still have not been completed.

Three major government departments were established by the Pearson cabinet—industry, manpower and consumer affairs.

Other highlights included the signing of the Columbia River Treaty with the United States in 1963, the establishment that same year of the controversial royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, the Canada-U.S. auto agreement and the unprecedented federal trusteship over maritime unions.

Not all of the original Pearson program survived.

The Canada Development Corp., heralde repeatedly in throne speeches, never got off the ground. It was to have become an investment agency, using both public and private capital, designed to stimulate new Canadian industrial enterprises.

An original election promise was for 10,000 annual university scholarships worth $1,000 each. The student loans plan appeared instead.

Agriculture was promised a double ministry; one for Western Canada farmers and another for the East, but the idea bogged own in administrative snags.

For the most part, however, the government pushed ahead with its program despite its minority position in Parliament and twice went to the extreme limit of imposing a debating deadline.

The first occasion was in the flag debate when a closure motion was introduced to force a successful vote. The other was on the bill to unify the three armed services, when a new "guillotine" rule limiting debate was invoked.

In his farewell speech as party leader during the Liberal leadership convention, Mr. Pearson reviewed briefly his government's record and added:

"We have, in short, changed the face of Canada and, I hope and believe, have made it better."

Early Yachtsmen Drown at Oakville

OAKVILLE (CP) — Two 17-year-old Oakville youths were drowned in 34-degree water in Oakville harbor Monday, only minutes before a rescue launch would have reached them.

Dead are David McRae and Gregory McCabe.

Catherine Whitton, 18, of Ottawa, a third passenger in the 16-foot sailboat, was rescued. She was too numb to talk when pulled from the water but later was reported to be in satisfactory condition in hospital.

The boat, owned by McCabe, capsized about half a mile from shore when a gust of wind hit it.

Police spent half an hour trying to locate volunteers who man the city's rescue launch. The boat did not set out until 26 minutes after the first police officer on the scene sent a radio message for help.

A policeman said the two youths slipped out of sight only two minutes before the launch would have reached them.

The two boys were described as experienced at sailing.

"But they committed the one cardinal sin—they weren't wearing their lifejackets," said one rescue volunteer.

Why does a Rambler American cost $289 less than other compacts?

Could it be because there is no annual model change?

You can bet your boots it is!

Last year, when we announced the no-annual-model-change-policy for the Rambler American we were able to drop the price.

This year, in the face of generally rising costs, we are still able to sell the American for at least $289 less than any other domestic compact.

Isn't it nice to know that somebody's trying to hold the line against inflation?

And from the state of our sales of Rambler Americans (up 79%), it seems that there are a lot of people who agree with our approach: that for a compact car, a car designed as basic transportation, the annual model change makes no sense. So they're buying Rambler Americans.

What are they getting for their money? A 6-passenger car designed and built for our kind of driving, our kind of weather, our kind of traffic. They're getting a car that will have a higher resale value because it's not going to change the shape of its sheet metal just because the calendar says so.

The 1969 Rambler American will be basically the same as the '68. There will be improvements . . . but no changes for the sake of change.

Before you take the spring-time plunge into a new car, take a look at the Rambler American, at your nearby American Motors dealer and ask yourself this question: "is the shape of sheet metal worth an extra $289?"

THIS IS HOW RAMBLER AMERICAN STACKS UP AGAINST ITS MAJOR COMPETITION. TAKE A LOOK, TAKE A TEST DRIVE, THEN DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSIONS.

How come we "quiet Canadians" are the world's talking-est telephone users?

Could be that Canadians have an eye for a bargain.

For the 14th year in succession, Canadians have led the world in telephone calls per person. Why? One reason could be this: your telephone company makes conversation inexpensive . . . and easy. In Canada, a flat residential rate covers all local calls. In most other countries, each call over a monthly maximum is charged separately. And the number of "work hours" it takes to pay for a residence telephone for one month is lower in Canada than anywhere else in the world. (In Bell Canada territory, a man employed in the manufacturing industry works an average of 2.1 "work hours" to pay for monthly telephone service as against 2.5 in the U.S.A.; 4.5 in London; 15.8 in Paris.)

Johnson Sees Korean 'Hawk'

HONOLULU (AP) — Issues of war and peace in Vietnam and tensions in Korea are expected to be discussed today at a one-day conference between President Chung-Hee Park of South Korea and U.S. President Johnson.

Park arrived in Honolulu well after dark in a light drizzle and was met by Johnson.

Once formalities were over, Park and Johnson climbed into a helicopter to be whisked to his hotel.

The two chief executives had a full round of formal meetings set for today at the luxurious ocean front estate of the late industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

Park's visit coincided with important developments affecting his country and the military-diplomatic situation in Vietnam, where South Korea has nearly 50,000 troops in action.

—Two Americans and two South Koreans were killed by North Korean intruders' last Sunday near Panmunjom.

—Park, on leaving his homeland for Honolulu, lauded Johnson's new initiatives toward a Vietnam peace but seemed to express a bit of restiveness by adding "there is a limit to concessions and patience."

—Foreign Minister Tran Van Do of South Vietnam suggested in Saigon the Vietnam allies might do well to hold a summit conference in advance of any substantive peace talks with Hanoi.

In Washington an official who asked not to be identified said a third party might be needed to settle the issue of where the initial peace contacts should be made.

The United States and Hanoi have been squabbling over this question, with Washington contending it should be in a neutral country while Hanoi has suggested Warsaw, Poland, and Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

Accompanying Park to Hawaii were Foreign Minister Choi Young Hi and Foreign Minister Choi Kyu Hah.

Johnson took his one-to-one meetings William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian affairs; Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and troubleshooter Cyrus R. Vance, dispatched to Seoul by the president last February when relations between the two countries were on a shaky footing.

Hanoi Envoy?

Xuan Thuy, 55, has been appointed a government minister in the North Vietnamese regime according to a Hanoi broadcast. The appointment aroused speculation in Saigon that he would be one of the representatives at peace talks with the United States.

Guards Shoot When Attacked

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Five prisoners were killed and 80 persons injured early today when guards at North Carolina Central Prison fired on a crowd of about 500 demonstrating prisoners.

Five of the injured were guards, the others prisoners.

State Correction Commissioner V. Lee Bounds said the riot erupted shortly after 1:30 a.m. when the prisoners set fire to a small building in a yard of the maximum-security facility and "began throwing lighted torches at unarmed custodial officers."

About 45 state highway patrolmen and 50 Raleigh policemen responded to the prison's emergency call for support for prison guards.

Prisoners had staged a sit-down strike in the yard Tuesday and presented a list of grievances to Commissioner Bounds, who said he refused to negotiate with the prisoners.

"I talk to inmates daily, but I do not yield to inmate demands that I do anything," Bounds said afterward.

He said the demonstrators were confined to an open yard by custodial officers armed with chemical Mace and sightsticks.

After the building was set fire, Bounds reported, the prisoners—many of them armed with homemade weapons and torches—began to advance on the guards on the grounds.

"They began throwing lighted torches on the unarmed custodial officers, and the armed custodial officers began opening fire," Bounds said.

Armed guards stationed on the walls of the three-old structure in Raleigh fired down on the crowd with shotguns.

Bounds said the five guards injured in the brief battle received minor wounds from ricocheting shot and prisoners' weapons. Some of the injured prisoners, he said, were reported in critical condition at the prison hospital. Seven men were taken to a Raleigh hospital when the prison hospital was filled to capacity.

"The order to fire was given by the major at the yard," Bounds said. "But instructions on when to fire had been issued by me.

"The officers were told to fire at any time the inmates offered a show of deadly force to our personnel in the yard."

When the guards opened fire, Bounds said, "it effectively broke up the demonstration."

"The inmates now are confined to their cells, and we have complete control of the prison."

The 1,000-capacity prison is the only maximum-security unit in North Carolina, which has other facilities for confinement of about 9,000 prisoners.

Underwater Workshop

This is an artists conception of the Sealab III support vessel and underwater habitat. The support ship supplies electrical power and other necessities to aquinauts living in the underwater habitat and working on the surrounding ocean floor. The latest Sealab experiment will take place shortly at the United States Navy's test site at San Clemente Island off Southern California. The sealab will be sunk to a depth of from 430 to 450 feet.

Canadian Accused Of Spying

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia tonight accused a Canadian and five U.S. military attaches of spying on army and naval targets here in two separate incidents earlier this month.

The Canadian was named as Wing Cmdr. J. V. Watson, the Canadian air attache.

Also named by the newspaper were Lt.-Col. Hugo W. Matson and Lt.-Col. Gerhard L. Jacobson, assistant army attaches at the U.S. embassy here, Lt.-Cmdr. Ralph N. Channell, Lt.-Col. Wayne E. Richards and Cmdr. Robert R. Haener, U.S. assistant naval attaches.

The newspaper charged that the three U.S. naval attaches and Watson took illegal photographs in Leningrad shipyard April 8.

The three Americans used the tall Canadian officer as an "observation tower" to spy out suitable objects for photographing over fences and walls, it said.

The Kremlin organ said they also swore at shipyard security officials and refused to bend over the film. It said the four were involved in previous "suspicious outings" but gave no details.

"It seems to us it is time that certain military attaches learned to see the border between activities permitted by their status and open espionage," the newspaper said.

Spokesmen for the U.S. and Canadian embassies declined immediate comment on the charges.

Iran Quints Are All Dead

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — After a three-day struggle for life, Iran's first quintuplets died Tuesday night at their birthplace of Lalan and were buried in the village cemetery at noon today, the newspaper Kayhan reports.

The 35-year-old mother, Zahra, is reported weak but still doing well, the newspaper says.

The mother already has three sets of twins — one set from her first marriage eight years ago and two from her current husband, the newspaper says.

Hellyer Wanted Tradeau to Head His Campaign

By ROGER WORTH
Staff Reporter

A postponed fishing trip may have cost transport minister Paul Hellyer the Liberal leadership.

According to William Lee, executive assistant and campaign chairman for Hellyer, a proposed fishing trip between Hellyer and Tradeau last summer could have led to the appointment of the justice minister as leadership campaign chairman for Hellyer.

"It was my feeling that a French Canadian should head up the campaign for Hellyer," Lee told about 100 members of the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club last night.

"When I asked Hellyer who he wanted to consider for the post he told me he had more rapport with Tradeau than with any other French Canadian cabinet minister."

"I thought at the time that Tradeau was not a very big name — but I went ahead and set up the fishing trip anyway. Both ministers liked fishing.

"I was thinking Jean Marchand would have been his choice," Lee said.

But Hellyer kept having to postpone the proposed trip because of his duties as minister and the idea never did get off the ground.

"I sometimes wonder if our failure in this regard had some bearing on the final outcome of the leadership contest," Lee said.

Instead of the usual speech the executive assistant used a question and answer period to inform members of the events leading up to the election of the new Liberal leader.

Lee also claimed Hellyer discussed two separate cabinet portfolios when he met with Trudeau, following the justice minister's election.

"As far as I know Hellyer will remain in the cabinet and I would guess he will get both the transport and housing portfolios," Lee said.

"But Trudeau and Hellyer did discuss one other portfolio although I don't know what it was," Lee emphasized.

Replying to a question from the audience, Lee said he wouldn't claim public speaking was one of the transport minister's better talents.

"I don't think there is any argument that Hellyer's speech on the Friday night of the convention was lousy. The speeches played a major part in the selection of the new leader.

"The hall was noisy and hot when Hellyer spoke and he had ATHENS (Reuters) — A former leading Greek politician was deported for a year to a tiny Aegean island today after being accused of being dangerous to public security, a member of his household said. He is Angelos Angelousis, 51.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP) — A provincial government report recommending the algamation of the cities of Port Arthur and Fort William and their suburbs has drawn mixed reactions from area officials. The report was released Tuesday.

"We're having a collection for Pierre. He's defecting next week."

Cabinet Posts All Still Open

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Trudeau said today he has not yet filled any cabinet post.

"I'm still in the juggling process," he told reporters on his return from a brief vacation and before entering a cabinet meeting, probably the last chaired by Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Trudeau said he will not appoint a deputy prime minister, at least at this time.

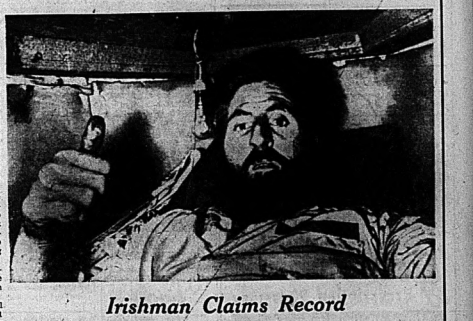
He added that speculation about such a post did not originate with him or with former trade minister Winters.

Mr. Trudeau said neither Mr. Winters nor External Affairs Minister Martin has yet indicated to him definitely whether they will take part in the cabinet.

He is expected to confer with both men either today or Thursday.

Irishman Quaffs Bubbly in His Coffin And Vows He Will Stay Buried 100 Days

LONDON (Reuters) — Irish bartender Mike Meaney—buried alive beneath 11 feet of solid earth—spent a night celebrated a record-breaking stay in the grave with a bottle of champagne.



After 35 days in a wooden coffin in the backyard of a London builder's 25-year-old Meaney is feeling so fit that he wants to stay at least another 45 days underground, totalling 100.

But his manager, Busty Sugrue, landlord of the Admiral Nelson tavern just a few yards from where Meaney is entombed, has other ideas.

As rain poured down on the grave, Sugrue, a former circus strongman in Ireland who claims to be the strongest public house landlord in Britain, said he is determined to drag Meaney from his resting place.

He said he will allow Meaney another six days in the grave before he brings him up.

By that time, Meaney will have spent his planned 61 days underground—smashing by 16 days the world record claimed by 34-year-old American Bill Smith who at present is buried in Austin, Tex., trying to better his own record.

Irishman Claims Record

Mike Meany, 33, claims to have set a world record for being buried alive. He has been living in his coffin-like box for 55 days buried eight feet in Kilburn, London. He took this picture of himself by using AP photographer Frank Tewksbury's camera that was lowered to him through a pipe used to supply him with food and air.

Bridge Folds, Kills Three

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Investigations were under way today to learn why a bridge under construction for an expressway collapsed Tuesday, killing three men. Eight others were injured.

Sixteen steel girders weighing more than 200 tons fell into a street below.

A dump truck loaded with gasoline exploded and burst into flames when one of the 15-ton beams struck it.

One of those killed was Frederick J. Barletta Sr., 54, president of Barletta Construction Co. of Boston, which held an $8,250,000 contract to construct a 1.2-mile section of the expressway.

One of the investigations into the accident is being conducted by the McGarrahan Co. of Cambridge, Mass., a subcontractor erecting the girders.

Besides Barletta, the dead included Leo C. Snyder, 22, a tire repair man caught in a pickup truck, and Carmine Festa, whose sedan was flattened by one of the beams.

Festa's wife, Georgianna, was taken to hospital.

Barletta was killed trying to free the Festas.

Richard Clark, 40, driver of the tank truck, said "I'm an awfully lucky man" because he escaped with burns of the face and hands.

"I heard an awful rumbling like real loud thunder," he said. "The cab was engulfed in flames and the driver's door was jammed.

"So I rolled out the passenger door, right through the flames."

Prince Edward Roads To Cost Half Million

By DAVID LEES
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The greatest single portion of this year's county tax bill will be spent upon roads, yet even that amount ($232,860) will be less than half the final cost.

The provincial government will provide an additional $244,000, bringing the total cost to $507,900.

County Roads Chairman Gordon Lloyd explained where it was all going.

The majority of the cost, $297,000, will be spent upon road construction, while the remainder $210,000 is slated to cover maintenance costs.

A major project to be undertaken this year will be the reconstruction of a section of County Road 22, between Ameliasburg and Redeemville.

"An 'S' curve passing through a small built up area on route '22' will be straightened out, and a bridge, in the same section, will be replaced with culverts," he said.

The reconstruction area is only a mile in length, yet the project will cost $40,000.

The cost of the only actual major construction program to be begun this year is still not definite.

"Tenders will be called for on May 8, for cost estimates of an eight mile paved road running from Cherry Valley along the south side of East Lake to the Sand Banks Provincial Park," he said.

Mr. Lloyd also mentioned the possibility of construction of a new development road late in the fall.

"Specifications are being prepared as well, to consider the feasibility and need of reconstructing the Lake on the Mountain Road, and of the South Bay Road," he said.

Actual construction costs are borne for the most part by the province.

"The only expense to the county comes through the purchase of land, and the erection of fences for the pest," he said.

Maintenance costs however are carried by the county.

The largest portion of the maintenance budget is spent in the spring, repairing winter damages.

Crews have already covered much of the county road system he said.

Over-all costs have remained much the same during the last few years.

Asked if he expected any decline in the near future Mr. Lloyd replied in the negative.

He explained that traffic patterns constantly change as areas are built up, or as road systems themselves change.

The construction of the Quinte Skyway, played a major role in changing traffic patterns that still has not been fully gauged.

Mr. Lloyd said that a survey of the road system will begin this year to study road needs.

"Outsiders tell us our roads are excellent. We now have 200 miles of roads in good condition and they are still coming along fast," he said.

Rotarians Hear Speaker

PICTON — A young speaker gave Picton Rotarians an insight into another form of service club, yesterday.

Donald Smith, 18, of Bloomfield spoke of the area 4H club, its purposes and some of his experiences as 4H delegate to the National 4H Club week, held in Toronto and Ottawa.

Ivan Bell, Rotary Club agricultural representative introduced Mr. Smith as the outstanding 4H member in the area noting that the speaker was the Ontario winner of the Canadian National Exhibition agricultural scholarship, as well as the area delegate to club week.

Mr. Smith said that his week in Toronto and Ottawa with 4H members from across Canada and the United States was one of the most rewarding of his life.

The group was conducted through a series of panel discussions and seminars dealing largely with four basic problems; the world situation, national unity, free trade and good citizenship.

Speaking of 4H club itself, he noted that its prime function was to mould good citizens, while the instruction of proper agricultural methods was secondary.

The good citizen "one who not only acknowledges his duty, and does it, but one who goes even further into the extra voluntary mile and one of life's most enduring satisfactions," he said.

Fire Trucks Purchased

PICTON — Two new five-ton trucks are to be purchased by Prince Edward County.

The trucks, which will come complete with plows and wings will be used for road clearance and maintenance during the winter.

In the past much of the work has been done by private contractors. It was pointed out at county council Monday that the purchase will realize a $20,000 saving for the county.

Tenders for the trucks will close May 7, at 5 p.m.

It was also announced at the council meeting that one county truck, a set of scales, and a roller are to be sold.

Animal Shelter Discussed

Doubling of the present dog licence fees has been suggested to help reduce the cost of Belleville taking advantage of the Ontario Humane Society proposal to build and operate an animal shelter for the Quinte area.

Council decision on the district animal control proposal has been laid over until budget time, but the special committee of Aldermen Robin Jeffrey, Paul Russell and Richard Ellis are all in favor of the proposal even if it does cost the city a bit more money than the present program.

Under the proposal the Humane Society would build a new area shelter and provide all the necessary wardens and vehicles for 24 hour service at an annual cost to the city of 50 cents per capita, or $16,500.

By increasing the cost of dog licences, the committee feels the proposed service could be provided at a cost of only about $13,000 more than the present program.

The present service costs $8,700 annually or 30 cents per capita. Increased licence fees for dogs would raise $5,000 leaving a difference of only about $3,500.

Alderman Jeffrey said Trenton was "very interested" in the Humane Society proposal and it was possible that eventually the town of Deseronto, Sidney and Thurlow might decide to join.

However, she said the Humane Society offer was still good even if Belleville was the only municipality to accept.

Alderman Russell said removal of the present dog pound from the fairground location was long past due.

"As a parks board member I don't know how it got there in the first place," he said.

Alderman Ellis urged council acceptance of the Humane Society offer.

Alderman Boyle liked the idea of getting rid of the city dog pound but said he would oppose the idea of the increase dog tax. Dogs should be taxed right out of existence, he said.

William Lee, executive assistant to transport minister Paul Hellyer was the guest speaker at the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club last night. Here Mr. Lee talks with Sales and Advertising Club member Jack Ireland.

Wiggins Named President

Stan Wiggins of Belleville was elected president of the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club last night.

Terry McCabe was named first vice-president and Bruce Lynch is the new second vice-president.

Six directors were also elected at the regular monthly meeting. They are: O. W. Bradley, Charles Buckley, Ernie Colebourne, Arnold Duffy, Max Haggarty and Ed McKinney.

Mr. Wiggins, the new president, was a vice-president of the organization last year.

Chairmen of the annual ladies' night committee, Ernie Colebourne, told members the dance will be held on May 10 at the Civic Centre. He expect at least 100 members and their wives to be on hand for the evening.

The May dance will wind up the club's activities for the year.

Hellyer Wanted Trudeau's Aid

not used prepared speeches during the six weeks on the campaign trail. But I accept full responsibility for his speech," he said.

"He also followed a good speech by candidate Joe Greene."

Lee said he would support Trudeau in the next election and "I'm encouraged with the type of regime he is going to run. We weren't trying to defeat Trudeau per se . . . we were trying to make Hellyer the winner."

"I don't think the 2,400 delegates knew much more about Trudeau than we did . . . which was very little," Lee claimed.

Lee, a retired RCAF group captain, said he thought the defeated the "money bill" in the house had a lot to do with the election of Trudeau.

"The press gallery supported the justice minister early in the campaign but their attention was drawn away from Trudeau for about ten days because of the defeat.

"I think they would have criticized Trudeau during this period if more newsworthy events hadn't occurred," Lee said.

Lee also said the election of Trudeau will give the Conservative party a chance to stake out the"far right" area of the political spectrum.

"Trudeau will head a left of centre party," he claimed.

"His election will latso have a tremendous impact on the fortunes of the New Democratic Party," Lee said.

"Trudeau will galvanize the youth vote and keep middle-aged people happy."

He said that between 60 and 65 per cent of the delegates to the Ottawa convention were committed to a candidate prior to their arrival in the capital city. "This compares with about 40 per cent at the Conservative party convention last September," he said.

The executive assistant claimed "charisma" played an important role in Trudeau's campaign. "The fact that the convention crowd were silent for his speech was a tribute to his psychedelic qualities," he said.

On the question of political deals at the convention, Lee said there was some discussion but no actual deals. "It was generally understood that if one candidate was clearly in second place to Trudeau we would all get behind that man."

The deliverability of votes from the defeated candidates was also a major problem at the convention," he said. "I think McEachen had many defections when he shifted to Trudeau."

"I still feel that Hellyer had the only real chance to beat Trudeau," Lee said.

Slaughterhouse Issue

Council Agrees with Board

Belleville city council has concurred in a planning board recommendation to deny an application for re-zoning of a parcel of land west of Sidney street and south of 401 highway to allow the construction of a slaughter house.

The decision of council to disallow re-zoning came prior to a request first aired in council about a month ago and referred to the planning board for recommendation.

Since the original request the matter has been before the Park Dale Ratepayers' Association and also the planning board with both bodies voicing opposition to the plan.

The planning board went even further and recommended to council that it amend its bylaw to prohibit establishment of an obnoxious industry and also that it consider advising the city Industrial Commission that there is no land in the city suitable for the establishment of further slaughter houses at this time.

All three recommendations from the planning board were approved by council but not before an amendment to one of the motions was carried.

Alderman Don Williams objected to the recommendation stating there was no land in the city suitable for a slaughter house. He referred to the cities of Kitchener and Calgary where there were large packing plants and said there was no reason why such business could not be located in Belleville providing the odor problem was taken care of.

"We need new industry and we should not turn it away," he said.

Here it was pointed out that the intent of the planning board had been to say that there was no suitable serviced and zoned land suitable for the establishment of a slaughter house.

"That was the intent of the planning board," said Alderman E. A. Orr. "The planning board canvassed the city and there was no suitable land at this time."

The offending recommendation was amended and all three motions from the planning board were approved in one covering vote.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. ARTHUR WADDINGHAM

DESERONTO — Mrs. Ella Waddingham, who had moved to Deseronto less than a week earlier, died last Wednesday in the Belleville General Hospital. She had been in health before and had been hospitalized several times in the past few years. She was in her 60th year.

Mrs. Waddingham was born in Tweed, the daughter of the late Felix J. Rashotte, and his wife, who was Dora Bergeron prior to her marriage. Following her marriage to Arthur Waddingham 21 years ago she had resided in the Marysville area, and has been a member of Empey Hill United Church.

Mrs. Waddingham had no children of her own, but was a good mother to her four stepchildren, all of whom survive her. They are William Waddingham of Deseronto, Mrs William (Mary) McCauley of Marysville, Mrs. Roy (Betty) Stapley of R. R. 1 Deseronto and Mrs. Orley (Dorothy) Glass of Roslin. She is also survived by her husband and by one sister, Mrs. Donald (Stella) Quinn of Tweed.

The funeral service was held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the White and Morris Funeral Home, with Rev. William Hendley of the Deseronto United Church and Rev. Robert Wilson of Empey Hill Church, conducting the service.

The bearers were William McCauley, William Waddingham, William Parker, Roy Stapley, Glenn Tucker and Orley Glass.

Interment was in Lonsdale United Church Cemetery.

MRS. CECIL I. WARREN

The funeral service for the late Mrs. Alta Loraine Warren was held from the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home this Wednesday morning. Canon R. B. D. Wright officiated and interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Derek Witchell, Harold Clarke, William Sharpe, Dennis Clarke, Gordon Bankier and John Howard.

A lodge service was held Tuesday evening by the ladies' auxiliary of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen 649.

MRS. FRED J. ST. LOUIS

Resident in Belleville most of her life, Mrs. Marguerite St. Louis, 137 Station Street, died suddenly at her home yesterday.

She was in her 58th year.

Route Change Will Improve Bus Service

Residents of the North Park Gardens area in north Belleville are to have improved bus service.

The request for the bus route change was made at the last council meeting and since then has been approved by both the city transit commission and council. The route change will provide better service for about 50 residents.

The route change calls for the West Hill - North Park bus to proceed north along Prince of Wales Drive from Orchard Drive to North Park Gardens, then south along North Park Street to the original route.

Burning Leaves On Streets May Be Banned

Belleville residents will no longer be allowed to burn leaves on the streets and road allowances if council approves a proposed amendment to its bylaw.

Not only does burning leaves on the roadway damage the pavement but the smoke causes a considerable traffic hazard, it was stated.

Lawyer members of council said rulings out the burning of leaves on the road allowance might pose an enforcement problem due to the fact that property lines at the street were not clearly defined.

But it was the feeling of council that the city solicitor could come up with some line of a workable bylaw amendment which would carry out the intent of council.

Stronger Voice Requested

The city of Belleville will petition the Ontario Legislature to make an exception in Bill 36 covering amendments to the Conservation Authorities Act to allow greater city representation on the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The resolution points out that while Belleville pays 60 per cent of the annual levies of the Moira Authority it has but two of the 18 municipal members on the board.

The disparity of membership is further accentuated by the fact that all three government appointees on the Authority executive are from the rural sector.

It was pointed out that other municipalities, namely Metropolitan Toronto and the city of Hamilton have special legislation to permit them to always have at least one half of the representation on Authority boards.

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott said the resolution asking that Belleville be given greater membership had the approval of the Moira Authority executive.

"Actually the resolution was instigated by the Authority and we (city council) have been asked to approve it to give it further weight," said Mayor Scott.

$2,500 Loss In Blaze

A fire caused an estimated $2,500 damage to a storage garage and maintenance equipment at Albert College yesterday.

The blaze, which occurred about noon, damaged a garden tractor and other maintenance equipment. College officials said today the loss was fully insured.

Fire Chief Ted Poste said today that "children were seen leaving the fire scene shortly after the blaze was reported."

The department were also called to three other minor fires in the city yesterday.

OHC Involved

Family, Senior Citizens' Housing Urged

Belleville city council will apply to the Ontario Housing Corporation for construction of more "rent geared to income" family and senior citizens housing units.

The request will be for 96 family units and 45 senior citizens units.

Council voted yesterday to request the housing units following a report of Peter Lepik, research analyst for the Ontario Housing Corporation who said there was an effective need for the above number of units in Belleville.

Of the 96 family units recommended for Belleville, 26 are two bedroom, 54 three bedroom, 10 four bedroom and six five bedroom units.

The senior citizens housing request is for 33 bachelor units and 12 one bedroom units.

Currently in Belleville there are 40 family low rental units and 37 senior citizens housing units.

The survey conducted by the OHC indicates there is also a need in Belleville for a land assembly program for the development of a HOME (Home Ownership Made Easy) provincial housing scheme.

The recommendation was for development of a minimum of 100 building lots at this time.

The report indicated a slowdown in the rate of the city's population increase which since 1961 had averaged about one per cent.

This, along with the lack of prospects for major employment increases, points to a period of slow growth in Belleville for the immediate future, the report said. This assessment was said supported by the slow regional growth rate and the high rate of unemployment in the area.

Major employers such as CN and Northern Electric did not foresee any increases in employment but instead reflected the generally cautious mood of Belleville's industry.

In general, the report says it appears that trends of the past few years will continue with a small net gain in industrial employment.

Belleville was said to have a generally low average for wages and salaries with the 1967 average of $90 per week being well below the $7,000 income level needed to finance the average new home.

The average income for Belleville at $95 per week is also well below the CN double average and well below the provincial average of $115.

Courtesy Boxes Removed

Thefts of money and records from parking meter courtesy boxes are drawing the ire of district motorists who find they are having to pay double for overtime parking.

The problem came out into the open at city council last night with a motion to discontinue the present courtesy boxes along the street and replace them with two fine boxes—one at city hall and the other at the city police station.

The thinking is that thieves would be less likely to force open the boxes at the proposed locations.

The courtesy boxes were installed several years ago to make it more convenient for motorists charged with overtime parking.

But Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott says that thieves are smashing open the boxes and taking the money and envelopes which contains the record for the Parking Authority.

The result is that officials have no way of determining the parking offenders who have actually paid their fines and court summonses are mailed out.

Whether or not the circumstances are the same, a parking ticket summons received by one Prince Edward resident has resulted in a sharp letter of complaint to the county magistrate's court office.

Mr. Gordon Bell, Cherry Valley, farmer and dairy operator, said he had been in Belleville shopping for some "thousands of dollars worth of merchandise" and had received a summons for five minutes overtime parking.

In mailing the postal note to cover his fine Mr. Bell wanted to know why he had received the levy in the way he did.

"I would welcome customers—you drive us away," Mr. Bell wrote.

He went on to say that he had cancelled his order with Belleville stores and in the future would obtain supplies from Trenton or Kingston.

Council Votes to Assume Larger Share of Costs

Residents of the Parrott Drive area are not going to have to pay more for curbs and pavement than did property owners on other area streets.

This was agreed yesterday by city council when it was directed that the city assume a larger share of the costs than was provided for in the construction bylaw.

According to City Manager J. R. Reynolds the proposed increased owners share costs for the Parrott Drive pavement was that last year the city had changed its policy with respect to local improvement charges.

However, other streets had been paved with the city assuming a larger share of the construction costs and Parrott Drive residents appealed their assessment.

"The paving work was completed at a cost of $20,985, or approximately $2,000 under the estimates, and council has agreed that residents should pay a higher rate than owners on other streets in the area.

Subject to O.M.B. approval the city will pay $8,186 of the construction costs.

Council Takes Action on Bridge Before Proposed Petition Arrives

Members of Belleville city council and city manager J. R. Reynolds must be psychic or something.

At least they took action yesterday on a matter which Park Dale district residents planned to bring to their attention later this month.

It's the matter of planning for the proposed Sidney Street bridge over the CN double tracks which is scheduled to be constructed in 1969.

This week a special committee of the Park Dale Ratepayers' Association have been gathering information for the preparation of a brief pointing out the need for the present obsolete Sidney Street bridge to be replaced and urging its replacement as soon as possible.

"We want to make sure that consulting engineers reports are ready for June so that the work can go ahead in 1969," stated committee member Charles Keeble.

But city manager Reynolds has beaten the committee to the punch and yesterday in a recommendation to council suggested it would be advisable for the pre-engineering feasibility study to be done in the near future.

The recommendation noted that if this action was taken now, council would be in a position to make application to the Ontario Municipal Board early in January 1969 for approval of the project. This would allow construction to commence early in 1969, it was stated.

Council approved the recommendation authorizing appointment of a consulting engineer to prepare plans, estimate of costs and obtain the necessary approvals from the Railway Transport Committee, The CN and the Department of Highways.

City council this spring made provision in its five-year capital works budget to start construction of the bridge in 1969, but Park Dale ratepayers feel that unless the engineering is done now the city will not be ready to proceed next year.

Mr. Keeble said the new bridge was promised by council as long ago as 1961.

The obsolete Sidney Street bridge over the CN double tracks is barely wide enough for two vehicles and due to the sharp slope of the approach ramps vision is obscured.

Mr. Keeble says the bridge has a load limit of 15 tons but claims the structure is constantly being overloaded.

Trucks and floats weighing more than that empty are constantly using the bridge, he says.

The question of the safety of the Sidney street bridge was raised in city council last March and the railway was asked to do a safety check.

Harry J. Fast, Rideau Area manager, in a letter to council reported that the bridge had a capacity to carry a 15-ton truck in each lane.

"We are aware that trucks of over 15 tons weight use the bridge from time to time, but because of the restricted view feel that it is unlikely that two large trucks would be on the bridge at the same time."

On this basis, and the fact that the structural steel is in satisfactory condition, we do not believe that there is any cause of concern," Mr. Fast wrote.

The railway agrees, however, that due to the steep approach grades and narrow width of the bridge, that conditions are not ideal.

In recognition of this fact CN has no objection to the bridge being replaced.

In his letter to the city manager, Mr. Fast noted that the city plans to proceed with an application to replace the bridge.

"We will be pleased to cooperate in any possible way on this proposal," the CN Area manager wrote.

Also at last night's council meeting council authorized pre-engineering for the construction of the remainder of the sanitary sewers in the Foster Ward area.

Alderman Arthur Keegan called for the engineering report to be ready for the end of January 1969 so the work could go ahead next year as planned.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said this would be normal procedure and assured the report would be ready by the required time.

Youth on the March

Occasionally, demonstrating students (who are supposed to spend their time studying rather than in political agitation) find a cause that has merit or a situation that would be better changed.

The disorders in Germany illustrate such a situation. Under pressure by the students is West Germany's political establishment — and particularly the giant right-wing Axel Springer chain, which controls 80 per cent of the national press.

That is not to say Canadians should hold any brief for left-wing movements in Germany or anywhere else. Socialism and its "big brother" companion Communism have made enough inroads in Europe without wishing their creed upon the Bonn government. However, when a country's press is controlled to such an extent by one or other political discipline it is obvious that the interests of a large segment of the population are being neglected.

At least the students are looking outward rather than inward, after the fashion of young people who are unable to amuse themselves or find an outlet in some creative activity. And yet, just cause or not, their actions are symbolic of the general restlessness of youth everywhere.

We see it here in Belleville with young people pacing the streets and standing around in idle chatter. And in Campbellford over the Easter police read the Lord's Act to disperse a group of about 50 persons, mostly teenagers, who were protesting the arrest of a young man on a charge of careless driving.

We see it in contempt for authority — in the refusal of the students to heed Mayor Morley Tanner's earlier appeal to disperse. Mr. Tanner displayed wisdom and insight in his appraisal of the situation. Youth problems of this nature he said were "difficult to fully understand." Rather they were a world problem. At one time it was thought the community lacked recreation facilities for its young people. The town built a community centre . . . but what happened? It doesn't seem to be "proving out that way," the Mayor said. "They don't seem to be able to find the recreation we did as boys."

Mayor Tanner is right. There is a lesson for Belleville here. As we noted the other day the young people have been complaining of a lack of "dating facilities." Too many youngsters want everything handed to them on a platter. Even when they have been given it they soon lose interest.

Columnist Sydney J. Harris has noted a paradox behind the adolescent's "nothing-to-do" problem. "If the community provides, say, a 'teen centre' with games and sports and dancing, the centre soon loses popularity because it becomes too 'goody-goody.' Teenagers don't want to go to a place their parents control and approve of."

Thus the struggle continues. The battle between the rising generation and the political establishment . . . rivalry and animosity between young people and their parents. Different ideas . . . different standards. All healthy enough, but what is not so healthy is the inability of young people to fulfill themselves, to lose themselves in creative endeavor.

Tax Reduction

Anything that brings about a reduction in the cost of living these days is a rarety. It is none the less welcome for that and the Ontario government's bill to reduce property taxes on every self-contained dwelling in the province is a case in point.

The grants will be paid to municipalities which will be required to pass on the benefit to homeowners and landlords, who in turn will be required to pass on the benefit to tenants.

The question is, how will this be effected? Municipal Affairs Minister McKeough has admitted that tenants with no leases or leases expiring before Dec. 31 have no guarantee that they will get a share in this basic shelter exemption grant. Moreover, the minister says that any landlord could legally raise the rent between now and Dec. 31 and cancel out the $45 to $65 that is the Ontario average.

However the fact that a reduction in property taxes is in the offing is encouraging. It will mean more money in the pocket for many, at a time when the financial burden on the public generally is heavy.

That's Better!

What's in a name? In the case of the community of Smiths Falls up till now it has been an apostrophe no less. Now the Ontario legislature has given approval to a private bill removing the apostrophe from the legal name of the town. The result: Smith's Falls becomes Smiths Falls.

West German Students Battle for University Reform

BERLIN (Reuters) — Rebellious students have been in a state of undeclared war against West Germany's political establishment for the last two years, with the long-term aim of winning an effective say in running the country.

They have shocked the general public with teach-ins, sit-ins, protest demonstrations, traffic holdups and expressions of total disrespect for the existing political order.

The present wave of civil disorders and violence results from what students regard as lukewarm reaction to their calls for university reforms.

Unrest reached a climax last year over topics ranging from the American involvement in the Vietnam war to reform of West Germany's education system. Their movement gained momentum in December, 1965, when the Social Democratic party joined its former opponent, the Christian Democrat party, in a coalition government.

The original hard core of the far-left Socialist Students League in Germany won support from opponents of the grand coalition who feared lack of an efficient opposition would choke West Germany's young democracy.

Leftist students, young writers, disappointed Social Democrats as well as trade unionists and moderate students joined forces in what they called an extra-parliamentary opposition, whose political outlook is varied.

While the Students League aims at a total change of the parliamentary system to a "socialist democracy," the majority of their sympathizers favor reforms of the present political system and constitution.

Last June, the movement spread to most parts of West Germany when a West Berlin Student was shot by a policeman while tough police squads crushed student demonstrations against the visit to West Berlin of the Shah of Iran.

The incident led to the resignation of the West Berlin city government.

Since then, student-protest demonstrations have become almost daily occurrence in West Germany.

Government officials promised to give priority consideration to the students call for university reforms, which now has become a second-rank issue in the students' radical demands for more influence on national issues.

One of their immediate aims is the expropriation of the Axel Springer publishing group they hold responsible for whipping up anti-leftist emotions which led to the shooting of student leader Rudi Dutschke last Thursday.

High on the list of other short-term aims is the prevention of emergency legislation now before Parliament which would give the government far-reach ing powers in times of war and crisis.

Unclaimed Bank Accounts

Ottawa Journal

Once a year the banks are required to report unclaimed balances and these, when published in the Canada Gazette, are a hunting ground for the hopeful. Did Uncle Bill leave a nest-egg behind when he went to the Yukon and didn't Aunt Minnie have a habit of putting little fortunes in different banks?

The list published this year does not show any unclaimed fortunes but there are substantial bits of pocket-money which if not claimed before Dec. 31, will be paid over to the Bank of Canada there to await the rightful owner. These are balances which have been untouched for ten years.

Among the more impressive sums, the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa has $872 in the name of Betty Wellburn, 224 Friel Street, and the Bank of Nova Scotia at Pembroke has $1,514 left by Frances Stewart of Maynooth Station.

The Royal Bank in Ottawa holds $216 in the name of James Grimshaw, whose address was 63 Mackay Street, and the Gazette of May 4 next warrants mention of the Municipal Synchronized Swimming Association, Ottawa, which left $34 with the Royal.

Unclaimed sums of less than $10 are not published and most of those reported in the Gazette are less than $50. Obviously most of them have been forgotten. Some will never be claimed because the owners have died without telling anyone of a little fund put away.

Language of Market Research

Financial Post

Market researchers, looking at the huge expansion of the young adult population, have long been warning retailers and housebuilders that the young market should "dominate sales plannin for some time to come."

But what about the mid-agers? Caught between the fully-understood needs of the elders and increasingly served by the youngsters, they frequently cannot even make their requirements known and understood.

Here, from Canadian Printer and Publisher, is a glossary for young businessmen who must talk to the mid-market in its own terms.

Book — a non-electric data storage and retrieval device.

Fuze — something that accumulates on blue-serge suits.

Hippie — a large woman wearing skirts.

In — a poker term. ("Deal me in.") Also found on swinging doors.

Love — an emotion not necessarily connected with marriage.

Pot. — a kitchen implement. ("A chicken in every pot.")

Swinger — a Tommy Dorsey fan.

Teen-ager — an apprentice adult.

War — World War II, fought against Japan and East and West Germans.

With it — an unsolicited invitation.

Banking and the Scots

Brantford Expositor

The discovery that 65 per cent of Scots do not have a bank account cannot mean that they have no money to save, for all the world knows that 100 per cent of Scots are thrifty and observe the maxim 'Many a mickle makes a muckle." So one bank has decided that if they will not go to the bank, it will go to them.

There is Scottish shrewdness in its scheme to encourage orderly saving by issuing its own 30-cent stamps through vending machines located in offices, factories, businesses, colleges and clubs. Those Scots who can be separated from their bawbees in this way will thus have to take their full - savings stamp books to the bank to get their cash back. Then the problem will be licked is to persuade them to open deposit accounts.

And Tooth Decay?

Corner Brook Western Star

Tooth decay is one of the oldest human maladies. It also has been called mankind's most prevalent disease.

Both these distinctions may disappear in the not-too-distant future.

Research previously had shown that a cavity-free animal will develop large numbers of cavities if streptococci similar to those found in human mouths were placed in its mouth.

Now, a U.S. scientific team has found that laboratory animals could be kept virtually free of tooth decay simply by making an enzyme to their drinking water. The enzyme broke up dental plaque, a thin, tough substance laid down on the teeth.

Plaque is believed to be formed by mouth bacteria, and it also is suspected of being the first step toward tooth decay.

So successful have experiments been on hamsters, researchers are preparing to try the technique on humans. No direct evidence has yet been found that positively proves the connection between tooth decay and the bacteria which live in the mouth.

But, in research, results frequently speak louder than previous knowledge. If the test on humans corroborates previous results on animals, the results is better teeth and reduced dental costs could be dramatic.

A Man and His Image

Winnipeg Free Press (Independent Liberal): The Question now is if Mr. Trudeau the prime minister will be the same man as Mr. Trudeau the contender. For while it is true that the man who holds the position of prime minister can do much to mould that office to his ways, it is equally true that the job also moulds the man. Mr. Trudeau prides himself on being a pragmatist; he judges the value of the solution of a problem by the results it produces. He fights for the triumph of reason and logic. Well and good. But Mr. Trudeau also knows that in politics reason and logic do not always prevail, that reasonable and logical solutions must sometimes be bent, or even smashed, to the winds of political necessity. . . . It should not, therefore, be surprising if, as prime minister, Mr. Trudeau turns out to be less "radical" than many of his supporters believe him to be.

The Proverbial Crossroads

From the Wall Street Journal

Prophets of every persuasion are fond of declaring that we stand at a crossroad, with one path headed down to doom and the other up to salvation. This is a handy device for dramatizing issues, and for turning the world of actual grays into theoretical blacks and whites, but it is not a very good reflection of reality.

None of the prophets really knows what lies at the end of a given path, much less what might be met along the way. The entire history of the race has been the traverse of an endless series of crossroads leading off in multiple directions.

Nevertheless I remain convinced that it is within human power at least to decide on our general direction, regardless of the many particular paths which may lead us toward it.

Minimum Wage Is Hit By Insurance Increase

Windsor Star

An increase in federal unemployment Insurance Benefits has incidentally demonstrated that Ontario's minimum wage is unreasonably low.

Under the new insurance benefits an unmarried man will be able to get a top payment of $42 a week. This is $2 a week more than would be earned by a man on a 40 hour week being paid at the provincial minimum wage.

This wage is $1 an hour. except for the construction industries, where it is $1.25. It should be more.

The rate was set in 1968. The cost-of-living index at the end of 1963 was 133. In January of this year the index had reached 152.6 while the minimum wage rate is unchanged.

Ontario's present rate is among the highest in Canada. Comparable rates include New Brunswick $1.25, Manitoba $1.10 (to be $1.25 by the end of the year) and P.E.I. $1.10.

The national rate (for industries coming under federal jurisdiction) is $1.25.

The national rate in the U.S. is $1.60 and this also is the standard in New York State.

Also, Ontario is the only jurisdiction in Canada which does not have a provision for a compulsory time and a half payment for overtime.

Arthur Ford A Distinguished Newsman

Brantford Expositor

Canadian journalism is unlikely to produce another Arthur H. Ford who, though retired since 1963 after 40 years as editor of the Brantford Expositor, continued to contribute to it as editor emeritus until within three months of his death at 87. The age of specialization in newspaper work came long after Arthur Ford had begun a career that took him from reporting through every department of his craft. All of these he brought outstanding competence, and to political reporting and comment, his discriminating interest, rare distinction. He was probably the last of the great all-rounders.

If there is such a thing as a born newspaperman, Arthur Ford was one. To the end of his active life, the world around him was for him a source of unflagging interest and its events were a spur to his instinct to probe and assess. It was inevitable that his well - stored mind and shrewd judgment should be called on in many fields of service, notably in guiding the University of Western Ontario and strengthening the newsgathering network of the Canadian Press. His name lives on in the memory of his many admirers and in the News Hall of Fame of the Toronto Men's Press Club.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 17, 1968 . . .

Anti-Communist volunteers landed in Cuba at the Bay of Pigs in an attempt to overthrow the Castro government seven years ago today—in 1961. Early reports of the invasion were optimistic, but survivors of the force of 1,200 men surrendered within a few days. They were ransomed for medical and industrial supplies. This failure broke up the united front of the revolutionary council in the United States and also dominance of the Central Intelligence Agency over Cuban refugees. However, others were felt within Cuba, where political arrests increased and all political parties were amalgamated into one state organization.

The First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—British forces repulsed German attacks south of Kemmel; Belgians halted a German drive north of Ypres, taking 1,000 prisoners; Baron Stephen Burian was appointed to succeed Count Czernin as Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Mussolini shook up the Fascist Party, naming Carlo Scorsa as secretary in place of Aldo Vidussoni; U.S. bombers made a heavy daylight attack on Bremen, and the Russians opened a drive in the Kuban Delta of the Caucasus, making slight gains.

Tax Returns Snag "Fast" Computer

London Free Press

Taxpayers who are having trouble compiling their income tax returns can console themselves with the fact that they have good company.

Canada's department of national revenue has admitted that processing of income tax returns which have come in is lagging three weeks behind the 1967 rate. The reason — if you have not guessed already — is that a faster computer has been installed.

In other words, the faster the computer, the slower the returns, which is an interesting example of the times.

Taxpayers won't have that excuse, but they will have a little difficulty deciding how much money the government is currently collecting from them, what with new rate applying to April 1 and another for an unknown period after that date.

If you think you have problems, what about the minister of finance?

Net Profit A Record

Canadian Investors Who Took A Chance Won Jackpot in Brazil

TORONTO (CP) — In 1958 at least some Canadian investors were prepared to take a chance.

A group of them raised the capital to enable a Brazilian who had once lived in Canada to buy the Sao Paulo tramway concession after he had tried and failed to get funds in the United States.

That investment blossomed beyond anyone's wildest dreams. The Sao Paulo tramway grew into a network of trams, bus lines, gas and power companies throughout Brazil which today is Brazilian Light and Power Co. Ltd.

With assets of more than $1,000,000,000 it is the largest foreign-owned company in Brazil, and still incorporated in Canada with head offices in Toronto.

Last year's net profit was $51,600,000—largest in the company's history and 40 per cent up from 1965.

The company has lost money only in 1963 and 1964, which officials blame on the erosion of electricity rates by inflation, and failure to get rate adjustments from the Brazilian government of the time.

"But we've been lucky," one executive said recently. "The present regime seems reasonable types. They've done a terrific job for Brazil and the next three years should be good for the company."

J. Grant Glassco, company president, emphasizes that the company's prosperity and value to shareholders depends on Brazil's political stability and economic and social well-being.

This has not generally been enviable. But the present government of Marshal Costa e Silva appears to have braked Brazil's galloping inflation, which saw the cost of living soar 70 per cent in 1964 and 44 per cent in 1965. It was down to 25 per cent last year.

The preceding government, which took office in 1964, granted the company a new rate structure, known as service at cost, which allows a 10-per-cent return on the plant investment.

Mr. Glassco calls it the first "meaningful rate adjustment" in many years, and a chance for Brazilian to begin earning "a fair return" on its electrical investment.

It is the major factor in last year's earnings increase.

Rates are set for a three-year term, but the company can levy annual surcharges on rates to cover such variables as wage increases and changes in depreciation and other components of the basic rate structure.

Previously, electrical companies in Brazil could cover only operating expenses by surcharges. These produced no profits, while basic rates were eaten away by continuing inflation.

About 300 of the last group work at Ford's national parts depot at Bramalea, northwest of Toronto.

Ford apparently dropped its proposal that United States-style individual relief for men on assembly liner be substituted for the Canadian system of shutting down the lines for work breaks.

But at the new Talbotville plant near St. Thomas, where the U.S. relief system is in effect, the men want to scrap it and replace it by a line shutdown.

Talbotville workers have complained that because the plant is new there are not enough skilled utility men who can handle all the jobs and that this has created a chaotic situation as far as relief is concerned, a UAW spokesman said.

As supplier of half of Brazil's electric power, the company gets its main revenue from electricity sales.

It has gradually sold or given over its tramway, gas and telephone interests, although it still operates a not-very-profitable gas service in Rio de Janeiro.

The company's investments are widening, however. One factor in last year's earnings record was the return through dividends of close to $1,000,000 on its $21,000,000 investment in 1967 in John Labatt Ltd., a London-based brewing company.

When the company sold its telephone system to the Brazilian government in 1966 it committed itself to investing two-thirds of the $96,000,000 purchase price in other enterprises in Brazil.

So far these investments total about $10,000,000 in railway car and textile manufacturing, armored car transport, vegetable and fruit canning operations and, with the Celanese Corp. of New York, a venture to produce nylon yarn in Brazil.

Negotiators Hope to End Ford Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations that could end a strike by more than 11,000 members of the United Auto Workers against the Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. were set for 9 a.m. today.

Both company and union spokesmen expressed optimism about the end of a strike at five Ford plants when master-table talks adjourned Tuesday night. The strike started at 10:30 a.m. EST Tuesday.

The company said it was hopeful a settlement would be reached soon, with agreement on the "nigging, minor issues" that remained. The union said one more session of talks "should clean it up."

The spokesmen said negotiators for the five locals would sit all night, hammering out issues at the local level. When settled, these must be talked over again in the master discussions.

The strike began after more than 25 hours of continuous negotiations failed to reach an agreement.

A major issue—methods to introduce wage parity with United States auto workers by 1970—was settled before the strike began.

Issues separating the parties were said to be relatively narrow, ranging from union demands that Ford match the best of the health and welfare benefits at General Motors of Canada to requests for a five-minute wash-up period for foundry workers in Windsor.

Involved in the strike are 5,-646 workers at car and truck assembly plants in Oakville, 4,137 employees in a foundry, engine plant and transmission plant at Windsor, 1,033 in a car assembly plant in St. Thomas, Ont., 230 in a glass fabricating plant in Niagara Falls, Ont., and 491 at parts depots throughout Canada.

Employees at Bramalea complained of working too much overtime, with workers starting in the dark and going home again in the dark.

Under the old collfract, which expired Dec. 1, Canadian wages ranged from $2.67 an hour for production workers to $3.35 an hour for top trades classifications.

Wage parity with U.S. workers will by 1970 give Canadian Ford workers a scale ranging from $3.65 an hour for assemblymen to $5.04 an hour to top tradesmen.

Ford's Oakville operation produces nearly 1,300 vehicles a day. The company said recently its Canadian dealers sold a record 57,533 cars and trucks in the first three months of this year.

The company said first-quarter car sales totalled 46,246, up 11.6 per cent from 41,448 in 1967. Truck sales rose 3.7 per cent to 11,287 from 10,887.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices on the Toronto Stock Exchange continued to advance in active mid-morning trading today. Industrials, base metals and oils were slightly up. Golds were quiet.

In the industrial list, Simpsons-Sears gained 1¼ to 32½, Dominion Textile 1 to 15½, CPR ¼ to 15½, and Canadian Tire A 1 to 39. Levy Industries slipped 1 to 30¼.

Among base metals, Denison rose ¼ to 71½, Quemont fell ½ to 19 and Normetal 10 cents to 4.50. Shareholders in these two mines Tuesday approved a merger with Kerr Addison.

On index, industrials gained .32 to 157.38, base metals .20 to 100.45 and western oils .44 to 188.09. Golds were off 1.45 to 193.92.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 862,000 shares compared with 797,000 at the same time Monday.

Industrials and base metals posted strong gains in active trading Tuesday. Oils were mixed.

Analysts felt the advance could be a resumption of the Vietnam peace rally which petered out by the middle of last week.

Base metals, which had been quiet for several weeks, paced the advance. Denison Mines rose 1¼ to 71¼ and Roman Corp., whose chief asset is Denison shares, 1⅜ to 23¾.

Dad Should Also Discipline Ornery Child

Dear Doris: My 12-year-old daughter arranged to stay overnight with a girl friend. Before she went I asked her to put on clean underclothing and take a bath. She refused—saying she was clean enough and she didn't have time.

So I asked her to just wash her feet. I took off her socks and ushered her to the bathroom. She stuck her feet in the water, then said I had to dry them for her. I said she had as much time as I did, so she said she would go with them wet.

She put on odd socks, one long and one short, just to be ornery, and went out. All this time her father said not one word except to tell me to leave her alone. Said I was making too much noise so he couldn't hear the television.

I have to fight him and the kids to get them to look decent or do anything I say. — Frustrated.

Dear Frustrated: Rebellious kids have a heyday when Does Dad really want his girl's feet to smell? Or are you yelling too loud? I'd suggest a cards - on - the - table brainstormer with him. Until you get together on all counts, neither of you can count on rearing well - balanced citizens. It's his job as well as yours.

Dear Doris: I am 17 and know very little about boys and sex. Sure I know about the sex facts, but none of the emotional aspects.

Lately I have gone out with a guy also 17. On the way home last night we parked, and when he kissed me, he put his tongue in my mouth. I have been kissed before, quite often, but never like that.

Please tell me, is this a proper accepted way of showing affection? I am writing to you because I can't ask my mother such a question. — Trivial, Bot —

Dear Bot: Not at all trivial. This performance is not affection; not really a kiss. It is actually a disturbing imitation of the sex act and should be classified as heavy necking.

Avoid it. Push him away. Boys respect girls who respect themselves.

Confidential to A Stupid Softy: Being taken for granted hurts. Now put your foot down. Helping sons and daughters out of tough spots may gradually add up to making them dependent on you.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I don't know where we went wrong with the way we raised Sally. She seems to rebel about everything I suggest. Denny never gave us a bit of trouble."

Some children take adolescence in stride; others are more stormy about it. Parents are not always to blame for seemingly antagonistic action.

Mother: "Sally has a less docile nature than Denny, and 13 is a rebellious age. We'll just have to be firm, but understanding, while she outgrow this stage."

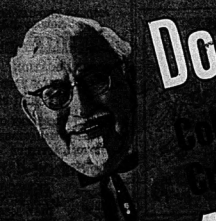
DON'T BE LED UP THE GARDEN PATH TOO SOON . . .

Wait until the ground is thoroughly warmed up before planting vegetables and flower seeds. Onion sets and peas can stand early planting, but most seeds will simply rot in the ground if sown before the early part of May.



Best bet is to cultivate the garden a few times to eliminate weeds and work in some fertilizer . . . let the soil loosen up and the sun warm it for a while before sowing seeds. Your harvest will come sooner and be a whole lot more satisfactory if you wait until the soil and the season are ready.

Terry Cloth Popular in New Fashions

FLORENCE (AP) — Italy's Emilio Pucci and Mila Schon worked color magic at fashion showings Tuesday with a collection of hues that made news.

For the ready-to-wear fall-winter presentations Pucci unveiled the bath towel elevated to a status symbol—that is, terry cloth with the kind of print for which Pucci is famous.

He transformed terry chenille with great waves of color, the newest grouping being cranberry with tobacco.

Mila Schon had the blues, and they were brilliant in sunray shades not seen in fashion for years. She used them for a series of tailored coats and leather-belted suits.

With sequins, she made dresses that blazoned like electric blue neon in an effect that was icily elegant and never overdone.

Brief dresses with twirly skirts and off gold and silver sparks and were embroidered with even more glitter.

Sedate—a word not often applied to Italian fashions—summed up the opening displays at the Palazzo Pitti.

There were no far-out fashions, no shocks, few surprises. Most of the styles were poised, but only just.

The maxi reared its head rarely.

The newest suits have jackets with cutaway front. Ogilbene-Zendman showed them in tweeds with cellar-pocket flaps. Fabiani showed them in two colors—jackets contrasting with skirts. Ella Bachi wore collarless to show off the high Asoct necklines of the white wool blouses beneath.

Salmon steaks surrounded with colorful vegetables make an attractive dinner. This meal may be prepared in about one hour and was designed for career hostesses by Mary Moore to serve to four people.

Speedy Meal for Career Couple

By MAR YMOORE

Early in February I gave here a gourmet dinner for a career couple which could be prepared in about an hour.

We received requests for "more dinners that could be prepared after returning from the office".

Last night I did just that. Since my office is in my home I left it at 5:00 p.m. and went to my kitchen. All supplies had been bought on my weekend shopping trip.

ONE-HOUR DINNER MENU FOR FOUR

Broiled Salmon (or Halibut) Steaks with Cheese Topping
Sauteed Whole Canned Potatoes and Carrots
Creamed Canned Onions
Iceberg Lettuce Quarters with Green Goddess Dressing
Fresh Fruit Bowl:
Small Bananas
Polished Delliert Apples
Oranges
Graham Crackers
Old Cheddar Cheese
Tea

NOTE: If the four salmon (or halibut) steaks are frozen remove from freezer in the morning before you leave for the office and put in refrigerator storage compartment to thaw.

STEPS: 1) Set the table.

2) Turn on broiler burner at 425 deg. Fahr.

3) Cover rack on broiler pan with foil

4) Mix together 2 tbsps. cooking oil (or melted butter), 2 tbsps. bottled or fresh lemon juice, ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. Accent.

5) Place thawed fish steaks on foil on broiler pan and brush with prepared oil and lemon juice marinade. Turn over and brush other side. Fifteen or 20 min. before serving time place under preheated broiler 4" from burner. Turn over when top is rich gold. Grate and sprinkle on top of each steak about 2 tbsps. Cheddar cheese.

6) Drain the three cans of vegetables (potatoes, carrots and onions). In 2 tbsps. butter in frying pan saute the carrots and potatoes until golden.

7) make White Sauce in top of double boiler by blending together 1½ tbsps. butter, 1½ tbsps. flour and ½ tsp. salt. Stir in 1 cup milk until thick. Place over bottom of double boiler containing about ¾" boiling water and add drained onions, cover and heat through.

8) Take a look at the fish steaks and turn over now if they are gold.

9) Wash and polish fruit and arrange attractively in fruit bowl. Arrange cheese and crackers on serving plate. Carry both to diningroom sideboard or serving table.

10) Chop ½ cup fresh parsley.

11) When steaks are ready arrange at centre of preheated platter. Surround gold. Grate and sprinkle on attractively with sauteed potatoes and carrots. Carry to table.

12) Carefully stir chopped parsley into creamed onions and serve in preheated vegetable dish.

13) When dessert time arrives remove dinner plates, make tea and give each guest a tea plate and pass fruit bowl and crackers and cheese.

NOTE: If you have dainty fruit knives and forks this is the ideal time to bring them into use.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Ann Landers' Ex Fortune Teller Recalls "Kids" Game

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from Mervyn, the big sport who won a trip to London as first prize in a sales contest made me laugh. It seems his girl was disappointed when he brought her a clump of dirt from the British Airport and called it a "gift."

I laughed, Ann, because it reminded me of a little game we used to play when we were kids. It's too bad the girl didn't know about the game because it would have been an appropriate way to thank Mervyn for his "generosity."

When a new kid moved into our neighborhood we would welcome him warmly and offer to tell his fortune. The fortune teller would wrap a dish towel around his head and use an old bowl as the crystal ball. The newcomer would extend his hand and the fortune teller would put a clump of dirt in his palm and say, "You are going to inherit a valuable piece of real estate. It is a beautiful lot in the best part of town. You will build a 15-room house on the lot. It will be the prettiest house in the city." Then the fortune teller would reach under his chair where he had a small glass of water handy and pour a little water into the newcomer's hand — enough to make a nice muddy mess and say, "I see you are also going to have a swimming pool. Aren't you the lucky one!"

This was considered the best way to test a newcomer. If he laughed and took it well he was accepted as O.K. Thanks for bringing back a childhood memory.—EX FORTUNE TELLER.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR EX: Funny you should have brought up that little game. Someone tried it on me when I was eight. I remember clearly that I thanked the fortune teller profusely and paid him for his reading by insisting that he share my real estate and swimming pool. He got half of it back — right in the kisser.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's brother and his wife are creating a serious problem in our family and I need your help. They drive an old car and it always has something wrong with it. Our car is not new but it is in excellent condition because we keep it that way.

At least twice a week they ask if they can borrow our car. My brother-in-law is a poor driver and has been in several minor accidents. Yesterday he returned our car with a broken tail light, an empty gas tank and a mysterious dent in the fender. Yet my husband insists we must let them take our car whenever they ask. He says he would never forgive himself if they were killed because the brakes konked out on their car or a tire blew. He claims we would be directly responsible. Also, says he does not want them to be mad at us.

I would like to hear your views. — MARRIED TO A CHUMP.

DEAR MARRIED: In a situation like this, somebody is bound to be mad. Let-it be them.

If your brother-in-law is such a ding-a-ling that he would drive a beat up pile of junk with faulty brakes, whatever happens is his responsibility.

When you lend your car to a friend in an emergency you are a "nice guy," but when you lend it to a relative who doesn't have the decency to return it with some gas in the tank, you are a clump.

* * *

Confidential to DISAPPOINTED IN YOU: Sorry, you said you wanted my opinion and I gave it. What you really wanted was someone to back you up. I couldn't do it because I don't believe in emotional blackmail.

Murder Victim Shows Up to Dispel Charge

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters) — A housewife turned up in court here Monday to prove she was not murdered by her husband.

And the husband, Manuel Carlos Faustino, who spent 23 months in a Brazilian jail awaiting trial for murder, was sentenced to two years in prison on a reduced charge of attempted murder.

The mistake came to light, when the judge noted the absence of medical evidence of examination of the body.

He ordered inquiries, which revealed that Ilca Faustino is alive and well, after recovering from stab wounds inflicted by the accused in a family quarrel. She told the court she has forgiven him.

THE FEMALE TOUCH

About half of the 15,000-plus Americans now engaged full-time in the growing profession of interior designing and decorating are women.

Roslin Church Presents Pageant

ROSLIN — Young people of the church presented an Easter pageant at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin, Good Friday evening.

The pageant was given against a background representing Joseph's garden, with the new sepulchre and a rocky hill with three crosses in the background.

Rev. V. Earl led a short service before the pageant began.

Those in the cast were Elaine Kincaid, Garnet Geen, Carol Sills, Barbara Johnson, Donna Morton, Doug Geen, Randy Geen, Ann Kincaid, Carol Sills, Donna Sills, Brenda Vardy and Ethel Slingerland.

Mrs. Bev Shane, Belleville, sang a solo, with William Connor as accompanist.

Mrs. M. Gray was co-ordinator and narrator and Mrs. A. Bates played the organ. Mrs. Norma Parker, Belleville, and Mrs. Ann Howell, were in charge of make-up and Wes Newman handled the lighting. Miss Phyllis Sills, Mrs. Eileen Geen, Mrs. Margaret Geen, Mrs. Marion Morton and Mrs. Lois Earl were on the costume committee.

NAMES WINNER

The movie Half A Sixpence has been named winner of the Scholastic Magazines Bell Ringer Award.

Women's Institutes

QUINTE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Quinte Women's Institute was held at the Memorial Hall, Dundas St. E., last Tuesday with a potluck dinner at the noon hour, followed by the business period.

The report of the conveners of standing committees were given after which the election of officers was conducted by Mrs. Jack McLaren, district president.

Mrs. McLaren gave an interesting talk on the 1967 National Convention held in Guelph last June. She had compiled a scrap book describing and showing different clippings and pictures pertaining to the convention which gave a detailed description of the various events.

Mrs. Parrott thanked Mrs. McLaren on behalf of the Institute and presented her with a small gift.

Plans were made for catering to the district convention to be held in the Front Road Church Hall on May 16th.

The following officers were elected for 1968-69: past president, Mrs. Alex Parrott; president, Mrs. Clifford Reid; 1st. vice-president, Mrs. E. A. Fleming; 2nd. vice-president, Mrs. A. Mitchell; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. Wood; assistant secretary - treasurer, Mrs. R. Aikins; public relations officer, Mrs. K. Vivian, and district director, Mrs. J. Parrott.

UCW Meetings

MASSASSAGA UCW

The Massassaga unit of Wesley United Church Women held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. George Flower Wednesday afternoon, with UCW members from Mountain View and Ameliasburg as guests.

The president Mrs. Albert Wallbridge conducted the Easter worship service, assisted by Mrs. Gordon Alyea at the piano.

Mrs. Alan Revill, unit leader, introduced Mrs. E. Milliken of Belleville, who gave a talk on the work of Lifeline. Mrs. Revill thanked Mrs. Milliken and presented her with a small token of appreciation on behalf of the UCW.

Mrs. Gordon Boyle, Mrs. Helen Jose and Mrs. Madeline Thompson assisted the hostess.

STUDIES GORILLAS

A long-term study of the African mountain gorilla by Dian Fossey, 37, a slim, brunette from Menlo Park, Calif., is being sponsored by the National Geographic Society.

Students Challenge Bissell

TORONTO (CP) — Student leaders Tuesday challenged Claude Bissell's charges that student power advocates are cynical saboteurs.

Dr. Bissell, president of the University of Toronto, said in his annual report released earlier in the day that student power advocates are a minority group trying to provide violence on campus to gain the support of a majority of fellow students.

He said their efforts could produce a reactionary government crackdown on university finances and freedom.

Last fall, 130 demonstrators at the university trapped a Dow Chemical Co. recruiter in an office for three hours to protest on-campus interviews by companies manufacturing war materials.

Steve Langdon, president - elect of the university's students' administrative council, said Tuesday Dr. Bissell seemed to be overly influenced by the Dow demonstration.

"What he seems to have done is take the Dow thing as strictly a phenomenon of student power, and define it in those terms, rather than as a reaction to the other university problems he refers to in his report," said Mr. Langdon.

Monique Ouellette, president of the Ontario Union of Students, said the university president was mistaken if he thought that the Dow incident reflected the feelings of a small minority of students.

She said a majority of students were behind the blockade "in philosophy if not in tactics."

Chapleau Without Doctor

TORONTO (CP) — Donald MacDonald, Ontario leader of the New Democratic Party, said Tuesday he has asked the department of health to take immediate steps to provide continuing medical services for the Northern Ontario town of Chapleau, 125 miles west of Timmins.

He said in a statement: "The 6,000 people in the Chapleau area are deeply concerned. Already three emergency cases have had to be taken to other towns and the citizens are rightly asking who will be the first fatality as a result of this deplorable lack of medical services."

Mr. MacDonald issued his statement after receiving a telegram from the Chapleau council and hospital board which said there are "no immediate prospects" of a doctor becoming available for the town.

Chapleau's only doctor, Dr. G. E. Young, is out of the country on holiday until Saturday. He had arranged for a relief to stand in until Good Friday, advising the health department that another replacement would be needed then. But the replacement did not arrive.

Spy Charge Said Work Of Revenge

PARIS (Reuters) — The satirical French weekly Le Canard Enchaine says allegations that a Soviet secret agent was at work in the entourage of President de Gaulle of France are part of an organized revenge campaign by the U.S. and a former French intelligence officer.

The 6-page, well-informed paper, in an issue being published today, says the campaign was organized:

1. Because of a purge ordered by de Gaulle of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and FBI agents in the French intelligence services.

2. For personal reasons by a former French agent in Washington, Col. Philippe Thirard de Vosjoly, who broke with his own service over his collaboration with the CIA.

The American magazine Life is reported considering for publication allegations by de Vosjoly that a Soviet spy, active in the circle of friends of de Gaulle, is responsible for deteriorating Franco-American relations.

No Effort Made to Block Red Retreat

SAIGON (AP) — A senior U.S. officer said today American forces that lifted the siege of Khe Sanh made no effort to block the withdrawal of the North Vietnamese because "militarily it was unwise and a waste of troops."

"They had dozens of escape routes, said the officer. "They could always go around you. We would have needed three divisions of troops.

"Our objective was to lift the siege of Khe Sanh."

Senior U.S. officers have said that air strikes, the most concentrated in any war, were the main factor in breaking the 77-day siege of the base near the demilitarized zone. The siege was declared lifted April 5 as a 20,000-man relief force drew close to the base and its marine defenders.

A U.S. intelligence memorandum is being circulated among top officers of Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff giving a brief summation of the siege.

It says that by the end of March American ground forces had killed more than 2,000 of the North Vietnamese and an additional 1,300 were killed by air strikes.

The operation to lift the siege of Khe Sanh was begun April 1.

Military sources said that after the siege was lifted and ground troops began sweeping the area around the base, they uncovered nearly 1,000 North Vietnamese bodies, victims of air strikes and artillery.

The U.S. command announced today that U.S. marines and air cavalrymen killed 1,044 North Vietnamese troops in the first two weeks of April—during the lifting of the siege and the succeeding sweep of the mountains and valleys around the base.

U.S. losses were put at 92 killed and 667 wounded.

Coca-Cola Assailed by Alberta Minister

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's Highways Minister called Tuesday for a federal probe of grocery chain stores and the Coca-Cola Co.

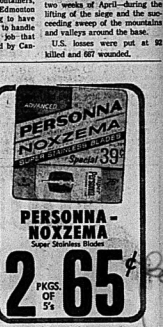
Speaking in the legislature on a motion to discourage the use of non-returnable bottles, Gordon Taylor said Canada Safeway Ltd. is encouraging the sale of soft drinks in non-returnable containers by "enacting housewives to think they're getting a bargain when they're really paying more."

And he said the Coca-Cola Co. "needs to be investigated regarding its attitude toward bottlers."

He said Alberta bottlers have told him they would support an increase in bottle deposits from two cents to five but would have their franchises cancelled by the company if they did.

The minister spread out a table full of soft drinks to illustrate what he called "deceitful" pricing.

"Canada Safeway has designed a subtle, cleverly-conceived campaign to extract the highest possible profit from people and to reduce their (the company's) own operating costs by transferring them onto the general public."



Mr. Taylor said the store not only makes a greater profit on the non-returnable containers, "but the people of Edmonton and Calgary are going to have to pay increased taxes to handle the (litter collection) job that should've been handled by Canada Safeway."

Trudeau 48 Years Old

MONTREAL (CP) — A record of the birth of Justice Minister Trudeau in Quebec Superior Court here shows he was born Oct. 18, 1919, and not 1921 as shown in the Parliamentary Guide.

This makes the recently elected leader of the Federal Liberals 48 years old and not 46 as shown in biographical material issued by Mr. Trudeau's organization during the leadership campaign.

Memphis Garbage Collectors Win Pay Increase

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis's 1,300 garbage collectors return to their jobs today after settlement of a labor dispute that brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to the city where he was killed.

Ahead of the strikers, 90 per cent of them Negroes, was the mammoth job of clearing streets and vacant lots of refuse accumulated during the, 65-day walkout.

All sides cheered Tuesday's agreement, described as a "memorandum of understanding" rather than a formal contract, although some Negro leaders suggested that it came far too late. Others pledged that a battle here for "equality and justice" had just begun.

Under the pact, sanitation workers, now making from $1.65 to $2.10 an hour, will get a 10-cent hourly pay increase May 1, and another five cents an hour Sept. 1, along with union recognition and dues checkoffs.

Negro Councilman J. O. Patterson Jr. said this was substantially the same formula approved by the city council only two weeks after the strike began, before some members reversed their positions.

"Seven weeks ago, we agreed to the main issues almost identical to those before us today," Patterson said. "And then a majority of the council changed its mind . . . refused to take any action on this matter and a lot of hell broke out across the city and across the nation.

"We could have avoided all this, including the death of Dr. King," he said.

The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner led garbage collectors on a march through downtown Memphis March 28. He was planning another march when he was killed by a sniper April 4.

King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Rev. Ralph Abernathy, termed the settlement "a significant victory, a major breakthrough."

Rev. A. D. King, brother of the slain civil rights leader, joined Abernathy at a victory rally for the strikers and proclaimed that "this is just the beginning."

Labor Undersecretary James Reynolds, who planned the negotiations two days after King's death, said the solution was "honorable and proper under the circumstances."

Tweed

TWEED — The Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra under the direction of Stephen Chaisa, Belleville, which was to have made a second appearance in Tweed in May, has notified the A.C.W. of St. James' Anglican Church that it is changing the date to sometime in October.

The Northern Emergency Organization has completed its winter training classes in Cloyne, in Canadian Red Cross first aid. It announces the graduation of 46 new first aiders in the standard course, eight students in the intermediate course and the development of three new instructors.

Novelist Edna Ferber Dies at New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Edna Ferber, prize-winning novelist whose native United States provided the background for most of her stories and plays, died at her home here Tuesday. She was 82.

Her novel So Big won the Pulitzer Prize in 1924. The story of a woman on a truck farm out side Chicago, it became a best seller.

More than 40 years ago, a chance remark about a show boat led Miss Ferber to ask: "What's a show boat?"

The explanation intrigued her and she set out on a quest for background. She cruised the Mississippi aboard the James Adams floating Palace theatre. Out of this, in 1926, came another best-selling novel, Show Boat. Oscar Hammerstein II and Jerome Kern turned the novel into a musical of the same name, with its classic American folk song, Ol' Man River.

Most of Miss Ferber's plays were in collaboration with George S. Kaufman and included Stage Door, The Royal Family and Dinner at Eight.

Miss Ferber's many novels included Cimarron in 1929, a tale of the early days of Oklahoma; Saratoga Trunk, which had its setting in northern New York of long ago, and Giant, an explosive novel about Texas, which irritated some residents of that state.

One of her novels, A Peculiar Treasure, was autobiographical.

Published in 1939, she called it "the story of the Jewish family I knew best—the Jewish family in America that was my own family."

A native of Kalamazoo, Mich., Miss Ferber finished high school, then went to work as a $4-week reporter for the Appleton (Wis.) Daily Crescent. Later, she worked for the Milwaukee Journal.

Investing $17 in a second-hand typewriter, Miss Ferber, wrote her first novel, Dawn O'Hara. It was rejected so often that she consigned it to the flames but her mother rescued it. Subsequently an agent in New York got it published in 1911.

London Bridge Is Sold

LONDON (Reuters) — London Bridge has been sold to an American buyer to be rebuilt on the other side of the Atlantic, the City of London Corp. said Tuesday night.

The buyer's name and price were not disclosed, but an announcement about the sale will be made simultaneously in New York and London Thursday.

Some 10,000 tons of granite forming the famed 137-year-old landmark over the River Thames will be shipped to the United States later this year. The bridge already is being dismantled.

New Rules Fail to Prevent Deluge of Takeovers in Britain

LONDON (CP) — New "Marquis of Queensbury rules" to cool down the more predatory aspects of British business takeovers have not slowed up a deluge of grabs and mergers that started rolling last year.

Awed financial men labelled 1967 "the year of the takeover" because companies worth £1,000,000,000 (about $2,600,000,000) were consolidated. But already the figures for the current year have more than doubled that.

Latest unofficial totals for big deals run to £2,113,000,000 (about $5,483,800,000), which does not include a host of minor takeovers and mopping-up operations from last year. No letup is in sight.

Colossal brawling over companies—with the baffled little shareholder often taking it on the chin—became so boisterous that finally Prime Minister Wilson stepped in and told the financial City to shape up the rules, or else.

Under the prodding of the Bank of England, the city's leading financial groups have set up a voluntary, self-policing system of regulating takeover bids.

Some of the bad old practices that have gone out the window include mystery buying of shares, silence of company directors when stock moves peculiarly and sales of assets or big blocks of stock to stave off a bid.

Now, all deals by a bidder or any of its associates must be disclosed within 24 hours. Another provision is that all shareholders must be paid the same price, which should keep the little fellows from holding the bag again.

Meanwhile action in the marketplace continues brisk and, presumably, above board. A major deal brewing at the moment is the Rank Organization's £9,000,000 (about $23,000,000) try for Cambridge Instruments, which is rejecting it.

The most fought-over company currently is a large timber group, Gabriel Wade and English, which has been fending off timber merchant Montague L. Meyer for six weeks. Textile giant Courtaulds has been the most active firm in the new year, gobbling up eight companies before the government told it any more bids would have to be submitted to the board of trade, a government department.

And late Tuesday the biggest of the post-Queensbury bids was disclosed—a £60,000,000 (almost $156,000,000) offer by giant Unilever (soaps, margarine) for Smith and Nephew, one of Britain's largest toilet goods makers.

Hanoi Paper Sees Threat in Statement

HANOI (CP) — The official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan demands that the United States agree promptly to meet in Warsaw, and protests against intensified raiding of North Vietnam.

If the United States "obstinately refuses to accept", either Phnom Penh, Cambodia, or Warsaw, Poland, as a meeting site, it would "demonstrate its deceitfulness and bear entire responsibility," the party daily says.

Foreign Policy Dilemma Looms

Trudeau Likely to Offend Either English or French Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Trudeau appears caught in a foreign-policy dilemma from the moment he takes over as prime minister, likely Monday.

Informants said Tuesday he runs a good chance of annoying either Quebec or English Canada, depending on how he deals with the problem raised by the international education conference of French-speaking states opening in Paris Monday.

Canada suspended diplomatic relations with the French-speaking African country of Gabon in February after Gabon bypassed Ottawa and directly invited Quebec to attend the first session of the education conference in Libreville, the Gabonese capital.

Quebec accepted on the grounds that it has sole jurisdiction in the education field.

During the Liberal leadership campaign, Mr. Trudeau said Canada should suspend relations with France if the French government acted as Gabon had.

And Prime Minister Pearson said Canada treats big and small nation alike.

France has since notified Quebec of the second session of the education conference but has not invited Ottawa to participate.

Informants said Mr. Trudeau appears to face this choice: Suspend relations with France, thus annoying Quebec; or, not carry out his campaign threat and annoy English Canada.

The cabinet is expected to discuss the matter today but no final decision is likely until after the Paris meeting has dead has taken over as prime minister. Today's cabinet meeting may be Mr. Pearson's last.

Jules Leger, Canadian ambassador to France, came home Saturday and has twice discussed the situation with Mr. Pearson, at lunch Monday and again Tuesday morning. They are old personal friends.

started—that is, after Mr. Trudeau before returning to Paris in a few days.

Mr. Leger is also expected to meet Mr. Trudeau before returning to Paris in a few days.

Mr. Trudeau was due back here early today from a brief vacation.

Ottawa is trying to dampen down the issue on the basis that the current situation is a personal policy of President de Gaulle and will vanish with him.

Most officials see a rupture of Canada-France relations as out of the question on at least two grounds: Quebec would be left free to deal exclusively with France and possibly with other French-speaking nations; and there are a great number of important negotiations between the two countries at this time.

On the other hand, acceptance of the Quebec position would set a constitutional precedent, Quebec—and other provinces—then could deal with foreign countries in fields of provincial jurisdiction, which include education and natural resources.

Star's Story Denied

PANAMA (AP) — The British embassy and official Panamanian sources denied Tuesday night that any Britons are under arrest in Panama because of a reported plot by Dottie Margot Fowlery to kidnap the chief of Panama's National Guard.

Dame Margot, Britain's premier ballerina, is the wife of Dr. Roberto Arias, a Panamanian politician who has been paralyzed since wounded by a political rival in 1964.

She told the London Daily Sketch that she planned to guarantee her husband's safety by kidnapping Brig.-Gen. Bolivar Vallarino if Arias was arrested. Arias is reported in Panama for the election next month of a president and a new National Assembly.

The Sketch quoted her as saying she abandoned the alleged plot but that four Britons she had hired to help with the abduction had been arrested in Panama.

Cajuns Abandon French

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — In this Cajun country some citizens remain as fluent in the French language as they are in English.

But nowadays when a radio or television commercial shifts into elegant old French, the main pitch is at maman or grandpere. The young don't dig it.

The younger generation is so lacking in French that the unique bilingual character of southern Louisiana may soon die out.

Things have come to such a pass that legislators from this area are campaigning for something which would have been thought ridiculous a few years ago: They want French taught in schools. This comes as a jolt in a land where English used to be the "second language," public signs had to be printed in both French and English, and where French remains an official state language.

"What are we trying to do—is to prevent a near tragedy—the loss of our French language," said lawyer James Domengeaux, a former U.S. congressman.

Part of the change is attributed to the pervasive influence of television, part to the influx of "outlanders" who swarmed into the area after the discovery of oil.

But most of it apparently comes from a feeling among many Cajun parents that it is best for their children to blend into the stronger English-speaking society.

It is the area settled by the French families driven out of Eastern Canada in 1775 during the French and Indian war. The term Cajun is a corruption of Acadian.

Niagara Playground Advocated

HAMILTON (CP) — A year-long study outlining plans for a 47-mile 196,000-acre playground and scenic drive on the Niagara escarpment was released here Tuesday.

The study, carried out by Parkway Consultants of Toronto and financed by the Ontario government and the counties of Wentworth, Lincoln and Welland, recommends:

1. A 47-mile scenic parkway linking Queenston and Hamilton;

2. Acquisition of 6,000 acres of land adjacent to the route;

3. Construction of five golf courses, ski, picnic and camping areas;

4. About 25 miles of hiking and walking trails and 15 miles of horseback trails with three riding stables;

5. Preservation and re-creation of several historic sites along the route;

6. Establishment of a canal and old ship museum on the old Welland Canal and at least two outdoor nature study centres.

The report suggests a 20- to 25-year schedule to complete the program but adds that by improving existing roads the scenic drive could be in use by 1970.

Black Gull First Through Murray Canal

Familiar Boat Sold

Black Gull Leaves Area as Season Opens

TRENTON — The Murray canal, the busiest point of entry to the popular Trent Waterways system, officially opened Monday April 15, without ceremony or fanfare.

But if a top hat was the prize awarded the first boatman through the seven-mile route into Lake Ontario, a former British merchant seaman would be wearing it to Toronto.

In fact John Permin, 35, was compelled to queue up 12 hours for the honor although as he explained "waiting tied up to a canal installation is not my piece of cake as a sailor who wants to spend as much time as he can out on the water."

Skipper Permin, now engaged as a Bell Telephone engineer at Toronto, recently became owner of the seven-ton Black Gull II and last Friday arrived in Belleville where she was wintered to sail her back to the Queen City Yacht Club. The sturdy, 35-foot two-masted vessel, built on the east coast seven years ago, belonged to Geoffery Catford of the Weeks' Road, Trenton.

The new owner plans weekend trips with her around Lake Ontario and adjacent waters; later on he may venture down the Mississippi into the Gulf of Mexico.

Black Gull II with three sheets in the wind, and skipper Permin alone at the tiller, pulled out of Belleville harbor Monday afternoon. Three hours of steady sailing later, the distance to the Highway 33 bridge over the Murray canal south of here was behind them.

While forward progress up the Bay of Quinte had gone well, without knowing it the communication's engineer had soon found himself as the section of the inland cruiseway in 1968.

Reminded he had probably set some sort of record skipper Permin expressing pleasure with his good break commented: "You can say it's the first time I came first at anything."

The formality of passing through the bridge, however, was not achieved until 8 o'clock Tuesday morning because bridgemasters on the system operate on eight hour shifts until April 27 when 18 hour daily schedules go into effect . . . for the season.

PUC Proposal to Expand Water Plant Runs Aground on Financial Shoal

The Belleville Public Utilities Commission has run into a financial roadblock in its decision of last week to go ahead with expansion for its water filtration plant.

The utilities commission last week voted to extend the city water plant at a cost of approximately $1,700,000 and has asked city council for its approval.

Council has already provided $1,000,000 in its five-year capital works program for plant extension and an item for $100,000 has been approved by the Ontario Municipal Board for 1968.

But therein lies the sticker.

The Utilities Commission in submitting its five-year capital works program indicated the amount of money expected to be spent on the plant extension in each of the five years where it should have included the entire $1,600,000 for the year in which the contract was expected to be let.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said the only thing that could be done was to ask the Municipal Board to approve the entire amount for this year.

"A contract cannot be let until the entire amount is approved," he said.

Mr. Reynolds said he had already written the Municipal Board asking its advice. He couldn't say what the OMB answer would be but was hopeful for approval.

The financing problem with respect to the water works extension sidelined a possible city council decision with respect to the city policy of develop ing water services extension to the adjoining township areas.

City Manager Reynolds noted that the Ontario Municipal Board and the Department of Municipal Affairs will not approve of further sub-division development in the townships unless municipal water and sanitary sewer services are available.

At the same time the city's policy is that no services are to be extended to the townships of Sidney and Thurlow unless the land involved is next to the city.

Mr. Reynolds suggested that in view of the rapidly changing conditions it might be wise for council to review its present policy regarding services extension.

"How can we decide on supply when we haven't got any water," asked Alderman Richard Ellis.

As a result both the matter of possible services extension to the townships, and the PUC request for approval of the water plant extension were tabled until word is received from the Ontario Municipal Board.

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott said the PUC decision to extend the present water plant rather than pipe water from Lake Ontario had been dictated by the cost factor involved.

He said the cost of the plant extension would work out at an increased water consumption rate of from 45 to 45 cents for the first thousand gallons as compared to the present 33 cents for city users.

On the other hand untreated water from Lake Ontario would result in costs ranging up from 73 cents for water to be processed through the city's filtration plant.

"If the water was treated at Lake Ontario the cost would range considerably higher," he said.

Alderman Don Williams said he still favored Lake Ontario water and prophesied that even if the present plant was extended we will still have to go to the lake."

Alderman Knox David felt that the Moira River as a water source deserved further consideration and suggested a joint meeting of city council, the PUC and the Moira River Conservation Authority to get all the facts and decide the issue once and for all.

A motion calling for the discussion but got no further.

PE Court House Criticized

PICTON — The Prince Edward County Court House in Picton may be in for extensive renovations.

A grand jury report, released at a regular monthly meeting of county council deplored the condition of the Picton-located building.

The grand jury each year tours the county and reports to council on the general condition of county-owned public buildings.

The jury recommended that a vestibule be installed at the entrance to the court house; that the building be repainted; that new cushions be provided for court room chairs, counsel room, witness room; that the judge's room undergo complete remodelling and that the grand jury room be completely renovated and repaired.

The report also questioned the adequacy of the building washrooms.

Action may or may not be taken. It was pointed out that all costs connected with the administration of justice are now in the hands of the provincial government. The report will be forwarded to Toronto.

Mayor Directed to Re-activate Quinte Area Executive Board

Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott has been directed by city council to re-activate the Quinte Area Executive Committee.

The proposal is that Belleville and Trenton, along with the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward and the townships of Sidney and Thurlow have representation on the committee.

The executive committee was set some years ago during the term of ex-Mayor J. R. Ellis, the purpose being to allow discussion of mutual problems confronting area municipalities.

This year Alderman Arthur Keegan suggested a slightly different approach to the matter with discussions to include all phases of area development. A special committee of Ald. E. A. Orr, Ald. Paul Russell, the city manager and planning director, along with Alderman Keegan was named to sound out area municipalities on the proposal.

Among matters discussed by the committee were the extension of water and sewer services to the adjoining municipalities, and of an area animal control program; area sub division control to prevent the Quinte area from developing in a haphazard manner; the need of rest homes and the possibility of a publicity department to sell the industrial area.

Bulk purchasing for the entire area was also another idea suggested.

Alderman Keegan said he for one was opposed to annexation of land abutting the city unless the townships had no objection to annexation of their land.

"But we do believe in amalgamation or a metro plan for the Quinte area," he said.

In an ever shrinking world he said it was necessary for municipalities to understand the other fellows problem. Goodwill and co-operative team effort was needed if the area was to develop. But it was up to Belleville to show leadership.

Pearson's Career as Diplomat, Politician Spanned 40 Years of Conference Tables

OTTAWA (CP) — Mike Pearson wanted to be a pilot but instead he early did training during the First World War.

Later he quit law school to work in a packing plant, operating a sausage machine. He worked up to junior clerk in the fertilizer branch, but he didn't really like the job so he moved on.

Eventually—by chance or a series of chances—he became prime minister of Canada.

And at the age of 70 his extraordinary career reached a climax in an Ottawa convention hall this month as the Liberal party gave him an emotional farewell.

Along the way, there were any number of turning points where Lester Bowles Pearson might have headed in a radically different direction.

He might have been a Chicago executive or the head of a history department. He could have ended his career as a well-respected diplomat.

With a slightly different configuration of the stars, he might have been the first—or second—secretary-general of the United Nations, or the secretary-general of NATO.

"When I look back on my career, the most amazing thing is that things just happened," he once said.

As the various things happened, Mr. Pearson met them with a grin, a joke—usually at his own expense—and an effort to improve things.

"I wish I could have done better," he said as he accepted the party's farewell tribute.

"Perhaps I am fortunate that I have not done worse."

His career—two decades as a civil servant and diplomat and another two as a political leader—involved scores of conference tables and dozens of world crises from Ethiopia to Vietnam.

More than any other man he helped shape and humanize the Canadian style of quiet diplomacy in the post-war years.

But because it was quiet, much of the story of his years in international diplomacy is still to be told.

But there was a succession of public high points:

His first triumph, he helped to found the UN, NATO, the Colombo Plan.

He was chairman of the UN committee that led to the creation of the state of Israel.

As president of the UN General Assembly in 1953, he helped avert the spread of the Korean war into Indochina and China.

As external affairs minister he had a major part in creation of the UN Emergency Force in the Suez crisis of 1956, an achievement that won him the Nobel Peace Prize.

As Liberal leader for 10 years, he brought his party out of opposition to five years of power, though always in a minority position.

His career also had its low points: his years as Liberal leader were marked by a fairly steady stream of criticism for Pearson the politician, mingled with admiration for Pearson the diplomat and Pearson the man.

Cartoonists usually portrayed him as a harried little man, befuddled and bemused by a surge of events beyond his control.

At times, especially in a rash of scandals that hurt his government in its early years, the caricature seemed well-founded.

He was never much of an orator; speaking with a slight lisp and tending to shake his head to emphasize points in a way that delighted imitators.

But in the end, if there was one thing about him that Ottawa agreed on, it was that Mr. Pearson had never let the pomp and circumstance of office go to his head.

He never used the weight and aura of his office to add to himself or cut down others. Even his wages he gave away, open, red-faced, human kind, never cold and vindictive.

In private conversation—he put people at ease, listened to what they said and never talked at all as projecting an image. He never lost his ability to laugh at himself.

As a professional conciliator, he worked a lifetime to perfect his techniques: the quick joke to ease a tense moment, the careful weighing of what was negotiable and what wasn't, the setting of an area of agreement that could mean a move forward.

Some said he was too nice, lacking the combativeness and killer instinct of the true leader.

NDP MP Colin Cameron painted him that way in a 1966 Commons debate.

"The sad part of it is that most of the worst mistakes and bumblings of our prime minister stem from his amiable, human qualities—qualities that unfortunately the leader of a country cannot afford," he said.

"In fact, I should like to put it in blunt, rude terms that a prime minister has to be capable on occasion of being a bastard.

"It is unfortunate that our prime minister is unable to be that particular sort of person."

A constant theme of complaint during his years as prime minister was that the country needed a younger, more dynamic man.

Mr. Pearson himself believed that a leader of that kind could wreck the country. He felt the times called for careful conciliation of the French-English antagonisms.

And if there is a second year-unanimous verdict on his performance, it is that he handled the Quebec problem with patience and left it better than he found it.

Even Real Caouette, the Creditiste leader, said Mr. Pearson had been "one of the greatest or the greatest factor in improving understanding and respect between the races."

Journalist-historian Bruce Hutchison commented:

"If a truce between the two Canadian cultures there is at last negotiable, Pearson more than any other man has made it so."

By nature, he tended to see the worth of an opponent's argument— sometimes to the dismay of more partisan colleagues.

"I have not the divine certitude that I am always right or that I, alone, have been called to save the nation," he said in a 1966 speech.

Privately, when he was engaged in a balancing act, he made no effort to pretend otherwise.

Once, while balancing between the economic views of cabinet ministers Walter Gordon and Mitchell Sharp, he made a speech which he later described as "my Walter Sharp speech."

In off-record sessions with reporters he was amazingly frank, and his trust was rarely betrayed.

Curiously, a view often expressed in the Parliamentary Press Gallery was that he was a better prime minister than his public image suggested.

Mr. Pearson himself seldom complained, but his wife, Maryon, gave the reporters back a bit of their own in a 1962 interview.

"The newspaper are always at the poor old prime minister. He never can never do anything right," she said.

"Sometimes I think how marvellous it would be to get all the newspaper editors together to form a cabinet and see how they could run the country."

Mrs. Pearson made the comment while husband was bringing off one of the lasting international coups of his career.

It was in London at the Commonwealth summit meeting on Rhodesia in September of 1966, where he was credited with bridging a rift between African and Commonwealth and the "old white" group.

Mr. Pearson later said the negotiations were the most emotional and difficult of his career, but to reporters looking on he appeared casual almost to the point of being offhanded.

At a point when the conference seemed to be falling apart, he predicted easily that it was on the basis of a communique drawn up by Mr. Pearson.

Commentators frequently puzzled over the contract between Mr. Pearson's defence and stature abroad and his troubles at home, but late in his career Canadians themselves had a chance to see the diplomat in action.

This was at the constitutional conference in Ottawa last February, which was televised almost in full. Mr. Pearson's part in smoothing the rough places was unanimously applauded.

For a man who spent much of his life in the diplomatic

Was it a heavy old rule, human error and condition, a hazard of the game or a combination of all that caused the unprecedented ending to the 1968 Masters Tournament, the brightest star in the crown of the PGA professional touring fraternity?

A simple arithmetical error that went unnoticed by a man under the stress of pressure seeing the pendulum of championship and the coveted first prize to the current runner-up.

Experts say the error cost Roberto De Vicenzo not only the $25,000 top cash but almost a million in prestige and accumulative income.

From all parts of the country came blasts of criticism over the decision that shocked and stunned golfers all over the world.

But according to some of the biggest golf men in the United States, the Bob Goalby victory has had a far-reaching effect on the future of the Professional Golfers Association's top stars who have seen or less dominated its tournaments as well as those in Canada and Britain for many years.

For some years now Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player have been dominating the rich tournaments, and some not so rich, and collected themselves a bank-load of loot — and armies of faithful followers.

They have been placed on high pedestals and worshipped as the golfing gods of the century. They have accumulated millions from business interests financed by the gold from the golf mines.

But sports eras and dynasties, as the proud New York Yankees found out eventually, ride to a fall.

There are some who believe the day of the Big Three is fading, the last gilds into the sunset, for while they were supreme, dominating the tough caravan of golfing gypsies who play for close to six million a year.

Perhaps they failed to notice while they were riding on rich ranges of professional golfdom, that a gaggle of young buckaroos had taken to the saddle and were creeping dangerously close to the leaders of the herd.

And these youngsters, so to speak, have given notice that no longer are they awed by the names of the Big Three, no longer is their play affected by a sort of inferiority complex, nor by the adulation given the super-stars by their camp followers.

The faithful of the Big Three will say that their poor showing in the 1968 Masters was a flash in the pan. They won't admit the fact, that is becoming more apparent that each tournament their idols are slipping.

"General Arnie" shot one of the worst rounds of the Masters, failed to survive the cut and took off for his Latrobe, Penn. home, leaving a wondering army in his wake.

The Masters course at Atlanta, Georgia was made to order for the Golden Bear of Golf, Jack Nicklaus 'n his baby, and the weatherman came through with typical Nicklaus backing. The big blonde has his mind set on the Masters but with all his desire and ability he was unable to bull through the pack as he had done so often before.

Raisin-eating Gary Player who once donated a $25,000 tournament purse to charity, and who now parades the tours on a part-time basis, made a valiant stab at it but it was not enough.

Bob Goalby who won the Masters, at 37 is one of the leaders of the new breed which, as one expert puts it "is as strong, hungry and absolutely strong that the prospect of their ultimate prowess is frightening."

Goalby has won seven tournaments, his last the Doral Open in 1967 and earned around $400,000 in official money.

The season has spawned a fresh crop of tournament toughies and some can be taken lightly. George Knudson was two tournaments and cannot be relipied out of the upcoming stars.

Tom Weiskopf has taken the early lead in money winnings usually confined to Palmer and Nicklaus. Tony Jacklin of England has picked up an army of supporters with his slashing style and poise. Lee Trevino, the rookie of the year, shows exceeding promise. Then there's Frank Beard, Bert Yancey, Kermit Zarley who are acquiring maturity.

That, the experts say, is the handwriting on the wall and it could be the top riders of the golf range are merely resting in their saddles and waiting to see what's over the next hill.

So is the new young breed of toughies that has developed this year.

Is the day of the domination of the Big Three drawing to an end? Some experts think it is. Others disagree. Time will tell.

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Scottish Soccer Cup finalist, Dunfermline Athletic, is scheduled to leave May 9 on a month-long tour of the United States, Canada and Bermuda, it was announced Tuesday. The exhibition series will include five games against English First-Division team Manchester City — with one in Toronto May 18.

Hot Hawks Head For Hab Country!

Hull, The Playmaker

CHICAGO (CP) — Coach Emile Francis of New York Rangers just hung his head.

No excuses. His Rangers had just blown a 2-0 lead in games to lose 4-2 to Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League quarter-final series.

But he felt his Rangers, who fell 4-1 Tuesday night in the sixth game of the best-of-seven series, lost everything Sunday on a garbage goal.

Francis pinned the series and the game on Sunday night's contest when rookie Bob Schmautz scored on a long, bouncing goal from centre ice that eluded goalie Ed Giacomin and went in to give the Hawks a 2-1 victory and a 3-2 edge in games with home ice Tuesday night.

Schmautz said at the time he was just trying to get the puck in the Ranger zone during a line change and didn't even see the winning rally.

"That goal really killed us," said Francis Tuesday night. "We outplayed them in this game and I thought we should have won it.

"If we had, even if we had lost here, we could have returned home for the seventh game.

BOBBY HULL

"It's funny—sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

The Hawks were both lucky and good Tuesday night as Bobby Hull, the perennial goalscoring leader of the Black Hawks, turned playmaker to lead Chicago to its victory.

He set up goals by Chico Maki (the winner) and Pit Martin.

Stan Mikita and defenceman Doug Jarrett got the other Chicago goals.

Billy Reay, Chicago coach, put his finger on the penalty-killing of Eric Westerko, Maki, Hull and Mikita for the victory. The Hawks penalty-killing units held off the Rangers three times in the second period.

"Give those penalty killers credit for keeping us in the game in that second period and add to it that Doug Jarrett played his best game of the year for us."

Reay also heaped praise on goalie Denis DeJordy who held the fort for the Hawks after a listless second period.

DeJordy had nothing to say after the game except "everybody played well."

Francis, however, was a little more exulcit, praising DeJordy and Hull.

"Although the Hawks were dragging after the first period, that Hull came up with the big play—twice—and that gave them a big lift.

"Up until then we had shifted our checking lines around to slow them down and it worked well, but then Hull makes a quick move and he kills you. Our guy (Ron Stewart) didn't stop checking him, it's just that Hull made a better play."

Chicago now meets Montreal Thursday night in the first game of the Stanley Cup semi-final series at Montreal. The Canadiens, first in the Eastern standings, eliminated Boston Bruins in four straight games.

Tuesday night, Hull was all over the ice. He didn't score a goal but his playmaking helped Hawks break a 1-1 tie in the second period on Maki's goal.

Hull also engineered the Hawks insurance with a perfect backhand pass to Martin at 2:39 of the final period.

Mikita scored the final Hawks goal on a solo effort with less than four minutes to play in the game.

The loose play which marked most of the series was evident again Tuesday night. Chicago went ahead at 5:30 of the first period when Jarrett pounded the puck past Giacomin.

A last-minute starter because of injuries, Wharram took a pass from Mikita on the faceoff and fed Jarrett perfectly in front of the net.

New York tied it early in the second period when Chicago captain Pierre Pilote, trying to clear the puck, tossed a pass onto Gilbert's stick. The New York player responded by whipping his fifth goal of the series beyond DeJordy's outstretched foot.

Playoff Scoring Leaders

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers are probably still wondering what happened to Stan Mikita.

The Chicago Black Hawks centre was notorious for winning the National Hockey League scoring championship each year, but falling into a slump as soon as the Stanley Cup playoffs began.

Mikita, who won the 1967-68 scoring race with 97 points, ran into early trouble in the playoff as New York ran up a quick 2-0 lead in games.

But he came alive in the third game and knocked aside the annual slump to lead the Hawks to a final 4-1 victory Tuesday night and a 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Mikita leads playoff scorers with three goals and six assists for nine points. He picked up a goal and an assist Tuesday night to pace the Hawks victory.

Lowell MacDonald of Los Angeles Kings is second place, had an assist Tuesday night as the Kings lost 4-3 to Minnesota North Stars. His six-game total of seven points includes three goals.

Third is Pit Martin of Chicago, who added a goal and an assist Tuesday night for six points after six games.

Ont.-Quebec Weightlifters Meet Saturday

Top weightlifters of Ontario and Quebec will meet in an interprovincial team tournament here on Saturday.

The tournament is slated for Moira Secondary School starting at six p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The meet should be one of the best held here since this is Olympics year and the weightlifters will go all out to improve their standings.

Some 25 lifters, four guest athletes from both provinces will participate in the meet.

Manager-coach Ken Carr-Brain who will supervise the affair says three or four national champions including Belleville's own Price Morris will show their wares.

Stops Braves 6-2

Cards' Briles Away To Good Start

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two plus 10 equals 12 to mathematicians and baseball statisticians, but not to Nelson Briles. Not when money is involved, he says.

"I haven't won 12 straight games," insisted the St. Louis hurler, who captured his last 10 decisions in 1967 and has a record to 2-0 this year by pitching the Cardinals past Atlanta Braves 6-2 Tuesday night.

"It's just two in a row. I already got paid for last season." Obviously, Briles' logic failed to impress the Braves as much as his fast ball that stopped the home club with only two unearned runs for eight innings before Joe Hoerner pitched the ninth.

The world champion Cardinals moved back into a tie for first place with Ide Houston Astros at 5-1.

Lower in the standings, Los Angeles Dodgers did some hitting for a change and powered past Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 in a night game after Cincinnati Reds outlasted Chicago Cubs 9-8, in the afternoon in the only National League games scheduled.

Briles held a 6-0 lead for 6 2-3 innings before catcher Tim McCarver dropped a foul pop and Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou followed with run-scoring singles. It was not enough to overcome Orlando Cepeda's 400-foot homer Tony Cloninger.

Only a blister on his index finger, the result of throwing his fast ball, kept Briles from finishing.

"I don't like to think about winning 20 games think about is winning 20 games losing at all," Briles said. "All I like any other pitcher."

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Lee May, Reds, stroked four hits, including a home run and a ninth inning single that drove in his third run and carried Cincinnati to a 9-8 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Pitching—Luis Tiant, Indians, hurled a four-hitter, struck out nine and walked only two as Cleveland trimmed Chicago White Sox 3-1.

'No Outside Jokers' Goalby Stands By Rule

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Goalby, caught up in a world-wide golf controversy not of his making, said Tuesday he does not want women club members or guys named John keeping his score in a big tournament.

"If I'm playing with Arnold Palmer, or Roberto de Vicenzo, I feel he is better qualified to keep my score and I am better qualified to keep his than some joker brought in from the outside," the new Masters champion said in a telephone interview from his home in Belleville, Ill.

Goalby and most of his fellow touring pros defended the rule now under attack which knocked De Vicenzo out of a tie for the Masters title Sunday.

Upset over a bogey on the final hole, Roberto signed for a four instead of a three at the 17th hole—a birdie witnessed by millions on the TV screen—and had to take a 66 instead of a 65.

The rules of golf state that a player must check his score kept by a marker in this case, playing companion Tommy Aaron. If he signs for a bigger score than he takes, he is stuck with it; for less, he is automatically disqualified.

Habs Ignore Rocket

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens management steadfastly refuses to become embroiled in a feud with former star Maurice (Rocket) Richard despite the latter's published attacks on the club through his column in a French-language weekly.

Richard, who graced the club's roster for 18 seasons, has taken issue with the fact his younger brother Henri has seen only sporadic action in the final stages of the regular season and in Canadiens' victory in four straight games over Boston Bruins in Stanley Cup play.

The Rocket, who retired eight seasons ago after a brilliant career in the NHL, wrote in a column—said by his friends to be ghost-written—that "the Canadiens management royally disgusted me in making my brother Henri warm the bench."

The attack in Dimanche Matin was directed at general manager Sam Pollock and coach Toe Blake.

North Stars, Flyers Send Western Series To Seventh Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tuesday was a long night in the National Hockey League's Western Division, but Milan Marcetta and Don Blackburn were awash.

Marcetta scored at 9:11 of the first overtime period to give Minnesota North Stars a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles Kings and Blackburn watched as his weak shot eluded goaltender Glenn Hall to give Philadelphia Flyers a 3-2 victory over St. Louis Blues after 11:18 of a second overtime period.

The two overtime goals sent the Stanley Cup quarter-final series into seventh and deciding games Thursday night.

Both series are deadlocked at three games apiece in the best-of-seven competition and Philadelphia and Los Angeles both have home ice advantage for the finals Thursday.

In Minneapolis, Marcetta scored the winner as the North Stars were swarming the Kings goal following a shot from Bill Goldsworthy at the point.

The goal capped a Minnesota rally which saw the North Stars wipe out a 3-1 Los Angeles lead with two goals in the third period.

The North Stars opened the scoring with Ron Ellis getting the opening goal when Mike McMahon stole a pass from Bob Wall and went in alone to beat goalie Wayne Rutledge.

Then Doug Robinson tied it for the Kings at 11:32, taking a passout from Howie Menard behind the Minnesota goal.

Bert Lemieux broke the tie for Los Angeles with a 45-foot slapshot at 1:45 of the second period and Brent Hughes put the Kings in front 3-1 less than two minutes later when he beat Marsigo on a breakaway.

The North Stars stormed back to tie it in the third period as Goldsworthy knocked in a rebound off Billy Plager's shot from the point. McCord hit the far corner of the cage later in the period with a 10-foot shot as the North Stars rushed the net.

The Blues had the edge through most of the St. Louis-Philadelphia game after Gerry Melnyk broke through goalie Bernie Parent for a power-play goal at 18:06 of the first period.

Andre Lacroix of Philadelphia sent the game into overtime, scoring on a desperation shot with 15 seconds left in regulation play. He tied the game 1-1 after the Flyers pulled Parent for an offensive advantage.

Interviewed in the dressing rooms after the two record games, the losing coaches offered few excuses.

Coach Red Kelly of Los Angeles said:

"Their (Minnesota's) club kept coming, kept trying. There were three or four great opportunities for both sides, and they cashed one of theirs.

"You're only going to get so many chances in a game, and if you blow them, you're ... "

"Maniago made great saves on Terry Gray and Bill Flett in the third period when it still was 3-1 for us.-He was great."

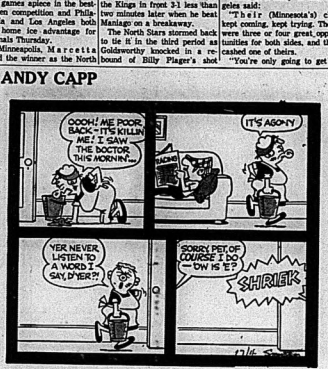
Coach Wren Blair of Minnesota was deliriously happy and ready to invade Los Angeles for the seventh game.

"We had to force the attack in the third period. If we didn't it was oblivion.

"I told our guys we might as well lose 10-2 if we're going to lose. I told them there's 20 minutes left, and if we lost, we lose as a team. Then, we're out, but we're out together.

"The significant thing is that we came back to win, and it was great for our home fans. Even if we lose now, we've showed them something."

In St. Louis, Philadelphia coach Keith Allen admitted Blackburn's shot baffled him.



"I just couldn't believe it," he said. "I can't even make a good comment on it. I don't know how it got in. They said in the Flyer's dressing room that it hit a defenceman's stick, but I don't know."

Coach Scotty Bowman of St. Louis said Blackburn's shot hit Parent's stick "and changed direction in front of him."

The Philadelphia player slapped the puck near the blueline and apparently it touched Fortin's stick. Fortin was just inside the blueline and as the puck passed him Hall seemed to have trouble reacting to a tie.

In the first sudden-death overtime, Philadelphia broke in on Hall three times, but each time was deflected the shots. The Flyers had 14 shots on goal while goalie Bernie Parent had Philadelphia 15.

The Golf Controversy

Official Defends Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — The telephone has been jangling constantly, this week in Joe Dey's cozy office on the third floor of Golf House, 40 East 38th Street, Manhattan.

That's the heart beat of American golf.

"They're all exercised over the de Vicenzo ruling in the Masters," said Dey, a neat, precise man, who looks a decade younger than his 50-odd years.

"Some insist the rules are unfair, Some just ask for information. Others wonder when they're going to be changed.

"There's not very much I can tell them. The present rules have evolved from years of testing a reforging. They are the rules because they have been found to be the best and fairest for all concerned.

"We can't change them until 1970, at any rate. To avoid confusion, the U.S. Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews meet only every two years to review the code. We have just made some changes."

The change put into effect this year, involve outlawing of the croquet-putting style and the invoking of the one clean, continuous-putting rule on the greens.

The recent furore was raised over paragraph three of rule 36 which states that a man is responsible for his own score and is bound by what he signs. If he signs for a score greater than he shot, he is stuck with it. If he signs for a lower score, he is disqualified.

'Maniago Won It' Blair

MINNEAPOLIS (CP) — Wren Blair vigorously wiped perspiration from his brow and talked rapidly after his Minnesota North Stars rallied to nip Los Angeles 4-3 in overtime Tuesday night.

"We had to force the attack in the third period," the coach said. "If we didn't, it was oblivion.

"I told our guys we might as well lose 10-2 if we're going to lose. I told them there's 20 minutes left, and if we lose, we lose as a team. Then, we're out but we're out together."

Coach Red Kelly paid tribute to Minnesota.

"Their club kept trying, kept coming. There were three or four great opportunities for both sides, and they cashed one of theirs.

"You're only going to get so many chances in a game, and if you blow them, ..."

Kelly said North Stars goalie Cesare Maniago saved the game for Minnesota.

Stops Ludick In Fifth

Cokes' Pokes No Jokes!

DALLAS (AP) — Curtis Cokes used Willie Ludick's unorthodox style to his advantage and beat the South African steel fitter on a fifth-round technical knockout in the fourth defence of his world's welterweight boxing championship Tuesday night.

Then he said he would take a rest until about June and also that he didn't have anyone in mind at this time for another title fight.

Percy Pugh of New Orleans, rated No. 2 by the World Boxing Association, was here to challenge Cokes.

Ludick, a 26-year-old brawler, had little chance with the sharp-punching Cokes, who started out with his familiar counter-punching with his left.

But the left-handed Ludick presented a perfect target for Cokes' right. The champion used his right more than any time in his career and it was a steaming right in the fifth that put Ludick on the downward trail.

Ludick took the automatic eight-count at the insistance of referee Lew Eskin, but he still was groggy when Cokes was at him with lefts and rights that battered him into the ropes. Eskin stopped the scheduled 15 round fight at 34 seconds of the fifth round.

Canadian Golfer Beaten

FINEHURST, N.C. (AP-AP) — Mary Ellen Driscoll of Saint John, N.B., went down 3 to 2 to Nancy Roth Syms of Hollywood, Fla., Tuesday in the opening round of the 36th annual North and South Invitational golf tourney in contention.

Medalist Marge Burns of Greensboro, a strong North and South contender for years, easily dropped her opponent, Margaret Harmon of Shelbyville, Tenn., 5 and 4.

The second round and quarter finals will be played Wednesday.

TRICKY TEDDY

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Airport customs men seized a black bear toy teddy bear that seemed too heavy, and ripped a side seam. Inside were 512 pairs of illegally packed panties and 210 acetate dresses. A suitcase also seized contained four transistorized record players. The goods had no claimant.

College Groups

Discuss Realignment

KINGSTON (CP) — A special committee of representatives from the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association, the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Athletic Association and the Ontario Intercollegiate Athletic Association is studying proposals for realignment of the three groups.

The committee will provide re-organizational suggestions based on geographical suitability, equal competition, economy and minimum loss of academic time. The committee is expected to report its findings by next fall.

"It's like a ship without a rudder," said Mr. Danny McLeod, athletic director at Royal Military College here and president of O.S.I.A.A.

"We are loaded with the bulk of schools in Ontario and Quebec, but we operate in three different directions."

McLeod favors the idea of two geographical groupings in central Canada.

"Thinking this way would make for a very suitable arrangement for deciding national championships with two Central Canada winners, one from Western Canada and one from the Maritimes."

Tigers Trample Boston Red Sox In Home Opener

By ED SCHUYER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston Red Sox raised their first American League pennant in 21 years, then Detroit Tigers lowered the boom.

Detroit wrecked the defending champions' home opener with an eight-run fourth inning for a 9-3 victory, the Tigers' second straight after a first-day loss.

"It's a long season. This is just the beginning," said manager Mayo Smith of the Tigers' fast getaway.

For Boston skipper Dick Williams, it probably seemed like the season might end before the fourth inning did as 13 Tigers went to the plate.

While the Red Sox were having "just one of these days" in the words of Williams, Oakland Athletics were beating New York Yankees 4-3 on Floyd Robinson's two-run pinch homer in the ninth and Cleveland Indians topped Chicago White Sox 2-1 on Tony Horton's two-run shot in the seventh. There was no other AL action.

The Red Sox, now 3-3, got a run in the second inning on Joe Lahoud's double and Elston Howard's single, two of the four hits Earl Wilson allowed Boston.

Ray Oyler allowed Detroit one hit in each of the first three innings but no runs. Then came the fourth.

Bill Freehan singled and Jim Northrup walked. Then with one out Earl Wilson singled to score one run, and Dick McAuliffe walked, loading the bases. Don Wert singled home two runs and McAuliffe and Wert advanced on Lahoud's error in right field.

Al Kaline filed out, but when third baseman Dalton Jones dropped the relay, McAuliffe scored and Wert went to third. Willie Horton then hit a run, Norm Cash walked and Bill Freehan got an infield hit to again load the bases.

With a 2-0 count on McAuliffe, Lee Stange relieved Culp and walked in a run. Ray Oyler then singled in the final two runs of the inning.

Robinson's homer that wrecked the Yankees came on the first pitch from Dooley Womack, who had put down an Oakland rally in the eighth inning in which the Athletics scored a run. John Donaldson was on through a single when Robinson unloaded.

Score Was 6-3

Elmvale Ousts Picton

Picton's hopes for a second OHA Intermediate "B" hockey title came crashing down in their own rink last night.

Elmvale doubled the score on the Merchants, 6-3, to capture the best-of-seven semi-final series four games to two with one tie.

The victory was Elmvale's third in succession after Picton held 1-0 and 3-1 game leads.

Elmvale came to play last night and lost no time in showing it despite the large partisan Picton crowd.

The visitors jumped ahead 2-0 in the first period and 4-0 early in the second, leading 4-1 going into the final twenty minutes.

Picton never quit and appeared headed for a comeback victory with goals at the :22 second mark and at 14:33 cutting Elmvale's lead to 4-3.

But it was not to be. Elmvale sewed up the game and series with L. Edwards at 17:47 and S. McKenzie at 19:40 scoring for the final 6-3 total.

Elmvale goalie D. Wardle won the game for his club in the first period when Picton outshot the visitors 15-8 and came out of the hole trailing 2-0. The visitors reversed the trend in the middle frame outshooting the Merchants 18-8 to keep Tom O'Halloran jumping. Over the route O'Halloran faced 33 shots, Wardle 29.

S. McKenzie, Elmvale's high-scoring centre, again paced the victors' attack with a superb three goal performance. He scored once in each period. L. Edwards contributed two goals and defenceman S. Ritchie one.

Fred James bitgreed Picton's initial goal unassisted, cutting the count to 4-1, at 18.35 of the second period. George Jacklin capped a three-way play with James and Joe Scott early in the third and Doug Defoe brought his club to within a goal, aided by Roland Serra and Larry Pero, before Elmvale's clinching pair.

Picton drew the game's first two minor penalties, with the visitors scoring on their first powerplay, but from there out Elmvale took all six remaining penalties — and survived every one without damage.

Alberta Wins Three Bowl Titles

EDMONTON (CP) — A defending champion and two sisters brought Alberta three of the six singles titles at the national youth bowling council five-pin championship Tuesday.

Ontario took the other titles.

Kim Streit, 11, of Wetaskiwin, Alta., won his second bantam boys title in as many years, and 16-year-old Brenda Pedersen of Lethbridge and her 17-year-old sister, Dianne, won the bantam and senior girls titles respectively.

Richard Morin of Ottawa won the senior boys singles. Brenda Westbrooke of Toronto, the junior boys, and Diane Ingram of Newmarket the junior girls title.

Kim Streit rolled a score of 2934 by the Peterson point system to take first prize in the bantam event. Gary Benson of Redvale, Ont., had a strong performance on the final day to move into second place with 8417, Tommy Jodrey of Sudbury, who had led going into the final day, slipped to third with 81-37.

Blues, Flyers

Tip of Stick Did It!

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (CP) — A tick of the stick gave Philadelphia Flyers a victory, the home ice advantage and a brand new National Hockey League playoff series.

The stick belonged to Ray Pierlin of St. Louis Blues. The tick came on a shot by Don Blackburn at 11:18 of the second overtime period. The 2-1 victory went to Flyers over St. Louis in their Western Division semi-final game.

Seventh and deciding game of the series will be played Thursday in Philadelphia, with the winner meeting the winner of the Los Angeles-Minnesota playoff series.

"I just couldn't believe it," said Flyers' coach Keith Allen about Blackburn's shot.

"I can't even make a good comment on it. I don't know how it got in. They said in there (pointing at the Flyers dressing room) that it hit a defenceman's stick. I don't know."

Blues coach Scotty Bowman said the shot "hit Pierlin's stick in front and changed direction on Hall."

Blackburn slapped the puck near the blue line and apparently it touched Pierlin's stick, just inside the blue line. Hall seemed to have trouble reacting to the change of direction and stood by helplessly as the puck went by him.

The goal came on only the second shot for Flyers during the second overtime period. Lynn Patrick, Blues general manager, described the finish as "weird."

Flyers' first goal by Andre Lacroix with 15 seconds to go was the only shot he took all night.

"It wasn't a weird game until there was 15 seconds to go," Patrick said. "It was weird from then on."

With The Trotters

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Camper, making his first start of the season, gained a ½-length victory in the first race at Mohawk Raceway Tuesday night.

Owned by Joseph Harris of Aylmer, Ont., and Harry Swartzentruber of Kitchener, Camper ran the mile in 2:16 and returned $3.80 for the victory.

Guinea Mite post a 1¼-length victory over Credit Card in the sixth to set up a $12.20 exacta.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — Buddy Bird, paying $45, was the surprise winner of the fifth race at Batavia Downs Tuesday night.

Wins 2nd Wrestling Title

LINCOLN, Neb. (CP-AP) — Arthur Chavez of San Francisco State College won the National Amateur Athletic Union's 114.5 Greco-Roman wrestling championship Tuesday after winning the freestyle title in the same meet here last weekend.

Heavyweight Harry Geris, Canada's only Greco-Roman entry, was eliminated in the third round when he was pinned in 29 seconds by Robert Johnson.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Zest for Sports, Simple Life Has Been Characteristic of PM

world of London and Washington, Mr. Pearson's tastes and enjoyments tend to be simple.

He likes to fish or tramp in the woods of his Harrington Lake summer home in the Gatineau Hills of Quebec, or to play with his eight grandchildren.

He enjoys spy novels—along with heavier biography and military history—and watches hockey and baseball games on television.

He has cheerfully admitted a weakness for pies and candies that jeopardizes weight-watching difficult.

"Periodically, I go on a diet, but unfortunately all the things I like to eat are not on any diet I've ever seen," he told one interviewer.

The love of sports is traced back to his childhood in a succession of Ontario towns and cities where his father was a Methodist minister. He was the second of three sons and was born in Newtonbrook on April 23, 1897. His father played baseball and passed on his enthusiasm.

He also sent his sons to the church's Victoria College in the University of Toronto, where Lester Pearson encountered his first major turning of the road. . .

Much later he recalled it this way:

"I was sitting in the library in 1915, studying a Latin poet, and all of a sudden I thought: 'War can't be this bad.' So I walked out and enlisted."

He was 17 at the time and he went overseas that same year, as a stretcher-bearer in a hospital unit, first to Greece and then to Egypt and on to Salonika in Greece.

He spent a miserable 1½ years there later recalling:

"I lost most of my friends. . . . You got to the point where you just assumed there was no other world. resigned either to being invalided home or ending your life there."

In 1917, as a corporal, he was assigned to officer training school in England. He got his commission and then transferred to the Royal Flying Corps for his unspectacular air career.

At that time the life expectancy of a wartime pilot was brutally short, but circumstances conspired to keep him out of action.

"Making a solo flight—after 90 minutes of flight instruction—he was vomiting before he and his instructor, White by name, had landed. That was a high wire looming up. . . ."

He tried to fly over it, stalled and crashed. His injuries were not serious and after a week in hospital he was out again—but then he was hit by a London bus in a blackout. He spent another month in hospital—and was invalided home in April, 1918.

He was rejected for the Canadian expeditionary force sent to Siberia to fight the Bolsheviks, and instead spent the remainder of the war as a ground instructor in aerial navigation.

He had gained at least two things from the war: The nickname Mike—and a desire to study at Oxford—a desire that was to surface a few years later.

First, he completed his degree in history at Toronto, tried law school then, a few week and then gave it up for a crack at the business world.

He went to work for Armour and Co., where an uncle was an executive, first confronting the sausage machine in a Hamilton plant and then going to Chicago as a clerk.

He stuck at it 18 months before deciding to go back to university.

In another turning point, he received a Massey Foundation study at Oxford that earned him a place on the University of Toronto's history faculty.

Along the way he also kept up his interest in sports—first lacrosse, baseball and football, the University of Toronto, rugger, hockey and lacrosse at Oxford.

He was a defenceman on Britain's Olympic hockey team in 1922 and after his return to the Toronto faculty he coached both football and hockey teams.

In 1925 he married one of his students, Maryon Moody, daughter of a shipping inspector, and they set up housekeeping in a Toronto flat.

Rivals in Retirement

But the following year another turning point came when he and his wife were doing research in Ottawa and he met O. D. Skelton, the organizing genius of the fledgling external affairs department.

Dr. Skelton invited him to sit for the department's exams and he did so in 1928, emerging at the top of a group of about 60.

His first few years in the department were taken up with a series of domestic studies mixed with an occasional trip abroad for his first taste of international diplomacy.

In 1927 and 1929 his two children were born: Geoffrey, later to become a diplomat, and Patricia, now the wife of a Toronto doctor.

Mr. Pearson's crucial middle years as a diplomat were spent in a succession of increasingly important posts in the basic triangle of Canadian diplomacy: London, Ottawa and Washington.

He went to London in 1935, working there under Vincent Massey and Georges P. Vanier, later to become Canada's first and second native-born governors-general.

He was still in London for the first few months of the war but in mid-1941 was ordered back to Ottawa as assistant undersecretary of state.

Within a year he was sent to Washington where he was minister-counsellor, minister and finally ambassador.

It was in Washington, in his late 40s, that Mr. Pearson began to emerge with a clear public image.

A blue polka-dot bow tie was his trademark and a dislike of diplomatic stuffiness was a main feature.

He took part in a succession of conferences planning the post-war structure, and had a hand in drafting the United Nations Charter at the San Francisco founding conference.

He turned down a chance to be first director-general of the UN's Food and Agriculture Organization and shut off another possible road.

In the fall of 1946 he returned to Ottawa to the departmental top post, undersecretary of state, and quickly came under pressure to move over to the political side.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King urged him to go into politics—on one occasion during a carriage ride through the Bois de Boulogne in Paris—but Mr. Pearson turned him down.

But in 1948, when Louis St. Laurent succeeded Mr. King and urged Mr. Pearson to fill his old job of external affairs minister, Mr. Pearson accepted.

On the day he was sworn in, reporters asked when he had become a Liberal, and he replied: "Today."

Later, as prime minister, Mr. Pearson frankly admitted that he would rather have been UN secretary-general, a job twice denied him by Russian opposition.

The first time was at the General Assembly session of 1946 in London, when Norway's Trygve Lie was chosen. The second was in New York in 1953 when Dag Hammarskjold was picked.

External Affairs Minister Martin revealed years later that on the second occasion, 10 of 11 Security Council members had indicated a preference for Mr. Pearson. Only the Russians had turned him down.

In 1952 he was asked to become secretary-general of NATO but decided against it.

Despite his prominent role in NATO, Mr. Pearson was one of the first Western statesmen to try to build East-West bridges.

He visited Russia in 1955, and his reactions from the trip were reflected in his Nobel acceptance speech two years later:

"Our policy and diplomacy —as the two sides in the cold war face each another—are becoming as rigid and defensive as the trench warfare of 40 years ago, when two sides dug in, dug deeper, and lived in their ditches. . . .

"It is essential that we avoid this kind of dangerous stalemate in international policy today. . . ."

One of the disappointments of his term as prime minister was that he was not able to restore normal relations with Communist China.

The year 1956 was a climactic one both for Mr. Pearson and for Canadian foreign policy as Canada turned against Britain and France for their backing of the Israeli invasion of Egypt.

Mr. Pearson, balancing between the anger of the United States and Canada's own mother countries, put forward the UN Emergency Force proposal that dampened the crisis and set a new pattern in international action.

Typically, he was astounded when a reporter phoned him to say that he had won the Nobel prize for his efforts.

"Gosh," he said. "I'm thunderstruck and overwhelmed."

The award helped make him a shoo-in for the Liberal leadership at the party's 1958 convention, held in the wake of its 1957 electoral defeat and Mr. St. Laurent's retirement.

But his debut as party leader was a near-disaster.

John Diefenbaker held power with a minority Conservative government at the time, and Mr. Pearson proposed that he should resign to permit the Liberals to take over without an election.

The idea was all but booted out of the Commons, and Mr. Diefenbaker in rebuttal left the Liberals battered and bleeding.

A few weeks later Mr. Diefenbaker called a snap election and crushed the Liberals, reducing them to 48 seats compared with 105 after the 1957 election.

From there, Mr. Pearson began a slow rebuilding job that climaxed with the election of 1962, when the Conservatives were reduced to a minority position, and 1963, when the Liberals edged into power.

Again there were immediate embarrassments: A "60 days of decision" that went awry and an ambitious budget that had to be partly dismantled under pressure from the business world.

In 1964 there was the Rivard scandal, when an executive assistant was accused of working on behalf of Lucien Rivard, a convicted narcotics smuggler.

In another case of alleged influence-peddling, Mr. Pearson demanded the resignation of a minister without portfolio, Yvon Dupuis.

The scandals had a part in denying Mr. Pearson the majority he sought in the November, 1965, election.

But the biggest furore of all was still to come the following year when his justice minister, Lucien Cardin, dropped the word "Munsinger" in a Commons debate and unleashed a torrent of scandal surrounding Gerda Munsinger and her relations with former Conservative cabinet members.

The scandals left a bad taste and overshadowed an array of significant legislative achievements during the five Pearson years.

There were a number of social welfare programs: the Canada Pension Plan, medical care insurance, the old age income supplement and reduction of the qualifying age for old-age pensions.

There was basic redrafting of the Bank Act, the Broadcast Act and the Transport Act, and the start of a major revision of the Criminal Code.

There was a new flag, an official anthem, and creation of the Order of Canada.

There were new divorce laws and new laws tightly restricting capital punishment—which in effect was abandoned during Mr. Pearson's tenure.

There was the massive study of French-English relations in the bilingualism and biculturalism royal commission, and the stepping up of bilingualism in Ottawa.

There were the Columbia River Treaty, independent redistribution of electoral districts, creation of departments of industry and of consumer and corporate affairs, the establishment of the Company of Young Canadians and of a series of development funds.

Climaxing the five years, there was the celebration of Centennial Year and the success of Expo.

Mr. Pearson had generally been expected to step down when Centennial Year was through, and he announced his plans to do so on Dec. 14.

He said he planned to retire to his "rare-covered cottage" in Rockcliffe in suburban Ottawa and do some writing and lecturing. He exchanged a few jokes with reporters and then wound up:

"Well—c'est la vie."

Toronto Board Favors Hilton Hotel Proposal

TORONTO (CP) — City council will decide Thursday whether a large angular Hilton hotel should confront the modern curves of Toronto's new city hall.

There are alternatives.

The city's board of control, following an international competition which it had hoped would produce a development opposite the city hall of the same type which produced the city hall, announced Tuesday a Hilton-backed scheme of Third Generation Reality Ltd. was winner of the competition.

The area now is a park, and there is strong support in the city for keeping the area as a park.

The Third Generation project, opposite the open side of the city hall "clam" across Queen street to the south, would be comprised of two 50-storey towers at the west-end of the 3½-acre site.

Each of the towers would be a lower structure, 50 to 60 feet high, connected by an elevated walkway across Queen Street to Nathan Phillips Square in front of the city hall.

The proposed development would cost $50,000,000, and would include a 1,400-room Hilton hotel, banquet and convention halls, exhibition areas, shopping concourse, department store and three restaurants.

Vietnam Bunkers Taken

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting accelerated in South Vietnam Tuesday and today with 45 combined fleeing soldiers and at least 56 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed in clashes around Saigon and Khe Sanh.

The U.S. marines on the Khe Sanh front took their heaviest casualties in two weeks—14 killed and 38 wounded—when a marine patrol attacked North Vietnamese bunkers four miles south-southwest of the U.S. base in the northwest corner of the country.

An estimated 40 North Vietnamese hit the patrol combat patrol with mortars and rockets and then laid down intense small arms fire. U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery pounded the bunkers until the North Vietnamese escaped about midnight.

At least seven North Vietnamese were reported killed.

North Vietnamese artillery attacks on the Khe Sanh base, which subsided after the siege was lifted April 5, also have increased this week.

To the south, combined forces troops pushing through jungles and rice paddies reported six sharp clashes within 35 miles of Saigon. It was one of the busiest days so far in Operation Complete Victory, the 100,000-man sweep which began April 8.

South Vietnamese troops with U.S. air support fought for an hour with a Viet Cong force 16 miles northwest of the city. Twenty-six Viet Cong bodies were found and one government soldier was reported wounded.

High School Event

Open House Held at Marmora

MARMORA — Open house at Marmora High School Wednesday evening gave parents an insight into accomplishments and activities of the students.

The program began with a history panel with students Anne McKee, Doug Lajoie, Joel Robertson, Mary Jane Thomas and Fred Jacques taking part in a debate. Questions were asked by Catherine Murray, Carolyn Youmans, Vicki Stewart, Donald Thompkins and Rick Fluke.

Leading in a sing-song of French folk songs was guitarists Lynne Shannon, Susan Draper and Dallas Stark.

Parents observed a filmstrip by grade 12 Latin students, Karl Lowery, Robert Parasnuk, Betsy Rotherwell and Andrew Thomson.

A graphic demonstration of typing to music was given by grade 9 students Sharon Leonard, Jill Bertram, Betty Demorest, Sandra Ellis, Sandra Harris, Linda Tompkins and Lynne Shannon.

During the evening program continuous events were held in various rooms. Logic, geometry and function theory were demonstrated on the board by Barbara Boyle, Daniel Murphy, Tom Phillips and Dallas Stark. Grade 9 science students, Mark Bennett and Phillip Stetson, showed microscopic slides; Wayne Doyle directed a frog and Charles Brady and Pat Doyle conducted an experiment on heat.

Extraction of chlorophyll from leaves was shown by grade 9 Agriculture students Brian Fluke, John Croskery and Robert Derry. Dallas Stark and Susan Draper conducted grade 12 level chemistry experiments and Larry Brimmell, John Gordon, Vaughn Glover and Larry Gawley conducted physics experiments. Grade 13 students Garry Warren and Alan Robinson showed techniques in biology.

In the gym, mat work was performed by Sandra Harris, Sandra Ellis, Lynne Shannon and Margaret Sommerville, and parallel bar work was demonstrated by Dennis Gray, Steve Derochie, Eddie O'Connor and Wayne Parasnuk. Dennis Gray, Steve Derochie, Eddie O'Connor, Wayne Parasnuk, Steve Potter, Graham Bell and Clint Campbell performed box horse routines.

Parents observed the fundamental movements of dancing performed by Bonnie Kilpatrick, Catherine Murray, Janice Black, Carolyn Youmans, Anne McKee, Jovita Murphy and Betsy Rotherwell. Folk dances were shown by Connie Bell, Celia Murray, Lillian O'Connor, Gena Youmans, Lois VanVliet, Ann Ashburg, Margaret Carswell, Anita Tokarevich, Karen Acorn, Diane McGregor and Mary Loveless.

In the home economics room, Judy Neal, Marilyn Wells, Jill Bertrand, Betty Demorest, Lillian O'Connor, Gena Youmans, Betsy Rotherwell and Jovita Murphy demonstrated baking and sewing.

Metal lathe work, woodwork and upholstery were demonstrated by industrial arts students Lloyd Acorn, Rick Deering, Jim Hutsman, Doug Walker, Don Gillies, Dave Carswell and Terry McGregor.

'Y' Interested In Promoting Family Camping

A series allowing questions and an exchange of experiences for those interested in Family Camping will begin Apr. 17 at the Belleville YMCA.

The sessions this year will not be a course but will allow for a sharing of questions and experiences, a viewing of movies and the free distribution of folders on where to go and what to see.

The Belleville YMCA is interested in promoting family camping as part of its program of working with and for families. The fee is purely nominal and is imposed only to cover out of pocket expenses for the program and attendance may be for one night or for the three sessions.

Marmora Obtains Resuscitator

MARMORA — A new resuscitator recently purchased for the Marmora Fire Department was demonstrated by fire chief Cecil Neal and members of the department Wednesday night in Marmora Town Hall.

The Fire Department has had only one single unit resuscitator and the obvious need for an additional one in case of emergency sparked voluntary contributions from Marmora Township, District 4-H and organizations and individuals from Marmora village. Mrs. Manley Walker served as chairman of the fund raising committee.

The new doubled-headed oxygen ventilator purchased at a cost of $330, will deliver 100 percent oxygen when used with external cardiac resuscitation, duplicates mouth - to - mouth breathing with oxygen supply, and administers oxygen to a breathing or non-breathing patient with no waiting. Cylinder lasts 58 minutes as a demand inhalator and 45 minutes as a resuscitator.

The unit will be stored in the fire hall, can be obtained through the fire department or by contacting Neal. It will be available for use by the whole community if needed. The demonstration of its use by members of the fire department did much to familiarize those present (many of whom had never seen a resuscitator before) with its effectiveness in possible emergency.

A further instructional phase of the evening was a film presented by Sister Rose of the Safety Supply Company showing the principles and practices of emergency heart-lung resuscitation. The film included dramatic descriptions of effective mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external cardiac compression, treatment in hospital of cardiac standstill, and the role of the resuscitation team in a hospital.

Dear Uncle Ed -
Do you have any openings for a chicken plucker. I won 4th prize in the pinfeather-doodle contest last year.
Four Feather Fred.

Dear Four Feather Fred -
We'll keep your application on file. At present we buy our chickens perfectly well-plucked. By the way, you answered a question in our I.Q. Test incorrectly. You said a lot of feathers weighs more than a ton of steel. It's the other way around.
Yours Tenderly,

Police Chief Clears Constable In Shooting of Toronto Boy

TORONTO (CP) — Police Chief James Mackey said Tuesday night that Constable Bruce Ellenor, 24, suspended from duty following the shooting of a 15-year-old boy early Sunday, is returning to full duty.

"This is a very unfortunate and regrettable incident, but there is no doubt whatever that it was an accident," he said in an interview.

Constable Ellenor, who was on plainclothes duty Sunday when the shooting occurred, was suspended pending an investigation.

The constable said he tripped while chasing the boy through an east-end park, accidentally firing his revolver and wounding the boy in the left thigh.

The official police report said Constable Ellenor was holding his right hand on his revolver, which was in an open belt holster. When he tripped, he landed on his knees and right shoulder, still holding on to his revolver, which discharged.

Chief Mackey said there will likely be a hearing under the Police Act.

Earlier in the day the boy claimed during an interview in hospital where he is in good condition that neither of the two officers pursuing him tripped and fell. He also said he was beaten by police.

Police said the boy had run away from St. John's Training School in Uxbridge, Ont., March 26, and since the shooting has refused to talk with police.

Rioters Not Real Danger

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Yes, I am fearful. Danger is abroad in the U.S. The ugliness of mass violence is a threat hanging heavy over all our heads.

But the danger does not come from the place most people think it does. It does come from the Negro rioters or from "crime in the streets."

It comes from "respectable" and "responsible" sources. It comes from smug, affluent, and ignorant quarters. It comes from those who are eagerly using "crime in the streets" as an excuse for hate and rage and repression.

This is what frightens me. Not the pathetic and futile Negro summer riots, in which far more blacks than whites were killed and injured. Not the rise in street crime, which a genuine revival of community spirit could reduce in a few swift months.

What frightens me are the faces of the men and women who push into Chicago's Board of Education to oppose busing of students, and of those who picket a public school to which Negro children have been transferred.

What frightens me is the standing ovation given to George Wallace's demagogic speech made before an influential executives' club in the same city.

What frightens me are the 10,000 customers who wrote in accounts when the head of a New York department store put himself on record as favoring open housing and equal opportunity.

What frightens me is a Navy captain, speaking as national president of the Reserves Officers Association, telling a big group that the U.S. would be much better off if dissenters against the Vietnam war were "banished" from the country.

What frightens me is the gimlet - eyed sheriff of Cook County in Illinois attempting to recruit a posse to deal with rioters — and his concentration-camp concept of dealing with violators.

These, and many more symptoms, constitute the gravest danger that is abroad in the land. They are horribly reminiscent of the beginnings of fascism in other countries — fascism not in its formal political sense, but in the minds and hearts and passions of ordinary people.

We in the U.S. are unwilling to make the vast changes necessary to bring social justice to all the people. We are unwilling to give the money, the energy, the patience, the understanding, to solve the very problems we have created. And we are scared to death of the monster we have permitted to grow to maturity in the basement of our national life.

But which is really the monster — the rioter, or his repressor?

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 18

Your birthday today: You are beginning a two to three year campaign to improve your position in today's changing world. Most of your efforts are creative and original in concept, with varying results in practical application from well - rounded drama to sporadic public notice. The public attention tends to be favorable, helpful. Today's natives tend to be intrigued by nature, and are often philosophers and inventors.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your temptation of the day is petulance, an indulgence in tantrums. Come off it; grow up, and it pays off very quickly. Do some serious study tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Go into this day's duties resolutely, disregarding your inner doubts. Other people's doubts are removed by consistent performance of your day. Do something nice for your mate this evening.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): The tendency today is to scatter reserve energy and funds, to think with your heart. Get full information before you commit your time and money to any project.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Details become burdensome today — there are so many things to keep lined up all day. It may not occur to you ask for help, but it is there if you ask soon enough. Relax this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Travel is not favored today. Accept routine and some homework as normal for the day. Whimsical efforts to improve the deal will backfire. Check your home for security tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Expenses are greater than income today. The mail is favorably stressed, important news probable. Let well enough alone this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Don't seek credit that you could not get directly. And if you have told different stories to different people, they may get together today. Bring home something interesting for your mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): The path is not very smooth today, but emotional support from your regular associates is great. Give some thought to your health care program.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): The green eye of envy is still directed at you from someone nearby. Ignore it, go on with your normal work. Plan a quiet evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): The earlier you get started today the better. Work ingenuity on the job, then celebrate when you get home. Pursue the romantic side of life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Some minor problems arise from your recent actions — a few things you put out have to be brought back. There are people all around willing to help.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The temptation today is to spend more than is required in a search for emotional solace. Find some comparisons for the shopping trip, and things will wind up better.

No Cabinet Post Offered Eric Kierans

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the few certainties about the make-up of the first cabinet of the Trudeau administration is that Eric Kierans won't be in it.

Informants say the former president of the Quebec Liberal Federation has not been approached by the new Liberal leader. They say no approach is expected.

Mr. Kierans is currently on a European holiday after his $150,000 campaign—out of his own pocket—seeking the Liberal leadership won by Mr. Trudeau April 6.

The indications are that Mr. Kierans would have accepted a cabinet position if he was offered one, even though he lacked a Commons seat. This could have been rectified later, possibly in the June 17 four-seat byelection.

Those close to Mr. Kierans say that he is unlikely to try to enter federal politics at all now that the cabinet door has been closed.

Nor is he likely to take back the presidency of the Quebec Liberal Federation which he dropped to run for the national leadership.

Jean Lesage, the Quebec Liberal leader, took the presidency when Mr. Kierans quit. He could drop the additional duty in favor of Mr. Kierans again at some future time. But, there's no indication Mr. Kierans wants to become a force in Quebec politics again.

The party already has a leader. As of now, it appears Mr. Kierans will turn his back on active politics. He is considering re-entering business, where he made a small fortune in earlier years, as an investment banker.

He also has an offer to become the president of a medium-sized Canadian university.

Meanwhile, Mr. Trudeau returns to the capital following a Florida vacation in the midst of his cabinet-making chores.

There's no firm indication yet of the shape of things to come.

External Affairs Minister Martin, reported en route to Justice in the pending shuffle, is still not finally consigned to the new portfolio, informants say.

But the indications are Mr. Martin will stay in the new cabinet, to be announced after Mr. Trudeau takes over as prime minister from Lester Pearson on or around April 22.

Newfie Fishermen Seek Federal Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Officials of the floundering Newfoundland fishing industry meet Fisheries Minister Robichaud here today to outline their bid for vitally-needed federal support.

Mr. Robichaud, in an interview Tuesday, termed the meeting important but was non-committal when asked for reaction to a proposal that his government introduce a support price for fish similar to that paid so many farm products.

"I'm not prepared to say that the answer to their problems is price support."

Newfoundland fishery officials made the proposal in a 15-page brief they circulated among officials here and in their home province.

Mr. Robichaud said the main purpose of today's meeting is "to allow them to discuss this brief with me."

"Following our talks I will report to the cabinet."

He said it is unlikely any immediate decisions will be announced, However, he expected early cabinet consideration of the situation.

The most serious problem confronting the Newfoundland industry, and other parts of the Atlantic Provinces, appears to be in the quick-frozen fish sector which has gradually been replacing the traditional salt-cured, sun-dried cod process.

The crux of the problem is the ever-stiffer competition for Canadian fish in the U.S. market —which absorbs some 70 per cent of all Canadian fish exports —from East and West Germany, Russia, Poland and other countries whose catch is subsidized by governments.

Mr. Robichaud said his reservations about a support price for fish here centre on the possibility of such a policy "having very serious effects on our marketing."

Subsidized Canadian fish entering the U.S. could prompt pressure in that country to impose a tariff on such imports.

Other Newfoundland problems include over-expansion of production capacity and a boom in European production which has denied Newfoundland some of her former markets.

There is a backlog of salted fish left unsold from last year, causing concern as the June start for inshore fishing approaches. Some 80,000 quintals —a quintal is 112 pounds—remain unsold.

Officials have suggested the government might purchase this surplus and sell it at reduced prices or give it away under Canada's external aid program.

One official has suggested creation of a royal commission to look into all aspects of the industry.

Ontario Fears Republic, Balks at Bill of Rights

MONTREAL (CP) — Marc Lalonde, policy adviser to Prime Minister Pearson, said Tuesday Ontario is reluctant to agree to a proposal by the federal government to incorporate a human rights charter into the constitution because it fears the move means "republicanism coming in by the back door."

Mr. Lalonde said part of the Ontario government's hesitation is based on the assumption that "entrenchment of a human rights charter in a repatriated constitution is somehow an introduction of the American system."

He was speaking at a meeting of a Montreal-area branch of the Quebec Liberal Federation along with Jeremy Choquette, member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal-Outremont.

Mr. Lalonde said five provinces—Ontario, British Columbia, Quebec, Alberta and Manitoba—have expressed reservations concerning the government's proposal enunciated at the recent federal-provincial constitutional conference in Toronto.

Both he and Mr. Choquette agreed that the Canadian constitution should include a charter of human rights that would clearly define and protect the rights of all Canadians.

Winters and Martin Ponder Their Future

Korea to Get Voice in Peace

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson has assured South Korea's president of a voice in any peace dealings with North Vietnam and of U.S. support against incursion from North Korea.

Johnson was heading back to his Texas ranch today following his Honolulu conference with President Chung Hee Park, but stopped on the way to breakfast with former president Dwight D. Eisenhower at March Air Force Base, Calif.

Johnson interrupted a Texas Easter vacation to fly to Hawaii Monday for discussions of Vietnam strategy with his Pacific military commanders and then Wednesday's meeting with Park.

A 1,000-word joint communique and a warm embrace by Johnson of his important Asian supporter climaxed the meeting which grew out of strain in U.S.-Korean relations following last January's North Korean assassination attempt against Park and seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

South Korea has nearly 50,000 troops with the southern allied forces in South Vietnam, and some of the Asian leaders have been making it plain they do not want to be bypassed in any peace negotiations. Some have also voiced misgivings Johnson may be too soft toward the Communists with his peace bids.

Johnson reassured Park on this score during an eight-hour session much of which featured talks by the two with no one but interpreters present.

Park publicly endorsed Johnson's reduction of bombing of North Vietnam and other efforts —still unsuccessful—to get talks with Hanoi under way.

On Vietnam, the joint statement said:

—"Coupled with continued resolution and military firmness," the common goal of an honorable and secure peace requires "the strength and will of a diplomatic solution"—and they hope "serious talks on the substance of peace could begin in the near future."

—Johnson reviewed developments that have increased his confidence since his bombing curtailment to encourage peace contacts and Park expressed his satisfaction with these developments."

—Johnson reviewed the position that America envoys would take in direct contacts with North Vietnamese representatives.

Trudeau Chats With Rivals

OTTAWA (CP) — The last Pearson cabinet met Wednesday amid manoeuvres aimed at shaping up the first Trudeau cabinet.

Prime Minister Pearson and the new Liberal party leader, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, were the central figures at the two-hour cabinet session, the first since the April 6 voting that put Mr. Trudeau in the party's top post.

Mr. Pearson, relaxed and obviously happy to be heading into the final days of his political career, had a few words for reporters on the Ulster Orange-Quebec-Paris debacle over an education conference:

But it was Mr. Trudeau, who is to take over from Mr. Pearson next Monday, and his future cabinet that got the lion's share of attention.

Mr. Trudeau spoke Wednesday with Robert Winters, former trade minister, External Affairs Minister Martin and Health Minister MacEachen.

All three ran against him at the leadership convention—Mr. Winters almost to the wire. They are facing decisions on their future political careers.

Mr. Martin had talks with Mr. Trudeau, Mr. Winters flew to Toronto to ponder a reported offer of a senior cabinet position.

Mr. Martin and Mr. Trudeau both looked flustered after their chat.

Finance Minister Sharp, who was a leadership candidate but pulled out on the eve of the convention and supported Mr. Trudeau, is reported in want to switch to the external portfolio.

The pressure has been on Mr. Martin to move to another portfolio. Friends say he is reluctant to do so. There has been talk he might accept a post in justice, the department currently held by Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. MacEachen also is looking for a shift—apparently with an eye also on justice or external affairs.

Solicitor-General Pennell gave Mr. Trudeau some cabinet-making elbow room Wednesday, handing in his resignation from the cabinet and from his Commons seat for the Ontario riding of Brant-Haldimand. The resignation of Labor Minister Nicholson, submitted last week, also becomes effective when Mr. Trudeau moves in as prime minister.

After announcing his resignation, Mr. Pennell said proposed steps to wipe out a criminal's record after a period of good behavior have been approved by the cabinet. "It will give relief to those who have demonstrated

Hanoi Demands Talk Now

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam demanded today that the United States "agree without delay" to Phnom Penh, Cambodia, or Warsaw, Poland, as the site for preliminary peace talks and also stop all attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

The demand, in the official Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan, repeats the charge that the United States is insincere in its talk of peace efforts.

"Once again," it says, "we demand that the U.S. government give up its attitude that shows a lack of goodwill and agree without delay to either Phnom Penh or Warsaw for the site of contacts."

"We demand that the United States stop definitively and unconditionally its bombing and other acts of war on the whole territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may begin."

Nhan Dan says Johnson, in his speech in Honolulu Monday, attempted to blame North Vietnam for the delay in the start of the preliminary talks.

"This is clearly a complete reversal of truth aimed at copying with public opinion which is protesting against the U.S. government," the paper says.

Diplomats in Washington from some of the countries allied with the United States in Vietnam said the U.S. government had objected to Phnom Penh and Warsaw because it had promised that preliminary talks would be held, if possible, in a neutral Asian country to which South Vietnam and its Asian allies could send observer delegations.

Talks May Be Held in Pakistan

RAWALPINDI (Reuters) — Pakistan today said the U.S. state department has asked if it would be willing to be the site of preliminary peace talks on Vietnam between Washington and Hanoi.

An official government spokesman here said Pakistan expressed its willingness to be the site in reply to the American query. He said the state department message was received today.

Greek Leftist Asks Boycott

ATHENS (AP)—Former premier George Papandreou defied house arrest Wednesday and smuggled out an appeal for international political and economic isolation of Greece's military dictatorship.

The statement from the 80-year-old leftist leader said "solidarity and support" from nations of the "free world" would lead to the immediate overthrow of the junta that seized power in a coup April 27, 1967.

Papandreou and former premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos were placed under house arrest Monday in an attempt to prevent them from issuing statements in connection with the first anniversary of the coup.

Unemployment Rate Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's unemployment rate remained at 4.4 per cent of the labor force in March as the number of persons out of work increased slightly to 488,000 from 482,000 in February.

A year ago, mid-March unemployment stood at 409,000 or 3.3 per cent of the labor force.

A joint report by the manpower department and Bureau of Statistics said today that both the labor force and the number of new jobs in the economy grew more slowly than usual in March.

Criminal Records Will Be Erased If Man Reforms

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has given preliminary approval to a plan which will erase criminal records of convicted persons who demonstrate a willingness to go straight.

Larry Pennell, who resigned Wednesday as solicitor-general in Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet, said in an interview that the memoranda still needs final cabinet approval. The plan would in effect wipe out records of summary convictions after three years and of indictable convictions after five years.

Heaviest Raid Yet

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of U.S B-52s hit South Vietnam's A Shau Valley with more than 1,200 tons of bombs Wednesday and today in the war's heaviest aerial blows for a 24-hour period.

At least 90 of the eight-engine Stratofortresses streaked over the valley from bases in Thailand and Guam to bomb North Vietnamese truck parks, storage areas and troop concentrations.

The 25-mile-long valley has become the No. 1 target for the B-52 airstrikes bombing. Senior U.S. officers believe the North Vietnamese may be using the valley as a staging area for another major attack on Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

Intelligence reports told of a steadily-increasing buildup of troops, trucks and possibly tanks in the valley as well as construction of new roads.

The North Vietnamese command is believed to have 25 to 30 battalions in the Hue area perhaps 15,000 to 18,000 men.

Since April 1, the B-52s have flown 52 separate missions over the area, with each mission averaging about six planes.

Meanwhile, the U.S. command said today the number of Americans killed climbed to 363 last week, the highest number in five weeks.

An increase also was reported in the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, while South Vietnamese casualties dropped from the previous week.

Hastings County Holds Tax Line

Hastings county council has held the tax line for 1968.

At a morning session devoted almost entirely to budget discussions, council approved a tax rate of 27.857 mills for municipalities within the county roads system, and a rate of 15.357 for the remainder of the county municipalities.

The county road rate is the same as for last year at 12.2 mills, while the general rate is down slightly but is offset by increased debt charges.

Over-all expenditures for the county this year are estimated at $3,398,302, but with provincial grants and other revenues it reduced to $891,447 to be raised by local levy.

The big factor in holding the 1967 tax line was the decision of the provincial government to assume all costs of administration of justice.

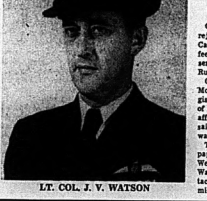
Canada Rejects Charge Air Attache Was Spy

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has rejected Soviet charges that a Canadian officer standing five feet, 11 inches acted as an "observation tower" to peer into Russian military matters.

Canadian embassy officials in Moscow "rejected charges registered by the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs," an external affairs department spokesman said here Wednesday in the wake of the "spy" incident.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported earlier Wednesday that Lt.-Col. J. V. Watson, Canadian military attache in Moscow, and five U.S. military attaches there were involved in spying on army and navy installations.

The Soviet paper account said the Americans used the Canadian officer as an observation tower, spying out objects suitable for photographing over high fences and walls. Records here showed the air force officer's height as an inch under six feet.



Izvestia accused Col. Watson, 45, a native of Lashing, Ont., and the Americans of taking illegal photographs in a Leningrad shipyard. The newspaper also said the men swore at yard officials and refused to hand over their film.

The external affairs spokesman here said the embassy in Moscow reported the Canadian officer and three U.S. attaches were stopped outside the shipyard April 6.

"They were permitted to leave after denying charges of improper activity," he added.

It was the second time this year that Canadian military attaches have been accused of spy activities in Communist countries.

Lt.-Col. Kenneth J. Jefferson of Regina was arrested in Warsaw Jan. 4 and held for 11 hours. He and a military attache were accused of taking pictures in a restricted area.

Eric Starvo Galt Charged with King's Murder

ERIC STARVO GALT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The mysterious Eric Starvo Galt has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, 1964 Nobel Peace Prize-winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

First-degree murder in Tennessee carries the death penalty although the electric chair has not been used in the state since 1960.

The maximum penalty under the federal charge of conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights is a $5,000 fine and 10-year prison sentence.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced in Washington that the conspiracy to "injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate" King began "on or about March 30" in Birmingham.

The FBI statement said a .30-.06 rifle, equipped with a telescopic sight and found near the rooming house shortly after King was slain, was purchased March 30 in alirmingham.

The statement did not connect Galt directly with the rifle.

The FBI released a photograph of Galt and solicited public aid in finding him. Whether this appeal meant the trail had become cold was unclear, but U.S. Attorney-General Ramsey Clark told a reporter in Washington that he felt this was not the situation.

The FBI started hunting for Galt a week ago.

The picture—which had to have the eyes, "opened" by an artist brought uncertain responses from witnesses who were acquainted with Galt or saw the fleeing sniper.

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles O. Stevens, who lives at the rooming house from which the fatal shot apparently was fired.

A source in Birmingham said the photograph was taken within the last three months, although the FBI did not specify when it was made.

"It's very near, but I'm not sure," was the reaction of Peter Chernes, owner of a Birmingham boarding house where an Eric Galt stayed from Aug. 26 to Oct. 7 last year.

The FBI, relying on witnesses apparently, said the fugitive had been described as a white man, five-foot-eight to five-11, weighing 160 to 175 pounds, with brown hair in a brush cut, blue eyes, straight nose.

Persons who have met Galt, the FBI reported, described him as a loner with a "rural" speech and little schooling, fond of vodka, beer and hillbilly music.

"Galt should be considered armed and dangerous," the FBI release warned.

Galt has used the names of John Willard and Harvey Lowmeyer, the FBI said. The assassin registered at the Memphis rooming house under the name of John Willard.

Details of the alleged conspiracy were missing from the FBI release, as were vital statistics, such as Galt's birthplace, formal schooling, employment. The statement said Galt said he has been a cook on Mississippi riverboats, a merchant seaman and "is said to be an avid dancer."

Galt, the FBI said, is the owner of a 1966 white Mustang with Alabama licence plates abandoned in Atlanta the day after King was shot to death.

Two white Mustangs were parked near the rooming house shortly before the shooting, witnesses have said, and both disappeared minutes later.

The FBI said Galt's car travelled more than 19,000 miles between Aug. 30, 1967, when he bought it in Birmingham and the abandonment last week in Atlanta. There were trips to Los Angeles, New Orleans and Mexico, the FBI said.

While in the Los Angeles area early this year, Galt took a course in bartending and graduated March 2, the FBI said, but resumed a job.

County Councillors Will Take Aerial Trip to Spot Wolves

Hastings county councillors are going to take a wolf spotting trip through the northern parts of the country — by air.

Next Monday morning four councillors will board a Department of Lands and Forests plane at Bancroft and scout the northern area on a wolf spotting safari.

The arrangements for the wolf patrol resulted from a discussion yesterday on a reported increase in the wolf population and a possible boost in the wolf bounty as an encouragement to hunters.

Opinion was divided on the subject with councillors speaking out both for and against the wolves but the majority of members seemed to disagree with government biologists that the wolf problem is not serious and that they pose no threat to the deer or sheep population.

Clarke T. Rollins, provincial member for Hastings, who happened to be in the council chambers, agreed that the wolf problem was a controversial matter but assured that the Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed would co-operate in any wolf hunt organized by the local municipalities.

Despite what the naturalist said, Mr. Rollins said he personally had no use for wolves.

The discussion on wolves resulted from the ARDA committee report stating that an increased number of wolves were being killed in the county and the question of whether the bounty should be raised.

County Clerk Treasurer-Administrator Carl Bateman said the county was already breaking the law in paying a $25 bounty. Provincial regulations allow only $25. Townships were not allowed to pay bounty on wolves, it was stated.

One of the most outspoken council members on the wolf problem was Bancroft Reeve Jack Brown who said there were hundreds and possibly one thousand wolves in the north country.

"They were the area north east of Bancroft only three weeks ago he said he had spotted seven wolves on one lake. He said wolves had practically decimated the deer population.

This was borne out by other northern reeves who also said deer numbers could no longer keep sheep because of the wolf threat.

Taking the other view were Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen, Marmora Reeve Wesley Hubbs and Madoc township Reeve Allen Ketcheson.

Reeve Shannon wondered how much actual damage wolves did. He wondered if bounty should be raised to increase the wolf bounty to save the deer so that the deer could be slaughtered wholesale by hunters.

And Reeve Ketcheson said dogs possibly killed as many deer as did the wolves.

But Bancroft Deputy Reeve Hanley said deer hunting was a tourist attraction and suggested the hunting dollar was just as valuable as the fishing dollar.

Wollaston Reeve William O'Brien said he had seen where wolves had killed four deer within a week.

Mr. Rollins suggested that the townships could organize "wolf hunts."

But Deloro Reeve Charles Gordanier, said an organized hunt without aircraft spotters would be useless. As an example he said that a 200 member wolf hunting party in Peterborough county had failed to turn up a single wolf.

Here Mr. Rollins suggested co-operation with the Lands and Forests was almost a certainty and immediately made arrangements with the Tweed forester for the aerial wolf spotting safari.

But Reeve Brown said the trip would be useless at this time of year with no snow on the ground.

"You won't see a wolf from the air with the snow gone," the reeve said "but it will be a good trip."

Total Assessment of County Now Standing at $34,005,550

Hastings county gained $555,075 in assessment last year with the total assessment now standing at $34,005,550.

This is the assessment figure presented by county assessor S. C. Jevons who yesterday presented his annual report to county council.

Mr. Jevons reviewed the county assessment department since it was instituted in 1965, noting that initial field work for re-assessment had now been completed in Marmora, Madoc, Deseronto and Stirling while re-assessment was being carried on in McClure, Wicklow, Bangor, and in the village of Tweed.

Later Mr. Jevons told the Intelligencer that between 15 and 20 per cent of the county had now been re-assessed.

The hope was that the re-assessment program could be completed by the end of 1969.

The assessment report showed Sidney and Thurlow township with more than $12 million between them as being the most heavily assessed municipalities in the county.

Sidney township has 18.34 per cent of the county assessment and Thurlow 19.94 per cent.

Properties assessed for public school support total $32,356,-250 and for separate school support $1,244,300.

During the past year the population of the county increased by 370 to 41,344.

Other reports heard yesterday included that of the roads and bridges committee which recommended approval of $930,400 for regular and supplementary bylaw expenditures.

A levy of 12.5 mills (the same as last year) was recommended for roads and bridges expenditures next year.

An amount of $131,300 has been estimated as the cost of acquiring rights-of-way and fencing for development of road projects.

The Crookston Road is the only new development road project expected for this year. Total development road expenditures for the year are estimated at $783,000.

Bridges will cost an estimated $196,000 and county roads an estimated $314,200.

Industrial committee chairman Reeve R. C. Graham said that a study in depth should be done in the county to prepare a list of assets which could be beneficial in the county program to attract industry. He urged that all municipalities make application to qualify under the provincial industrial assistance program.

Reeve Barbara Allen presented the county educational consultative committee report and said that further opposition to the Department of Education move to form county boards of education would "simply be an exercise in futility."

The council at a special meeting on March passed resolutions opposing the county board of education idea.)

Mrs. Allen said that many of the responsibilities associated with her committee had been sublimated to the interim steering committee who are gathering information vital to the proposed new county boards of education.

However, the committee would continue to meet regularly and be available for consultation if required.

Mrs. Allen said the committee had attended a meeting requested by the Foxboro Home and School Association to give consideration to the location of the proposed five-room addition to the Foxboro School.

Nearly $67,000 Surplus

County in Sound Financial Condition

Today was budget day for Hastings county councillors and although costs are increasing all along the line, council commenced discussions with one point in its favor.

That point was an operating surplus of $68,984 carried over from 1967.

The total surplus of the county is now $125,382.50, council was told.

County Warden Calvin White said budget discussions were expected to take at least a full day. The session got underway Wednesday morning and is expected to last until Friday afternoon.

County auditor Robert Mc-Caw told council that last year's $66,984 surplus was made up of $53,900 in the general account and $13,000 in the roads and bridges account.

Total revenue of the county last year, including $1,447,202 in grants from the provincial government, was $2,-623940. Of this amount $883,-900 was collected in local levy from the various municipalities.

The big expenditure item was county roads which took $1,659,066. Debt charges took $183,811 and law enforcement $213,761.

During the morning session yesterday reports from the county welfare committee, the finance committee and the personnel committee were heard.

The personnel committee report read by chairman Donald Rodgers, reeve of Stirling, spelled out pay increases granted to workers at Hastings Manor. The pay increases amount to 15 per cent during the first year and 7½ per cent the second year in a two-year contract. Also hours of work will be reduced to 40 from 44 and nine and a half will be paid for overtime.

Session pay for council members has been increased from $15 per day, for both council and committee work and a $1,000 rise in the warden's honorarium has been recommended.

The finance committee is recommending grants of $1,500 to the Hastings Rural Hastings Tourist Association, $1,000 to the Madawaska Valley Association and $500 to the Land of Lakes Association, all the same amounts as last year.

Provision of additional accommodation for the clerk treasurer's administrative and his staff has been made with a former second floor committee room having been renovated for this purpose. Cost of the alterations, plus furnishings, will amount to about $2,000.

The county welfare committee has recommended to the county council and to the city of Belleville that favorable consideration be given to the inclusion of the town of Trenton in the Hastings county welfare department.

Subject to approval of the two official bodies, the extension of welfare services to Trenton could commence June 1, it was stated.

The new county welfare department which also includes the city of Belleville, is scheduled to go into operation on May 1.

Reeve Rodgers told county councillors that the Hastings-Belleville welfare unit was the first consolidation of welfare services in Ontario to include both a county and a city.

A resolution has been forwarded to the Minister of Social and Family Services asking for consideration of granting a 75 per cent subsidy on administrative costs for the local regional unit.

Malcolm Byrne Wins Marathon

TRENTON — A grilly grade 11 Trenton high school student was the only long distance runner in a field of 15 entries to cross the finish line of the better than 30 mile around the bay marathon staged yesterday.

Malcolm Byrne, 16, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Byrne, tired but elated after the gruelling race said he was hopeful he'd finish when he started at 9 a.m. at Glen Ross at Belleville and knew he could make it all the way on arriving at Bayside still about five miles short of his goal. He covered the route in the shape of a giant oval in the good time of three and a half hours.

The 15 marathoners are all members of the high school's Olympic track team involved in a project to raise money for Canada's Olympic teams and themselves. Each entry had a sponsor (in the majority of cases more than one sponsor) committed to pay so much per mile providing a stipulated point on the course was reached. Their combined effort produced more than $300 as members averaged better than 15 miles apiece for the cause.

Favored to win grade 12 student, Duncan Rogerson, already a veteran in long distance competition was forced out at the Repair Depot road after staying well ahead of the pack for 28 miles. Stubborn Ed Martin was forced to quit at 20 miles.

Other high school students participating in the fund-raising grind with pavement underfoot throughout were: Pat Larry, Jim Stewart, Jim Steenburg, Mike Surina, Ian Scarborough, John Hicks, Bob Carl, Bob Powell, Bill Wallace, Ken Danylchuck, Rick Norman and Dave Prudhomme.

Chemistry teacher Peter Howe coaches the high school distant runners and was in charge of yesterday's race.

Obituaries

ALLEN OWEN REID (Rawdon)

The funeral of Allen Owen Reid was held Tuesday, April 16th in Mount Pleasant-Rawdon United Church and was largely attended. Rev. W. C. Cox officiated and there were two hymns: Blest Be the Tie that Binds and Breath of God.

Members of Rawdon Municipal Council and representatives from the former Rawdon school area sat in a group at the service.

The bearers were Lindsay McKeown, Albert Hubble, Harold White, John Morgan, Raymond McConnell and Orne Berry.

The interment was made in Mount Pleasant Church Cemetery.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Duffin Hogle Funeral Home, Stirling.

ROBERT WRIGHT

The funeral for Robert Wright was held yesterday from the chapel of the Grant Funeral Home to interment in White Lake Cemetery, Rev. Robert A. Crooks officiated.

The bearers were Reginald Parks, Walter Way, Robert Wessels, Harry Coulter, James Reynolds and Gordon Gay.

Transit Commission Expects Deficit

The Belleville Transit Commission carried 404,367 passengers and city buses rolled up a total of 365,988 miles during 1967 and in doing so had a deficit of $44,563.

For 1968 more passengers will be carried and buses will run even more miles, while the deficit is expected to climb to $54,615.

This was the Transit Commission picture presented to city council Monday evening by Commission chairman J. A. Ireland as he presented the year's budget.

Mr. Ireland said Commission revenue was expected to increase from $190,028 to $198,583 while on the other hand expenditures would jump from $240,563 to $253,201, resulting in the anticipated $54,615 deficit.

"Our costs go up about nine per cent each year but revenue goes up only about four or five per cent," he said.

Alderman E. A. Orr observed that the transit commission deficit was roughly 25 per cent of total revenue and asked how this compared with municipally operated bus lines in other cities.

Mr. Ireland said the deficit percentage in Belleville was quite comparable to other cities.

Mr. Ireland said the Belleville buses were actually did better last year than was expected. Early in the year a deficit of $49,000 had been anticipated whereas the actual deficit was $44,563.

Operating costs per mile for city buses were given as 48.2 cents with revenue of 40.8 cents per mile. The operating loss per mile at 7.4 cents was the lowest since 1964 when it was 6.9 cents.

Mr. Ireland said the commission still had five buses of 1951 vintage and earlier which had run more than half a million miles each.

These buses were used mostly as spares and were due for replacement on a bus a year basis over the next five years.

Looking ahead, Mr. Ireland said it was expected that fare revenue for 1968 would amount to $141,000 as compared to $134,743 last year.

On the other hand wages and salaries would be $119,-000 as compared with $111,-004 last year.

PICTON — Tourists and campers have already begun to arrive in Prince Edward County.

Mrs. Isabelle Strong, secretary of the Quinte Isles Tourist Association, said that the tourists don't normally arrive in any significant numbers until May, but the recent warm weather has stepped up the season.

Officials of the association agree that this year will see larger crowds than did 1968, but they seem divided as to whether last year was one to boast about.

No accurate figures were available, but president R. A. Dewer felt that the numbers of tourists here last year were low.

He blamed Expo 67 for the reduction saying that, "Quinte is off the beaten track. We were hurt badly by the production."

Mrs. Strong however, said that it seemed that more tourists than ever before had requested information from the association.

She pointed out however that it was impossible to make a definite estimate.

Another factor in any reduction in tourists was the increased pollution in area waters said Mr. Owen.

"That problem however is slowly being overcome" he added.

The Association, formed 18 years ago, is largely responsible for promotion of the county.

Mrs. Strong said "20,000 pamphlets were distributed last year to American Chambers of Commerce, to recreation centres, and to boards of trade."

A huge billboard is to be erected at the western entrance to the county on Highway 401, describing area attractions.

It is hoped that a second billboard will be erected in 1969.

"Prime attractions to the area," said Mr. Owen, "are the sand banks, the excellent fishing, the many marinas offering complete water recreational facilities and a large number of scenic and historical sites."

Secondary Schools in Marmora, Stirling Priced at $145,741

The price for the purchase of secondary schools in Marmora and Stirling by the Central Hastings Public School Board has been set at $145,741.

The two schools will be sold by the Bay of Quinte High School Board at the end of the school year.

Students attending the schools at the present time will transfer to either Belleville or the Hastings High School in Madoc.

At a Bay of Quinte board meeting in Marmora last night it was revealed that the Marmora School would be sold for $116,118 while the Stirling School would be sold for $29,623.

The prices were worked out from a Department of Education formula used in the sale of secondary schools to public school boards.

Earlier separate school authorities protested the method used to calculate the price.

A change in the method using a two per cent depreciation figure, on the cost of the units, was used but a second suggestion by separate authorities could not be handled under provincial government regulations.

At Marmora the Central Hastings Public board will be getting a school with ten instructional units. The first section was built in 1958 with an addition in 1957.

The total original cost of the school, based on a value of $25,000 per unit, was $250,000. It consists of six classrooms, one agriculture science room, a shop, home economics room and a gymnasium.

The four Stirling School consists of 13 units with an original value of $425,000. There are five classrooms, one commercial room, two science labs, one home economics room, one music and lunch room, a library classroom, one shop and a gymnasium.

The first section was built in 1926 with additions in 1938 and 1961.

Bay of Quinte authorities expect the transfer of the students from these schools will generally lower the cost per pupil in educating the students.

The cost factor at the present schools is higher than it would normally be in the larger units.

An addition is planned at Madoc to handle the extra students while Centennial School in Belleville has the capacity to handle students from the Stirling area.

The Bay of Quinte Board will probably have to rent space at the Madoc Armories for classes next fall. The additions at the Centre Hastings School, which will double the capacity from 600 to 1,200 students, cannot be completed in time for the fall term.

NORMAN HUNT MANTLE

(Wellington - Belleville)

A resident of Wellington but who was employed most of his life in Belleville, Norman Hunt Mantle, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday. He suffered a heart attack about nine days ago and a second seizure followed on Wednesday from which he did not recover.

Mr. Mantle was born in England, 65 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evan Mantle. As a youth he came to Canada and soon entered the automotive business as a mechanic. He was employed with J. B. Boyce and Sons for many years and rose to be foreman. When Mr. Boyce retired from business he joined the Stevenson Ford company in the same capacity. He was a valued employee and enjoyed the confidence of his employers and fellow employees.

He was a member of the United Church in Wellington and fraternally was a member of Eureka Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 283.

Surviving are his wife, the former Eileen Wilder, one daughter, Eva Eileen at home, three sisters, Mrs. E. J. (Mary) Jones, Mrs. L. (Queenie) Webb, both of England, Mrs. C. (Daisy) Skelcher of Simcoe and three brothers, Bernard and Charles of England, William of Belleville. Predeceased are a sister, Mrs. A. (Cissie) Brown and a brother Gilbert. Also surviving are a number of nieces and nephews.

Resting at the Ainsworth Funeral Home, Wellington. Service in the chapel on Friday at 2.30 p.m. with interment in Wellington cemetery. Rev. N. J. Truax will officiate.

that they have rehabilitated themselves," he commented.

Mr. Pennell is expected to wind up on the Ontario bench and Mr. Nicholson is expected to become British Columbia's next lieutenant-governor.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh has also submitted her resignation, as has Walter Gordon, former president of the Privy Council, opening other avenues for Mr. Trudeau to bring in new ministers.

He has said he wants to have the new cabinet selected for Monday, when Mr. Pearson is to turn over the top political post to his successor.

Mr. Pearson said the dispute about Canadian representation at a Paris meeting on French-language education was discussed in cabinet.

Mr. Trudeau noted it was not an exact parallel of the Gabon issue last February, when the little African country bypassed Ottawa and sent an invitation to Quebec to attend the opening conference meeting there. Canada broke off diplomatic relations with Gabon after that incident.

This time, Paris sent notifications, not an official invitation, to Quebec that the conference would be resuming there Monday.

Mr. Trudeau indicated there would be no further federal action until the government sees what sort of French reception is given a Quebec delegation in Paris Monday.

Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal of Quebec, who says he is going to Paris, was received in Gabon last February like a head of state in what was widely thought to be a deliberate French-inspired flouting of Ottawa.

Tweed Wants School

The Tweed Council is upset about the possible loss of the secondary school in the village.

In a motion passed at a recent council meeting and presented at a meeting of the Bay of Quinte High School Board last night the council asks for favorable consideration in enlargement of the Tweed School.

They also ask that a moratorium be placed on school construction until the new county wide board of education is formed next January.

The Bay of Quinte Board is planning a $2,300,000 addition to the Centre Hastings School at Madoc and construction will probably start this summer.

The capacity of the Madoc school would jump from 600 to 1,200 students.

The motion points out that residents of the Tweed-Hungerford area voted in favor of a secondary school in the village several years ago.

About 250 students attend Tweed High School at the present time. Another 100 students travel to the Centre Hastings School at Madoc.

Words—or Action?

The Victoria, B.C. Voice of Women have gone on record as saying the world has a much greater chance of being saved from nuclear disaster, or "complete paralysis" by pollution, starvation, plague or over-population, if women are given a real voice.

There is nothing like blowing one's own trumpet and the Victoria ladies did themselves proud when they presented the above in a brief to the Royal Commission on the Status of Women the other day.

The trouble is, they did not say how they would go about accomplishing this formidable task. Scientists the world over are already fighting a losing battle against pollution, over-population and hunger. These are specific maladies demanding specific scientific cures and not just vague suggestions that women could make a better job of it.

If the Voice of Women in Victoria really meant business they would patrol the beaches and docksides, picking up rubbish and exhorting tourists and seamen alike to guard against pollution. They would pick up their gardens and plant them with food to increase the food supply. They would support family planning programs, and like the missionaries they would go into remote regions and work where disease and human need are prevalent. Where nuclear war is concerned, that threat has subsided and short of gaining entrance to the inner sanctum where the missile systems are manned in a state of constant readiness, or marching on Washington and Moscow, there is little the ladies can do about it.

Instead of high-sounding claims that their influence would be beneficial, the women would be better employed if they did something. That would be the real test. The suffragettes learned in London many years ago that they had to get out and fight for what they wanted. So it is today. Actions speak louder than words.

Exam Neurosis

Pity the student in the crowded classroom. Even more the student in the crowded examination room.

Here the young people are on their mettle. And the thought occurs, is it better in an examination to be one of, say, 20 sitting (and sweating) it out, or one of 600?

The latter number wrote papers on the first day of exams at the University of Toronto Monday. And it was all very impersonal — as exams are whether you are one of 20 or one of 600. You are alone, that is, with your paper, the sociology, philosophy and language (French) students who sat in the desolate cavern of Varsity Arena the other day felt particularly alone.

"Alienation" . . . that is one of today's "in" words, and it probably held special meaning for those sitting at individual desks in long rows stretching from one end of the arena to the other. All around were the empty spectator seats and there was not even an official or two keeping an eye on the students.

Didn't one of the Kennedy boys of Boston, now a distinguished U.S. senator, once admit he had cheated during exam time? Yes pity the students — out there alone in the arena. Surrounded by his fellows, but still alone. Wouldn't it have been better to set the exam in an atmosphere more conducive to scholarly thought? Say a large hall with panelled walls and uniformed attendants looking down on the scene? Does it have to be a utilitarian, make-shift place without soul like Varsity Arena? Without warmth or inspiration.

The comment of Dr. George Woodhouse, health service director, was significant. "We see more people in panic and anxiety states now than we might see during the rest of the year. For the first time in years, no one was escorted from Varsity Arena in hysterics."

From this we might conclude that the young people are coming to terms with their doubts and fears and that sense of alienation. And replacing them with a sense of confidence and . . . "well, what does it matter where the exam is held, I'm going to pass the thing. It is all in the mind. Yes, all in the mind."

Prince Edward Project

Shifting sands and lack of dock space are two problems facing the Wellington district of Prince Edward County.

Prince Edward-Lennox MP Douglas Alkenbrack has described the present channel opening at Wellington as "inefficient." However, he told a recent meeting of the district development association that dredging of the harbor is to begin at once, and that a study of the channel will be made to determine movement of the sands.

These are developments which augur well for the future of this area of our neighboring county.

Trudeau Faces Up to Intrigue and Divisions in Party

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA—Pierre Elliott Trudeau could be finding his party's leadership convention wounds not all that easy to heal.

And first aid to the fallen was his lead-off post-victory pledge, his "number one priority" as he phrased it.

For some of those wounds are deep, and there is still a great deal of bleeding.

As self-appointed medical advisor to his party, he may be discovering the most difficult and frustrating wound — defying his best political physician's skill to staunch — is the hemorrhage between the "old establishment's" Robert Winters and the "new wave's" recent recruit, Mitchell Sharp.

The old hands, who carried on the party after Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent, were never deliriously happy to even entirely comfortable with Lester Pearson.

Especially the "establishment" wing of the party that saw Liberalism's finest reflection in the image of the "St. Laurent man," Winters, Paul Martin and Paul Hellyer.

And if Lester Pearson never was their pinup prime minister, they LOVED Mitchell Sharp — for all the ringing platitudes about party solidarity and rallying around the Grit flag — runs even less risk of winning any prime ministerial popularity contest.

And while it now is the fashionable political thing to brush off the non-swingers as a forlorn lot of rejected fuddy-duddies, they did have a faithful following — a big one, although not quite big enough, as the convention vote proved — and still have.

It's from that very deep cut between the New and the Old that most of the blood is spilling.

What scares the old hands about Pierre Elliott Trudeau is the unknown quantity of the man, the lack of a dependable record of political performance.

Everything all his life has come easy to Pierre Elliott Trudeau — all the makings, from birth, of instant success, much money, great intellect and a bilingualism that is beautiful in the perfection of its fluency.

He has had to wish for nothing.

Not even to become Liberal leader and prime minister.

For that came almost as effortlessly as everything else.

So how can the man, who like to consider themselves the "trustees" of the Liberal party, be sure that Pierre Elliott Trudeau, when he finds how hot it is in the prime minister's political kitchen, will even burns his fingers a time or two, just won't throw up his hands and chuck the whole thing?

How can they be sure he won't take off for Tahiti?

For the agonies of this uncertainty, they all blame Mitchell Sharp.

That he withdrew from the leadership race was bad enough, but that he publicly supported Pierre Elliott Trudeau was insidiously worse.

They still insist that Pierre Elliott Trudeau is about as much Liberal Sharp's kind of man as the man-in-the-moon.

Then why did Mitchell Sharp do it?

They swear it was an act of retribution against Robert Winters.

For when Winters initially excluded himself from the leadership race, he charged there was what he termed a lack of "fiscal integrity" in the government, and as the administration's money - man, Sharp took this as an unforgivable insult to his honor. Beyond enduring.

How best then, when Winters changed his mind and entered the race, to ruin his chances? Simple.

Support Pierre Elliott Trudeau, and in supporting him throw a most urgently needed lack of responsibility, even accountability about his grotesquely devil-may-care shoulders.

But how will Canada Newfoundland Premier Smallwood's "aberration," as the old hands see it?

For that, Winters should look into the mirror. Joey was with him, as proved and loyal a benefactor, at the outset, but when Winters said he wasn't running, the premier became committed to Trudeau, a headline - maker, like himself. And with a man like Mr. Smallwood, a commitment is a commitment.

But amid all the black bitterness of the old establishment, though, there is just the faintest gleam of sunny hope: can Pierre Elliott Trudeau be as good as he now looks and sounds?

Letters to the Editor

Medicare and the Provinces

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Last December an Ontario newspaper stated under heading of "No moment for yielding" that if it didn't look suspiciously like the first step in total surrender to Ottawa over the medical care issue, the provincial government's decision to combine its hospital and medical insurance operations would be one step in the right direction. To abandon the ship Mr. Robarts should be consulting with Mr. Johnson to determine just what kind of a medicare scheme will best serve their two provinces. They would then be set to bring Ottawa to heel; and heading up the two biggest provinces and holding at least of the political dynamite, they could do it.

It is obvious that formidable resistance is arrayed behind the provincial governments and implementation of the peoples' medicare is uncertain.

The 1967 payments of the Saskatchewan medical care insurance commission were $23,338,-000, an increase of more than $1 million over 1966. The Health Minister described the cost as frightening, and stating April 1 patients must pay part of their doctor's bills — half of the $3 for an office visit, and $2 of the $5 for a house call.

That's strange, and coming so close to July 1 when federal cost-sharing is supposed to become available. The approximate $10 million could be used for an orderly increase in the unrealistic doctors' fee schedule which has been in effect well over 5 years and to reduce the flat rate premium for families.

Imagine being alarmed over the slight rise in payments. Ontario medical fees were raised in 1967 with a 41 increase in office visits bringing that cost to OMSIP to $4.50. Our OMSIP premium is being raised 18 percent starting July 1.

Ambulance Maintenance

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Yet because it is an ambulance, it is allowed to drive at high speeds and is a menace to other people's safety, let alone the poor person who expects to get to the hospital in at least the same condition as he was when put into the ambulance.

I think more rigid control by both the Government and City Police is called for to protect life and limb of the patient and the ambulance firms who are at least try-ing to do an honest job for the public.

JUST WONDERING

Dairy Producers' Campaign

Brockville Recorder and Times

A war is being waged in Ontario newspapers these days but few people other than those directly involved realize that it is taking place. They read the advertisements and don't understand what it's all about. It has to do with the egg and poultry marketing plan and what will be followed in this province as a result of a vote by the Ontario Egg and Poultry Producers Marketing Board.

It appears that an affirmative vote will result in control for egg and poultry producers, somewhat akin to those imposed on dairy farmers by the Milk Marketing Board. A farmer will have to have a licence to sell eggs and poultry and prices will be set, although there apparently aren't any quotas involved. According to advertisements appearing in this newspaper, there is some opposition to the plan to grant the Egg and Poultry Marketing Board such powers.

We often wonder whether the Marketing Board has their restrictive practices work to the best advantage of the individual farmer. Certainly the farmer needs protection from the giants of the feed industry and the chain stores, but is a marketing Board the answer? We don't think so if it results in handships to farmers who sell their produce on the local farmers' market on Saturdays here.

U. S. Presidential Race

Humphrey A "Non-Candidate" But He Has Strong Support

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The all but announced candidacy of Vice-President Hubert Horatio Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination would bring to this remarkable U.S. campaign a veteran whose strength has non-candidacy has already won him broad and powerful support.

Although President Johnson, occupied with making war and peace in Vietnam, has determined to remain aloof from the campaign, Humphrey supporters count on him to endorse their man at some propitious time before the August nominating convention.

But even if Johnson doesn't speak the words, there will be no doubt in anyone's mind that he favors his vice-president over Senator Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy, the last man Johnson would endorse.

Without speaking a word, in fact, Johnson is in a position to help Humphrey perhaps even more than he could have helped himself had he decided to seek re-nomination. Already he is conspicuously thrusting Humphrey into the councils of decision. And if Johnson is successful in even ending Vietnam peace talks he will at once take Humphrey off that hook and also deflate peace candidates Kennedy and McCarthy.

If the talks come to naught Humphrey can continue to emphasize the country's peace effort over its war effort. At worst he can only be accused of being associated with Johnson's policy, but with greater ease as Johnson would have been had he entered the campaign.

Humphrey, although many voters tend to forget it, was the darling of the liberals in the 1950s and early 1960s and was instrumental in getting through Congress the 1964 Civil Rights Act, strongest measure of its kind this century. The Peace Corps, established by President John F. Kennedy after he defeated Humphrey in the 1960 nomination race, was actually Humphrey's idea.

But his liberal image has suffered immensely in recent years. Thus in the shifting sands of American politics, Humphrey already is seen more to the right of the two liberals he would oppose. One of his first jobs, as candidate to be, would be to regain liberal support, but he can't be expected to try to out-liberal his opponents.

In fact, there are reports that the Humphrey camp is delighted with the display of frenzied teen-age crowds that McCarthy and, more particularly, Kennedy, have been drawing. The belief is that these exhibitionists are upsetting middle-aged America —the middle-of-the-roaders, organized labor, middle-class Negroes —to whom Humphrey looks for his widest support.

Already he has the backing of former president Harry S. Truman and George Meany, president of the powerful AFL-CIO—two volatile leaders of the Democratic establishment.

While American youth, many of pre-voting age, swarm to the Kennedy and McCarthy camps, Humphrey, in his recent non-campaign speeches, has been hitting hard at the line that the U.S. is an adult nation in need of mature, experienced leadership — an oblique reference to Kennedy's youth and McCarthy's inexperience.

County Councillors Guests of Grills

Hastings county councillors last night got to meet the heads of the various Belleville area federal civil service departments.

The occasion was an informal dinner party at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel when councillors, county officials and the federal civil servants were the guests of Lee Grills, federal member for South Hastings.

Area press and radio representatives were also invited guests at the dinner arranged by Belleville Alderman Gerald Joyce, campaign manager for Mr. Grills.

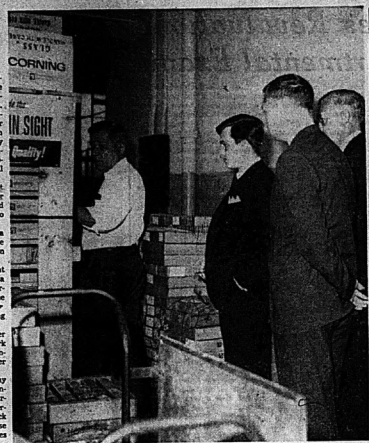
Clarke T. Rollins, provincial member for Hastings riding, said such meetings were all to the good as it gave municipal representatives and government officials an opportunity to discuss matters of interest.

Mr. Grills said the primary purpose of the dinner party was to associate county councillors with the federal civil servants so they may know where to direct enquiries.

Referring briefly to the political scene at Ottawa, Mr. Grills said the past six months had resulted in a changed picture with conventions naming new leaders for the two major parties.

"The new Conservative leadership had resulted in more constructive criticism of government operations," he said.

Mr. Grills said Liberal politicians under Prime Minister Pearson had been divided with cabinet ministers apparently going their own way on empire building moves with programs brought in for political expediency.



Resumption of parliament under the new Liberal leader Pierre Elliott Trudeau would be interesting, according to Mr. Grills.

He said Mr. Trudeau was a question mark to him, but he prophesied a general election this fall.

Mr. Grills said Canadians at the next election would have a choice between the free enterprise system favored by the Conservative party or Mr. Trudeau's stand of left wing socialism.

A question and answer period chaired by county clerk treasurer Carl Bateman concluded the informal dinner party.

Questions ranged all the way from tax problems, increased employment insurance rates, and CN rail service, to why a standard truck purchased for municipal use was subject to federal sales and excise tax.

Three of the eight assistant trade commissioners who are touring Belleville's industry today go through American Optical Canada Ltd. with plant manager Paul Sigmund. The commissioners, before going to their posts abroad tour all Canadian industry involved in exporting.

Trenton's Industrial Park Will Get New Watermain

TRENTON — The chairman and secretary manager of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission were authorized to borrow up to $80,000 from the town of Trenton at a meeting of the Commission yesterday.

The capital made available to the Commission will be used for the new watermain installation to the new Industrial Park. The loan will be repaid by the Commission through the issue of debentures at a later date.

The industrial park referred to comprises 65 acres of land south of 401 highway. A 20 acre piece of the acreage was sold to Moore Business Forms earlier.

An area of 35 acres north of the four - lane route is also suitable for industrial location but will not be serviced by the proposed watermain at this time.

The Commission received a delegation from the Trenton Memorial Hospital including board chairman S. O. Graham and board member Ken Couch. The delegation sought a separation of costs of primary and secondary installations in the new addition now under construction. The Commission agreed to the hospital board proposal.

The Commission is entertaining a proposal to adopt a system with more control over the collection of heating charges from tenants renting Utilities equipment.

Could Be Rabid

Dog Bites Passerby in City

Health authorities, now on guard against a rabies threat, today are anxiously trying to trace a dog that bit a passerby in West Belleville.

Urgency underlines the search since, say health officials, the victim refuses to undergo anti-rabies injections until the disease is identified in the animal.

Hastings - Prince Edward Health officer Dr. C. R. Lenk said the incident occurred Tuesday morning on Highland Avenue in the Burton Street area.

The doctor identified the victim as J. Toth, a new Canadian, resident at Potter's cabins, R. R. 3, Belleville.

Mr. Toth, said the health officer, was walking downtown when he was bitten by a long-haired dog, about 18 inches high, with a long tail.

"The man apparently was attacked without any provocation," said Dr. Lenk.

The report was slightly delayed in reaching local authorities. Mr. Toth apparently first mentioned the incident while at city federal immigration offices and an official cautioned him to visit the health service.

Health officers yesterday tried unsuccessfully to locate the dog and observe it for possible rabies.

"We've spent a considerable amount of time trying but we've found no trace of it," said Dr. Lenk.

He appealed to the owner to come forward if he recognizes the animal's description.

Until its condition is verified, added the health officer, Mr. Toth has refused to undergo the 14-day anti-rabies injection treatment.

The incident was the latest in a current alarm over rabies in the Belleville area. Earlier this week health authorities revealed three children were undergoing injections after the disease had been identified in a cat and a dog.

Since the threat mounted earlier this year, police and health officials have warned householders to keep pets from running at large.

Trade Commissioners Tour Belleville Plants

Canada is a very big product for any salesman to have in his suitcase but it is the only product that Canada's trade commissioners have to sell.

Each year the trade commissioner service of the department of trade and commerce recruits a number of young officers, who after a period of training in Canada are assigned to Canadian trade offices abroad.

A group of eight of these assistant trade commissioners are touring local industries today to better familiarize themselves with Canadian industry involved in exporting.

Belleville's industrial commissioner, Ray Brown, is accompanying the tour, along with Arthur McFarland, who is the director of student services at Loyalist College.

Mr. McFarland is also attempting to familiarize himself with local industry so that he may be better able to direct students to summer and permanent jobs.

The assistant trade commissioners will have gone through Black Diamond Cheese Ltd., American Optical Co. - Ltd., Stephens - Adamson Mfg. Co. Ltd., and Avon Jewellery Ltd. before they finish their tour of Belleville.

After Belleville they will be moving on to tour other communities in Canada before going to their posts abroad.

College Admission Faces Revaluation With Departure of Departmental Exams

By STEVE BISHOP

With the province-wide departmental examinations gone from the Grade 13 picture, the question of university admission faces a re-evaluation. The academic standards of individual high schools now takes on increasing importance.

The new system is still less than a year old, so it is as yet impossible to judge the reaction of the universities to the lack of the departmentals which previously played such a large part in determining who was in and who was out.

But it is not too early to discuss the trend which might develop in student admission policies of the universities.

These anticipated trends were discussed by the principals and guidance counsellors of the city's four major secondary schools.

BCI principal William MacKay pointed out an immediate change in the reduction of Ontario scholarships from $400 to $150. He explained that it was difficult to award entrance scholarships without a uniform standard on which to base the awards.

Mr. MacKay added that it was no longer possible to judge students solely on the basis of a final exam. With the emphasis now on the whole year's work, the percentage of a student's mark given on the final exam has gone well below the 65 per cent of a year ago.

In subjects such as history, where the final exam represents a cross-section of the year's work, the final exam will count in the area of 35 percent. In others, such as mathematics, where the year's work can be sectioned off, the final may count as low as 20 percent.

Mr. MacKay also foresaw the possibility of accreditation of secondary schools in the universities in the future. Thus, a university might judge an applicant from a certain school on the basis of the performance of other students from that school, with certain schools emerging as preferred list. This list might well be an informal one for the private use of the university.

Accreditation or not, Mr. MacKay stated; "The schools must maintain standards of scholarship in line with those of previous years."

Harold Mott, BCI's guidance counsellor, said that universities were now accepting students on the basis of high marks on the mid-term exams provided they completed the year's work to the satisfaction of the principal. These marks are in the area of 70 percent, and the students will be notified after May 15.

Another factor which might enter into the admission picture is the series of achievement and aptitude tests for Grade 11 studgts, initiated last year. The English test was written by students across the province on Tuesday of this week, and physics previous to that, with mathematics yet to come.

"I hope these tests might help a student get into university if his year's work is in question," Mr. Mott said. "But I hope lower marks on the tests will not keep him out if his year's work is satisfactory."

Mr. Mott also indicated that he was against a trend toward accreditation development.

Moira principal Linton D. Read emphasized the fact that this year's final exams, while not province-wide, would be marked by senior teachers, more than half of whom have marked departmentals. Thus the marking should be as fair, and probably fairer, than it was in the past.

Mr. Read also pointed out that more stress will be put on the confidential report, which is a collection of comments from a student by the principal and those teachers who taught him during his high school years.

"Now, foretelling the probable success of a student should be better than ever," he said.

He acknowledged the possibility of accreditation, "The schools have sent out graduates for so long that the universities probably have some standards by which to judge the schools already," Mr. Read stated. "Certainly there has been competition for the top graduates."

Moira guidance counsellor Robert Henderson felt that the confidential reports would now become the most important source of information in determining university entrance.

Mr. Henderson noted that an over - emphasis on the achievement and aptitude tests would not be an immediate possibility, since the tests had been in operation only a few years.

Even when a definite pattern can be established with these tests, the universities would use them as just one part of the total picture, Mr. Henderson stated.

"Just as a doctor makes a diagnosis from several areas, the universities will use these tests as a diagnostic tool, not the whole thing," he said.

Mr. Henderson saw accreditation as a retrogressive step from the previously - stated policy of minimum standards for all secondary schools.

Quinte principal John Hayman was also against accreditation. He felt, with 50 percent emphasis on term work for each of the three sets of exams, students and teachers could experiment and create a greater interest in school matter. And high standards could be maintained.

"We can now hold seminars and special projects, which help prepare students for university," Mr. Hayman added. "Later on, we will be holding a meeting of Grade 13 staff and students to evaluate this year's program and prepare for next year's."

Mrs Norma Grant, Quinte's guidance counsellor, felt that it was too early to judge the effect of the achievement and aptitude tests on university entrance, and that the main emphasis would be on the confidential report.

She stated that while accreditation may develop, it was not the intention of the department of education that such a trend take place.

"The trend is toward the ungraded system, with the emphasis on the individual rather than the group," Mrs. Grant said, "so that accreditation may be difficult to use."

Centennial principal W. J. Musgrove was of the opinion that while there was a de-emphasis of the final exam, which tended to over - stress Grade 13 in the past, a final evaluation was necessary.

Thus the Ontario Institute for Education is experimenting with the possibility of objective tests for a final evaluation.

Mr. Musgrove pointed out that such developments are slow, and cited the implementation of a common application form, which took five years to bring into being.

Another problem to be solved, he stated, was that of alternate choice of universities by students, which provides an annual difficulty for the universities. The development of a common centre for applications may remedy this problem.

"With all this," Mr. Musgrove said, "the confidential report is what the registrars value and expect to value."

Sid Alcorn, Centennial's guidance counsellor, felt that an over - emphasis on the achievement and aptitude tests and accreditation should not develop because of the excellent liaison now provided between universities and secondary schools.

"There is a new co - operation between universities and secondary schools," he said. "The universities are consulting with the schools through liaison officers."

Mr. Alcorn was especially encouraged by the new wealth of information in supplied by university booklets, and by the fact that liaison had been established with Centennial despite the fact that it does not yet have Grades 12 and 13.

That's how university entrance stands at the moment, and how it might develop in the future. With the passing of the departmentals, the picture could be brighter than ever.

Museum Project Continues

Spring house cleaning the Hastings County Historical Society's Museum on Church Street has been undertaken by the BCIVS Key Club. Over the past two months, more than 30 Club members have participated in renovations, repairs, painting, clean-up and overhauling of the Museum.

Crates of materials have been carried by hand to the old County Court House for storage to enable the best possible display of the Museum's collections.

Reciprocating for the support offered by the Belleville and Quinte Kiwanis Clubs, BCI Key Clubbers will assist these Clubs to sell maple syrup, peanuts and peanut butter. "We get no money from this activity," reported Key Club President Dave Cass, "but the assistance we receive from the Kiwanis Clubs is partly financed by these projects."

The Key Club is a school service club related to Kiwanis International, but having its own international organization.

BCI Reaction

New Publication Draws Varied Response

By RON CHAPLIN

IT NOW appears that the students of BCI are throwing off their winter coats and getting rid of their spring fever and are preparing for a term to end the school year with a bang. This Friday, BCI's Key Club will present our first informal school dance of the year, featuring the Bitter-Sweet and the Couriers.

• • •

ON MAY 1, the band will present a program of pieces by some of the world's greatest composers. And our flower children are busy preparing for the annual Spring Fling. The theme would suit any true Spanish hippy - Piesta de Flores."

• • •

THE RECENT student union publication Resound drew varied response from the students of BCI. It appeared from the students questioned, that about 50 per cent were in favor of the concepts of the union although the majority were not satisfied with the publication itself.

I hope the members of the union will work to fill the gap between the students and the administration of their schools. I also hope the thoughts and discussion provoked by the union will bring more student responsibility and two-way dialogue between teachers and students.

In this manner students may begin to become concerned about their state becoming good, thinking citizens, rather than just drifting and yielding to the voices of authority without a thought.

• • •

IN SPITE of the vote of self-confidence the students council placed in itself the week Resound was issued, I challenge our students to make the Students' Council a place representing student opinion and relevant to student affairs, rather than just a place from which to distribute money.

To show the irrelevancy of the Students' Council, I point to the lack of discussion in sessions and the lack of candidates for the new executive. What do you want your Council to be?

Niagara Falls Group

'Younger Generation' at NCC

By DONNA WHALEN

A WEEK from Saturday, April 27, the Student Council is bringing the fabulous Younger Generation from Niagara Falls to St. Michael's Auditorium. This group is different and exciting. The lead Negro vocalist sings rhythm soul and rock.

The Sands of Time from Belleville will also appear to make this the greatest dance Nicholson has ever had.

Admission is only $1.25; school dress is required.

DURING the assembly last week, many awards, honoring achievements in literature and sports, were presented. Maribeth Barrett of 13A received a KEY prize for her essay on Catholic high schools and Bianca DiGenova received a prize of $10 from the Canadian Legion for her poem commemorating the Canadian soldiers who fought in the war.

Then crests were presented to the boys who participated in the Centennial events, and to the members of the girls' Junior Basketball team, winners of the Bubble COSSA championship.

NEXT MONDAY, the grade 13s at Nicholson begin the second set of exams. For some people they will be the last, for if a student achieves an average of 67 per cent and if he continues to do well on tests until June, then he can be exempted from writing the finals.

Needless to say, this is the goal of every student because many already realize how difficult it is to study when the weather is so warm.

Key Club Plans Dance

THE BCIVS Key Club will hold the largest dance of the season on Friday, April 19th at BCI. With the blessing of Principal W. R. MacKay, dress will be casual, a break in the BCI tradition.

"However," explained Doug Wilson, Chairman of the Key Club's dance committee, "this doesn't mean students can be too casual. Shirt and sweat shirts."

ANOTHER NEW feature promised by the Key Club is non-stop entertainment from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. The Bitter-sweet and The Couriers will play back-to-back to provide a continuous and varied program. Tickets at the door will be a dollar, and will be sold in advance (at a reduced rate) by Key Clubbers from BCI, Moira and Quinte schools.

The BCIVS Key Club is a school service club and proceeds of this dance will be used for the Club's service work.

SPORT SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Tonight marks the opening clash of the seven-gaming bustings between the four-straighters.

Tonight fire meets fire. The Chicago Black Hawks still a-blaze from a four-game rousting of the New York Rangers tangle with the slightly-cooled Montreal Canadiens who four-gamed the Boston Bruins out of a spot in the playoffs sun.

Now the old cliche termites are emerging from the wood of conjecture. Can the Hawks, suddenly ignited after dropping the first two games to the Rangers, take the Canadiens in the new-found stride?

Can the Canadiens, who have been riding high on the crest of winning effort before they crossed the league championship, pick up the ribbon of win effort after being routed following their Boston tea party?

Hawks supporters claim their favorites are "up" and will stay there. Canadiens fans say the Habs are always "up", and the rest will do them no good than a playing continuance of stride.

A quartet of the pro pen-soupers were warbling a theme that is Benny's Hide-away the other nooning. It sounded like feeding time at the zoo. It went like this: —

Four little playoffs games neat as neat could be,

Bang, went big Bellveau — then there were three,

Three little playoff games wondering who was who

LeMair lobbed a lazy one — then there were two.

Two little playoff games, thrilling in the fun.

Rousseau ripped a rouser, then there was one.

One little playoff game waiting for the grabs,

Fergie fired a fluker and up came the Habs.

However the Hawks supporters showed that they too, had ideas. After all hadn't Hull and company won four in a row in a surprising playoff comeback?

So they countered their own clutch of tonsil screechers. Melody-wise, they would never be mistaken for the Mormon Choir. It sounded like a demon train and bells being shoved through a meat-grinder. Thanks to an air spray I deciphered it something like this: —

Four little playoff games, that is all you'll see

Hull fired a rocket blast — then there were three,

Three little playoff games, wondering who'd come through,

Wharram whirled a whizbang — then there were two.

Two little playoff games waiting for the gun,

Zap, came a slapshot, then there was one,

One little playoff game, oblivious to the squawks,

Dennis drilled a dandy — and up came the Hawks.

Bobby Hull with a brilliant performance against the Rangers in Tuesday night's game, showed the difference between a star and a superstar. The Point Anne blonde bomber was at his best and in a sparkling display brought out his versatility.

I have never seen him better in a playmaking role. He set up a pair with passes that was perfection in itself. It was one of his finest nights and bore out his oft-spoken contention "it is teamwork that wins games."

It should be quite a series. But unlike some of the more rabid Canadiens fans, I do not think Blake's buckaroos will dispose of the Hawks in four straight games. A day in the hay won't restore the temperature of the fans of Chicago. It's just a matter of catching their breath.

And I do not believe the layoff will affect the Black Hawks much. They may use it in the first game then leap back into their crest-riding stride.

Ole 'Erbie over at Reg's Rendezvous tells me he has had a passel of peanuts against a pair of trained Mexican jumping beans, that Habs will take Hawks in four straight. What's more, he says, I'll make that two panniers they'll win the Stanley mug in 12 straight.

Okay, Erbie, nuts to you.

Habs 11-5

Blake, Reay; Cautious Not Cocky!

Wharram Out?

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Billy Reay of Chicago Black Hawks yawned, threw his copy of the local newspaper across the room, stretched and yawned again.

"Four games in six days is too much even for the management," he said Wednesday night after arriving here for the start of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals against Montreal Canadiens tonight.

TOE BLAKE

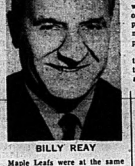
The Western Division semi-finals conclude tonight at Philadelphia and Los Angeles where the Flyers meet St. Louis Blues and the Kings are at home to Minnesota North Stars. Both series are tied 2-2.

"And if you think I look beat, you can imagine how my hockey players feel."

Reay coached his club Tuesday night to its fourth straight victory over New York Rangers to win the best-of-seven quarter-finals 4-2.



"There were so many factors involved," he said. "We got superior goaltending when we needed it from Denis DeJordy. We got great efforts from the big guns like (Bobby) Hull and (Stan) Mikita. And we got bonuses from others like (Gilles) Marotte and (Pit) Martin."

Ken Wharram, who missed the fifth game, is a questioned starter in tonight's game because of rib injuries.

Reay's skepticism isn't shared by the members of his club.

"From now on it's all the way," said Mikita, the National Hockey League scoring champion who leads the playoffs with three goals and six assists.

The Black Hawks are in much the same situation as Toronto

BILLY REAY

Maple Leafs were at the same time last season. Montreal had defeated New York in four straight games to win the first series, while Toronto came off a third-place regular-season finish to topple the league champion Black Hawks in six games.

The Leafs retained that momentum and knocked over the Canadiens for the Stanley Cup in six games.

"But those Leafs had a lot more depth than my club has today," Reay said. "The only thing I can count on is that anything can happen in this crazy business and I'm hoping it will."

Meanwhile, coach Toe Blake, who will not bring his team out of its mountain retreat until just prior to game time, isn't optimistic about hisc hances of disposing of the Hawks.

The oddsmakers have established the Canadiens as 11-to-5 favorites to win the series although Blake says the Hawks "have the momentum and they aren't the same team they were a few weeks ago."

He says that the weekling layover his club gained by knocking Boston Bruins over in four straight games has done nothing except aid his club.

Left winger Gilles Tremblay and defenceman J. C. Tremblay needed a rest because they "played a lot of hockey for us against Boston."

Veteran right winger Claude Provost has also recovered from a strained back muscle.

The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally by the CBC beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The second game is scheduled for Montreal Saturday, with the series then switching to Chicago for the third and fourth games next Tuesday and Thursday respectively.

Gump Worsley will start in Montreal's goal, while DeJordy has the starting assignment for the Hawks.

Central Pro League

Bryan Watson On All-Stars

DETROIT (CP) — Tulsa Oilers' Oresort of the Central Pro Hockey League's Northern Division championship, and Oklahoma City Blazers, Southern Division winners, each placed two players on the 1967-68 league first all-star team.

In the selections announced today, Tulsa's Len Haley captured the right wing berth and Ken Campbell was named as left winger. Oklahoma City's Jim Lorentz was named centreman and Russ Gillow was named goaltender.

Bryan Watson of Houston Apollos and Bv Spencer of Fort Worth Wings were chosen as the defence.

Haley, 36, in his 16th pro season, was the league's leading goal-getter with 34 and counted 46 assists in 70 games for 80 points. Campbell, in his third season in pro hockey, matched Haley's output in points with 32 goals and 48 assists.

Gillow, a rookie in the pro ranks, in 43 games for the Blazers, gave up 91 goals compiling a 2.16 goals-against average, a new league record.

Lorentz scored 33 goals and drew 50 assists for 83 points.

Watson, who had National Hockey League experience with Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens, was in the Houston lineup for 50 games scoring two goals, assisting on 37. He set a league record for penalties, serving 283 minutes.

Spencer, with NHL service with Detroit and New York Rangers, scored seven goals and assisted on 31 for 38 points in 35 games.

Odds Favor Kings, Flyers In Western Division Showdowns

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The National Hockey League's Western Division playoffs have reached a showdown.

All stops will be pulled at Philadelphia and Los Angeles where the Flyers are host to St. Louis Blues and the Kings entertain Minnesota North Stars.

For two clubs, the game marks the end of the season. The two series will have gone the seven-game limit and tonight's winners enter the divisional final starting Saturday.

And the odds appear to favor Los Angeles and Philadelphia Flyers.

In the Minnesota-Los Angeles series, home ice has been a deciding factor. Added to this, the Kings will have Mr. Playoff back in goal for them after a two-game layoff.

Terry Sawchuk, who's been in more NHL playoffs than any other active goalie, sat out for two games while Wayne Hitladege handled goaltending chores for the Kings. Sawchuk was suffering a bout of the flu.

And the Flyers have the edge in momentum, having won their last two games after trailing St. Louis Blues 3-1 at one stage of the playoffs. And tonight's rubber match is in the Flyers home Spectrum.

In the Eastern Division Montreal Canadiens, regular season champions, tonight open their best-of-seven semi-final with Chicago Black Hawks in Montreal.

The Canadiens wiped out Boston Bruins in four straight quarter-final games, but the Hawks had to come back from a 2-0 deficit to eliminate New York Rangers four games to two Tuesday night.

Both the Flyers and the North Stars went into overtime Tuesday to extend their series, Philadelphia winning 2-1 on a fluke goal by Don Blackburn at 11:18 of the second overtime.

The North Stars won 4-3 when Milan Marcetta scored at 9:11 of the first overtime in their game with Los Angeles to send the deciding game back to the coast city.

Both Philadelphia and St. Louis were comparatively subdued in their Tuesday encounter after the clubs had been assessed a total of $1,800 in fines following a 20-minute free-for-all Saturday.

The heavy fine led to manager-Bud Polle of the Flyers tendering his resignation in protest. Of course it was refused out of hand by Philadelphia management, but is an indication of the high feeling between the clubs.

Both coaches in the Los Angeles-Minnesota series feel the home ice is an advantage to Los Angeles.

But Wren Blair of Minnesota still maintains:

"It's a one-game series now and we've won in the Forum before."

They gave indeed, beating the Kings six times and tying two other games in their 10 regular-schedule meetings.

Red Kelly, coach of the Kings, while expressing displeasure at his club losing after holding a 2-0 lead for the third time in as many games in Minnesota during the playoffs, said:

"It could go either way. I hope the home ice holds up for us."

Whatever way it goes, the semi-finals will start Saturday in the home of the team which finished highest in the final league standings.

Philadelphia then was the leader followed by Los Angeles, St. Louis and finally Minnesota.

Aces Blank Reds 1-0

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces pounded Providence Reds 6-3 Wednesday night to grab strangleheld 2-0 lead in their best-of-five American Hockey League semi-final series leading to the Calder Cup.

The Aces, who edged Providence 3-1 in the series opener here Sunday night, got goals from Dick Sarrazin, Keith Wright, John Hanna, Jean-Guy Gendron, Rene Drolet and Onil Boutin.

Eddie Kachur and Jean-Pierre Malette replied for Providence.

The first period ended with the score 1-1, but the home club broke the game open with four unanswered goals in the second. The teams exchanged goals again in the final period.

The Reds outshot the Aces 27-21 before 6,240 fans, and drew six of the 16 minor penalties.

The winner of the series meets Rochester Americans in the Calder Cup finals.

Formidable Team

Granatelli Enters Six In "500"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (CP-AP) — Andy Granatelli announced competition Wednesday of one of the most formidable driving teams in the history of the Indianapolis 500 auto race.

Five of the six cars entered by Granatelli for the 52nd Memorial Day race May 30 will use engines built by United Aircraft of Canada Ltd. in Montreal.

Granatelli's entry of six cars powered by a new, small Pratt and Whitney engine brings to 77 the number of the cars in the field.

Granatelli, president of the sponsoring STP Corp., had planned to use Jimmy Clark of Scotland, killed in a West German small car race April 7.

Granatelli said Clark will be replaced by Jackie Stewart, another grand prix racer from Dumbarton, Scotland, who was No. 3 in world rankings in 1965. He took a fourth at Indianapolis two years ago.

Greg Weld of Kansas City, U.S. auto club sprint car champion last year but a rookie at Indianapolis, also was named to the team. It already included former 500 winners Parnelli Jones, of Torrance, Calif., and Graham Hill of London.

The field of 77 cars is the fifth largest since the first 500-miler in 1911 but smaller than the record 90 entries last year. But there are nine turbines, compared to the single entry last year in which Parnelli Jones almost won the race.

USAC announced jointly with Studebaker Corp., and its subsidiary STP Corp., the dismissal by STP of all legal action against USAC. In turn, the USAC granted a 1968 membership to STP.

Granatelli recently was the loser in a federal court lawsuit against USAC in which he sought to have the racing body's new rules for turbine engines overturned.

Eastern Canada Senior

Marlies Trail Tigers 2-0!

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP) — Toronto Marlboros return home for the third game of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada hockey finals leading to the Allan Cup but home-ice advantage may not be enough for a team trailing 2-0 in the series.

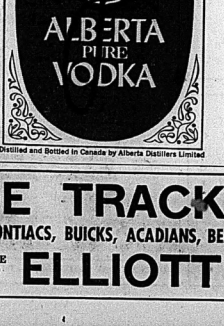
Victoriaville Tigers downed the Ontario senior champs 5-1 in the series opener here Monday and continued to dominate the action with a 6-2 win Wednesday.

Victoriaville outplayed the visitors in both contests, outshooting the Marlboros 44-36 in the opener and 41-36 in the second game.

The next three games are scheduled for Maple Leaf Gardens Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, if necessary. If further games are required, they are to be played in Victoriaville.

Wednesday the Tigers went ahead 4-1 in the first period. Toronto got one goal in the second period but Victoriaville got two more in the third.

Johnny Mentis led Victoriaville with two goals, Clemeat Tremblay, Jacques Michel, Larry Drouin and Claude Bessette adding the others.



Don Fuller-scored at 12:32 of the first period and Chris Evans got Toronto's second goal at 12:40 of the second period.

Leeds Defeats Spurs 1-0

LONDON (CP) — Leeds United moved to within one point of Manchester United at the top of the Soccer League first division with a 1-0 victory over Tottenham Hotspurs Wednesday night.

In an incident-packed game Alan Gilzean, Tottenham's Scottish international centre-forward, was sent off after a clash with left-back Terry Cooper. Peter Lorimer scored the only goal from a hotly-disputed 64th minute penalty award.

Leeds has one game in hand over Manchester United.

Glasgow Rangers missed the chance to regain the Scottish first division leadership when they drew 0-0 with Morton. Rangers' Glasgow rivals, Celtic, retain the top spot on superior goal average.

Celtic captured the Glasgow Cup for the fourth straight season with an overwhelming 8-0 win against Clyde in another game Wednesday night.

Phillies End Six-Games Tailspin

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the wind shifts his way, Billie Cookie Rojas can blow up a big storm.

"I hit home runs only in hurricanes," said the slender second baseman, who cracked a game-winning, two-run homer Wednesday night as Philadelphia Phillies ended a six-game tailspin by edging Don Drysdale and Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Rojas' fifth-inning shot off Drysdale enabled the struggling Phils to pull out of their home opener and snap their longest losing streak since 1964, when a ten-game September skid cost them the National League pennant.

New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates also captured their home openers in impressive fashion, the Mets trimming San Francisco Giants 3-0 behind rookie left-hander Jerry Koosman and the Pirates smothering Houston Astros 13-4 with a 17-hit barrage. Cincinnati Reds nipped St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta Braves blanked Chicago Cubs 2-0 in other National League action.

The Phillies trailed 2-1 when Tony Taylor stroked a two-out single in the fifth and Rojas slammed a 3-2 pitch into the lower centre field seats.

Manager Gene Mauch lifted southpaw Woody Fryman with two Dodgers on in the eighth after centre fielder Tony Gonzalez raced to the wall and gloved Lefebvre's 400-foot drive. Reliever Dick Farrell then came on to preserve Fryman's first victory as a Phillie.

Koosman scattered seven hits and struck out 10 on the way to his second successive shutout before 52,079 Shea Stadium supporters.

Frank Beard, the 1967 winner, Boros, Tom Weiskopf and Masters champion Bob Goalby were generally regarded as leading threats to Casper.

Others in the field are George Archer, Miller Barber, Bob Charles, Gardner Dickinson, Randy Glover, Lou Graham, Julius Hargrave, Dave Hill, Don January, George Knudson, Johnny Pott, Charley Sifford, Dan Sikes, Dave Stockton, Dudley Wysong, Bert Yancey and Kermit Zarley.

A six-run upsiging in the third inning keyed the Pirates' romp over Houston before a Forbes Field crowd of 30,779. Ex-reliever Al McBean, given a commanding early lead, went the distance for his second victory without a loss.

Maury Wills and Jerry May led the Pittsburgh attack with three hits apiece.

Lee May drilled a bases-loaded single in the 12th, breaking a 3-3 tie at Cincinnati and nullifying five hits—including a two-run homer—by the Cardinals' Lou Brock.

Estevan Leads Series 3-1

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP) — Estevan Bruins recovered from a 4-0 first-period deficit to gain a 6-5 victory in overtime Wednesday over Westfort Hurricanes, and a 3-1 lead in their Memorial Cup Western hockey semi-final series.

The Hurricanes, from Fort William, Ont., dominated the first period and allowed Estevan the second period's only goal. The Bruins outscored Westfort 4-1 in the third period to send the game into overtime. Jim Harrison scored in the second overtime session, his third goal of the game.

Tournament Of Champions

Palmer, Nicklaus Sit It Out

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billy Casper slammed a succession of tremendous drives off the practice tee. Fellow golfer Chi Chi Rodriguez asked amiably:

"Why don't you take the week off?"

Rodriguez was referring, not so indirectly, to the fact that two other great golfers, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are sitting out the Tournament of Champions, which got under way today.

Casper, although never a winner in the 15 previous tournaments of champions, is favored to haul in the top $30,000 prize from the $150,000 purse over 24 rivals.

Gusty winds plagued the tournament site, the 6,625-yard, par 36-35—71 Stardust Country Club, the last two days. However, the weathernan promised winds of only eight to 10 miles an hour for the opening round.

The field is a varied one that ranges from two 23-year-old challengers, to 48-year-old Julius Boros, the only entry who played in the first Tournament of Champions in 1952. The youngsters are Marty Fleckman and England's Tony Jacklin, playing here for the first time.

This is the 12th straight appearance here for Casper, who Wednesday was given a dubious honor. A bronze plaque was presented on the 13th hole where Billy unceremoniously required 11 strokes to get down on the 536-yard par-five hole.

Billy hit three shots outs of bounds for his 11. The plaque says it was his worst score "of a brilliant career."

Verdun Stops Cornwall

MONTREAL (CP) — Verdun Maple Leafs got off to a fast start in the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-finals Wednesday night and outlasted Cornwall Royals 7-5 in the opening game of the best-of-seven junior hockey series.

The Maple Leafs piled up a 6-1 lead in the first 10 minutes of play with two goals by Mike Ostuso, three by Yves Laroque and one by Jean-Rene Losier.

Cornwall coach Jim Gorman started Ron Bates of Brockville in goal but hurriedly replaced him with Royals regular Rocky Martin at 5:35 of the first period after Verdun had already racked up a 5-1 lead.

"Maybe if Martin had been in for the whole game Cornwall would have won," mused Verdun coach Pete Singleton. "After the first 10 minutes they really out-hustled us."

Ostuso had fired two goals in the first 58 seconds of play, Wayne Horne retaliated for Cornwall, but two Verdun goals by Laroque closely followed.

The second period saw a determined struggle back by Cornwall, with goals by Horne and Billy Markell, followed by goals in the third period by Horne and Dave Snelgrove.

Injury Not Serious

Annabelle Will Live!

TORONTO (CP) — Annabelle, the three-year-old flop-eared filly may yet keep her date at the Kentucky Derby—despite a painful training injury suffered Wednesday.

Injured in a collision with a green two-year-old during a practice gallop, it was feared for a time that she had suffered a broken pelvis and would have to be destroyed.

But later, about four hours after the accident on the Woodbine training strip, veterinarian Dr. Donald Fishman said that if she continues to show improvement during the next four days, Annabelle could still run in the Derby.

The horse, nominated for the Kentucky Derby by co-owners Paul Rimstead and Fred Ross, Toronto newspaper men who purchased her for $1,100 at an auction, raced four times as a two-year-old without winning.

She was to have run for the first time this year in today's fourth at Greenwood race track.

Dr. Fishman's preliminary examination indicated a fractured pelvis and her destruction was being considered. But four hours later the horse was walking around her stall and the doctor said a more thorough examination indicated no serious damage.

NL Franchises

Montreal Has Bid!

CHICAGO (AP) — National League baseball club owners will meet Friday, apparently intent on selecting two new franchises and deciding whether to catch up with the American League on start of a 12-club circuit.
